

Video footage of the officer-involved shooting released

BY MONICA STARK

Longtime West Sacramento resident Robert Coleman, 88, was fatally shot by West Sacramento police who were responding to a report of a man with a gun near the 1800 block of West Capitol Avenue on Saturday, Sept. 12. Coleman was a former code enforcement officer and well-known in the community for his volunteer service to the West Sacramento Police Department and later for building homes with Habitat for Humanity. He suffered from mental illness and had suicidal thoughts.

Pursuant to state law and city policy, video footage of the incident was released to his family before the public. It is available now on the City of West Sacramen-to's website. Some may find the subject matter disturbing. Viewer discretion is advised. The video came from body camera footage from the officers involved. There were six officers on scene and four involved in the incident. Officers involved with the shooting include a sergeant with approximately 15 years of experience and three officers with five years or less experience. Footage from the first officer shows him walking toward Coleman and asking him if he needed any help before yelling at him to put the gun down. Gunshots were fired. Almost 10 days have passed since the events depicted in the bodycam footage. Police Chief Rob Strange said in a statement that the work compiled through the criminal and administrative investigations has begun to shed light on what occurred in those early morning hours. "I have assessed the information gathered through these investigative efforts and have determined that the involved officers will be authorized to return to duty. These officers continue to cooperate with all investigative efforts and other work readiness processes, while they also engage with supportive resources to enable a healthy return to their work serving the residents of West Sacramento." After last week's publication deadline, Mayor Chris Cabaldon spoke out on social media about Coleman's force in the community and the tragedy that ended his life. "One thing matters most today – A man is dead. A resident of our community is gone," he said. "I knew Robert Coleman and his wife Mary too. They were leaders in our community. As a newly fresh minted city councilman, I used to gossip with them at spaghetti feeds or roll up my sleeves with them at volunteer neighborhood cleanups or just grab a snack and laugh with them at the senior center. Their daughters too: Beverly, Shirley and Phyllis grew up with that value of service that their parents lived out each and every day. And Grandma Ida Wheeler – she's been a true force of nature as a leader of our community for years." When the city launched a volunteer program for retired city employees to suit up and serve the police department, Coleman signed up immediately as a pioneer. "He became and exemplar, a bridge between generations. (He) built trust, hope and later went on to build homes with the Habitat for Humanity," Cabaldon said. In a statement on Monday, Cabaldon said, the shooting was the first fatal officer-involved shooting in nearly 20 years in the City of West Sacramento. "Our priority has been to assure the integrity of review, investigation, due process, and civilian oversight. Today's release of body cam footage of the critical incident is one step by which the City of West

First Human Case of West Nile Virus in Yolo County This Year

The Yolo County Health and Human Services Agency's Communicable Disease Program has received confirmation of a human case of West Nile virus in Yolo County. The patient first became ill last month and is now recovering. "Although this patient is now recovering, it is important to note that there is a risk of contracting West Nile virus in Yolo County this time of year," said Yolo County Deputy Public Health Officer Dr. Mary Ann Limbos. "West Nile virus is spread to people from the bite of mosquitoes. By making regular checks of their yards and draining standing water, residents can help cut down on mosquito breeding areas. Precautions such as wearing protective clothing and using insect repellents that contain DEET will also reduce the risk of mosquito bites. Even though the summer season is coming to an end, our weather continues to support an environment for mosquitoes." People typically develop symptoms of West Nile virus between 2 and 14 days after they are bitten by an infected mosquito. While 80 percent of people who are infected will not show any symptoms, up to 20 percent of those infected will have symptoms such as fever, headache, body aches, nausea, vomiting and sometimes swollen lymph glands or a skin rash on the chest, stomach and back. Symptoms can last for as short as a few days or several weeks, even for generally healthy people. So far in

Yolo COVID-19 Relief Fund Grants $237,500 in Latest Round Towards Education Equity and Rental and Child Care Assistance

In its latest round of grant funding, the Yolo COVID-19 Relief Fund (Relief Fund) has granted $237,500 to four local nonprofits, RISE, Inc., Yolo Interfaith Immigration Network, Yolo County Children's Alliance and Empower Yolo, for education equity programs and rental and childcare assistance. All four organizations will provide direct support for rental assistance and childcare to families impacted by COVID-19 and the resulting crisis. In addition, Empower Yolo will work on the educational equality challenges created by distance learning, with an emphasis on offering remote tutoring and supporting family engagement. To date, the Relief Fund has raised more than $690,000 in total to support the essential work of nonprofits responding to the COVID-19 crisis in two categories: 1) Front-line response, which addresses critical community needs that have been created or increased by the COVID-19 pandemic such as childcare, health care, health education or safety and 2) Nonprofit sustainability, which supports organizations at risk of closing or have had to substantially reduce services due to COVID-19. "In the wake of challenging need these funds are a lifeline to a host of local organizations engaged in vital work," said Chair of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors Gary Sandy. "The funding promotes community resiliency and family stability. It's an investment in our future." The Relief Fund has previously given over $400,000 to 30 nonprofits throughout the region, including Meals on Wheels, Northern California Children's Therapy Center, Mutual Housing California, 4th and Hope, Winters Farm to School, Yolo Hospice, West Sacramento Friends of the Library, and many others. Yolo County has donated $500,000 from their CARES Act funding to the Relief Fund.

"Need in Yolo County remains extremely high, and these organizations, which are deeply immersed in their communities, are well-positioned to serve some of our highest-need households," said Executive Director for the Yolo Community Foundation Jessica Hubbard. "We are tremendously grateful to Yolo County for the donation that funded these grants and enabled the Relief Fund to serve more Yolo residents." The Relief Fund is a partnership between Yolo County,

THIS 'n' THAT 'Leave Your Home Right Now'

BY CAROL BOGART

Maybe it's from these now-six months of worry. First the virus. Then the wildfires and the daily tragedies. In any case, it appears my subconscious is playing tricks on me.

Twice now, while I was sleeping or just waking up, I thought I heard what sounded like a bullhorn out on Lighthouse. A female voice urging: "Leave Your Home Right Now!"

Not so long ago ... two weeks maybe? ... my complex DID evacuate as fire companies from West Sac, Clarksburg, Woodland and Davis swiftly extinguished a levee fire between Fountain Drive and Riverbank Elementary (Todhunter and Carrie).

I was at Walmart. Wondered why the parking lot was so empty when I got home. Noted that the photo in the city's blurb about it on Nextdoor – smoky street, fire engine – was Lighthouse. Directly next to where I have my little garden just north of my apartment complex.

These wonderful firefighters confined that fire to just 5 acres. But it ran through my mind, what if these dry Sycamores went up like Roman candles? Are building gutters full of dry leaves? And if I'd left, where would I go to avoid jammed intersections? How quickly could I gather up the animals? How would I evacuate the lizards? What about water? How would I feed them?

I started writing this column Sunday Sept. 13. That morning was when I thought I heard the second-in-as-many-weeks 'leave your home' bullhorn announcement. Even though I've signed up for 'emergency alerts' on every device – landline, cell plus text, and online – there was no notice on any of them after people evacuated from my complex a couple weeks, maybe a week, ago. I checked. No messages. No alert. How did my neighbors know to leave? Bullhorn? Maybe they saw the smoke.

In Butte County, pushed from Yuba into Butte County by 55 mph winds, as of Sunday the deadly wildfire was 12 percent contained, and firefighters reported making progress. The

To save the rose and other flowering plants in my garden that attract pollinators, despite the bad air, I still water. Masked. Next season, I'll severely prune the herbs – the rosemary, sage and chives – and add clean soil. Everything else, even beautiful eggplant I have coming, I'll pull up and throw away. Is it safe to eat? I don't know.

worry Sunday was that lighter SW winds – 18 mph projected – could stir smoldering areas back into flames and push the active fire in a new direction. West Sac has helpers on the ground, directing traffic in the event there are additional evacuations. I look out my window and see leaves moving. Did my traumatized subconscious make up the warning to leave my home right now?

I see people out walking around, but how reliable is that? They aren't wearing masks. If they don't know or care about toxic smoke particles in our air, and they're out there with a baby in stroller, why should I think they somehow know to 'get out now' when, for all my searching, I find no notice to evacuate my complex?

Here's a thought. Yolo County could do a test for all signed up devices on its Emergency Broadcast System. To prevent panic, at both ends of the message label it a test. Don't just do TV. Test phones, cell, Internet. All of them. If no one answers, leave a message. Time consuming, yes – but so is collecting and identifying dead bodies. Fifteen deaths in the Butte fire as of Monday. And, still counting.

Correction/Retraction

A letter to the editor was submitted for the Sept. 9 issue that apparently wasn't written by the submitted name, David Eid. The letter was accompanied by photographs of 8-foot-high weeds on a plot of land near the post office. The author called for its clean up, especially during fire season.

2020, more than 55 people have contracted West Nile Virus in California.

About 1 in 150 people infected with West Nile virus will develop severe illness. Their symptoms can include high fever, headache, neck stiffness, stupor, disorientation, coma, tremors, convulsions, muscle weakness, vision loss, numbness and paralysis. These symptoms may last several weeks and neurological effects may be permanent. People over the age of 50, and those who have diabetes or hypertension, are more likely to develop serious symptoms of West Nile virus and should take special care to avoid mosquito bites.

The best way to prevent West Nile virus infection and other mosquito-borne illnesses is to prevent the bite of an infected mosquito. Following the 7 D's decreases the risk of mosquito bites:

- DRAIN any standing water that may produce mosquitoes.
- DAWN and DUSK are times to avoid being outside. These are the times when mosquitoes are most active.
- DRESS appropriately by wearing long sleeves and pants when outdoors.
- DEFEND yourself against mosquitoes by using an effective insect repellent, such as DEET, Picaridin or Oil of Lemon Eucalyptus.
- DOOR and window screens should be in good working condition. This will prevent mosquitoes from entering your home.

- DISTRICT personnel are available to address any mosquito problem you may be experiencing by calling 1-800-429-1022.

The Sacramento-Yolo Mosquito & Vector Control District has been performing extensive control measures in and around Yolo County to reduce both larval and adult mosquitoes, and will continue to do so to minimize adult mosquitoes carrying the disease. Notes from the Farm

BY KERIN GOULD
SPECIAL TO VALLEY COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

Summer has been hell here. The stress of the pandemic/quarantine/isolation that leaves us way too much time for reading the news (make it stop!), the smoky air and constant threat of grass fires (had one just across the street, but our firefighters are incredibly fast!), and the record heat have resulted in many of us spending time indoors like it was a Buffalo NY winter rather than a California summer. Can't wait for autumn and it's not about pumpkin-spice coffee!

But while I am whining and moaning, plants just hunker down and do what they can to stay alive and bear fruit/offspring. They keep going through their cycles. Somehow, the watermelon has been luscious, pears were wonderful, the cosmos flowers are still entertaining pollinators, the wonder-berries are defiantly abundant, and the quince is bending the branches with its heavy fruit. Tomatoes have been less hardy, getting thick skins and a more savory flavor. Even the tomatillos are having a rougher time, though they are incredibly resilient.

Since we essentially have two springs here, it's nearly time to turn things over and start again. In order to suppress weeds without chemicals, I will be covering one area to "solarize" it: no light and lots of heat under black weed-cloth will kill off seeds - that's the theory. In two other areas I will be planting a winter cover crop to nourish and restore the soil. Both methods aim to keep nutrients, water and carbon in the ground so that crops grow better and provide more flavor and nutrition. And it will be a clean slate for spring. A few winter veggies in the hoop-house will be enough for my household til spring. Just hunkering down and going through our cycles.

Don't forget to continue, year-round, come hell or high water as it were, to get produce from your local small farmers as much as possible!

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF SACRAMENTO

In the matter of the Adoption of: ANTONIO GONZALEZ, Amended Petition for Termination of Parental Rights Case No. 16AD00127 CITATION TO APPEAR TO ESTEBAN GONZALEZ: By order of this court you are hereby cited to appear before the judge presiding in Department 124 of this court on 10/19/2020 at 11:00AM, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why your Parental Rights should not be terminated according to the petition on file herein. The address of the above court is 3341 Power Inn road, Sacramento, CA 95826. The following information concerns rights and procedures that relate to this proceeding for the termination of custody and control of ANTONIO GONZALEZ as set forth in Section 7820, et seq. of the Family Code. (1) If a parent whose termination of parental rights is being sought appears without counsel and is unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint counsel for the parent, unless the parent knowingly and intelligently waives the right to be represented by counsel, pursuant to Family Code Section 7860. The court will not appoint the same counsel to represent both ANTONIO GONZALEZ and their parent. (2) The court may appoint either the public defender or private counsel. If private counsel is appointed, he or she will receive a reasonable sum for compensation and expenses, the amount of which will be determined by the court. That amount must be paid by the real parties in interest, but no by the minor, in such proportions as the court believes to be just. If, however, the court finds that any of the real parties of interest cannot afford counsel, the amount will be paid by the county. (3) The court may continue the proceedings for not more than 30 days as necessary to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case. Dated: August 31, 2020 By: A. Local Brewers Step Up for Equality with Great Beer!

BY DEVIN LAVELLE

It is always inspiring to me when people find a way to drive positive change through their businesses. They see a problem and, even knowing they can't solve it all at once, look for a way to make a difference, however small. In their own way, they find a way to take a step towards a better world for all of us.

Over the summer, many breweries around the region have been doing just that through the Black is Beautiful initiative: “a collaborative effort amongst the brewing community and its customers, in an attempt to bring awareness to the injustices that many people of color face daily. Our mission is to bridge the gap that’s been around for ages and provide a platform to show that the brewing community is an inclusive place for everyone of any color. We are asking for all breweries and brewers far and wide to raise a glass with us in unison and participate in this collaboration.” Over 1,000 breweries worldwide have raised that glass, but Sacramento has been the second largest participant, behind only San Antonio, the home of Weathered Souls Brewing, which created the project. I think that is something we should all be really proud of.

Each of the participating breweries create their own take on an imperial stout recipe developed by Weathered Souls and donate 100% of the proceeds to organizations in their local community that support equality and inclusion.

A number of local breweries have already sold through their stock, but as of writing, Campus Brewing in West Sac; Dunloe in Davis; Tower near Sac State; Monk’s Cellar & Dark Heart in Roseville; and Claimstake in Rancho Cordova still have cans in stock. Claimstake’s version was a super collaboration between many great local breweries. And never fear if any of them sell out, more is coming!

Last week, I was invited to participate in New Helvetia Brewing’s brew day and help make the latest batch of this great beer. It should be available from their tap room on Broadway in early October. After the brew, I sat down with owner Dave Gull to talk about the project.

Devin: Hey Dave, thanks for taking the time to share your thoughts on the Black is Beautiful project. Tell me about what got you interested in it.

Dave: Marcus and Weathered Souls crafted a wonderful message and inclusive opportunity through beer. We’re in the brewing business because we have a passion for beer and community, and Weathered Souls found a way to add social justice to the mix.

Devin: Absolutely, I love that. So you’re donating all of the proceeds from this beer, meaning you won’t make any money from it. I know that’s particularly hard right now, since COVID has slowed your business so much. Why was this so important to you?

Dave: I cannot stay silent. I cannot sit back and watch as Black Americans, fellow citizens, are subjected to police brutality. I may only have a small audience to reach, but it’s important to use my reach to fight for equality.

Devin: That’s great. Can you tell me about the charity you selected and why it’s important to you?

Dave: While there are many worthy organizations fighting for social justice and racial equality in our region, I aimed to find something with a hyper-local presence that could hopefully build bridges. And admittedly, I don’t know all of the directors of non-profits or activists for racial equity so I asked for help. My friend and Wonk Wednesday co-founder

Maya Wallace suggested several groups, including the Sojourner Truth African American Museum in South Sac. I reached out to Shonna at the museum and visited to discuss the beer project, learned of her (the museum’s) expansion plans, and knew this would be a great fit for us both. The Sojo Museum’s mission is to celebrate the African American experience, teach history and culture through art. Plus it’s located in South Sac where I was born and raised.

Devin: Definitely, a great cause – and it really speaks to the “beautiful” part of the project! I had the opportunity to work with Shonna when we developed the Sojourner Truth Community Garden. OK, let’s shift gears a bit and get into the beer. How would you describe the basic recipe and then how does your version differ?

Dave: Weathered Souls Brewery in San Antonio Texas launched the Black Is Beautiful beer collaboration project soon after the George Floyd video. Marcus, the founder is from Rancho Cordova, and he created a program that caught the beer industry’s attention. The beer is an imperial stout, the recipe was written by Marcus and shared with every brewery that wished to participate. By the way, there’s no time limit and any brewery can still brew the beer and raise funds and awareness in their communities. The recipe is a guideline, and breweries can riff on the theme or stay true to the original stout. We are staying true to the recipe, but brewed it to be a little smoother and richer. We will have it available in cans and on tap at New Helvetia.

Devin: Sounds great, I can’t wait to try some next month. With everything going on in the world, I’ll admit, I’ve needed a beer from time to time to help relax. Approaching each day is just a little extra challenging right now. How are you holding up through all this?

Dave: Business is way down, probably 30% off pre-covid sales. Our team is smaller, customers can’t visit the tap room, the events and activities that we’ve grown around the brewery are gone for now, but we’re still brewing great beer. We’ve used this time to make some much needed repairs, maintenance and upgrades to the brewery and facility. We launched a new line of hard seltzers, and continue to create new and interesting beers. But the stark truth is that small breweries, small businesses will not be able to continue unless the Feds create a new round of stimulus funding like PPP. If and when a vaccine is available, we’re not likely to go back to normal since many potential customers will continue to play it safe and avoid breweries and public outings.

Devin: That’s really rough. I’ve seen how hard it is for small business owners like you to struggle through all

Chalk it Up! 30th anniversary went “around the town”

The 30th Annual Chalk It Up Chalk Art & Music Festival came to life Labor Day weekend on sidewalks, parking lots and driveways throughout the Greater Sacramento region. With Covid-19 restrictions on public gatherings, the festival transformed into Chalk It Up! Around The Town. In lieu of the annual art & music event held at Fremont Park in midtown Sacramento, Chalk It Up! All Around Town sought volunteer chalk artists dispatched to locations throughout the greater Sacramento region to bring their passion to the pavement all to increase support for critical Youth Art Education.

Working on a chalk portrait of his daughter, 14 year old Greta who started as a freshman at C.K. McClatchy this fall, artist Andy Huff brought new life temporarily to the pavement in front of Images Salon on Riverside Boulevard. His 22nd year participating in Chalk It Up, Huff said, “It’s a little odd out here. There’s not a lot of people, like normal, but it’s been nice to do the thing, post pictures and all of that.” Andy has been creating chalk portraits of his two children alternating years since they were babies and finds Chalk It Up as an event he can count on participating in. “For better for worse I haven’t done much outside of this. Life is busy,” he said. “I have this ability and it’s nice to know at least once a year I’m going to go do something. Part of the cool thing is the interactivenss of it, though not this year. It’s almost like a performance thing, than it is a visual art. People can interact with it, see you working.” The Huff family has gotten to know the artists every year and have built a sense of camaraderie with each other. “It’s so weird working by myself here,” he said.

First established in 1991, Chalk It Up! is best known for the three-day chalk art festival held over Labor Day weekend. From Saturday to Monday, Fremont Park typically turns into an explosion of chalk art masterpieces, the best of Sacramento live music, interactive art activities and crafts for artists of all ages, local crafts, food and drink. The number of visitors to this free event has grown exponentially to over 60,000 festival attendees in 2019. This year social distancing has been necessary in order to stop the spread of Covid-19, so Chalk It Up! Around The Town offered art fans, sponsors and just about anyone the unique chance to have a Chalk It Up! Art Masterpiece created at any location around town. The fees paid for these personal art creations will directly strengthen the mission of Chalk It Up! to empower and support the next generation of Sacramento artists through targeted art grants for young artists and the programs that inspire them.

Over on the steps of the CADA building on P Street, Nestor Mendoza chose to create a portrait of Winnie Harlow, a Canadian fashion model and public spokesperson on the skin condition vitiligo. “She’s a woman of color and I really wanted to play up women of color can be beautiful. This is my painting titled ‘Beauty in a Blue Dress.’” Based on an amalgamation of various photographs with a superimposed blue dress, Mendoza played up the blues for his piece, which was sponsored by the California Arts Council. At a past Chalk It Up! Event, Mendoza has portrayed Hispanic actress Florinda Mesa. When he moved to Sacramento about five years ago, Mendoza said it was Chalk It Up! that got him back into art. “I’m 38 right now and I’ve only been doing art for five years. I was walking by. I saw this great event and I thought I could do it. The first few years weren’t very good, but the more I do it, the more proud I am of my work,” Mendoza said. Sharing the CADA steps with Mendoza were Andrea Johnston and her adult daughter, Miya. Andrea, a Sacramento native, has a decade of chalk experience, is an experienced artist and graphic designer shown by her close attention to detail. She portrayed a woman floating under the water draped in red cloth with a full moon shining brightly and stars swirling around. When looking to an image for inspiration, Andrea Johnston said, “She was just a woman floating under the water. There was a lot of beauty and calmness, but to me there wasn’t quite enough story to it, so I decided what she needed was some juxtaposition, more to it... It seemed like a peaceful image, but yet it was someplace else,” she said. So, she started to make it a bit other-worldly after taking inspiration from another image of the Milky Way. “I thought, ‘Oh wow, that looks really cool’ because the moon made sense as to what illuminated her and gave her that vibrancy,” Johnston said. A friend came around and asked if it was similar to the movie, “Shape of Water”, and Andrea said, “No, it’s more like “The Shape of Water and Space.”

Around age 10, Miya joined her mother at chalk events. Andrea recalls Miya’s first festival: “I had her do my border. I was doing giraffes. I thought she could just do my border, that would take her all day, but it took her 20 minutes.”

But then Miya liked joining her mom, and as she got older, she was given more and more to do. “She really has quite a skill. Last year she did her first square. I’ve been amazed.” Sponsored by Officer Henry Luckie Retired, Miya chalked up this dog who lives in Japan who she found scrolling through Instagram. “I found the account of the person who posts images of this dog. I really enjoy it because all the images are really cute and I decided to do this,” she said.

Playfully adding rainbow hues throughout the officer’s white fur, Miya said she learned to add lots of colors that you don’t initially see in the image from her mom. “I learned to do that because it brings so much more life into the chalk art. It makes it look like it’s actually there and real.”

Over the past 29 years, Chalk It Up has supported K-12 art programs by awarding over 200 grants in excess of $100,000 to local youth projects and programs to benefit Sacramento Youth Art Education.

Past grants have been awarded to a wide variety of projects including: the creation of an art gallery at El Camino High; clay and glazes for the ceramics class at Will Rogers Middle School; a silk screen press for Sacramento New Technology High School; and the WaZoBia Arts project at Washington Elementary which introduced students to methods used in creating traditional African batik.

What about the music? Sacramento musicians supported Chalk It Up’s mission by creating a 3-day live music stream of sets from their quarantine locations. Bands included Dog Party, Kevin and Allyson Seconds, Kapi Ghoulie, Honyock, Californios, Richard March, Jig Monkeys, Ryan Thompson, Gabe Nelson, Killer Couture, Jessica Malone, Mallard, Short Trip, Skyler’s Pool, Jayson Angove, Girls Rock, Sam Eliot & Spiritual Disco, Sea of Bees, Landline, J Ross Parrelli.

This 'n' That Brewery

The city urges you to find your specific evacuation route and rally point in case of flood or fire. (Wonder if anybody's checking the Oroville Dam for heat damage. Just a thought. If it fails, West Sac is in the catastrophic flood zone.) Broderick's evacuation zone is 76. Go to evacuate.yolocounty.org to find yours, by ZIP code, and your evacuation route. Broderick's 'get out route' is Sacramento Avenue to, presumably, Reed and then the freeway. Or Old River Road if the Bypass isn't burning.

I'm close to the river, so I'd take 5th, I think. To either the Delta, or I 80 – in the opposite direction of any fire. (FYI in case of flood: Tower Bridge Gateway – Raley Field – to Locks Drive is West Sac's high ground.) If there's been a levee breached or overtopped, might want to avoid Old River Road to Woodland and be cautious about Village Parkway or south on Jefferson. The state's Flood Safe rep told the city council, if any part of West Sac's levee system fails, "all of West Sacramento will be under water." The mayor added that the water will come up fast, not slow.

Not sure what to grab as you're out the door? Well, your meds. Important documents not easily replaced: your kids' inoculation records. All birth certificates. Your pets and a way feed, water and secure them. Go to caloes.ca.gov for a complete list of what to include in your prepacked 'grab bag.'

In these uncertain times, keep gas tanks filled and cell phones charged. Make sure to give friends and family an out-of-area contact you'll call to report that you are safe. And if you get an evacuation notice, go. Just go. Questions? Comments? Contact Carol at carol@bogartonline.com.

of this. I know you've put your savings, your time, your heart and soul into making this business successful, to being a good employer and to being a cornerstone of the community. But I know a lot of readers are looking to do what they can to support great local businesses like yours, can you share a little about your beer?

Dave: Buffalo craft lager was the inspiration to start new Helvetia in the first place. We're having fun with other beers too. 916 Pale Ale is an obvious nod to local. Molly American red ale honors a local famous actress from the area. Homeland Stout is named after the location of our brewery. Indomitable city double IPA which is coming out in about two weeks was the motto for the city of Sacramento and there's a whole story behind that which is a lot of fun. Ultimately our beer celebrates Sacramento.

Devin: Such great beer! NE Land Park and Fog Door IPAs are two of my favorites – and your imperial chocolate porter is fantastic. I also really enjoy that you pay homage to Sacramento's history, both in the décor of the brewery and in with beers like Buffalo Lager and Rufus Burgess Golden Ale. Where did that come from?

Dave: We brew many styles of beers. Your classic lagers and ales and we've recently launched our Kindred Spiritz line of hard seltzers. I was inspired to launch New Helvetia Brewing Co. to resurrect the historic Buffalo Beer brand. Before prohibition, Buffalo Brewery was the largest brewery west of the Mississippi with nearly global distribution. Out of the little town of Sacramento, that was no small feat. Most of our core beer brands have a local historic connection or story. Some other beers are simply whimsical names for rotating or one-off beers. Head to newhelvetiabrew.square.site to order your beer for pickup.

Devin: I love the focus on history and the important role it plays in giving us perspective about the world we live in. Any last thoughts to share?

Dave: Definitely. Covid is not the only plague affecting America. We tiptoe around it, speak in code, try to downplay it or outright deny it. But it is so glaringly obvious, and it's always been there but we refuse to face it. Refuse to acknowledge it. Racism is alive and well, and emboldened by a political climate in the US that gives it cover. I realize that I won't change many minds by stating this out loud, but at this point, anyone who cannot see that Black Americans are being held back, right now in 2020, by a system of government, education, employment, law enforcement, courts, drug policy, housing policy, banking, transportation, and on and on, are simply choosing NOT to see it. And the root cause of their choice to not acknowledge this obvious systemic oppression is racism. If your response to professional athletes making a statement by striking is ANGER because they are protesting and interrupting your sports entertainment, you have some seriously flawed priorities. Do you really place more value in being entertained by professional athletes, many of whom are Black, than in the lives of Black Americans who are shot or killed by police, which is the reason for their protest in the first place? Why did the Milwaukee Bucks walk off the court before their NBA Playoff game? Were you angered more by the fact THAT they walk off, rather than the reason WHY they walked off?

Grant

- Innovation to promote outdoor business to protect employee and public health
- Payroll/employee retention or supporting employees
- Purchase of Personal Protective Equipment to protect employee and public health and efforts to sanitize the business environment
- Rent or mortgage payments (excluding property tax payments) realized during the required closure of the business due to COVID-19, including the required closure of only indoor operations
- Addressing temporary COVID-19 related restrictions on business activity
- Increasing technology capacity to enable alternative work arrangements, such as telecommuting

"One of the areas hardest hit by the COVID-19 crisis has been our small businesses, the backbone of our local economy. Beseet by closures and the need to often re-tool their operations these businesses have displayed great ingenuity and resiliency", said Chair of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors Gary Sandy. "The County of Yolo is launching a special fund to assist these small businesses with costs associated with redesigns and new equipment purchases as a means of buffering them from the continuing pandemic. Our communities rely on these businesses and these funds will be used to stabilize and enhance their continued operations."

Grant awards to businesses will be made based on funding availability and eligibility. Due to limited funds, not all eligible businesses can be assisted. In order to ensure equitable distribution of funds across the County, grants will be awarded using a lottery system where a random selection of applications will occur by geographic location. The amount of funds available for each jurisdiction are based on population as follows:

- City of Davis: $236,000
- City of West Sacramento: $182,000
- City of Woodland: $206,000
- City of Winters and unincorporated Yolo County: $126,000

Applicants will be invited to submit applications online beginning September 28, 2020 at 9:00 a.m. and ending October 4, 2020 at 5:00 p.m. All required documentation must be uploaded and submitted with the application online. No physical applications will be accepted.

Additional information about the Small Business Grant Program, including a program overview document and a Frequently Asked Questions document, is available on the County website at www.yolocounty.org/small-business-grant. For additional updates follow Yolo County on Facebook at: <https://www.facebook.com/YoloCounty/> or Twitter at: <https://twitter.com/YoloCountyCA>.

the cities of Woodland, Winters, West Sacramento, and Davis, and the Yolo Community Foundation. CARES Act funding must be spent by December 30, 2020 and to help ensure that grantees meet this deadline, are eligible for the governmental reporting requirements, and provide services in previously identified high-need cause areas, the Relief Fund allocated remaining funds to organizations that previously applied and have been scored through the Steering Committee and Leadership Advisory process. Sacramento holds itself accountable."

After reviewing the footage, Cabaldon said he felt even more deeply the profound tragedy of Coleman's battle with mental illness, as well as the trauma endured both by his family and by police officers on the scene.

The public awaits the independent investigation by the Davis Police Department and Yolo County District Attorney, which typically concludes several months after an incident. At the same time, multiple internal reviews are underway, both within the West Sacramento Police Department and in the City's executive office, stated Cabaldon.

After the shooting, officers immediately requested emergency medical personnel to the scene as they themselves performed life saving measures. Shortly after paramedics arrived at the scene, Coleman was pronounced deceased. No other injuries were reported to any officer or civilian bystanders.
