

COVID-19 testing operations extended in West Sac

Club West location now open through July 25

Due to increased demand for COVID-19 testing, operations at Club West in West Sacramento will continue through Saturday, July 25. The decision to extend was made by Yolo County health officials in coordination with the City of West Sacramento after 636 individuals were tested last week, and all appointments for this week filled up. Club West is located on the north side of Bryte Park, at 1125 Riverbank Road. It has the capacity to test 135 individuals per day.

Testing in West Sacramento is by appointment only, Tuesdays through Saturdays from 7:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m., by calling: (888) 634-1123 or completing an online application at: <https://lhi.care/covidtesting>.

Testing is open to anyone in the community regardless of documentation status. If residents do not have health insurance, the cost of the test will be covered by the state. If residents have health insurance, their provider will be billed with no out of pocket cost.

The site has been located in West Sacramento since June 2 and, with this extension to July 25, will be in West Sacramento a total of eight weeks. The OptumServe site was previously in Woodland for four weeks of testing, from May 5 – 30. As of June 27, a total of 4,143 residents have been tested through OptumServe in Yolo County, with 1,856 people being tested in Woodland and 2,287 in West Sacramento.

This is not antibody testing; this is to test if individuals currently have COVID-19. Children under the age of 12 will not be tested at this location due to health and safety reasons. Residents must wear a face covering to their appointment and practice social distancing. This location is not a drive-thru so residents will need to park their car and walk a short distance to the building. OptumServe will be able to test up to 135 people a day with test results available within 48 to 72 hours.

Residents can also call Yolo 2-1-1 for resource information.

West Sac bars and indoor restaurants shut down

Due to rising increases in confirmed Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) cases over the past two weeks, Yolo County is likely to exceed the elevated disease transmission criteria on the State of California's County Data Monitoring. To help slow the spread of COVID-19 and align with surrounding counties, Yolo County pre-emptively closed the same sectors that the State has required counties on the County Monitoring List (List) to close effective July 3, 2020 at 12:01 a.m. for a minimum of three weeks:

- All bars and breweries (indoor and outdoor)
- Indoor dine-in restaurants
- Indoor wineries and tasting rooms
- Indoor family entertainment centers
- Indoor movie theaters
- Indoor zoos and museums
- Indoor cardrooms (except for those on tribal land)

On June 5, the State began using a series of metrics called County Data Monitoring to identify any emerging areas of concern related to COVID-19, which includes the criteria of increasing hospitalizations, limited hospital capacity, and elevated disease transmission. Counties that meet at least one of these criteria are placed on the State's List. Counties are flagged for elevated disease transmission criteria

Takeout dinners offer "A Taste of the Mediterranean" in West Sac

BY STACY GROW

Many members of the West Sac community have attended the Mediterranean Food & Music Festival over the years, an annual event hosted every September at the Holy Virgin Mary Antiochian Orthodox Christian Church (HVMC). This year, due to Covid, this event is one of three fundraisers the Church has had to cancel.

Father Paul and Jean Baba, who have served as the Church's Priest and Priest-wife for the past 16 years, decided to take the setback in stride by creating a curbside pickup dinner fundraiser called "A Taste of the Mediterranean" in May. The event was so well received by the community that the Church now offers a curbside pickup dinner every other Tuesday from

12pm-6pm. According to Jean Baba, "As long as the community wants it and we can do it, we will continue. This is our normal for right now."

So far, each takeout event has sold an average of 100-150 meals. The Baba family and a few additional volunteers from the congregation prepare the food and deliver it to the cars, carefully adhering to current Covid-related health and safety standards. Pickup times are staggered to avoid any crowds. With four events under their belt so far, Jean says the whole system now runs like a well-oiled machine. "People appreciate the organization and the freshness of the meals."

The menu varies from week to week. Fan favorites include the gyro, garlic chicken, and falafel sandwiches and barbecued beef kifta (meatball) and lamb.

Yolobus Resumes Fare Collections and Publishes Rider Guidelines Operational Procedures Take Effect

Yolobus resumed front door boarding and fare collections as of July 1. Social distancing will continue to be promoted and fares must be made upon entry. At this time, all passengers must wear a face covering (masks, scarf, or other form) while waiting for the bus and while riding. This requirement does not apply to children under the age of two or to individuals who are unable to wear a face covering due to a medical condition or disability. Riders are asked to continue following social distancing guidelines, remain six feet apart when waiting for or riding the bus, where possible, and not to travel when feeling ill or having any COVID-19 related symptoms. Operators will adhere to established policies to safeguard the health of operators and other riders.

THIS 'n' THAT When the Wind is Gusting

BY CAROL BOGART

So here's the thing about wind. On hot days, I'm grateful for the slightest breeze. When there's a high wind alert (40-60 mph gusts projected), I avoid trees when I walk the dog. Especially when the tree lawn by my complex is littered with already-downed branches of assorted sizes.

During one of the windy days we had here recently, the trunk of a medium-size tree inside the complex split at the 'V' where its two sides came together.

THAT was a big limb! It took a chainsaw to dismember it!

When it fell, it crushed the top of a smaller tree next to it. Looking at the scar on what was left of the larger tree's trunk, it seemed to me the part that fell could, oh, I don't know – take your head off?

So, if it's windy, I don't walk under trees. Especially when there's been a

Rest in Peace

Op-ed Hey Congress, Move the Money

BY DAVID SWANSON

The past month's activism has changed a great deal. One thing it's helped with is brushing aside the tired old argument over whether government should be big or small. In its place we have the much more useful argument over whether government should prioritize force and punishment, or focus on services and assistance.

If we want local and state governments that provide experts in de-escalating conflict, professionals to assist those with drug addictions or mental illness, and skilled experts at handling traffic or responding to various sorts of emergencies, the funding is easily and logically found. It's sitting in the oversized budgets for armed policing and incarceration.

At the level of the federal government, an even bigger opportunity exists to move money from institutionalized deadly force to all variety of human and environmental needs. While police and prisons are a small percentage of local and state spending, the U.S. government is expected to spend, in its discretionary budget in 2021, $740 billion on the military and $660 billion on absolutely everything else: environmental protections, energy, education, transportation, diplomacy, housing, agriculture, science, disease pandemics, parks, foreign (non-weapons) aid, etc.

No other nation spends even half what the United States does on militarism. Russia spends less than 9 percent and Iran a bit over 1 percent (comparing 2019 budgets). China's military budget is roughly on the scale of U.S. police and prison spending -- nothing like U.S. military spending.

U.S. military spending has soared during the past 20 years, and the wars it has generated have proved counter-productive and extremely difficult to end. This focus seems to have done very little to protect anyone from COVID-19, from environmental disaster, from the risk of nuclear disaster, from unsafe workplaces, from all the suffering inflicted by poverty, or from the lack of comprehensive healthcare.

In both houses of Congress right now amendments to the National Defense Authorization Act are gathering support that would reduce next year's $740 billion budget for militarism by 10 percent for the purpose of redirecting those funds to wiser purposes. Moving $74 billion would result in a budget of $666 billion for militarism and $734 billion for everything else.

Where could the money come from, specifically? Well, the Pentagon is the one department that has never passed an audit, but we do have some idea of where some of the money goes. For example, simply ending the war on Afghanistan that candidate Donald Trump promised to end four years ago would save a large percentage of that $74 billion. Or you could save almost $69 billion by eliminating the off-the-books slush fund known as the Overseas Contingency Operations account (because the word "wars" didn't test as well in focus groups).

There's $150 billion per year in overseas bases, many of them bitterly resented, some of them propping up brutal dictatorships. For that matter there's the military training and funding of oppressive foreign militaries by the U.S. government. There's also such out-of-control weapons buying that unwanted weapons are unloaded onto local police departments.

Where could the money go? It could have a major impact on the United States or the world. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, as of 2016, it would take $69.4 billion per year to lift all U.S. families with children up to the poverty line. According to the United Nations, $30 billion per year could end starvation on earth, and about $11 billion could provide the world, including the United States, with clean drinking water.

Does knowing those figures throw any doubt on the idea that spending $740 billion on weapons and troops is a security measure? Some 95 percent of suicide terrorist attacks are directed against foreign military occupations, while 0 percent are motivated by anger over the provision of food or clean water. Are there perhaps things a country can do to protect itself that don't involve weapons?

Moving money from militarism to other investments can be economically beneficial, and certainly all necessary steps to assist people in the transition would cost a small fraction of the money involved.

Yolo Community Foundation recognizes Yolo Youth Service Award recipients

Yolo Community Foundation (YCF) is pleased to announced a record-setting 5 recipients for their Yolo Youth Service Awards. The awards were established in 2007 to reward Yolo County youth for volunteer work with local nonprofit organizations. The award recognizes the importance of developing and cultivating a sense of community and service within the youth of Yolo County, and encourages local nonprofits to engage with youth volunteers.

Meg Stallard, YCF Board President, noted that “the main purpose of this award is for us to show how much we value young people who give their own time to help others. Yolo County is a better place because of them. We know this has been a challenging year to be a high school senior, and we appreciate the good work we know these students have done and will continue to do to serve their communities. We wish them the best in their future educational endeavors.”

The five students given awards this year are: Zahra Baxi, a Davis High graduate from Davis began her volunteer work with Davis Media Access at age 11, when she enrolled in a Stop Motion Animation summer camp. She continued with DMA, and started an after-school animation club. She has been trained on the DMA equipment, served as a production intern and helped produce a local series about teens. She was honored by DMA as their volunteer of the year at last fall’s Philanthropy Day hosted by Yolo Community Foundation.

Scripture Brandenburg is a recent graduate of Sacramento Charter High School who lives in West Sacramento. He did his volunteering for Computers 4 Kids, which provides students and other community members with refurbished computer equipment to help bridge the digital divide. He served as a computer technician, learning how to repair and replace computer hardware and to troubleshoot software issues. He also helped provide orientations to students who received the computers.

Anna Grexton graduated from River City High School in West Sacramento in June. She worked with Out of the Box Ministries at Trinity Presbyterian Church, participating in their regular food distribution program. She helped pack the bags regularly, and would often welcome new groups of volunteers, give them instructions and find jobs for them within the program. She also worked with other students participating in a backpack giveaway by the Yolo County Children’s Alliance.

Elena Olvera, a graduate of Pioneer High School in Woodland, has participated in the Yolo Community Band for several years. This community band is made up mostly of adults from throughout the county, but Elena has been an active student member. As a member of the percussion section, she worked diligently on a particularly challenging piece chosen by the conductor. She also was willing to switch parts to allow others to play, and would work organizing the gear for travel to concerts.

Monzerrat Garcia, a recent graduate of Winters High School, volunteered for the Success Program through RISE, Inc., a nonprofit that serves the rural community to enhance the quality of life and opportunity for self-sufficiency in western Yolo County. The Success Program helps students with homework after school, and Monique first served as a tutor and subsequently often led the program during her four years of service. She built strong, positive relationships with the students in the program during her service.

The YoYoSA Scholarship award honors for serving more than 60 hours during their high school years at a specific nonprofit. The awards consist of a $1000 scholarship to each student and a $500 grant to the sponsoring nonprofits. These grants come directly from the YCF’s YoYoSA Scholarship Fund and the YCF Community Impact fund, respectively.

About the Yolo Community Foundation

The Yolo Community Foundation inspires giving, supports philanthropists, and serves the nonprofit community in Yolo County. The organization offers donor-advised funds and other philanthropic vehicles, donates to local nonprofits through the Buck Education Grant, fosters volunteerism through the Yolo Youth Service Awards and annual Philanthropy Day program, and supports local giving via its involvement in the Big Day of Giving. YCF currently has 60 philanthropic funds valued at over $4 million and is an affiliate of the Sacramento Region Community Foundation. Join us! Visit www.yolocf.org for more information.

if they meet one of the following two metrics:

1) Case rate of more than 100 cases per 100,000 residents over a 14-day period
OR

2) Case rate of more than 25 cases per 100,000 residents over a 14-day period AND a testing positivity rate of greater than 8% of test results over a 7-day period.

As of July 1, Yolo County has a case rate of 87 per 100,000 residents over a 14-day period and a test positivity rate of 7.1%.

The State mentioned in its news release on July 1 that “these sectors are all high risk of transmission due to a number of features of the businesses and the behaviors that occur within them. These sectors, foundationally, are settings where groups convene and may mix with others for prolonged periods of time often without a face covering.

Additionally, physical movement within the establishment, duration of time spent in the establishment, and the degree of social mixing among individuals and groups outside one’s household are all significant in these sectors, which substantially elevates the risk of transmission even where face coverings can be worn. Furthermore, in some of these sectors centered on eating and drinking, compliance with face coverings is not possible for the full duration of time someone spends in these establishments.”

A number of the recent, local cases have been attributed to social gatherings and a lack of social distancing. This increase in confirmed cases due to social gatherings and the lack of social distancing is happening throughout the region and in surrounding counties as well. Communities and residents are being asked to continue to social distance and wear a face covering, including around family members and friends from other households.

Face coverings are mandatory in the State of California and Yolo County and should be worn as directed in public situations and as detailed in various guidance for reopened activities. The Center for Disease Control, the World Health Organization and the California Department of Public Health have all stated that face coverings are an additional protective measure to help slow the spread of the virus, especially when social distancing is not possible.

“Unfortunately, the number of our positive COVID cases continues to increase. We have to find a way to move those numbers down again,” said Yolo County Board Chair Gary Sandy. “We need everyone to take greater personal responsibility for safeguarding their own health and the health of their fellow community. We all need to help.”

This ‘n’ That

lot of rain and the ground is saturated. Buffeted by extreme wind, the entire tree might topple!

Years ago, when I free-lanced for the local paper, I my assignments included covering the township trustees. The township was, oh, maybe a half hour drive from my farm. Instead, I called my supervisor and said, “I’m sorry, I can’t go.” This was sufficiently unusual (I liked the trustees and enjoyed their meeting) that my editor said, “Why not?” I said, “It’s too windy.”

Silence, as he digested that. Then, puzzled, he said, “Windy?” He was looking out the window at the newspaper. Breezy, maybe? He was stumped.

Well, here’s the thing. Wind, in the city, and wind in the country, are two different animals. In town, tall buildings mute the wind’s effects. I described what was happening at the farm:

trees bent almost to the ground. Especially strong gusts lifting a loose corner of my barn’s metal roof. I worried it might fly away like Dorothy. My aging Range Rover was, I knew, a ‘high profile vehicle’ and prone to rollovers. To cover the trustee’s meeting would require traversing a great number of flat Ohio fields that offered zero wind protection.

Another silence. “Oh,” he said. And I stayed home.

The next day, I made arrangements to have the barn roof repaired. Mike, my son, and I inspected the woods for damage. Three good-sized trees were down. I mean DOWN. Mike’s eyes were huge. ‘Stay out of the woods when it’s windy,’ I reminded him. And also during lightning storms, heavy rain, and hunting season. Funnel clouds were, of course, a given.

This Broderick tree lost part of its 3-prong trunk. Such trunks are prone to insect infestation and rot where the main trunk splits and forms a ‘V’.

As I write this, I’m watching a light breeze ruffle the leaves on my Sycamore. It’s clever, I think, how God planned the weather. Kicking up a wind to rid a tree of dead/decayed leaves and branches so more sunlight gets to what’s healthy. The dry leaves crumble and turn into compost, amending the soil. The ‘fertile ground,’ littered with mature dry tree seeds, grows new trees. Hard to improve on that Plan, isn’t it!

I guess birds, when they build their nests, must have a 6th sense about which tree limbs may prove vulnerable. That’s not to say no eggs or nestlings ever fall victim to the wind, but fewer would be sacrificed if trees weren’t trimmed during California’s March-through-August breeding season.

Wind gusts damaged the barn roof when I had my farm.

“People really like that the sandwiches come deconstructed with veggies and sauce on the side, so they don’t get soggy. And we provide heating instructions, so it’s interactive.” For dessert, baklava and Father Paul’s famous donuts are popular items.

Jean grew up in a Middle Eastern family and the meals being served are her family recipes. “This is the food I made with my mom. I love food and I have a heart to serve. It makes me so happy when I can feed people and they’re satisfied.”

The takeout fundraiser is helping the church offset their loss of income due to Church services being first cancelled, and now limited, due to the pandemic. The congregation usually averages 55-60 parishioners at Sunday services. They are currently able to invite just 12-15 people each week to attend. (A livestream of services is also available.)

Jean Baba calls the HVMC congregation “small but mighty” and “very faithful, loving people”. Only two of the parishioner families live in West Sacramento, with the rest commuting from other surrounding areas. Since Antioch is a melting pot of Orthodox Christianity, there is no singular ethnic background at the Church. The West Sac congregation is attended by Jordanians, Lebanese, Palestinians, Italians, and more – a very diverse ethnic range. Because of their diversity, Baba says as a Church they try to be welcoming and inclusive. Services are predominantly in English, with some prayers recited in Greek and Arabic.

Jean Baba says they are also using the takeout dinners as a way to give back to the community. “In our faith, we believe in almsgiving and taking care of the poor.” In June, they donated $1 from every sandwich sold to Yolo County Children’s Alliance, in partnership with City Councilmember Quirina Orozco and the nonprofit’s executive director Katie Villegas.

Next up: partnering with a local nonprofit for a “Fill the Bag” collection drive to provide personal hygiene bags for young women living in local shelters. Details will be announced in the coming weeks. Baba says the Church has long played a big role in the West Sac community and they want to give back to express gratitude for the community support their congregation has received.

The HVMC is one of 12 Antiochan Orthodox churches in Northern California. The Church traces their origin to the churches established by the Apostle Paul in the Balkans and Middle East during the first century A.D. Antioch was an ancient Greek city that sits in the modern-day country of Turkey. Tradition holds that the first Gentile church was founded in Antioch, where the disciples of Jesus Christ were first called Christians.

HVMC, located on Jefferson Boulevard, was originally a residence. But in 1982, a parishioner purchased the property, donated it to the Church, and it has been used for religious services ever since. When Father Paul and Jean Baba and their 3 young children arrived in 2004, they tackled beautifying the property. Father Paul planted 70 fruit trees, 100 grape vines, and 10 olive trees on the premises.

Today, parishioners harvest the fruit, and grape leaves are used to prepare a traditional rice-filled dish called dolmas. Father Paul preserves jam and cures olives. In January during Epiphany, he blesses each parishioner’s home with Holy Water and offers them a jar of homemade goods. Jean notes, “It’s a joy for us to see the fruits of our labors being enjoyed by the people.”

The next planned curbside pickup meal will be available by pre-order only on Tuesday, July 21. There will be 3 meal plates offered: #1 Beef kifta (meatballs) with basmati rice, grilled onion and tomato, with side of homemade hummus and pita ($10); #2 Same meal with Garlic Chicken instead of beef ($10); #3 Vegetarian Meal: 5 falafel, basmati rice, hummus, pita, and dolmas ($10). Also available: Spanikopita ($3).

Orders can be texted to 916-533-3848 by the Monday before at noon. Pre-pay on Venmo (HVMC-WESTSAC) or PayPal (@Holy Virgin Mary Church).

For information on future takeout meals, visit the Church’s Facebook page, “Holy Virgin Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church.”

restore Yolobus service towards pre-pandemic levels,” states Terry

Bassett, Executive Director of Yolobus. “Reinstating fares is the beginning of that process, which will also include service coming back in phases.”

While fares are being reinstated, Yolobus is continuing to support youth riders by offering unlimited free rides to youth 18 and younger throughout its service area. The year-long pilot program, which launched in August 2019, will be extended through November 2020.

To enhance the safety and well being of operators, Yolobus installed driver barriers as an additional measure to operators wearing masks. All buses have common touch points wiped down during revenue service, and vehicles are disinfected prior to the next day's use.

In these unprecedented times,” adds Bassett, “I would ask the community to join Yolobus management and Transdev, the agency's bus contractor, in thanking our Yolobus operators, maintenance, and operations personnel who have opted to continue to drive and work for us during the pandemic to help customers access essential jobs, food, and other necessities allowed under the Governor's call to stay at home and to maintain the cleanliness of our buses following county and state mandates.”

All riders are asked to comply with the following guidelines: Yolobus Rider Guidelines During COVID-19 Pandemic (Effective June 8, 2020) Stay home if you’re not feeling well. Wash your hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. Bring and use your own hand sanitizer and face cover. All passengers and drivers must wear face covers. Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth. Cough or sneeze into a tissue, then throw that tissue in the trash. If you don’t have a tissue, use your elbow. During the pandemic, in effort to provide some social distancing, they encourage a limit of 15 riders on two-door transit buses and 26 riders on single door buses, plus the driver, on fixed route services. Passengers are asked to try to leave every other seat on their bus vacant. Exceptions may be made for families or groups traveling together. Practice social distancing by staying at least 6 feet away from other people, where possible. Stantees are not allowed on any bus, except families or groups traveling together on two-door transit buses. Subject to driver and bus availability, Yolobus may provide extra buses to offer additional capacity, once the seating limit is reached, but we cannot guarantee it. All drivers will deploy and use the sneeze shield at the driver compartment or wear a face shield. It is the intention to frequently wipe down touch surfaces on buses used in service each day. In addition to cleaning the touch surfaces as described above, buses used in service are disinfected at least once a day. We advise riders who are age 65 or over or who have pre-existing medical conditions that pose a risk with COVID-19 not to ride the fixed-route bus during the pandemic, but to instead call our paratransit number to register and arrange for their ride, subject to driver and vehicle availability, or to arrange alternative means of travel. Customers who remain uncomfortable using public transportation during the pandemic should consider an alternative means of travel, such as carpooling or another form of ridesharing. As an essential service during the COVID-19 pandemic and vital to opening California up again, Yolobus takes its rider’s health and the health of our drivers seriously. In order to protect the health and safety of everyone, please follow these guidelines until further notice. About Yolobus On March 23, Yolobus and Transdev, the agency’s bus contractor, reduced service to a Saturday schedule with some expanded bus service on specific routes. Operation continues because many essential workers use Yolobus to get to jobs and others depend on bus service for essential travel included in the COVID-19 shelter-in-place mandates to secure food, health care, meals, safety, and medical necessities. Yolobus operates 45 compressed natural gas (CNG) buses, 6 battery-electric zero-emission buses, 6 highway coaches powered by clean diesel fuel that is highly refined to improve combustion efficiency and reduce harmful emissions, and 9 clean diesel cutaway vehicles that offer curb-to-curb paratransit service. Yolobus serves Davis, West Sacramento, Winters, Woodland, downtown Sacramento, Sacramento International Airport, Cache Creek Casino Resort, Esparto, Madison, Dunnigan, and Knights Landing, and connects to Unitrans and Fairfield-Suisun Transit in Davis, and Sac RT buses and light rail in Sacramento. A limited on-demand pilot program for Knights Landing residents was introduced in August 2019. The agency, prior to the pandemic, provides over 1.2 million rides a year.
