Yolo County health order extended for another month; child care finder portal announced

Effective immediately, Yolo County is extending the countywide health order for residents to shelter in place through May 31. The extended order aligns the County approach to “sheltering in place” with the requirements of the State Shelter in Place Order -which limits what the County can allow local business and residents to do - and is similar to the extension timelines of neighboring counties. In addition, the health order is intended to continue to slow the spread of novel coronavirus (COVID-19). The original Shelter in Place order, issued on March 18, established a shelter in place through April 7, but was extended on March 31 to May 1.

While the State Order to stay at home is still in effect, counties may only permit activities to resume that are not prohibited by the State Order. Counties can only be more restrictive than the State Order, not less. This means that the County cannot allow certain activities to resume unless also allowed by the State Order.

Under the County’s extension and not prohibited by the State Order, Yolo County is allowing the following activities to resume, effective May 4th, that have been assessed as low risk for the spread of COVID-19 and are consistent with the State Order, as long as they 1) follow guidelines from the County and its partners and 2) adhere to strict social distancing protocols:

Reports of child abuse haven’t skyrocketed, but lack of oversight could be the reason

BY MONICA STARK

While reports of child abuse haven’t skyrocketed in West Sacramento during the shelter-in-place orders, the reasons may be due to the lack of oversight by various professionals such as school nurses, counselors, teachers and friends.

That was a message delivered by West Sacramento City Council Member Quirina Orozco at the April 22 council meeting over Zoom with the rest of the council.

That said, guides about handling child behaviors and stressful situations are available from the Yolo County Children’s Alliance.

According to the website, they are meant to “give you ideas about how to nurture your child, weather emotional storms, take care of yourself, and enjoy time with your child, while also helping you feel empowered and closer to your child.”

The guides, are listed, as follows:

- Handling Your Child’s Challenging Behaviors at Every Age
- Nurturing Children During Times of Stress: A Guide to Help Children Bloom
- Weathering the Storms: A Guide to Healthy Expressions of Emotions for Parents and Children
- Make Time for Yourself—A Self-Care Guide for Busy Parents
- Talk+Play=Connect Toolkit for Families
- Choosing a Child Care Provider

Even if these resources aren’t particularly useful for you or your family, Orozco urges the community to keep an eye out on your neighbors.

Yolo County requires masks

BY MICHELE TOWNSEND

The Yolo County Public Health Officer has issued orders requiring some members of the public and workers to wear face coverings.

County Public Health Officers are given their authority under the California Health and Safety Code. Does that mean that the rules set forth by the Health Officer are law? In a manner of speaking, yes.

Enforcement of these orders began on April 27, 2020 at 8 a.m., and is to continue until the orders are rescinded, superseded or amended in writing by the Health Officer. By not complying with the face covering orders, some people will be committing a misdemeanor punishable by fine, jail or both. The problem is that the orders themselves say that “the success of this order depends upon voluntary compliance by individuals and community acceptance of its requirements”. In addition, it

Is ‘distance’ learning working out – or is it like having homework ALL the time?

Here’s a true story you may find helpful.

As a student, my ADHD son was easily overwhelmed. When he was a sophomore, he had what proved to be a last-minute geometry project that was news to me. Each day when Mike got home from school, we emptied his backpack. I’d seen no instructions for this assignment. I emailed his teacher, who’d included it in her Friday morning email to me. She told me this ‘star’ home project – assigned four weeks earlier – was due the following Tuesday (with Monday being MLK Day). A stroke of luck. We’d have three whole days to do it.

She promised she’d look in his desk for the materials and send them home with him that day.

I refrained from blowing up at him when he got home, and said, “OK, let’s look at those instructions.”

The kids were to use colored string and tacks to create a star, measure the angles, and write up their findings. I asked, “What color string do you want?” He said, “All of them.” Noting his beleaguered expression, I

Big Day of Giving set for Thursday

Big Day of Giving is on, and 615 local nonprofits are in. This region is resilient, even during challenging times. Mark your calendars for Thursday, May 7, to support the organizations that do so much good in the Sacramento region.

There are lots of ways to make an impact on Big Day of Giving! You can make early gifts in advance, create a fundraising page to encourage your friends and family to support the cause that matters most to you, let someone in your life know you've made donations in their honor, and pledge to volunteer in the coming year. However you give, be proud that you are part of the movement that has raised more than $40 million for over 600 local nonprofits since its inception.

Some of the following organizations need more help now than ever.

MEALS ON WHEELS YOLO COUNTY: In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, Meals on Wheels Yolo County is currently busier than ever, meeting the needs of more Yolo County elderly folks. They are delivering only twice a week, but still delivering five or more meals/week, plus extra grocery items, paper products and toiletries as needed, since most of their clients are home bound and beginning to run out of supplies. Coronavirus is a food security issue for low income and home bound seniors, and your important gift is vital in supporting our work with seniors right here in our community. Donors are more important than ever during this virus, and a critical component of our ability to do this job.

Needs Statement

Millions of seniors in the United States face the threat of hunger. A 2008 report on hunger reported that "the threat of hunger confronts over five million of all seniors age 60 and over." The seniors we reach are mostly invisible to the community. Many, who are on fixed incomes, must choose between paying for essentials, such as rent, food, or medicines. Seniors should not have to choose between the necessities of life. Over 68% of the seniors we serve are very low income and 25% live below the poverty level. These older people, who have been productive members of our society, are most at risk and need and deserve our protection, support and care to stay as healthy as possible, while they age with dignity.

- The organization needs volunteers to deliver meals and a friendly smile each day to seniors, particularly in our most difficult to serve communities.

We also need volunteers in other areas, such as clerical, helping us care for our fleet of delivery vehicles, helping in our five kitchens, etc.

- The organization needs donations for both our general operating costs ($180,000 on food alone last year), and to fund special projects such as our Weekend Food Project ($12,000/year).

Our top needs:

1. Volunteers - Volunteers needed in Winters, Woodland and West Sacramento. How would you like to help?
2. Funding: Unrestricted - Your generosity is appreciated and we know exactly where it will do the most good.
3. Funding: Program - Your generosity is appreciated and we will spend it on the program you indicate, or work together on an original project.
4. Board Members - Since we serve all of Yolo County, it's great when every city and area is represented on our Board of Directors. Let's talk about this relationship!
5. Other - Please Describe - Advocates! With 75 million Baby Boomers now aged 60-74, the increase in those now eligible for our services is huge. Help us spread the word to Boomers who may be in need of our help.

ramento, Winters, and Davis. There, about 2/3 of the bulk food is packaged for home delivery by volunteers. Seniors look forward to their meal and to the personal attention of a familiar visitor. The other 1/3 of the food is plated attractively and served to seniors who travel to the four senior centers to socialize over lunch. It's what we do. But we are one of the few remaining organizations that actually cook meals from scratch and deliver them daily. Many programs - because of a lack of resources - deliver ten frozen meals twice a month by FedEx, or they have had to eliminate congregate dining, or they have a waiting list of hungry seniors, or they have had to close down their programs altogether. So, what has always seemed simple, is, obviously, not so simple these days. The daily delivery of a hot meal by a familiar volunteer is very important, and even unique nowadays. Our staff, Board of Directors and volunteers are passionate about what we do. Our continued success is DIRECTLY RELATED to the generosity of time and financial support by our community. We'd like to keep providing this service to seniors for a long time. Please help us do that with your support."

Top needs:

1. Funding: Program - Arts Education Programs
- Traditional arts education programs bring professional teaching artists into public school classrooms and juvenile detention centers to instruct in visual, performing, and literary arts reaching 2,716 students. YoloArts' innovative and successful I SEE YOU program, reaching over 100 participants, strives to increase the artistic expression and social connections of adults who are experiencing homelessness in Yolo County.
2. Funding: Program - Historic Programs and Gibson House Educational Tours
- Unique to Yolo County, the Gibson House and 2.5-acre park serve as an important state historical landmark where over 400 3rd grade students explore life in the late 19th and early 20th centuries through standards-based educational tours and hands-on activities which include butter churning, corn husking, and art making.
3. Funding: Program - Art & Ag Project
- The Art & Ag Project cultivates a dialogue between artists and farmers in Yolo County to increase public awareness about the importance of preserving farmlands. A nationally recognized project for over 10 years, YoloArts has worked with farmers to open their land to artists who capture private landscapes that would otherwise remain inaccessible and unseen., and engages almost 200 artists per year.
4. Funding: Program - Gallery 625
- In 2020, Gallery 625 will host six new gallery exhibitions to highlight local and visiting artists. First Friday opening night receptions with music and refreshments reach over 200 participants. Conveniently located at Yolo County's Erwin Meier Administration building, Gallery 625 is also open to a constant flow of public visitors during the week.
5. Funding: Program - Barn Gallery
- A newly renovated and modern space, the Barn Gallery, offers 1,400 square feet for exhibitions, performances, presentations, and more. The Barn Gallery 2020 schedule features four gallery art exhibitions with a diverse representation of emerging and established artists. New exhibits encourage left alone for Walmart. There, I bought corkboard in a frame. One of each color poster board. Multicolored string, a ruler, compass for measuring the angles, small sharp scissors, even a small crochet hook to help him pull the string. (Oxygen deprived at birth; Mike has trouble with his fingers.) Lastly, with some searching, I found a box of small tacks he could wrap the string around.

I'd tried to anticipated any and all excuses, such as, he was too tired to do it Friday because he'd been at school all day. When I got home, I set it all aside and made dinner.

Saturday, I laid it all out on the kitchen table in a way I hoped he'd find enticing. After I fed him, I sat him down. With grave misgivings, he took one look and said, "You got the wrong color poster paper." I showed him he had six more to choose from.

He ran out of objections, and I said, "Let's pick your star," from drawings of several options. "I want to make the American flag," he said.

Hoo boy.

I said, "Sweetie, that's a great idea, but look how many stars that is. Since we're getting a late start on this, how about choosing a design that's simpler?"

He picked a single 5-pointed star.

"Perfect!" I said, and headed out to feed the animals.

An hour or so later, I came back. He was sitting at the table. He'd done nothing. I lost it. Frustrated beyond reason, I exploded: "JUST GET STARTED!"

He jumped up, ran to his bedroom and shut the door.

After a brief struggle, I got control of myself, went to his room, and found him hunched, defeated on his bed.

"Michael," I said gently. "What's the problem?" Tear-filled eyes met mine. Hopeful I might understand, he asked, "What does 'Get Started' mean?"

Of course! For any of us, tackling something new can be intimidating. We don't know how to do it because we've never done it before. Now add to that problems with focus and attention. Easily distracted. All the ADHD stuff. The trick is – start with what's easy for you and build on that.

I held him close, my eyes wet, too, and said, "Michael, I'm so sorry." How often had I told him just get started? How often had his teachers?

Exhausted, we agreed to 'get started' Sunday.

After church and lunch, we sat down together at the table. I said, "Start with this. Remove the plastic from the cork board." He did that. I said, "Now pick your background color." He chose black. "Now," I said, pointing to the array of tools I'd purchased, "cut the background paper to fit the corkboard." He figured that out all on his own. He used the ruler. Attached it with the tacks.

Sunday after church and lunch, we sat down again, and reread, together, the instructions for the star. First, he drew it out on paper (he's always liked to draw) and cut it out. Then, placing it where he wanted it on the corkboard, he used tacks to mark the points.

Monday, he started with the string. I left for work but said I'd call to see how he was doing. I did. Hyperfocused now on his project, Mike said, "Mom! I'm busy! You're distracting me!"

After work, I found Mike waiting for me at the door, eager to show me his large finished star: black background, pale wood frame, multicolored string 5-pointed star. And, on the table, the star's angles, measured and put on paper.

Until one corner started to unravel a couple years ago, the 'star' project was on my wall.

So, confidence. Instill confidence in the child and the child develop confidence to try new things. Incremental learning is the key. By tackling that project one increment at a time, Mike got it done. And most importantly, learned that he could do it!

Thanks to the pandemic, all of us, kids and adults, are under a lot of stress. We don't know when, if ever, things will get back to 'normal'. Kids are finishing out the school year at home, not in the classroom. Covid-19's 'curve' will dictate whether California schools will open as early as July to help students make up for lost learning time.

CDC projections are for a second, deadlier wave this fall. Testing positive for antibodies may not mean that we're immune. A third of us likely are asymptomatic carriers. Some young healthy people in their 20s who test positive for the virus are having sudden strokes; half are dying.

In West Sacramento, according to Yolo County's virus Dashboard (based on, as of 4/28/2020, limited testing), the age group consistently Covid-19-affected is not old, sick elders. It's people ages 55-64. Countywide, the 25-34s are about even for infection with those 85 and over.

Are you and your kids on stress overload? Take a break. Stick a face covering in your pocket (for when you can't avoid getting too close to others) and head outside. Scientists say the virus dislikes heat and sunshine, plus the fresh air will cheer you up.

THE WEST SACRAMENTO HISTORI-

CAL SOCIETY is an all volunteer group of dedicated individuals interested in preserving, collecting, educating, exhibiting, and interpreting the history of West Sacramento and its surrounding diverse community.

Needs Statement

Because of our expansion this has increased our need for funds, volunteers, and space. We hope to expand further by doing more community outreach.

Background Statement

The initial membership began as a forum to reminisce about the early history of West Sacramento, to promote sites for historic plaques, field trips, and to produce photographic displays. Since this time, the Society expanded itself by paying for and maintaining a History Gallery (a small museum located within the West Sacramento Community Center), preserving local donated artifacts, and maintaining three original community fire trucks.

Top needs:

1. Funding: Program - Funds to support new historical exhibits: funds for a speaker series and educational outreach programs. Funds to purchase archival quality supplies.
2. Space: Office or Other - A permanent environmentally controlled site approximately 5,000 square feet to house and preserve our entire collection plus include office space.

3. Volunteers - Volunteers who have mechanical and repair skills, willing to drive manual transmission vehicles, and initiate maintenance schedules for three vintage fire engines.
4. Volunteers - Volunteers to catalog artifacts into a museum-inventory database and assist with History Gallery exhibition and other educational programs.
5. Funding: Other - Funding to support research and develop for a self-guided history tour application on historic sites throughout West Sacramento.

Shelter in place

yolocounty.org/coronavirus-roadmap. For businesses needing permits, please check with county and city departments for open hours. Yolo County continues to monitor developments related to the State Order as well as local data. Additional amendments on loosening or tightening activities under the County's Shelter in Place order will be based on developments related to these two areas.

"The extension underscores the fact that the threat from the virus is still very real," said Yolo County Board Chair Gary Sandy. "Please avoid crowds and large gatherings, stay at home, wash your hands regularly and use face masks. We must not let our guard down."

The extension is part of Yolo County's recently announced 'Roadmap to Recovery' (R2R) response plan, which is a proposed strategy to chart a path forward through COVID-19 that is fluid and gradual. The draft plan was supported by the Board of Supervisors during the Board meeting on April 28. For additional information visit: www.yolocounty.org/coronavirus-roadmap. Residents can also call Yolo 2-1-1 for resource information.

Governor Gavin Newsom announced a new portal to help Californians working in essential sectors find safe, reliable, and accessible child care options. Use the statewide portal to find open childcare providers near you: <https://covid19.ca.gov/childcare/>

The number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Yolo County is 164 with 16 deaths. Stay up to date by visiting the Yolo County Coronavirus website.

It is with a heavy heart that after many meetings and much discussion the Board of Directors and Staff made the very difficult decision to cancel the 2020 Yolo County Fair.

This decision was not made lightly. The health and safety of our community is our top priority. This is a big disappointment to our Fair Staff, Board of Directors, Vendors, Volunteers, Local Organizations, Concessionaires, Exhibitors, Carnival Staff and the community but it is the right decision.

Planning for Fair takes months to produce this high-quality event. Due to the uncertainty of when restrictions for large public gatherings will be lifted, we are not able to make plans for the caliber of Fair everyone expects.

We wish everyone good health in the coming days. When we can safely open the fairgrounds to the public, we will continue with our tradition to schedule the events you enjoy and love - including the 2021 Yolo County Fair... "Wheel Be Llamazing".

Masks

states that it is unlikely those individual violators will be cited and that the enforcement will be directed toward the businesses that are not forcing compliance from individuals. Businesses are expected to post signs to remind their customers that they are required to wear face coverings while inside.

Not everyone is required to have a face cover on. Those required to be wearing a face cover are basically anyone that is going to be within close proximity of others. This includes individuals that are working in, engaging in, or seeking services... essential or otherwise. It also includes anyone that is inside of or standing in line to enter a business or for any other reason (such as waiting for public transportation). In short, it is required any time you will be interacting with another person anywhere that is not your home. It is also required for anyone that is working in a space where food is prepared, walking through common areas such as hallways, stairways and elevators.

People that are NOT required to have a face covering on are those that are in their own home. Children under the age of 2 years old should not wear a face cover due to suffocation risk (children above the age of 2 should be encouraged to wear a cover).

Face coverings are also not required if you are alone in your office or other work space when no one else is present and as long as the public does not regularly visit. Wearing a face covering is not required while engaging in outdoor activity such as walking, hiking, bike riding or running. However each person is expected to maintain a social distance of a six foot minimum. Because running or bicycling cause people to more forcefully expel airborne particles, the 6 foot minimum is less adequate and those people must take measures to avoid exposure to others. Additionally, people driving in their own cars are not expected to wear a face cover, but those on public transportation of any kind are. Others that are not required to wear a face cover are those that can show a medical professional has advised them that wear a face cover may pose a risk to that person's health or that the mask could pose a danger while performing the duties of their job. A face cover should also not be worn by someone that is having trouble breathing, is unconscious or otherwise unable to remove the face covering without assistance. Even if your activity puts you in a category that is not required to have a covering on, you should be carrying one with you in case needed. It should be easily accessible.

The term "Face Covering" in this order means a covering made of cloth, fabric, or other soft, permeable material, without holes, that covers only the nose, mouth and surrounding lower part of the face. It need not be medical grade. It may be factory or hand made. It should be comfortable and allow for the person wearing it to breathe easily. It should not need adjustments that require the wearer to touch the face. It should also be washable and kept clean if it is not disposable. As long as medical-grade masks are in short supply, the public is asked to not purchase them, but rather make their coverings and leave the medical-grade masks for health care professionals and first responders. In addition, any mask that has a one way valve (usually has a plastic disc in the front) that is designed for easy exhaling, is NOT considered a face covering in this health order. It is therefore not in compliance with the order. A video showing how to make face coverings can be found on the CDC's website at <http://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/prevent-getting-sick/diy-cloth-face-coverings.html>.

Face coverings are not in place of the shelter in place order. They are simply another tool that when combined with social distancing, hand washing and shelter at home will reduce the risk of contracting or spreading the virus. For more information or for the complete Health Order you can log on to cityofwestsacramento.org. Copies of the Order are available at the County Administrative Building located at 625 Court St, Woodland Ca 95695 or on the county website at www.yolocounty.org. You may also find examples of notification signs to post in your business.
