RCHS senior Jaylen Crim signs letter of intent to play soccer at St. Mary's

Kiarah Smith

Senior, Jaylen Crim takes a break from soccer conditioning to be acknowledged for her receiving a full ride scholarship to play soccer at St. Mary's College.

By Monica Stark editor@news-ledger.com

Out of a somewhat reserved River City High School senior, Jaylen Crim, come extreme talent and force on the soccer field. Last week the varsity soccer forward signed off for St. Mary's where she's given a full ride scholarship to continue improving her game.

"She definitely will be missed when she's gone. She helped the program take a turn," head coach Kamal Singh said. "Since I've been here, she's the first D1 scholar (the team has had)."

A member of the varsity team since she was a freshman, Jaylen has gotten the team to win more and more. "This is my 11th year at River City and the last five years started turning around once Jaylen and her crew came, her and four other girls, they definitely had a huge impact on the program" the coach added.

A very humble player with undeceiving speed, it's as though Jaylen possesses an extra gear, Singh says. "She can turn on that gear whenever she wants to ... Over the years she scored some great goals. She's won some games with her athletic ability for us. She's a team player. She loves being a part of this team."

One such game Jaylen describes as a highlight for her time thus far at River City was against Woodland High School last year when in the last three minutes she scored two goals, making the score 3-0. "They're our biggest rivals," she says.

In conditioning now for River City, Jaylen hopes to lead the team further than ever in the playoffs and she hopes to make the All City List. "I made it last year; to make it again would be good," she said.

Having played club soccer for Sacramento United, which practices at Granite Park in Sacramento, since she was 8 years old, Jaylen has traveled all around California. "I played the majority of my games with them. I found a lot of coaches help me," she said.

Excited to attend St. Mary's and study kinesiology and eventually practice physical therapy, she said she likes the smaller feel of the college. "I went on my official visit in October and met all players coming in and with the ones that are there and we got to bond a little."

At the sport since she was just 3 years old (4 years old on a team), Jaylen said her parents have been her primary inspiration. "They inspire me to do my best. When I was younger, they always wanted me to practice playing soccer."

Washington Unified Kick Starts New Dual Language Immersion Program

The Washington Unified School District (WUSD) announced the launch of a new Dual Language Immersion Program in English and Spanish next school year to help students develop strong skills and proficiency in both their native language and English.

"Fluency in multiple languages is a phenomenal asset to our students," Linda C. Luna, WUSD Superintendent. "The program will work to strengthen our students' cognitive abilities while broadening their academic and global understanding—better preparing them for success outside the classroom."

Dual language immersion programs utilize two languages to teach academic content in the classroom. The programs provide the same academic content and address the same standards as other educational programs while incorporating two languages over an extended period of time, from kindergarten through grade eight.

Students participating in dual immersion have a unique opportunity to develop high levels of language proficiency and literacy in both program languages, to demonstrate high levels of academic achievement, and to develop an appreciation for and an understanding of diverse cultures. Students will have the opportunity to receive a State Seal of Biliteracy on their high school diploma recognizing that they have attained a high level of proficiency in speaking, reading, and writing one or more languages in addition to English.

The program will begin at Elkhorn Village Elementary School in August 2016 with Kindergarten students, adding a new grade every subsequent year. Families interested in enrolling children should complete the Dual Immersion Application Form and Student Registration Form. Both forms may be obtained and submitted at your school office on the WUSD Registration Day: Saturday, February 27, 2016.

Find out more about the Dual Language Immersion Program at an upcoming information sessions:

West Sacramento's Homeless Strategy: 2013 Homeless Action Plan Update

By Bia Riaz bia@news-ledger.com

Although the city of West Sacramento is a member of the Yolo County Homeless Coalition and participates in implementation of the Ten-Year Plan to end homelessness across the county, around 2010 the city noted a marked rise in citizen complaints and concerns related to homelessness issues and realized a specific plan to address the unique needs of our city needed to be created.

Through a Community Development Block Grant, the city worked with community stakeholders, concerned citizens, service providers and other partners to develop the 2013 Homeless Update on Oct. 16, 2013.

The goal of the 2013 study was to analyze and determine the most effective way how to use the city's limited resources and "provide a compassionate response to inner-city homelessness, while providing the community with a sense of safety and security, while encouraging respect for all residents." The 2013 study helped the city develop an informed homeless policy based on the guiding principles of respect, sustainability, accountability and cooperation. The report details each city department's roles and responsibilities for addressing homelessness.

As a result of the research and work of the 2013 Homeless Update, the city developed the 2013 Homeless Action Plan on Nov. 6, 2013. The Action Plan is based on the principles from the 2013 Homeless Update, and focuses on: enhancing public safety; improving communication between the city, county and other stakeholders; expanding resources available to combat homelessness; and developing effective delivery systems for services.

"The intent of this Action Plan is to reduce the number of persons experiencing homelessness in West Sacramento and to minimize the negative impacts of homelessness on those who are experiencing it directly and on the community at large." — West Sacramento Homeless Action Plan, Page 2

The Action Plan contains 24 Recommended Actions which include:

Enhancing Public Safety Activities

Improving Communication/Coordination between the City, County and Stakeholders

Resources Actions "Neighborhood Court" Program

Developing an effective delivery system for services to homeless persons and families

Homeless Action Plan also contains an implementation schedule in Appendix A

Both documents are available on the city's Community Development Page under the heading of Homeless Strategy: https://www.cityofwestsacramento.org/city/depts/comdev/hci/housing_policies_and_studies/hmlsstrat.asp

The News-Ledger recently reached out to Aaron Laurel, Economic Development and Housing Director for the City of West Sacramento to inquire about the status of the implementation of the recommended actions.

According to Laurel, in the 18 months since the creation of the Homeless Action Plan, all of the 24 Recommended Actions have been implemented. Most importantly, the city now has a dedicated Homeless Coordinator, Ryan Collins. This new position allows the city to conduct "on the street"

Powerball Night

By Jack Chandler

Special to the West Sacramento News-Ledger

Past the house with four vehicles in the front yard (many residents on this road did not bargain for the eventual development of Jefferson Boulevard into a major thoroughfare, and would prefer the old days when they could maintain their various auto repair, boat repair, and livestock compounds in peace), there sits a particular family-run convenience store.

Owned and operated by a group of cordial Middle Eastern gentlemen, this store offers a variety of arcane snack items (fresh dates, kangaroo and elk jerky, Dr. Pepper-flavored bubble gum, jalapeno lollipops) as well as a respectable display of incense and the usual wall of Doritos. If you look hard enough, you may find a set of drill bits (discounted, since the 3/16th is missing) in the tiny housewares aisle. More often than not, a soccer game plays silently on a screen mounted above a bin of dog and cat toys.

The apparent patriarch of the family usually sits in a comfortable-looking armchair off to the side of the cash register, silent and wise-looking. A younger man, probably a nephew, is stationed at the register. He wears a droll expression, and a spotless Oakland A's jersey.

The store is plentifully stocked with beer and other sundries, so a healthy wave of thirsty customers swings through at peak times: right after 5 pm, right before an NFL game, or right before cut-off time.

But, tonight is a very special night; a rawhide bone, the party starts.

magical night. Power Ball Night. $1.5 billion at stake. The urban myth is that the farther out of the way or obscure the store, or gas station, the better chance one has of chalking up a win.

On this night, the myth is operational. As the clock ticks towards launch, it's clear that a mob scene is developing. In due time, a second relative is summoned to help process the tsunami of Power Ball slips and jolly requests for Quick Picks. There is a festive air in the place. The patriarch gets up from his chair and slips on an Adele CD.

As the patrons wait expectantly in line, they daydream to themselves: What Would One Do With All That Money? Is that too much money? Maybe drop everything and move to Bermuda, and give a giant chunk away to the Red Cross?

One woman in a fast-food uniform shouts gleefully, "Give me 40 Quick

Some players are more esoteric. They study the fill-in tickets with the intent gaze of a pharmacist, and populate their tickets with random but significant numbers: mother's birthday, last two digits of a license plate, year that Led Zeppelin's first album came out, etc.

The tickets are distributed efficiently and without a hitch. The customers head home with their hopes and dreams, and a thick fog settles over West Sacramento. Somewhere a dog barks, unconcerned with magic numbers. All he knows is, when his master gets home from the store with a fresh arship. Congratulations to the

UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER On 3/7/2016 at 1:00 PM, CLEAR RECON CORP., as duly appointed trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded 11/20/2012, as Instrument No. 2012-0038612-00, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Yolo County, State of CALIFORNIA executed by: GEORGE VALDEZ JR, AN UNMARRIED MAN WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, CASHIER'S CHECK DRAWN ON A STATE OR NATIONAL BANK, A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATÉ OR FEDERAL CREDIT UNION, OR A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATE OR FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, SAVINGS SSOCIATION, OR SAVINGS BANK SPECIFIED IN SECTION 5102 OF THE FINANCIAL CODE AND AUTHORIZED TO DO BUSINESS IN THIS STATE: AT THE NORTH ENTRANCE TO THE WEST SACRAMENTO CITY HALL, 1110 W. CAPITOL AVENUE, WEST SACRAMENTO, CA 95691 all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as: MORE FULLY DESCRIBED ON SAID DEED OF TRUST The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 3124 W. CARMEL BAY RD WEST SACRAMENTO, CA 95691 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be held, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, condition, or encumbrances, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to pay the remaining principal sums of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $260,980.61 If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the

lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. Hail, Caesar!

The MPAA has rated this PG-13

Universal Pictures releases the latest Coen Bros. picture, "Hail, Ceasar!" a comedic look at a classic movie studio so very close to the real M-G-M of the Golden Era that the characters are named after real M-G-M executives. It was even filmed at Sony Studios, what had once been the M-G-M studio. Set in the 1950s, it relates the experience of the studio's cover-up executive, the man in charge of keeping the company's human assets, actors and others under long term contracts, from any bad or unfortunate publicity. In an era before the tabloid insanity of today, the movie studios carefully controlled all publicity about their personalities, which they built up over time with considerable investment. From arranged marriages and dates for publicity that would benefit the studio, to the more unseemly issues covering up homicides, underage sexual encounters, sexual deviance and a host of other issues that some movie starts might get involved with that must not reach the press.

Josh Brolin stars as just this type of a "fixer" for the fictional Capitol Studios, Eddie Mannix. We see that he has a quiet home life with his wife and two kids, although hardly there as he's up at all hours keeping wayward studio assets from disaster. At the beginning of the picture, he's pulling away an underage starlet from a photographer taking French postcard type photos of her and bribing the police, who he knows on a first name basis, not to mention a thing about the issue in the press.

life, and with two kids, a chief executive of Loews, The Los Angeles is one job with less stress would Inc. which owned M-G-M, be helpful. He finds himself going to confession every day, where he tells the priest that he lies to his wife about quitting cigarettes. Mannix is being courted, in a rather clandestine fashion, by a leading aeronautical company to come work for them for much better money. The core of this movie is about his unease in choosing to stay in the movie business or take the job with more security and less stress.

Peppered around this thin core story are several delightful vignettes evocative of movie studio life in classic Hollywood. Mannix's stress is bound to get worse when a group of disgruntled communists have kidnapped the studio's biggest male star, Baird Whitlock, played by George Clooney. They hold him for ransom. Whitlock is loosely modeled after a Robert Taylor type. Thus, this movie studio's biggest biblical epic in production, "Hail, Caesar!", so very much like M-G-M's two versions of "Ben-Hur" comes to a grinding halt. Eddie Mannix in real life was indeed a "fixer" at the M-G-M studios. Although Brolin's role has the same job and name, the movie is not a depiction of, or a biographical account of the real Eddie Mannix. You'll also hear the name Nick Schenck talked about on the phone in the movie as a studio boss. It is not supposed to be the Angeles Theatre, where Mannix has a stressful real Nicholas Schenck, Hobie's movie premières.

the real life boss of Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and others.

We also get to visit the studio's big swimming star, DeeAnna Moran, played by Scarlett Johansson, who gives us her best Esther Williams, in sequences actually shot in Esther's original pool stage at what had been the real M-G-M. She has a child with no father for Eddie to fix. Then there is the tension between the director of refined drawing room comedies, Laurence Laurentz (Ralph Fiennes) and cowboy star Hobie Doyle (Alden Ehrenreich), an Audie Murphy type struggling with his drawl to say lines in a clip Brit accent trippingly.

It is 26-year-old Alden Ehrenrich which makes this picture so enjoyable, along with some very brilliant comedic vignettes that classic movie fans will really enjoy. Sadly, the movie's thin plot and very rushed unsatisfactory ending was a great disappointment. It was great to see some great vintage Hollywood spots in the movie, including the inside of the old Hollywood Palladium, which serves as supper club where Hobie takes his arranged date, Carlotta Valdez (Veronica Osorio). You'll also see the beautiful Los

was so disappointed that this movie did not meet the excellence of the past work of the clever and artistic Coen Brothers, yet it has fun moments for movie fans, the best of which occurs with a film editor played by Frances McDormand and an old film editing device called a Moviola. Also in the picture, Tilda Swinton in a double role as sister gossip columnists, Jonah Hill, and Channing Tatum.

The Choice

The MPAA has rated this PG-13

Lions Gate offers "The Choice", the latest movie adaptation of a Nicholas Sparks romance. The cast is not made up of major players other than the great actor Tom Wilkinson as Shep, the local veterinarian in a coastal town where opposites begin to attract between two neighbors, Travis (Benjamin Walker) and Gabby (Teresa Palmer).

The two fall in love after a rough start as they annoy each quite a bit. Naturally, there are complications, in that he's a ladies' man which few find hard to resist, and she actually has a boyfriend, Ryan (Tom Welling).

As much as my colleagues deride these Sparks movie romances, which he also partially produces, I find in them values not seen in many modern movies. The story development is slow, which I like, allowing the characters to be properly established. There are no explosions, nasty dialog or loud music. Nor will you find all those computer graphic infested elements of pop culture garbage that may be seen in most major releases. They are in a way rather old fashioned. To me, that's a value. It's nice to see these lesser known actors have a chance to have dialogue advance the story with some rather beautiful photography; in this, it is the fine work of Alar Kivilo.

In one sequence, Travis takes Gabby to his tiny private island, his special place. This is evocative of the scene between Greta Garbo and John Gilbert on the Isle of Friendship in the 1927 silent movie "Flesh and the Devil", right down to the row boat. This movie will likely quickly be forgotten. It is not very good, but yet, for the reasons I mentioned, not that bad either. Nicholas Sparks' movies are the movie version of Hallmark cards or paintings by Thomas Kinkade: A pleasing, pretty serenity but without much life.

direct outreach to homeless individuals and assess services most beneficial to alleviate the traumas of homelessness. Collins' fice is located in the West Sacramento Police Department. This location allows Collins to work closely with Sgt. Kinney and coordinate with Nolan Sullivan, the Yolo County Social Services Manager, located across the street. As defined in the Action Plan, The role of the city is to assess the need and determine appropriate services. The role of the county is to provide the services. "Ryan's direct outreach to homeless individuals has resulted in improved coordination and communication. He learns who they are, what they need, and can link them with available social services from Yolo County." explained Laurel.

Collins regularly coordinates with Tracey Dickinson, Yolo County's Homeless Program Coordinator. "I work with Ryan on a weekly basis. His outreach, triage, visits to homeless encampments and initial assessments allows individuals to get served more quickly for short term help and helps determine next steps for long term services," stated Dickinson.

Public Input Sought on Clerk-Recorder/Assessor/Registrar of Voters With the retirement of Yolo County Clerk-Recorder//

sors has embarked on a process to appoint a successor to complete the remainder of the term ending Jan. 8, 2019. While statute does not allow the board to call for a midterm election, they have an interest in obtaining public input on the skills and qualities necessary to carry out the duties of the office. Yolo County residents can provide feedback by either: 1) attending the Jan. 12 Board of Supervisors meeting, held at 9 a.m. in Board Chambers, Room 206 of the Erwin Meier Administration Building at 625 Court St. in Woodland; or 2) by completing the survey found on www.yolocounty. org by Jan. 22.

Trees for Tomorrow - Free Shade Trees!: The city of West Sacramento in partnership with Tree Davis has been awarded a large Cap and Trade Grant designed to reduce Greenhouse gas by planting trees. The target area for the grant is north of the deep-water channel. If you would like some FREE shade trees to plant around your home, please come to one of three workshops being offered Feb. 3 and March 2 at the Community Center at 1075 West Capitol Ave. from ployees, and change of career/ County Board of Supervi- 6 to 7:30 pm. Trees are delivered to your home. The trees are free however, you must plant them yourself. Call 617-4620 to sign up. The Trees for Tomorrow Program will plant and maintain a total of 1,000 new trees in communities throughout West Sacramento to sequester carbon and reduce greenhouse gas emissions in an effort to lessen the impacts of climate change throughout California. Funding for the Trees for Tomorrow Program has been provided through a grant awarded by the California Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund and administered by the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CAL FIRE), Urban and Community Forestry Program. This grant will span three years; host nearly 80 planting and tree care events, provide multiple internships and employment opportunities, and will make a lasting, positive environmental impact on our region. Book Club for Seniors

Providing a safe emergency school for Sacramento's homeless children.

Mustard Seed is a free, private school for homeless children 3-15 years old which provides a safe, nurturing and structured environment, a positive learning experience, happy memories, survival resources of food, clothing and shelter referrals, medical and dental screenings, immunization updates, counseling for children and their parents, and assistance entering or reentering public schools.

Mustard Seed School was established in 1989 to help meet the needs of homeless children. Many school age children do not attend school because of their homelessness; some lack immunizations, birth certificates, or other documents, some are in transit, and almost all lack a support system. In spite of their situations these children are eager to learn and to be accepted.

Many homeless children are not enrolled in school because the places their families find to sleep are often not near a child's school and the family only plans to be there a short time. Sometimes the school needs an address or updated immunizations which homeless families cannot provide.

From fifteen to thirty-five children may not attend our school each day, and an average stay is just three to four weeks. Some children have been out of school for a long time and need help to go back. A major goal of the Program is to prepare and enroll homeless children into public schools, and preschool for younger children, when families have found housing stability. Since the school began, over 4500 individual children have participated in Mustard Seed.

MBS Capital Group Inc. is a direct lender offering more mortgage programs than any other lender... bar none.

Refinance Your Loan

• Lower Your Rate:

Refinancing often makes sense if you can lower your interest rate which yields a lower monthly mortgage payment.

• Change to a Fixed Rate:

If you currently have an adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM), it may make sense to switch to a low, fixed-rate mortgage to make budgeting easier.

• Renovate Your Home:

If you have light-to-major renovations in mind for your home, it may make sense to get a renovation loan to pay for all your upgrades.

• Obtain Cash:

Use the equity in your home for minor home improvements, college tuition or investment opportunities.
