

Danny Thirakul announces candidacy for WUSD trustee seat amid historic eleciton

BY MONICA STARK

Back in April of 2018, the Washington Unified School District trustees voted to do away with at-large elections, in favor of single member district elections. The conversion takes place this year, making its debut on voting day, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

River City High School graduate and President of the Student Senate for California Community Colleges in 2019-2020, Danny Thirakul, announced his candidacy for District 2, which includes the Broderick and Bryte neighborhoods. Asked about the significance to him this historic election is in relation to his candidacy, he said, “My community is underrepresented in so many ways. Single member districts ensure their voice and their needs will be heard. It would be my honor to serve and represent their needs.”

With single member districts, Thirakul expressed the ability to capture the diversity of the different communities we have in our city. “In my neighborhood we have low income families, families of colors and families that speak English as a second language. A part of providing equity is ensuring these families and their children receive the resources and support needed to succeed where income, race and language may have been a barrier for them,” he said.

As President of the Student Senate for California Community Colleges in 2019-2020 representing over 2.1 million community colleges students in the state. “I fought for financial aid reform, funding for basic needs like food and housing, and equity for our most underrepresented and disproportionately impacted students. I was also able to serve on a task force advising on how to safely reopen college campuses. I want to use that experience in service of my community as I not only live here in West Sacramento but an alumnus of the school district as well, having gone to Westmore Oaks Elementary and graduated from River City High School Class of 2015,” he said.

Living in public housing, Thirakul’s personal life has motivated him to run for school board. His father worked hard to provide for their family, but he worked hard so that Thirakul and his siblings could succeed. “For our family, getting a good education was the only way for us to achieve a better life. As a first generation American and first generation in my family to go to college I have a duty to succeed. However, I learned that our education institutions don’t always make decisions that are best for students. That moment sparked my journey into advocacy and education. The path towards a better life should not be hindered by someone’s socioeconomic background,” Thirakul said.

He ran previously for school board in 2016 and served as the student member on the Los Rios Community College District Board of Trustees.

Besides his friends and family who have been his greatest supporters, Norma Alcala a current board member for WUSD, has not only encouraged Thirakul to run but endorsed his candidacy. Thirakul calls her an amazing mentor.

Thirakul’s platform revolves around addressing inequities in our community that prevents any child from receiving a proper education. Technology literacy, reliable internet access and food insecurities are just a few of the issues he says he’d work on. Additionally, early childhood education and afterschool programs are also areas of interest he’d like to look into. “I would also want to work on how to safely reopen our schools as I have experience in that area. I think it’s also worth mentioning I support the proposed school facilities bond measure,” he said. While it isn’t a cause for con-

City of West Sacramento Opens Cooling Center

City Hall Galleria location open noon to 9 p.m. while hot conditions last

In anticipation of temperatures reaching over 100 degrees for the next several days, the City of West Sacramento is opening a cooling center located at City Hall in the first floor Galleria, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. Yolo County Has Several Locations Available for Safe Fluorescent Disposal

Fluorescent lamps offer energy efficient lighting; however, the key element that makes them so efficient, mercury, is a toxin which can harm the nervous system, kidneys and liver. Yolo County has several locations available for safe fluorescent disposal to keep mercury out of the environment.

If not properly disposed, fluorescents can be crushed in route to landfills and recyclers, releasing mercury vapors that are inhaled by workers. Sanitation workers – our essential workers – need protection from exposure now more than ever.

Locations for safe fluorescent disposal in Yolo County include:

- Yolo County Central Landfill (Woodland)
- Home Depot (Woodland)
- Batteries Plus Bulbs (West Sacramento)

- Residents 65+ or disabled may call (530) 666-8856 to schedule a free door-to-door pick-up of fluorescents and other household hazardous waste (HHW) Consider switching to LED light bulbs, they are known to last much longer than fluorescents.
- This announcement is funded by a grant from CalRecycle.

The Yolo County Department of Community Services sponsors free household hazardous waste collection days for Yolo County residents every Friday and Saturday at the Yolo County Central Landfill. Fluorescent bulbs are currently accepted from Yolo County residents for free Monday – Saturday, 6:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. For more information, please go to: www.YoloCounty.org/Landfill.

THIS ‘n’ THAT Do You Get Dressed These Days?

BY CAROL BOGART

Not a few people I know admit they now stay in their pajamas all day long. Without jobs to go to or kids to take to school, even styling one’s hair can be a bother. Especially if you reeeeeeeally need a haircut.

This is not the first time I’ve experienced the ‘too much time, too little structure’ dilemma. Here’s a story.

Back when I was a TV news reporter and working in Chicago, contracts there were ‘renewed’ every 13 weeks. Thirteen weeks! Little more than three months in, you could be fired. Before the Internet ruined everything (because people can find stuff out all by themselves), TV station ownership was a license to steal. For advertisers, TV commercials, especially during prime time news shows and the Superbowl, were both

OBITUARY

Jeffrey (Jeff) Earl Handy

Jeffrey (Jeff) Earl Handy, a civil engineer and longtime resident of West Sacramento died in his home on July 14, 2020, at the age of 55.

Jeff was born in Sacramento on September 10, 1964, to Earl Handy and Margaret Handy. Jeff will be survived by his mother, Margaret Handy; his sister, Diana Handy; his brother Mark Handy; his children, Rene Handy, Lance Handy, Eric Handy; and his grandchildren, Landon Handy, and Emmett Garcia. He is predeceased by his brother, Bill Handy; his father, Earl Handy; his grandparents Earl E. & Myrtle F. Handy and his maternal grandparents Earl and Margaret Simmons.

This year Jeff celebrated his 25th year at MacKay & Somsps. He was an experienced design engineer who had expertise in site plan, master plan, and complex land development projects. He often designed with a red pencil and was a great mentor to the younger engineers. His problem-solving attitude and attention to detail will be greatly missed by his colleagues.

Jeff was a larger than life type of person, his jokes would fill the air with laughter and there was never a dull moment when he was in the room. He was passionate in all things that he loved including baseball, basketball, football, fishing, grilling, camping, and being a family man.

Jeff was the proud winner of his 2019/2020 fantasy football league. Although this upcoming season he will be playing for a different team, we know that he will be winning. Jeff is no longer physically with us, but his legacy will live on in the hearts and minds of everyone who had the pleasure of knowing him. In light of current COVID concerns we are compelled to celebrate Jeff's life at a time in the future.

This 'n' That

effective and VERY pricey. News people themselves were 'overhead'. The cost of TV anchors and reporters cut into a station's bottom line.

But, with money to burn, TV stations did such things as, gasp, pay moving expenses! Really! Even for reporters! With each, the station hoped to improve the 'product' in its news division. The flip side: Huge markets like Chicago would move someone they wanted from one end of the country to the other at the drop of a hat – and drop a 'flop' (say the sales manager didn't like a talent) just as quickly.

Throughout the year, but especially during 'ratings' periods (when 'eyes watching' are being measured), 'audience research' could and often did determine a new, or even long-time, talent's fate. If said 'product' proved unpopular, every 13 weeks, the news department could unload it. That happened to my friend, Sheila.

I met Sheila in Miami when I was interviewing for a job at her then-station. She was friendly, smart and funny. Sheila, very poised, black, quick and stylish, was from New York City. I was a country bumpkin from a farm. We became fast friends.

At WLS, stylish Sheila 'adopted' me. My '60s bellbottoms, she said, would have to go. So, too, my '60s hairdo. After work, a group of us would meet up on Rush Street. As we walked along, Sheila joked, "I love hanging out with Carol. She makes the rest of us look so good!" I knew it was true and it made me laugh.

Maybe three cycles into my 13 weeks contract, WLS let Sheila go. She refused to let me be sad. She told me about the time a car slowed down and an excited someone called out: "Aren't you Sheila Stainback!?" (In Chicago, on-air talents are celebrities.) Sheila said she shrugged and said, "I used to be." Someone else asked, "So what are you doing now?" She shrugged again and said, "My hair. My nails." (Gotta love her, dontcha?)

This brings us to the subject of this column. If you don't even bother to get dressed, do you do your nails? I've been somewhat amused by hair and nail places that insist they are "essential businesses." But that's because I've RARELY done my nails, and I've cut my own hair for years. (When one is indigent, one saves money where one can.)

The only time I paid much attention to my nails was seeing a replay of my first TV liveshot. Front and center, my white knuckled fingers gripping the microphone), ragged nails and all.

A little background: As a toddler, I was a finger sucker. Mom tried slathering my right index finger with 'Thumb' – a horrible tasting liquid meant to deter a kid from thumb sucking. A sucked thumb could mean braces later to correct bucked teeth.

I preferred my right index finger. Liked it SO much that when I took piano lessons at age 7, the finger stuck straight out. To be honest, it still kind of does, even though I gave up finger sucking early. As soon as I could master getting ANY finger in my mouth, I took up nail biting. And then that TV liveshot horrified me.

Although I don't paint my nails, I do admire perfectly manicured fingertips. For very special occasions, I might buy a fresh bottle of nail polish. In my bathroom, I have a small collection of not-fresh polish. I should discard those bottles. But they're so full, and it seems so wasteful.

"How were you able to break yourself of nail-biting?" you might ask.

Vanity. Pure vanity.

Carol has had fake nails applied just once so as to have a perfect French manicure for her wedding. Then, her terrier dog in Denver dug out from under her privacy fence and got hit by a car one street over. To get to 'Annie' quickly, Carol climbed the 6-foot fence – and promptly broke three nails. The manicurist did an emergency fix. The nails looked alright in the wedding photos. But for Carol, that was it: Active tomboy or perfect nails? Tomboy won, hands down. Questions, comments? West Sac artists to participate in virtual experiences for 15th Annual “Sac Open Studios”

Verge Center for the Arts is excited to announce the 15th Annual Sac Open Studios event is transitioning to a virtual format with a dynamic and diverse variety of live online activities scheduled for September 9-13 & 17-20, 2020. Sac Open Studios is a free self-guided tour designed to showcase artists who live and work in the greater Sacramento region. The ever-evolving event is the region's oldest, largest and most prestigious artist studio tour program that provides a platform for the community to connect with and support regional artists while making new discoveries along the way.

With 120 artists participating from throughout Sacramento County and the City of West Sacramento in 2020, the community can watch and/or engage in a variety of ways, including a Sac Open Studios kick-off event, interactive “Conversations with Artists” opportunities, various “Artist Livestreams” when the community can watch artistry in action, individual events offered by some of the participating artists, and more.

“While the format may be a bit different this year, significantly more people will now have the opportunity to discover the depth of amazing talent that exists in our artist and maker community,” said Liv Moe, Founding Director of Verge Center for the Arts. “This year, all that is needed is a computer or smartphone to engage, experience and enjoy a creative getaway live from the comfort of living rooms everywhere or from virtually anywhere.”

Sac Open Studios Kick-off – Wednesday Evening, September 9 at 6 p.m.

To jump-start the series of Sac Open Studios activations, the community is encouraged to be a part of a virtual evening kick-off event. Interested community members will have the opportunity to connect with each other, learn the easy steps about how to navigate the virtual tour, view artwork from the Preview Exhibit, and e-meet the people who have made this program so special throughout the years.

Conversations with Artists and Artist Livestreams – September 10-13 & 17-20 (times vary) Conversations with Artists is a series of virtual events held on Zoom consisting of conversations and moderated audience Q&A sessions with Sac Open Studios artists. The community is invited to participate in themed sessions to learn more about artists’ artwork, inspirations, studio practice, and more. During Artist Livestreams, Sac Open Studios artists will broadcast live from their studios on Facebook Live or Instagram Live. This is a rare chance to get an exclusive peek into the daily lives of artists in their studios, watch their process, learn their techniques, and ask questions.

Individual Artist Events

To complement the virtual events as part of the official Sac Open Studios effort, a number of artists will host their own, virtual events throughout September as well. The community is welcome to attend these events for singular artistic experiences created by our community of regional artists.

How to Watch & Engage

To find and/or watch the live events, e-attendees simply visit sacopenstudios.com during the scheduled times to watch the action live. Conversations with Artists will broadcast live via Zoom and Artist Livestreams will broadcast live from artists’ individual Facebook and Instagram accounts. Participants can also choose to follow the social media accounts of participating artists to receive in-app notifications when they begin their Artist Livestreams. The Artist Listings of the guide is a great resource to find the Facebook pages and Instagram user names for favorite artists.

Sac Open Studios Guide

For more detailed tour information, a comprehensive and user-friendly 60-page Sac Open Studios guidebook/magazine will be available soon at various locations around the region (in limited supply due to COVID-19), or can be downloaded online beginning August 18 at www.vergeart.com/open-studios/tour-guide/.

Sac Open Studios Preview Exhibition – September 10-27

An exhibition showcasing a sampling of local artistry will be on display for a limited time at Verge Center for the Arts for in-person viewing at 625 S Street in Sacramento. Artwork on display is for sale with proceeds benefiting the artists and Verge. Due to COVID-19 restrictions, social distancing measures and health precautions will be in place including mandatory masks to be worn by all visitors. Interested guests are encouraged to visit www.vergeart.com for regularly updated information about visiting the center in person.

Originally established in 2006 by the Center of Contemporary Art Sacramento (that later merged with Verge Center for the Arts in 2014), Sac Open Studios allows tour goers the opportunity to engage directly with artists while enjoying and experiencing a self-guided, art-focused exploration of the greater Sacramento region, whether that means in-person as in previous years or virtually in 2020.

A unique collaboration between Verge Center for the Arts, local artists, arts organizations, schools and colleges, and local businesses, Sac Open Studios is generously sponsored by the following: Blick Art Materials, Capital Public Radio, Mondavi Center, Phillip M. Cunningham, Warehouse Artist Lofts (WAL), Inside Sacramento and Sacramento365.com. Additional support is provided by the Office of Arts and Culture of the City of Sacramento, the City of Sacramento and the County of Sacramento Board of Supervisors.

Anti-racism...and nothing less

BY SONIA LEWIS

It can't just be me, in noticing a difference in responses from a large part of the white community with respects to the deaths of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, and Ahmaud Arbery? My speculation is the sensibilities of white folks have been ruffled and disturbed to the core; so much so, that the pieces of the puzzle are finally beginning to make sense about systemic racism. Ever since the very public lynching of George Floyd, I've noticed a greater willingness of whites and non-Black people of color to show up and fight the very same fight Black folks have been fighting since the first auction blocks were established in 1619, off the shores of the Carolinas promoting chattel slaves as property. Reality check....white supremacy is a very false ideology created by white men to justify the ill treatment of people they forced into chattel slavery. PERIOD. And with that reality, it is beyond time America accept the ugly history associated with the founding of this country on the backs and breast of Black people. We have to not only, not shy away from this truth but be willing to redefine equity, justice, freedom, liberty and humanity; while re-imagining power structures, reparations, crime, punishment and the distributions of resources. Today, it is important to start with a basic understanding that slavery was a very lucrative economic system, deeply connection to the foundation of who and what America was and still is to this day. Anyone not willing to accept that African slaves (and their descendants) built this country is ignoring a very important part of the American story. And when you ignore the truth, you erase the people and their suffering, pain and oppression of their lived experiences. We collectively have to commit to no longer shying away from the Black lived experience, as if we've seen no evil, heard no evil or spoken no evil. We have a duty to acknowledge and rectify the lingering consequences of slavery and systems intentionally designed to keep white supremacy a functioning part of the power structure in this country's democracy and economy. If you haven't figured out by now, I am Black; and I can proudly say, I have lived unapologetically and authentically

Black for the majority of my almost 50 years of being alive. But not only have I lived my Black experience, I have also lived that of my mother's Black lived experience, and her mother's Black lived experience and the very Black experiences of those, whose precious feet touched the Carolina soil and auction block when slavery began in this country. I want you to know, my generational wealth is rooted in trauma, destruction and theft from an inherently racist system designed to prevent my ancestors, myself and my grandchildren from surviving and thriving. I am not exaggerating about how pervasive the reach of institutional racism goes, instead I want to encourage those reading these words to change the trajectory, so the outcome is different for my grandchildren's children. Now, I can refer you to a multitude of historically, evidence-based accounts of how the slave was conditioned to accept the circumstances of less than, while white folks simultaneously convinced themselves of the need to anchor this notion of superiority. However, today, I am not here for a history lesson, instead I am here to share with you why you must own your anger about the murder of George Floyd. Own the righteous indignation that has caused you to show up at protests. But more importantly, own your white privilege and for non-Black people of color, own your proximity to whiteness and desires to be model minorities. Don't subscribe to being an ally, because it is no longer enough to ally your way through community hoping to make it back to the comforts of your home, where you can continue to ignore the problems going on outside of your door. Ally-ship is weak and empty at best, and is never really self-initiated....hence the problem, when one isn't willing to sacrifice self-comfort for the humanity of others. But, I want you to know we see your efforts in this moment, as well the importance of you to this movement. There is a real opportunity in this moment, that I am not willing to just let pass by for the sake of accepting the status quo and normality in knowing my grandchildren will be relegated to the bottom rung of the ladder, because white supremacy continues to be this thing that dictates the control of outcomes. In this moment, we all have to do something different. First, with being willing to have uncomfortable conversations about race and disparities in this country. I need white people to step up to the plate and actually find solutions to fix this problem called racism. Rev. C.T. Vivian, a Civil Rights icon who fought right alongside of Martin Luther King, Jr., once said, "Blacks have a condition, not a problem. Whites have the problem called racism. And racism creates our condition." We can no longer pretend that occurrences like George Floyd are anything new. See I was taught about Emmitt Till's lynching-death in 1955. And I refuse to ignore the similarities in the public display of lynching Black bodies, from before Till's death and after Floyd's death, as the proverbial knee continues to land on to the neck of the collective Black lived experience. Furthermore, I have to say, I am tired of my Black labor being exhausted and used to lift whites and non-Black peoples understanding of this problem. My psychological, mental, emotional and physical health need attention and I can no longer give it away to those who refuse to do the leg work and commit to growing around the reality of racism, white supremacy, white privilege, white fragility, anti-Blackness, and racism. The good news is, we can learn together; and I know this to be true because I recently curated a safe space for white women to learn about anti-racism. This 4-part webinar series entitled "White Women: You May Have Racist Tendencies If..." was one of many first steps. I gave a very vulnerable look into my life and that of my parents and other Blacks, layering the learning curve with "when we do everything right" and the system prevails to destroy our ability to fight. We took several deep dives into understanding how white supremacy became a thing, explored the importance of existing while white in diverse environments, and the importance of being accomplices in this work to abolish the broken systems that have allowed racism, injustice and disparity to exist in the first place. While I love having conversations about the complexities of race, culture and power structures, I hate when the struggles of the most marginalized in commu-

cern, Thirakul added the work of equity within our district is worth mentioning. "When we look at how to provide equity there will be uncomfortable discussions but it is important, we have them in order to ensure no child is left behind," he said. Asked what lessons he learned from the 2016 school board election, Thirakul said it's important to make sure you have a good support group, people you can count on in times of need. "I was 19 years old and running a campaign all by myself. It was pretty stressful. I have a support group now and they are awesome. Even outside of running for office, having a group of people you can lean on is important to one's own mental health and success." Asked why the public should vote for him, Thirakul stressed his passion, experience, and leadership skills the district needs during this pandemic. "I understand the difficulties of online learning and with my prior experiences I know I can help our community through these times. A vote for me is a vote for someone who understands what your child is going through. I have sat in the same classes, had the same teachers and walked the same halls," he said. Thirakul is accessible through phone, email and social media. Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/danny.thirakul/> LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/danny-thirakul-408499171/>

Meals on Wheels Yolo County receives $12,000 Bayer Fund grant for Weekend Food Project

Employees from Bayer Woodland recommended Meals on Wheels Yolo County receive a $12,000 grant from Bayer Fund.

Meals on Wheels Yolo County was recently awarded the grant and will use funds from the grant to fund – in its entirety – the Weekend Food Project for fiscal year 2020-2021.

The Weekend Food Project was designed to provide relief to the low and extremely low-income seniors served by Meals on Wheels Yolo County. On the last Friday of each month, a bag of groceries is thoughtfully assembled to give seniors options for preparing breakfast, lunch and dinner over the last weekend of the month, when funds for food might be dangerously low.

The program is in its 5th year, and has provided over 8,000 bags of groceries to needy senior citizens of Yolo County. The grant provided by Bayer will pay for bags, as well as groceries to fill them. Local community groups and businesses volunteer to pack the bags for distribution each month.

Christi Skibbins, Executive Director of Meals on Wheels Yolo County said, “We are so grateful to Bayer for this grant. They have been so supportive of our organization over the past few years, and we appreciate it. Our clients have been so grateful for this program, and it is clear that for many, it makes a big positive impact on their budget and ability to get through the end of the month comfortably.”

“Throughout the years, the grants given through Bayer Fund have helped strengthen our communities across the United States,” said Al Mitchell, President of Bayer Fund.

“We’re proud to be able to provide support to develop programs that help combat challenges such as food insecurity, STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) education and support services to patients and families managing an illness or disease.”

In 2019, Bayer Fund awarded more than $14 million to over 3,200 charitable and nonprofit organizations to help address essential needs in food and nutrition, STEM education and community development. Over the last five years, nonprofit organizations across the U.S. have received more than $79 million.

Meals on Wheels Yolo County has been providing a daily hot meal to seniors in the Yolo County community for over 45 years. With the amount of seniors growing quickly due to the Baby Boomer generation, and with the COVID-19 pandemic especially concerning for those 65 and older, the local organization is busier than ever. Yolo County Requests Input on County Road 32A Railroad Crossing Relocation Project Study Report Yolo County is requesting interested members of the public to offer input regarding the preparation of the County Road (CR) 32A Railroad Crossing Relocation Project Study Report. Yolo County is working with the City of Davis, Union Pacific Railroad, the Bike Davis group, the Yolo County Farm Bureau, the California Public Utilities Commission and the Sacramento Area Council of Governments to consider a relocation of the CR 32A railroad crossing at CR 105 to improve safety. CR 32A is located north of Interstate 80 (I-80) and east of the Mace Boulevard interchange and acts as a frontage road to the Yolo Bypass where I-80 becomes a causeway.

This crossing has a history of accidents, despite the implementation of many safety countermeasures over many years. The current study being prepared by T.Y. Lin International will result in a Project Study Report (PSR) to establish alternatives and a preferred option for replacing the CR 32A railroad crossing at CR 105, with a new crossing within two (2) miles east of the current crossing. At-grade and grade-separated crossings will be considered in the PSR. Environmental, engineering, safety, and cost considerations will be evaluated for the alternatives. Funding opportunities will be reviewed for subsequent, future construction of the selected, viable alternatives.

In addition, the study will consider the need for improved bikeway connectivity between the existing Class I Bikeway from the City of Davis, which ends at the CR 32A and CR 105 intersection, and the Class I Bikeway on I-80 over the Yolo Causeway.

For more information on this project, including recorded Power-Point project presentation, downloadable site plans of alternatives under consideration, and directions on how to provide comments to the county on the study preparation, visit: <https://www.yolocounty.org/community-services/public-works/division/project-updates>. Written comments from the public will be received by the County until 5:00 PM on September 4, 2020 via email to: Todd.Riddiough@yolocounty.org or mail to: Yolo County Department of Community Services, Public Works Division ATTN: Todd Riddiough, 292 W. Beamer Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

Due to precautions concerning the spread of COVID-19, an in-person public meeting will not be held. Instead, the county will hold an online “open house” on August 31, 2020, from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Participants can join at any time during this online meeting to provide verbal feedback and ask questions of the project team. A link to this Zoom meeting can be found on the project webpage.

Woodland Man Sentenced to 10 years in Prison for Pimping and Pandering Multiple Victims

On August 7, 2020, the Honorable Paul Richardson of the Yolo County Superior Court sentenced a 41-year-old West Sacramento man, Ray Lawler Jr., to 10 years in state prison after his conviction for pimping and pandering multiple victims.

In May of 2019, correctional staff at the Yolo County Jail advised the Yolo County District Attorney's Office Human Trafficking Unit that Lawler Jr., an inmate at the Yolo County Jail, was possibly engaged in pimping and pandering while serving a sentence for a parole violation. District Attorney Investigators began reviewing Lawler Jr.'s communications from jail and found that he was directing an adult victim residing in Texas on how to post to escort websites, advising prices for commercial sex acts, demanding she continue to engage in commercial sex acts when she said she did not want to, and then requesting she put money on Lawler Jr.'s jail commissary account.

Yolo County District Attorney Investigators arrested Lawler Jr. for pimping and pandering on June 27, 2019. Investigators from the District Attorney's Office continued the extensive investigation discovering evidence that Lawler Jr. had been involved in pandering other adult victims in Yolo County and surrounding counties since 2017 while on parole. Through this investigation several victims were identified and large amount of evidence was accumulated.

On July 10, 2020, Ray Lawler Jr. pleaded no contest to one charge of pimping, one charge of pandering, one charge of attempted pandering and admitted a prior strike offense.

Without the dedication and attention to detail of the Yolo County Sheriff's Office Correctional Officer taking action and making a report, Ray Lawler Jr. would have served his parole violation and been released to continue his crimes with his current victim. The Yolo County District Attorney's Human Trafficking Unit works closely with all local law enforcement agencies like the Sheriff's Office and conducts training for officers on how to detect and report human trafficking, even suspects committing the crime while incarcerated.

Human Trafficking is a multi-million-dollar a year enterprise that preys on the innocence and vulnerability of both female and male victims. The Yolo County District Attorney's Human Trafficking Unit is working tirelessly to apprehend suspects as well as help victims of this heinous crime. The Unit also provides trainings for educators, non-profits, and community members to help educate the public about the dangers of human trafficking in our area and how to detect and report suspicious activity. If you see or hear something suspicious and are concerned please report human trafficking to the Yolo County District Attorney's Office at: 530-666-8180 or email district.attorney@yolocounty.org.

For more information on human trafficking visit the DA's website at <https://yoloda.org/human-trafficking-unit/> or for resources <https://humantraffickinghotline.org/>, <https://polarisproject.org/>, and <https://victimconnect.org/learn/types-of-crime/human-trafficking/>.

Valley Clean Energy donates face masks to Rise, Inc.

Valley Clean Energy (VCE), the local electricity provider for Yolo County and the cities of Woodland and Davis are helping keep local residents safe and healthy during the COVID-19 pandemic.

VCE purchased 500 high-quality, washable and U.S.-made face masks and donated them to RISE Inc., a nonprofit organization that serves the Latinx community and has organized the delivery of social services to western Yolo County for more than 30 years.

Woodland City Councilman Angel Barajas, a member of the VCE board of directors, said RISE was chosen to receive the gift because it "does an incredible job servicing residents in the rural Yolo County region."

"RISE Inc. has strong ties and relationships with students and parents through its after-school and day care programs, including working with members of the agricultural community," Barajas added.

RISE Inc. is a "one-stop shop" for social services in western Yolo County, providing services to preschoolers through senior citizens. Among its programs are emergency food and clothing, resource and referral services, summer recreation activities and mental health services.

Its offices in Esparto, Winters and Woodland have remained open throughout these months of sheltering in place, providing vital distribution of food, especially fresh produce, and clothing to rural residents.

The donation of washable face masks is part of VCE's commitment to acting on issues of social justice, Barajas said, adding, "We must continue to find ways to limit the spread of COVID-19, especially in our most vulnerable populations."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that people wear face masks in public settings and when around people who do not live in their household, especially when other social distancing measures are difficult to maintain. Masks may help prevent people who have COVID-19 from spreading the virus to others, the CDC says.

Valley Clean Energy is Yolo County's community choice aggregator (CCA), dedicated to providing clean, safe, reliable and affordable electricity to its 54,000 customers in the cities of Woodland and Davis as well as the unincorporated area of the county.

The city of Winters is VCE's newest member, set to start service early next year.

For more information about VCE, visit www.valleycleanenergy.org or call 855-699-8232.

Anti-racism

nity are co-opted into this thing that white people take over, as if experts in the field.

If you don't hear anything else from this article, I want the major take away to be....racism wasn't created by Blacks, indigenous people or other people of color for that matter. And with that being said, we shouldn't continue to hold the responsibility of fixing racism.

I will continue this work as an Anti-Racist educator and training facilitator. My business ASCRIBE Educational Consulting has not only developed learning modules for schools, but for organizations and workspaces seeking to strategically implement plans for racial equity, while shifting the narrative of equity and centering the voices of those closest to the pain.

We have even committed to bringing this work to a white man centered audience, because it is important for white men to be brought forward on this journey of growth. I admit, it was a hard decision to create a series for white men, because truth be told, I am triggered by white men and the very essence of why they feel superior in every situation.

I, as a Black woman, have been overlooked by white men, as well as objectified and fetishized by white men. The challenge is to bring a few good men along to do this work.

While, I confess I DON'T HAVE ALL OF THE ANSWERS ABOUT RACE RELATIONS....I am committed to be present in moments of discovery, with the hopes of helping people to embrace the full essence of HUMANITY. See, humanity doesn't require investigations, it requires heart, courage and compassion for what is just. The question isn't if you are a racist, but what does your moral compass tell the world about your commitment to humanity? Humanity should always supersede norms, traditions and decorum; it is literally waiting on us to make it happen now. This is what I know for sure, America is just as much mine, because my ancestors sacrificed it all, by way of blood, sweat and tears in order for America to be America. I urge you to not shy away or ignore the discomfort in this moment of changing race relations, and to always center those who are marginalized in community when you vote, where you live and work, and how you spend your money. My grandchildren's children are depending on you to do the right thing today.

For up to date information on the work ASCRIBE Educational Consulting is offering in community, follow on FB & IG @ASCRIBESuccess and on TW @AscribeEd. For questions about programing and trainings, please email Sonia Lewis at ascribe.consulting@gmail.com.
