

Grant cycle now open for local students to “Go Visit a Farm!”

Local nonprofit Yolo Farm to Fork is accepting grant applications for Yolo County public and private schools to “Go Visit a Farm!” The grants will send 4th, 5th, and 6th grade classes on a field trip to a local organic farm and provide $300 per bus towards transportation. The grants are sponsored by local family-owned grocery chain Raley’s.

Classes visit one of three Yolo County farms. Full Belly Farm is a 400-acre diversified organic farm in Guinda, while Fiery Ginger Farm and 3 Sisters Gardens are small organic urban farms in West Sacramento. Every student will harvest and sample produce grown on site. Other learning activities may focus on identifying parts of a flower, growing vegetables at home, pruning and caring for fruit trees, keeping livestock, vermicomposting with worms,

Winters man convicted of inflicting injury on his girlfriend and dissuading two witnesses

Late afternoon on January 30, 2020, a Yolo County jury convicted Jesus Reyes of inflicting corporal injury on his girlfriend, false imprisonment with force or violence, and two counts of dissuading witnesses from calling law enforcement.

On April 4, 2019, at approximately 6:30 p.m., Winters resident Jesus Reyes drove to an apartment complex in west Davis. Reyes was driving with his girlfriend in the front passenger seat. He started to violently punch, slap, and head-butt his girlfriend. One of the witnesses described it as a “continuous beating.” Reyes’ girlfriend struggled to get out of the car, but he pulled her back in the car and tried to drive away.

A Davis mother and her son who were outside saw the brutal assault and started to yell at Reyes to “Let her go, let her go.” Reyes pulled out of the apartment complex and pointed his finger directly at the mother and her son. He yelled, “You don’t tell anyone.” Reyes drove off with the victim in the car before law enforcement could arrive.

With the help of the mother and her son who were able to get the license plate number of the car, the Davis Police Department was able to track down where Reyes and his girlfriend were. The Davis Police Department and Winters Police Department worked together to locate the girlfriend, who was actively bleeding from her face two hours after the assault. Reyes barricaded himself in his house and lied to officers about where his girlfriend was. Winters police saw her crouched down behind Reyes in the home. Reyes has a violent history, including prior domestic violence charges.

Joseph John Sokolich

Joe Sokolich, a longtime resident of West Sacramento, and member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters for almost 80 years, drove his final nail home when he passed away peacefully on January 15, 2020, at the age of 98 years.

Born in Portland, Oregon, in April 1921, Joe grew up in San Pedro, California among the town's Croatian community. Joe attended San Pedro Senior High School, excelling as a runner on the track and field team. When not in school, he assisted the family by working odd jobs and helping with maintenance on his father's fishing boat. Following high school graduation, Joe enrolled carpentry trade school.

Joe joined the carpenters' Long Beach local. He was sworn into U.S. Navy as a Carpenter's Mate less than a week after the attack on Pearl Harbor and the United States entry into World War II. Joe spent the War on numerous Pacific Islands and Atolls repairing ships, boats, and landing craft.

After the War, Joe returned to Southern California to work as a carpenter. He spent more than 30 years working on homes, mostly in the South Bay of the Los Angeles area. During this time, Joe married his first wife, Hazel, built their house, and together they adopted their daughter Melinda.

In 1978, Joe retired and moved to Sacramento where he married Betty Fairbairn Finlayson Turner Vogel. He became Grandpa Joe to Betty's grandchildren, step-dad to her kids, and Grandpa to extended family and friends. He also became part of the art world in which Betty lived. He used his skills to hang art shows, build display stands, assist in making stained glass windows, and in his own art form of woodturning. Additionally, Joe and Betty traveled all over the world visiting family and friends, as well as making new ones.

Through all of their activities and travels, West Sacramento was home. Joe spent many years serving Trinity Presbyterian Church using his knowledge and skill to help maintain the facilities. He served as the long-time host of their Men's Prayer Breakfast on Saturday mornings. He truly showed his faith through the caring and help he provided to anyone in need; he lived his life the same way he practiced his trade: plumb, level, and square.

In 2013, Joe and Betty moved into assisted living after Betty suffered a stroke. Following Betty's passing in 2014, Joe continued activities with friends and family until his passing last month. Joe is survived by his daughter Melinda, stepchildren Judy, Janet, and Pitt, as well as their spouses, 10 grandchildren, 17 great grandchildren, along with numerous great-great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and adopted grand relatives all around the world.

A Celebration of Life will be held for Joe at Trinity Presbyterian Church, 1500 Park Blvd. West Sacramento, CA 95691, at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 29th, 2020.

or recognizing beneficial insects and birds.

After the farm visit, some classes will visit a local Raley's store that purchases vegetables directly from the farmers. At the grocery store, students will learn how to read a nutrition label, identify seasonal produce and egg sizes/categories, and complete the full farm-to-market-to-fork cycle.

Full Belly Farm's Director of Outreach and Education Haley Friel says students love tending the newborn piglets and gathering freshly laid chicken eggs on the field trips. "Some students bravely reach under the chickens to grab the eggs. Others have seen eggs being laid right before their eyes." Friel says that visiting a working farm teaches the students "where their food really comes from and all the effort and energy that goes into bringing it to them".

According to Friel, many young people are surprisingly detached from our food system. "Even students that live in rural areas are often disconnected from the realities of our food system and have no context or connection to it." The farm visits, she says, provide "engaging, exciting experiences" that help students connect to the food they eat and spark "curiosity and interest in the agriculture on which they depend."

Yolo Farm to Fork created the "Go Visit A Farm!" program eight years ago. President Suzanne Falzone explains,

Yolo Community Foundation Buck Grant

Yolo Farm to Fork is one of the year's recipients of the Buck Grant. The grant will support the development and implement of our Seed to Food Garden-learning Modules. Yolo Farm to Fork will work directly with teachers as they use their edible gardens as labs to address multiple content standards with hands-on lessons designed to excite students' curiosity and discovery. To learn more about our Seed to Food Garden-learning Modules and how to use them in your classroom, contact Suzanne.Falzone@yolofarmtofork.org.

Yolo Farm to Fork supports edible school gardens and provides garden-centered and farm-based education to students. The non-profit currently reaches more than 10,000 kids in 62 Yolo County schools with our edible school gardens, farm trips, grants, and other support. <http://www.yolofarmtofork.org>; yolofarmtofork.org

"We've been doing farm visits from our very beginnings in 2012. We want kids to experience where food originates and how it grows. We also want to acquaint them with our county's rich ag heritage." With about 800 students participating each year, the grant program has provided over 6,000 farm visits since its inception.

The grant application cycle is open until Sunday, February 23. To apply for the "Go Visit a Farm!" grant, visit: <https://www.yolofarmtofork.org/>

THIS 'n' THAT

The Case for Cursive

BY CAROL BOGART

So there I was. Debating whether I really had to vacuum when the doorbell rang. It was a uniformed policeman. With my son, age 8. I confirmed I was his mother. The policeman said he needed me to bring Mike to the station to write a statement. Here's the background: In Bay Village (a bedroom community not far from Cleveland), the wide driveways typically are marked with driveway stakes, topped with small round red reflectors that peek above the snow. An unplowed driveway is undistinguishable from your lawn. A visitor can get stuck, or leave deep unsightly ruts when snow is melting. (Bay Village homeowners are quite particular about their lawns.) Mike and two other neighborhood delinquents decided to pull up a bunch of driveway markers. They noted that each stake had a pointy tip. Next stop: 'Marking' cars at the Park'n'Ride. The older boys drew lines and squiggles. The officer said 'MIKE' was easy to track down. He'd drawn his name. I called the police station spoke briefly with the officer who would take my son's written statement. I shared that my son had ADHD plus delayed fine motor skills (severe birth asphyxia). At a small table, Mike and I sat on one side, the officer on the other. As he handed Mike a blank sheet of paper, he instructed him to write down what he did. Mike paused, then looked at the officer and asked, "In cursive?"

The officer and I exchanged a glance. "No," the officer said kindly. "You can print it." My insurance covered all the damage, but I wanted Mike to have a consequence he'd remember. I asked the officer to please give my phone number to the victims, in hopes they would call Mike and tell him how they felt when they saw their damaged cars. One said it was his 'dream car.' That he'd loved its perfect, gleaming finish. Another, near tears, told Mike she'd taken the train from the Park'n'Ride to go see her mom, who was in the hospital. With cancer. Mike's face crumbled. All four people called. No was angry. No one was mean. My son, devastated by the pain he caused, was genuinely, truly sorry. I thanked each for helping him learn that actions can have consequences we don't intend. Like hurting someone.

Looking back, Mike's earnest "in cursive?" is poignant/funny. Made more so by something I read recently in the Bee. In many California classrooms, learning cursive (longhand) writing is not required. It's a tech thing. Tablets, laptops, computers. Some argue cursive writing is no longer needed. "You need to be able to sign your name on checks," say others. (And here's a question: Isn't forensic analysis of written 'evidence' - such as a signature on a will - still valid?) For its story on the controversy, the Bee contacted the California Department of Education. Here's the deal. Districts can choose to require cursive instruction, but there's no state mandate. Hm. I remember being in awe of my grandmother's florid Victorian script. Back then, children spent hours copying letters on their slates until they got them perfect. Very calligraphy-ish. In 2011, CBS interviewed a handwriting expert, Michelle Dresbold, about cursive writing.

She said cursive writing that trends downhill indicates emotion. "People will write in a downward angle when they're depressed," she said, adding that when you're happy, the ends of sentences slant up. She said, too, that handwriting often changes as we age. For those with Alzheimer's, she explained, handwriting becomes 'less fluid.' She pointed to President Ronald Reagan's writing. Compared to his pre-Alzheimer's cursive writing, his post-Alzheimer's writing "blobbed up," she said. My dad, a southpaw, spent his grade school years with his left hand tied behind him to force him to use his right. Eventually, he wrote left handed anyway. In college, he'd wanted to become a sports writer, but it was the Great Depression. He opted for a 'more practical' career in business. During one of my folks' visits to Colorado after I had Mike, I asked dad what he wanted to do when he retired. "Write!" he said. "What will you write about?" I asked. "Everything!"

he answered promptly. I cocked an eyebrow. "I know everything," he said, eyes twinkling. Dad, though, was fading fast. I suspected Alzheimer's. In Denver, I sent lots of cards and notes - signed "from Mike" in large, scrawley childlike print. Mike, 2, put stickers on the cards, or drew 'pictures.' (In cursive, I explained the drawings.) One day, a 'letter' came for Mike and me from my dad - as dictated to my mom. He did have Alzheimer's and no longer could write it for himself. 'Dad's' letter, in its disjointed way, told me how much he enjoyed Mike's cards, my calls. Mom, as herself, added: "I asked your dad if he wanted to sign this but he thought it somewhat confused. I thought you might like to know he had the idea to write." Yes. Write. My father's words - in my mother's cursive writing. I would have treasured it, either way, but love that she didn't type it. Thoughts, questions, comments? Contact Carol at carol@bogartonline.com.

District Attorney Jeff Reising stated: "We pursue justice for victims and witnesses of domestic violence crimes. People who physically abuse their significant others can be extremely violent. When this type of violence is seen in public, it is not usually the first signs of physical abuse in the relationship. We are fortunate there are people in the community who will stand up and call law enforcement when seeing such extreme violence." Reyes faces around 20 years in state prison because of his prior strike conviction. Sentencing is set for March 2, 2020.

YoloArts Docent February Training

Hundreds of Yolo County third graders annually engage in an extraordinary learning experience at the Gibson House and Property in Woodland. Students from schools in Woodland, Davis, Winters, Esparto and West Sacramento participate in a variety of hands on experiences that include butter making, games, laundry by hand, and touring the 1870s built historic mansion. Art and agriculture activities are incorporated into the learning, for a truly unique field trip experience.

The field trip program relies on volunteer docents and is coordinated by YoloArts. Third grade teachers in Yolo County count on these interesting and engaging tours to make history come alive in a fun way for children. The program operates weekday mornings beginning in April. YoloArts is recruiting volunteer docents for the third grade Historic Experience tour and the new K-12 Gibson House and Property tour. Interested volunteers are encouraged to contact education manager, Jenna Harris by email, jharris@yoloarts.org or phone 530-309-6464. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF MUHAMMAD ARSHAD CASE NO: PB19-221

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:

Muhammad Arshad

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Renee Kowalik-Moss in the Superior Court of California, County of YOLO.

The Petition for Probate requests that Renee Kowalik-Moss and Zachary Young be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: February 27, 2020*Time: 9:00 a.m. Dept: 9

Address of court: Superior Court of California, County of Yolo 1000 Main Street, Woodland, California 95695.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to your of a notice under section 9052 of the California

Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Delaine Eastin Named Speaker for the 2020 Yolo County Women's History Month Luncheon

The Yolo County Women's History Month Committee (WHM) has announced Delaine Eastin as its guest speaker for the 33rd annual Women's History Month luncheon scheduled for Thursday, March 12, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Woodland Community & Senior Center, 2001 East Street, Woodland.

The theme for this year is "Valiant Women of the Vote". It celebrates the centennial of the 19th Amendment when women won the right to vote in the United States.

Delaine Eastin served as the California State Superintendent of Public Instruction (SPI) from 1995 to 2003, the first and only woman in history elected to that position. As an elected constitutional officer, Eastin managed more than forty percent of the California budget and oversaw the education of 6.1 million children. Superintendent Eastin championed state standards and assessments aligned to standards, reduced class size in kindergarten through third grade, and strengthening of arts education and hands-on science, including gardens in schools. As SPI, Eastin fought to rebuild California school libraries and to wire schools for technology. She was a member for eight years in the California Assembly and a candidate for governor of California in 2018.

The WHM committee is participating as a sponsor of the Fashion Forward, Women's Wear and Social Reform exhibition at the Gibson House and property. The exhibition highlights the changing role of women in society and their involvement in the suffragette movement. The Yolo County Archives provided profiles of politically prominent Yolo County women including documents to support the exhibition.

The luncheon will be catered by Anderson Family Catering & BBQ of Winters, and the cost for the luncheon is $30. For reservations, make checks payable to WHM, and mail to WHM, P.O. Box 711, Woodland, CA 95776. Payment by credit card may be made online at www.ycwhm.org. Reservations and payment must be received by Wednesday, March 4, 2020, and Reservations will not be sold at the door.

Sponsorships for the luncheon are available and are due by Friday, February 28, 2020. Also, new this year is an opportunity to anonymously sponsor a luncheon reservation for a college student. Please refer to their website for sponsorship opportunities. Proceeds from the luncheon will benefit the public libraries in Yolo County for the purchase of women's history materials.

For general information about the luncheon, please contact Louisa R. Vessell at 916-451-2113 or 916-799-9932 or email her at lvessell@sbcglobal.net or Katherine Mawdsley at 530-758-5093 or visit www.ycwhm.org.

RepowerYolo names 2019 YoloShines recipients, donates $49,500 to local nonprofit organizations

RepowerYolo, a Davis-based solar company, announced it donated a total of $49,500 to 37 Yolo County nonprofit organizations in 2019.

"It is our great pleasure, on behalf of Repower homeowners, to support more than three-dozen worthy Yolo County service organizations through our YoloShines program," said Chris Soderquist, RepowerYolo owner. "YoloShines is simple: Every time a community member goes solar, we donate $500 in their name to their favorite Yolo County nonprofit organization."

2019 YoloShines beneficiaries: Citizens Who Care, City of Davis Housing Trust Fund, CommuniCare Health Care, Cool-Davis Foundation, Cub Scout Pack 111, Davis Chapter of Project Linus, Davis Community Meals & Housing, Davis Little League, Davis Media Access, Davis Phoenix Coalition, Davis Schools Foundation, Empower Yolo, Esperanza Rising Foundation, Family Hope Network, Interfaith Rotating Winter Shelter, iHouse Davis, Norcal GSP Rescue, NorCal Trykers, Patwin School PTA, Paul's Place, Purebreds Plus Cat Rescue, Rivendell Nursery School, Robert E Willett Elementary School, Rotts of Friends, STEAC, Suicide Prevention Yolo County, Sutter Davis Hospital Foundation, UC Davis Comprehensive Cancer Center, UC Davis Guardian Scholars Program, University Covenant Church, Yolo CASA, Yolo Crisis Nursery, Yolo Food Bank, Yolo Interfaith Immigration Network, Yolo SPCA, and Yolo Land Trust.

The top-three recipients of Repower's 2019 YoloShines donations were Davis Community Meals and Housing ($11,750), Yolo CASA ($9,500), and Yolo Food Bank ($8,750). Since 2014, RepowerYolo has donated more than $120,000 to 68 Yolo County nonprofit organizations.

"We are extremely grateful to Repower's YoloShines program and to the generosity of John, Chris and Repower homeowners for their donations this past year," said Davis Community Meals and Housing Executive Director Bill Pride. "Programs such as YoloShines provide needed funding to allow us to provide food, services and housing to our fellow community members in need."

"Repower's YoloShines program is a terrific model for the business community of how to do well by doing good, and it encourages philanthropy amongst their client base, as well," shared Michael Bisch, executive director, Yolo Food Bank. "Repower homeowners gain the experience of supporting nonprofits engaged in critical work in Yolo County, which elevates the entire social safety net. Here at Yolo Food Bank, the proceeds from YoloShines last year resulted in food for 26,250 meals for neighbors living in poverty countywide. This sustenance has a tremendous impact upon health outcomes, housing opportunities, academic achievement, employment prospects, and more. Repower is a champion for changing lives in Yolo County, and we're grateful for our partnership with them," Bisch stated.

RepowerYolo helps residential and commercial property owners evaluate and go solar. Property owners receive a complementary solar analysis, including assessment of historical energy use, amenable roof space, investment objectives, environmental outcomes and other factors, culminating in a report summarizing the analysis and providing solar system recommendations.
