Southport Levee Improvement Project Earns Envision Platinum Award for Sustainable Infrastructure

The Institute for Sustainable Infrastructure (ISI) has announced that the West Sacramento Area Flood Control Agency received the Envision Platinum Award for the City of West Sacramento's Southport Levee Improvement Project (SLIP).

West Sacramento is seasonally surrounded by water and protected from flooding by the city's levee system. This $180 million project, financed and constructed by the West Sacramento Area Flood Control Agency (WSAFCA), is the Agency's largest capital improvement to date. Levee improvements along this 5.6-mile section include a combination of renovating the existing levee structure and the construction of a new setback levee.

Flood risk-reduction measures address deficiencies of through-seepage, under-seepage, slope stability and geometry, erosion, and encroachments and noncompliant vegetation. WSAFCA's goal is to achieve a minimum 200-year level of levee performance for the entire West Sacramento levee system. The project, completed in 2019, brings the levee into compliance with Federal and State levee design criteria, as well as providing opportunities for ecosystem restoration and public recreation. The project is relatively unique for an urban area in that it returns several hundred acres of land to riparian and oak savanna habitat.

"This is a tremendous accomplishment for WSAFCA, our partners and the West Sacramento community and is a result of the project's systematic planning, design, and delivery that, in addition to attaining flood risk reduction objectives, incorporated meaningful community, ecological, and tribal participation," said WSAFCA Board President, Tom Ramos.

This multi-benefit flood risk reduction and ecosystem restoration project was constructed as part of the federal West Sacramento Project, a partnership with the Central Valley Flood Protection Board acting through the Department of Water Resources (DWR) Division of Flood Management, WSAFCA, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE).

"This honor reflects West Sacramento's commitment to reducing flood risk while advancing our sustainability objectives," said West Sacramento Mayor Christopher Cabaldon. "In addition to greatly improving flood protection, the Southport project reconnected several hundred acres of land to the Sacramento River flood plain to provide critical natural habitat and expanded recreational opportunities for our community and the region - an extraordinary achievement in an urban setting. The Project demonstrates that careful consideration of community input can maximize public benefits while minimizing unintended consequences."

OBITUARY

Joseph John Sokolich

Joe Sokolich, a longtime resident of West Sacramento, and member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters for almost 80 years, drove his final nail home when he passed away peacefully on January 15, 2020, at the age of 98 years.

Born in Portland, Oregon, in April 1921, Joe grew up in San Pedro, California among the town's Croatian community. Joe attended San Pedro Senior High School, excelling as a runner on the track and field team. When not in school, he assisted the family by working odd jobs and helping with maintenance on his father's fishing boat. Following high school graduation, Joe enrolled carpentry trade school.

Joe joined the carpenters' Long Beach local. He was sworn into U.S. Navy as a Carpenter's Mate less than a week after the attack on Pearl Harbor and the United States entry into World War II. Joe spent the War on numerous Pacific Islands and Atolls repairing ships, boats, and landing craft.

After the War, Joe returned to Southern California to work as a carpenter. He spent more than 30 years working on homes, mostly in the South Bay of the Los Angeles area. During this time, Joe married his first wife, Hazel, built their house, and together they adopted their daughter Melinda.

In 1978, Joe retired and moved to Sacramento where he married Betty Fairbairn Finlayson Turner Vogel. He became Grandpa Joe to Betty's grandchildren, step-dad to her kids, and Grandpa to extended family and friends. He also became part of the art world in which Betty lived. He used his skills to hang art shows, build display stands, assist in making stained glass windows, and in his own art form of woodturning. Additionally, Joe and Betty traveled all over the world visiting family and friends, as well as making new ones.

Through all of their activities and travels, West Sacramento was home. Joe spent many years serving Trinity Presbyterian Church using his knowledge and skill to help maintain the facilities. He served as the long-time host of their Men's Prayer Breakfast on Saturday mornings. He truly showed his faith through the caring and help he provided to anyone in need; he lived his life the same way he practiced his trade: plumb, level, and square.

In 2013, Joe and Betty moved into assisted living after Betty suffered a stroke. Following Betty's passing in 2014, Joe continued activities with friends and family until his passing last month. Joe is survived by his daughter Melinda, stepchildren Judy, Janet, and Pitt, as well as their spouses, 10 grandchildren, 17 great grandchildren, along with numerous great-great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and adopted grand relatives all around the world.

A Celebration of Life will be held for Joe at Trinity Presbyterian Church, 1500 Park Blvd. West Sacramento, CA 95691, at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 29th, 2020.

THIS 'n' THAT

The Superbowl – Oh Who Cares

BY CAROL BOGART

Apologies to all football fanatics but: I don't like football. Odd, I guess, in that I was married to a one-time Denver Bronco. He was starting for the Orange Crush when the Crush won the Superbowl. Some years later, he was traded to the Chiefs. He played for the Chiefs a while and then hung up his cleats. In retirement, he moved back to Denver (where I was working in TV and met him). That's what I think he told me. It may be flawed.

I never saw him play. Not on TV. Not on tape. In writing our engagement notice, I said he played offense for the Denver Broncos.

"Defense," he corrected, without comment.

Early on I'd warned him I'd been, at best, indifferent to football all my life. Told him I didn't actually know how the game is played.

Still don't. The basics maybe. Has to do with touchdowns.

Didn't seem to matter. By the time we met, he was into golf.

The Monday after this year's 2/2/2020 Superbowl, I stopped by the office to pay my rent. Our manager – who I like a lot – was working on a stack of paperwork and confused my apartment number with the date. He gave me a rueful smile and said, "I'm still mourning." My eyebrows asked, "Who died?" "The game," he said.

Ohhhhhhhh! The GAME!

Nonetheless, I dropped my head in empathy. The Superbowl, I knew, was SERIOUS BUSINESS for pro football fans.

I bought into a football pool. Once. Thirty years ago or so. I was going to my one-and-only-ever Superbowl party and hoped, with money in the game, I'd have some interest. (I didn't care who won, so bet on the underdog.)

Of course, I knew my odds of picking the right slot were on par with ... the Chiefs beating the Forty Niners? It does occur to me I should have bought a slot in this year's pool. First Superbowl win in 50 years, the Chiefs!

Well, you know. What the hell. Good for them.

My antipathy toward football began in childhood. I remember being the only youngster at the family table during college football season get together. My father, uncle, brother, mom and cousin were AVID Buckeyes fans. All five were, or would be, Ohio State alumni.

After dinner at my folks' farm, the women (mom, Aunt Mary) and one girl (me) cleared the table and did the dishes. Dad, meantime, fiddled with the antennae gadget to get the antennae turned just right to pick up Ohio State vs. Michigan or the Rose Bowl. (For all OSU home games, my parents went in person, even scoring season tickets on the 50 yard line in their later years.)

Dad watched all away games on TV. Paying close attention to the Bucks' main rivals – most especially, the Wolverines. I seem to remember Illinois being up there, too. And Notre Dame. I don't entirely remember. To me, it was just a lot of boring noise, and much preferred to tramp around outside with my dogs.

Pro football didn't interest my family much. GO BUCKS. That's all I knew. In my view, football RUINED every family get together. How, I wondered, could they find football more fascinating than my small self?

As I matured a bit, I did understand their feelings of betrayal when the star player on my high school team signed a sports scholarship deal and played for, gasp, Michigan. Across Ohio, Buckeyes fans were furious. In our community, townfolk held such a grudge that, after football, when he came back to run his dad's men's wear store, many wouldn't buy there!

I was in my 30s, working in TV, when a then-boyfriend's father asked me why I hated football. It came up when we were at a Royals game. The boyfriend was as nuts about the Royals as my folks were about the Bucks. In that context, I mentioned that I hated football (while disguising my near-equal boredom with baseball of any sort). That antipathy, too, was rooted in childhood. Dad liked to tune the car radio to Indians games, but couldn't when I was in the car. The droning announcer coupled with backseat car fumes made me car sick. I whined. A lot.

(I was a difficult child, my mother said.)

Anyway, I told the boyfriend's dad the 'family get togethers' football story.

"Ah," he said, nodding wisely. "You're jealous of football."

Crap.

Guilty.

How lame.

Which is not to say I hate all sports. I don't. I LOVE hockey. You could call me a FANATIC even. Gotta brag a little. My son co-founded the first-ever ice hockey team at UC Santa Cruz. (GO SLUGS!!) and played Men's A League on Sharks Ice. (GO SHARKS!)

With the extreme enthusiasm I feel for Mike and hockey, I do actually understand fanatic football fans. I gather there's a strategy to football that eludes me. The Sunday after the Superbowl, our pastor said the Niners would have won "if they'd had a better passing game."

Armchair quarterbacking.

I was channel surfing Superbowl Sunday, trying to avoid the game – when the halftime show glued me to the screen. Yoweeeeee! Now THAT was SOMETHING!

MediumRare Records expanding in spring

BY MONICA STARK

MediumRare Records & Collectibles, Sacramento's #1 Rated record store by Sacramento News & Review, located in the Warehouse Artist Lofts at 1104 R St., will expand its entire product line of vinyl, collectibles and vintage magazines, March 1, 2020.

The new, expanded MediumRare Records will feature a museum-like atmosphere, a restored, 50-year-old jukebox, and an even larger selection of new and vintage vinyl, cassettes and collectibles, from the '50s through the '80s. Entire families can step back in time and enjoy exhibits and rare collectibles of music icons such as The Beatles, Beach Boys, Elvis Presley and others.

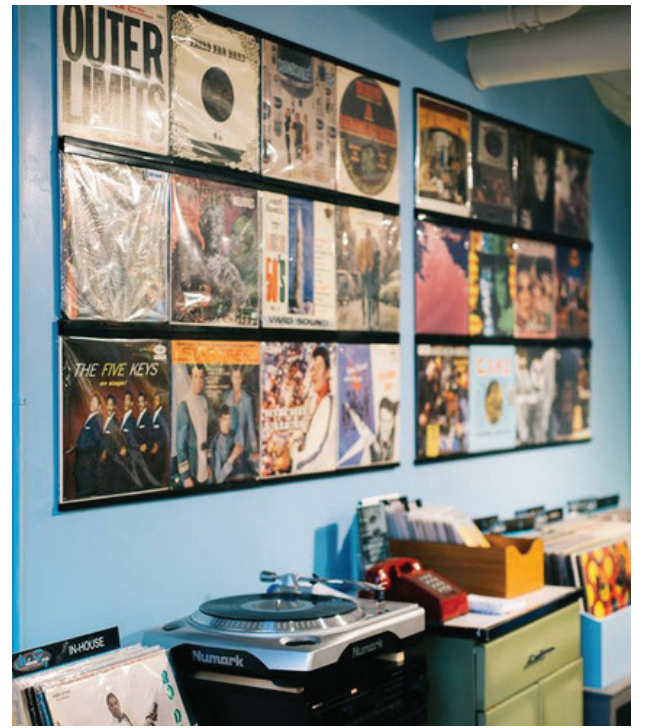

"I've always envisioned a record store that felt more like a museum that showcases original vinyl and artifacts from the musicians that created and shaped rock 'n' roll," said store owner Marty De Anda. "At MediumRare, you can pick up an original copy of The Beatles Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band as well as the cool portable record player that it was originally played on."

MediumRare's expansion comes as long-time partner, Kicksville Vintage & Vinyl, move their collection of vintage vinyl, furniture and household items to a new, larger midtown location. MediumRare will continue to work hand-in-hand with Kicksville to support both stores unique merchandise.

Located in the Warehouse Artist Lofts in the center of the city's blossoming art scene, MediumRare Records & Collectibles continues its mission to provide customers with a high-quality, music shopping experience. With more and more music retailers disappearing from the local landscape, De Anda envisions MediumRare Records as "a musical oasis."

"It's a collector's dream, an exciting experience for the entire family and a great resource for those who've recently discovered the wonders of vinyl," he adds.

The name MediumRare simply indicates that the store is not specifically a collector or high end store, although the price point is not at the low end (due to the high quality). "We are not a store for 'picking', but a unique and highly curated store that provides an actual music experience for collectors, beginners and entire families."

De Anda says the store offers many rare records and first pressings, and currently they feature a very rare early Bob Dylan record, The Rolling Stones first LP promotional copy, Beatles Butcher Cover and an entire wall of autographed records from Frank Sinatra to Ronny James Dio to Tony Bennet. They've had many photo shoots, and two short movies actually filmed inside. This year, looks to be the year they will begin having singer/songwriter type shows at MediumRare

As record stores have gone out of business De Anda says "good old fashioned service" has made them successful. "Everyone who works at MediumRare is an expert in some musical field. We engage every customer and are there to share detailed facts about rare collectibles, provide advice on how to start a record collection and to answer any type of question our customers can come up with," he said.

The store has grown over the past five years due to reputation and creating an atmosphere that is good for the entire family, De Anda says. "We were recently voted (Sacramento News & Review) as Sacramento's #1 Record Store. Although we haven't truly 'upgraded' it, we have stuck by our very strict standards of quality and service even though we could sell other product not quite as pristine."

MediumRare buys large or small record collections, paying far and away the highest prices for quality product. They will buy entire collections even if we do not want all of it. The worst thing a seller can do is to let someone pick through their collection and leave them with 60% or more that they cannot sell. We take that worry off of the customers shoulders.

De Anda prides his store as Sacramento's first family-oriented record store. "We curate displays to enlighten young folks and let oldsters like myself go back down memory lane. It is not unusual for us to have a grandfather, father and daughter come in at once to share the fun," he said.

De Anda began collecting records around 1968. "Even at 12 I was known as 'the music man'. I personally don't have as many as you might guess, maybe 1,500 not counting a very large Beatles collection."

Born and raised in West Sacramento, De Anda lives in Land Park. The De Anda family (my family) still remains one of the largest and longest tenured families in West Sacramento: six generations strong. "I am clearly a West Sac boy...er man."

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown in this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. WARNING - IMPORTANT INFORMATION
 California law provides that, for purposes of division of property upon dissolution of a marriage or domestic partnership or upon legal separation, property acquired by the parties during marriage or domestic partnership in joint form is presumed to be community property. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. You should consult your attorney if you want the community property presumption to be written into the recorded title of the property.
ADVERTENCIA - INFORMACIÓN IMPORTANTE
 La ley de California establece que, a los fines de la división de bienes tras la disolución de un matrimonio o sociedad doméstica o tras la separación legal, los bienes adquiridos por las partes durante el matrimonio o sociedad doméstica en forma conjunta se presumen propiedad de la comunidad. Si cualquiera de las partes en esta acción muere antes de que se divida la propiedad comunitaria conjunta, el idioma de la escritura que caracteriza cómo se posee el título (es decir, la tenencia conjunta, los inquilinos en común o la propiedad comunitaria) controlará, y no la comunidad Presunción de propiedad. Debe consultar a su abogado si desea que la presunción de propiedad de la comunidad se escriba en el título registrado de la propiedad.

Dorothy Peterson Arts Grant winner announced

A Dingle Elementary School teacher and classroom was the winner of a $200 Dorothy Peterson Arts Grant. Karyn Schnaible, 4th/5th grade teacher, submitted her "Handmade Paper" art lesson which engages students in the harvest of cotton and flowers from the school's garden.

"We hope this project will inspire the students to investigate their environment, learn about the importance of all aspects of the agriculture industry, and get creative with resources that are readily available to them," Schnaible wrote in her application.

Volunteer Garden Coordinator for Dingle Elementary, Allison Rose Bright, accepted the award at the YoloArts office recently on behalf of Schnaible. The Dorothy Peterson Arts Grant is offered twice a year to all K-6 teachers in Yolo County and is offered through the Art & Ag partnership of YoloArts, the Yolo Land Trust and Yolo Farm to Fork. Dorothy Peterson was a Yolo County educator, community leader, and arts advocate who touched many lives through school gardening and recycling programs.

The next grant application will be available in June 2020 for the 2020-21 school year.

More information about the grant program is available at <https://yoloarts.org/art-ag-project/#dorothy>.

The Envision sustainable infrastructure framework assesses project sustainability across five categories: Quality of Life, Leadership, Resource Allocation, Natural World, and Climate and Resilience. These key areas contribute to positive social, economic, and environmental impacts on a community during the planning, design, and construction of infrastructure projects.

Some of the factors contributing to the SLIP earning an Envision Platinum include:

Excellence in Cultural Engagement and Preservation - The project site was identified as being in an area with a high potential for buried cultural resources.

Archeological surveys were conducted in advance of construction in collaboration with representatives of local Native American communities who also provided monitoring during construction. WSAFCA formulated a tribal wage/skill matrix to integrate tribal monitoring into the project as a technical skill set. The matrix can be used by others following this engaging practice. Several elements within the project footprint were redesigned to avoid and protect areas with the potential for cultural resources.

Multi-Benefit Infrastructure - The project's primary goal is to ensure flood protection for residents and businesses of West Sacramento. The region anticipates a substantial increase in rainfall event intensity and high-water events in the coming decades. As such, the project was designed to contain a 200-year flood event or designed to withstand water levels with a 5% annual chance of occurrence. However, the project team considered several other ways the project could benefit the community, including increased recreational opportunities and habitat restoration. The project relocated a portion of South River Road from the top of the levee thereby separating levee maintenance and flood fighting from the road's use as an evacuation route. The levee crown now functions for levee management and serves as a trail for pedestrian/cyclist use. The trail links to a regional trail system, extended opportunities for exercise and views of the Sacramento River watershed.

Habitat Mitigation - WSAFCA plans to complete levee system improvements over the next 5 years to meet a state-mandated 200-year level of flood protection, and some of those levee projects will likely not have feasible on-site opportunities for habitat mitigation. The project team maximized habitat restoration on the SLIP, restoring habitat in excess of regulatory requirements to offset future project impacts and to facilitate the planning process for other crucial flood-fighting efforts.

Restoration of Natural Systems - The project's restoration design increases river-floodplain connectivity and restores ecologically functional floodplain habitat consistent with the flood-risk reduction goals of the project. The project is restoring 212 acres of habitat, with a net increase of 114 acres of habitat that did not exist before the project. This includes new wetland habitat developed on the water side of the new levee to expand much-needed protected habitat for local biodiversity. The wetland is planted with a 100% native plant palette, including species that improve water quality such as California bulrush. Irrigation, which uses only river water, will be provided for plantings during a limited period. Once established, the plantings will have easy access to ground water, therefore the project has no long-term water use.

Remediation of Contaminated and Degraded Areas - For the setback portion of the project to be successful, WSAFCA needed to ensure groundwater infiltration would not introduce contaminants into the watershed. To do this, the project team remediated two brownfield sites located within the project footprint. One site was remediated for arsenic and the other was a former tank farm with hydrocarbon contamination.

Reporting date and time: Feb. 12 at 7:18 p.m.

Location of incident: 1500 block of West Capitol Avenue

Police was working patrol and they saw Dwain Desmar Smith cross the roadway between the adjacent intersections which were controlled by traffic control signals. Police contacted the suspect and during the contact, observed him drop from his hand a small baggie of meth, which weighed 1.4 grams. A record check revealed three outstanding warrants, for which he was also arrested.

Reporting date and time: Feb. 12 at 4:23 p.m.

Location of incident: C and 5th streets

Suspect Kimberly Ann Morse was stopped by police and stated she was on probation. She said that she had a pipe and dope in her bra. She pulled a glass smoking pipe wrapped in a paper towel and a clear Ziploc style baggie with 25.7 grams of meth out of the right side of her bra. During a search incident to arrest her backpack, police found a cell phone that displayed a text message from a person who said they would be willing to pay "10" and would meet her in the area of 5th and E streets, which is only two blocks away from the incident location. Based on the large amount of meth found on her person and the text message that was displayed on her phone, police believed she had the intent to sell the meth. She had been arrested previously for charges of sales of controlled substances. She was transported and booked into Yolo County Jail.

McEachron was taken to the ground and detained. He continued to resist while being searched and while being placed into the patrol vehicle. His record check came back with outstanding confirmed warrants. McEachron was arrested and transported and booked into Yolo County Jail.

Reporting date and time: Feb. 12 at 1:16 a.m.

Location of incident: 4700 block of West Capitol Avenue

Officers were dispatched to the location where suspect David Nathan Everon was calling 9-11 to report unknown persons following him and trying to shoot him. Since Jan. 1, he frequently called 9-11 to report such circumstances despite them being completely unfounded each time by responding officers. He called 9-11 for such unfounded emergencies no fewer than 35 times, 14 of which all occurred on or about Feb. 8, and five of which occurred on or about Feb. 11. In no less than four instances out of the 35, he communicated to dispatchers that he had consumed or bought meth in the hours prior, the most previous occurrence being on Feb. 11. Upon contacting Everon in his motel, he exhibited objective symptoms of meth to include paranoia, sweating, white foam upon the tongue, elevated heart rate, rapid speech and a quick Romberg count. He later admitted to consuming meth about 12 hours prior. He was placed under arrest for being under the influence of a controlled substance and was booked at Yolo County Jail.

Reporting date and time: Feb. 11 at 8:15 a.m.

Location of incident: 1600 block of West Capitol Avenue

Public Library, 250 First St., Woodland. Bats are incredible flying mammals, often misunderstood and very useful in our environment. (Woodland, CA) – Come in out of the cold for programs held at Yolo County's Arthur F. Turner Community Library, located at 1212 Merkley Avenue in West Sacramento:

February is Black History Month! 2020 marks the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment and the women's suffrage movement and the 150th anniversary of the 15th Amendment and the right of black men to vote. This year's theme, "African Americans and the Vote," recognizes the ongoing struggle of voting for black men and women.

Recycle Right!™

FLOWERS CAN LAST FOREVER

Even after your flowers wilt, you can make them last forever by placing them in your Organics cart.

Collect flowers, yard trimmings, food scraps and food-soiled paper.

Place those items in your Organics cart. (Brown Lid)

Materials collected in Organics cart are processed into compost!

When you place food scraps, food-soiled paper and yard trimmings in your Organics cart, you're helping create compost, nature's best mulch, fertilizer and soil amendment. Compost provides soil with the essential nutrients that help plants and flowers grow.
