City of Rancho Cordova News Release

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Lights, camera, action! The 2nd annual California Capital International Documentary Film Festival is returning to the City of Rancho Cordova on September 30 and October 1, 2023, featuring 59 films from around the world. Organized by the California Capital Film Office, the official film office of the city, hosted by the California Capital Arts Foundation and supported by the city's Community Enhancement & Investment Fund, the film festival will also host panel discussions and special guests to showcase nonfiction films from across the globe. "We are thrilled to welcome back the California Capital International Documentary Film Festival to Rancho Cordova," said Mayor Linda Budge. "We congratulate the Rancho Cordova Film Office, the sponsors and everyone involved in creating another awe-inspiring weekend of international films." While showcasing films from 23 different countries, the film festival also spotlights several local stories and filmmakers, celebrating the rich history and strong community in the region. One of the featured local films, "N-Men: The Untold Story," is an intimate look at the underground skateboard crew from Sacramento, California, which started in 1975 as a response to Dogtown's Z-Boys and is going strong almost 50 years later. When this group of young skateboarders met at a paved embankment under the freeway, they couldn't have imagined they would have a global impact. The director, Sacramento native James Sweigert, spent more than a decade working on the film. Narrated by Josh Brolin and featuring interviews with sports stars such as Tony Hawk, the award-winning "N-Men: The Untold Story" documentary explores the importance of community and friendship through an emotional, reminiscent journey back into time. "N-Men: The Untold Story" brilliantly portrays the history of the region and friendships that span decades," said Charles Lago, executive director of the Rancho Cordova Film Office. "And this is just one example of the incredible 59 films that will be shown at this year's film festival. Featuring diverse documentaries from across the globe, there is a film for everyone." For more information about the festival, including the lineup and ticket availability, visit www.calcapdocfest.org or call 916-706-2000.

Shipping Needs At Odds With California's Climate Goals

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

In retrospect, Southern California's political and civic leaders may have erred a half-century ago in deciding that the region's economic future would depend on developing a massive logistics industry centered on the twin ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Countless billions of public and private dollars were committed to upgrading the ports to handle ever-larger container ships, erecting dozens of warehouses and other facilities in San Bernardino and Riverside counties and improving rail and highway corridors linking them to the ports.

In macro terms, it paid off. As shipment of goods from Asia — particularly China — blossomed, the twin ports eventually claimed as much as 40% of the nation's import traffic and logistics became, by some measures, Southern California's largest single generator of employment. It dropped up the region's economy when another mainstay, aerospace, plummeted three decades ago after the Cold War ended.

That said, the industry may have peaked. Factors such as the enlargement of the Panama Canal, the emergence of India and other nations as suppliers of goods, congestion in the twin ports and transportation corridors, labor conflicts, and growing local opposition to the environmental impacts of logistics pose potentially existential threats.

Recently, West Coast ports finally settled a long-running conflict with the International Longshore and Warehouse Union with a new six-year contract. However, during the dispute, wildcat work stoppages had tied up traffic through the twin ports and some shippers moved their business to East Coast and Gulf ports.

The Pacific Merchant Shipping Association says that the twin ports saw import volumes decline by nearly 25% in the first six months of 2023, not only due to labor unrest but a sharp downturn in the Chinese economy.

Gene Seroka, the Port of Los Angeles executive director, told the Wall Street Journal that retrieving the business "will be an uphill climb. Our job now is to be absolutely relentless in going after every pound of freight possible."

The machinery of logistics — ships to trucks to locomotives — produces tons of particulate emissions. They and the warehouses they serve also create traffic congestion and noise and over time the physical presence of logistics breeds resentment that, in turn, morphs into political and legal action.

The South Coast Air Quality Management District has steadily ramped up pressure on the industry to reduce polluting emissions by electrifying trucks and other equipment. The demands impose costs that, industry leaders say, make the region less competitive with alternatives, particularly East Coast and Gulf of Mexico ports.

The SCAQMD is now on the verge of issuing an overall draft rule to limit pollution from the ports and last month, labor and management officials and a variety of business organizations sent letters to the mayors of Los Angeles and Long Beach raising alarm about what they regard as a potentially fatal blow to the ports' long-term viability.

"The initial SCAQMD staff proposal essentially establishes volume caps on port activities, which will restrict the delivery of critical imported goods including essential construction, manufacturing, and automobile components, as well as medical supplies and halt the export of California's manufactured goods and agricultural products to foreign markets," the coalition told the mayors.

In August, as details of the proposed rule leaked out, the state Assembly's Select Committee on Ports and Goods Movement staged a hearing in which legislators decried the potential economic impact.

Southern California may have made a mistake when it put so many of its economic eggs in the logistics basket but it is now a test case whether California can manage the potentially immense economic fallout from converting itself into a net-zero emission society, as Gov. Gavin Newsom and other political figures pledge to do.

September Is National Preparedness Month

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - September is National Preparedness Month and the Sacramento County Office of Emergency Services (SacOES) would like to remind residents about the importance of being prepared for the various disasters and emergencies that could happen at any time.

The theme of the 2023 National Preparedness Month is "Take Control in 1, 2, 3," and the campaign focuses on preparing older adults for disasters, specifically older adults from communities that are disproportionately impacted by the all-hazard events that continue to threaten the nation.

"National Preparedness Month is a great time to talk with your loved ones about the types of disasters and emergencies we might face and start making a plan to prepare for these situations," said Mary Jo Flynn-Neveins, Sacramento County Chief of Emergency Services. "It is especially important to talk to the older adults in your life because they often face greater risk when it comes to emergencies and extreme weather events, especially if they live alone or in more rural areas."

Older adults and their caregivers can overcome these potential obstacles and increase their resilience by taking control in 1, 2, and 3:

(1) Assess your needs.

The Sacramento County Office of Emergency Services (SacOES) would like to remind residents about the importance of being prepared for the various disasters and emergencies that could happen at any time. Image by Steve Buissonne from Pixabay

If you have medications that need refrigeration, rely on mobility or assistive devices, or have a pet, you'll need to understand how these variables will factor into what you'll need to stay safe in a disaster or emergency.

(2) Make a plan. Once you assess your needs, you can tailor your plans to make sure your needs are met. This can include building a kit that includes extra medication, having a way to store medications in an emergency and planning for your pets or service animals. If you're an older adult or work with and support older adult communities visit Ready.gov/older-adults and Ready.gov/es/adultos-mayores for resources.

(3) Engage your support network. Reaching out to family, friends and neighbors can help you build a support network that can support you before, during and after a disaster or emergency. Share each aspect of your emergency plan with everyone in your group, including a friend or relative in another area who would not be impacted by the same emergency who can help if necessary. Make sure everyone knows how you plan to evacuate your home or workplace and where you will go in case of a disaster. Make sure that someone in your personal support network has an extra key to your home and knows where you keep your emergency supplies. Practice your plan with those who have agreed to be part of your personal support network.

Save our Scenic American River

Commentary by Brenda K. Gustin

The rallying cry to "Stop the Fill of the American River Floodway" resonates with thousands of concerned individuals. Nestled northeast of the College Glen neighborhood lies a serene habitat, sanctuary for 140 unique species, along our Wild and Scenic American River, across from William B. Pond. This braided section of our river serves as a vital refuge for people and wildlife, essential for the endangered chinook salmon.

Nowhere else along the Parkway is such high-density housing bordering the river, especially within the designated floodway. This proposal raises concerns about potential increased flooding in the Parkway and threatens to abandon existing public easements intended to complete the connectivity of hiking and riding trails south of the Parkway. Furthermore, the city of Rancho Cordova stated that these 440 homes in this location are unnecessary in addressing regional housing needs.

Opponents of the proposal propose modification to build in the upper tier of the property along Folsom Boulevard, keeping the lower basin floodway intact — an integral part of the American River Parkway habitat.

The time to act is NOW! Please visit www.preservetheamericanriver.org. Organizations like the Sierra Club, ECOS, BRECA, TFHOA, The Audubon Society, and many others are united to "Stop The Fill." Promote affordable housing on the upper tier of the property, where there are no increased flood risks, allowing our river's diverse species to continue to thrive. At PAR, you can effortlessly email government agencies, sign the Petition alongside over 4,000 others, donate, and help spread this crucial message. ★

Dave Ramsey Says

But from what you've told me, you don't have a great need for life insurance at this point. No one, except you, is depending on your income, and the $25,000 policy you have through your employer is more than enough to take care of any final expenses if something happened to you.

The main purpose of life insurance is to take care of those you leave behind when you die. If someone is financially dependent on your income, I recommend having 10 to 12 times your annual income wrapped up in a good level term life insurance policy. That means if you make $80,000 a year, you should have a policy worth anywhere from $800,000 to $960,000.

If I were you, I wouldn't buy another life insurance policy at all right now. If you get married or have kids somewhere down the road, then buy it immediately. In that case, both you and your spouse should have 15- to 20-year level term policies of 10 to 12 times your individual incomes. And never buy anything except level term life insurance. The reason? That covers you until you're out of debt—should a spouse bring some into the picture—and the two of you have so much cash piled up that you don't need to pay for a life insurance policy anymore. It's called being self-insured, and that's a great place to be.

Good question, Elizabeth!

Life Insurance Isn't a Baby Step

Dear Dave,

I just discovered you and your teachings a couple of weeks ago. I'm already on Baby Step 2, and I was wondering if I should buy life insurance now or wait until I've finished paying off debt. I'm single with no children, and I owe a total of $44,700. I have a $25,000 company-funded life insurance policy through my employer. What do you think I should do??

— Elizabeth

Dear Elizabeth,

If you have a life insurance need, it's not a Baby Step. It's a necessity in your budget and something you need to put in place as soon as possible.

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously on September 7, 2023, to revise the Approved Budget for the 2023-24 fiscal year.

The $8.8 billion Revised Recommended Budget included an increase of $355 million in total appropriations from the $8.4 billion Recommended Budget the Board approved in June. That increase included:

$291 million in appropriations in other funds; $259 million: Base budget changes resulting primarily from re-budgeting of capital projects and other contractual expenditures; $32 million: Non-General Fund growth.

Additional recommended growth in the Revised Recommended Budget included:

$5.5 million Landlord Engagement and Assistance Program (LEAP) Expansion to provide housing services to individuals transitioning from homelessness into stable, permanent and affordable housing;

$1.4 million to purchase equipment and supplies and fund existing personnel costs for the Toxicology Crime Laboratories Grant;

$500,000 to fund an Environmental Impact Report for the Climate Action Plan;

$200,000 to fund additional unanticipated moving costs associated with office moves for the Clerk of the Board and the Department of Finance

Services at the Sacramento Zoo. "While the loss of any animal is heartbreaking to our zoo family, we are grateful for the support of our community as we continue the important work of protecting wild giraffes and providing exceptional care to the giraffe herd at the Sacramento Zoo. On behalf of the Zoo's animal care and vet teams, we are appreciative of everyone's compassion as we process this loss."

In addition to Masai giraffe, Amirah, the Sacramento Zoo is currently home to three other female Masai giraffes (including two young giraffes born in 2020 and 2023), one male Masai giraffe, and one female reticulated giraffe. The Zoo is one of 34 institutions managing 138 Masai giraffes in the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA) population. The Zoo partners with and supports the Wild Nature Institute (WNI), a field research organization studying Masai giraffe demographics and the African Savanna ecosystem. This partnership with WNI is critical to giraffe research and conservation efforts in Africa. ★

Sacramento Zoo News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

The Sacramento Zoo is saddened to share that Masai giraffe, Amirah, lost her calf on Monday, September 4th shortly after giving birth. Amirah, a first-time mother, had a routine and successful gestation and delivery, but unfortunately the calf was not viable. Veterinary staff from the UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine as well as members of the Zoo's giraffe care team were on site throughout the birth to observe and assist if needed. Amirah is healthy and continuing to do well under the observation of animal care and veterinary staff and will be back with the rest of the giraffe herd soon.

"I am beyond proud of our Zoo staff and their commitment to the animals we care for here at the Sacramento Zoo," said Melissa McCartney, Senior Manager of Animal Care and Veterinary Health

Local Governments Call for a Statewide Zero-Emission Building Code

Sunstone Strategies News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and San Jose are among 25 local governments calling on Friday, September 8, 2023, for California Gov. Gavin Newsom to pursue a statewide zero-emission building standard next year. The appeal from local governments follows a widely criticized ruling from the U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals earlier this year that invalidated the city of Berkeley's landmark climate-friendly building code, creating considerable uncertainty for the 75 local governments in California with similar policies on the books.

"Climate change is an existential crisis, and we need to do everything we can to move away from fossil fuels," said Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg. "Municipalities across the state are taking bold action to cut emissions from our built environment and Sacramento is proud to be among these leaders, but local efforts alone will not get us to California's 2030 climate targets. We need a unified state standard to ensure that new construction across California is all electric."

In a letter sent to the Governor's office Friday, local governments make the case that a unified statewide code can solve the uncertainty created by the three-judge appellate panel's decision, ensuring that cities are not stuck building polluting infrastructure that they neither need nor want. Aligning state and local policies is also urgently needed to support the state in building healthier homes and buildings that can withstand the challenges of the climate crisis and support the state in meeting its climate targets.

"Buildings are the second highest source of greenhouse gas emissions in California, and gas appliances are a significant source of indoor air pollution that damages public health," said Los Angeles Councilwoman Katy Yaroslavsky. "So, just as numerous cities across California have taken the lead on adopting strong standards to reduce or eliminate these emissions, scaling these standards statewide is a no brainer. Californians deserve to live in homes that are free from indoor air pollution, and our state leaders need to treat this issue as the climate and public health threat that it is."

While the California Energy Commission (CEC) is responsible for developing the energy portion of the 2025 building code, the letter notes that they too may be inhibited by the 9th Circuit ruling and requests that Gov. Newsom uses additional authority vested in CALgreen to set zero-emission building standards for new construction. This strategy was first proposed by the California Air Resources Board in the 2022 Scoping Plan for Achieving Carbon Neutrality.

Homes and buildings generate about a quarter of California's climate pollution, but progress in cutting these emissions has been slow compared to other sectors. A climate-friendly building code will help California get back on track by ensuring that future investments in infrastructure align with the state's climate targets. Guaranteeing new homes are equipped with clean energy technologies will prevent costly retrofits in coming decades.

"I'm proud that in Los Angeles we have created a regulatory framework for all new residential and commercial buildings to be built so that they will achieve zero-carbon emissions as our electric grid becomes carbon-free – and we have moved swiftly to make this the law of the land," said Councilmember Nithya Raman. "But these efforts cannot be enacted in a vacuum – we need all hands on deck, from the City to the State. I urge Governor Newsom to scale up our efforts and set California on the path toward implementing a statewide zero-emission building standard."

While California gave birth to the movement to ensure all new buildings run on clean energy through local action, the letter notes the state is now falling behind in enacting policies to cut pollution from homes and buildings. New York became the first state in the nation to set an all-electric building code earlier this year, providing a precedent for California to replicate.

"Local cities and counties across California, including Los Angeles County, are leading the way in establishing zero-emission building standards for healthier communities," said Los Angeles County Supervisor Lindsey P. Horvath. "It's now time for the state to do the same, getting us that much closer to reaching California's 2030 climate targets and modeling for other cities what's possible and necessary. Decarbonizing homes and buildings is the right thing to do as we collectively work to ensure we are building for a greener, more resilient future." ★

Congressman Bera Calls for Action on Thefts and Vandalism of Cluster Box Units

Office of Congressman Ami Bera, M.D

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On August 31, 2023, U.S. Representative Ami Bera, M.D (CA-06) pressed U.S. Postmaster General Louis DeJoy to address the rise in thefts and vandalism of Cluster Box Units (CBU) in Sacramento County.

"Nationwide, from January to March 2023 alone, there were more than 25,000 reported thefts from cluster mailboxes, compared with 38,500 in all of 2022. In our region, we've seen this rise in thefts mirror the nationwide increase," said Representative Bera in a letter sent today to Postmaster General Louis DeJoy. "In Sacramento County, there has been significant increase in vandalism and theft with at least 105 CBUs damaged or stolen in the past several years. These thefts often include high value items such as passports, checks, and essential medication. Previously USPS has taken the responsibility of maintaining, repairing, and replacing the CBUs. However, recent correspondence shared with my office by residents of some neighborhoods, such as Natomas Park shows that this responsibility is being disputed and has been shifted to the neighborhoods' homeowners associations."

Bera continued: "Due to theft and stolen key concerns, we request that consideration be made to replace existing and at-risk USPS CBUs in Sacramento County, giving them a more secure design to discourage future vandalism. There is a need for physical safety precautions to be taken because of cases of identity theft, stolen bank account information, etc. This has been a recurring issue for many years, so it is critical that a long-term solution is developed that can be effectively carried out in the near future."

Congressman Bera represents California's 6th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives. CA-06 lies entirely within Sacramento County. ★

Sacramento SPCA Performs 300,000th Spay and Neuter Surgery

CHP 'Rolls' Out Statewide Safety Training Program for Electric Bicycles

Spaying and neutering is the most effective way of reducing pet overpopulation and the number of pets entering our region's shelters. Image by Dimitris Vetsikas from Pixabay

Send2Press Newswire News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento SPCA announced today that they hit a spay and neuter surgery milestone - altering the 300,000th animal in Sacramento since 2007. That's an average of nearly 19,000 animals a year - making the Sacramento SPCA one of the top clinics in the nation.

"Spaying and neutering is the most effective way of reducing pet overpopulation and the number of pets entering our region's shelters," said Kenn Altine, Sacramento SPCA CEO. "That's why the Sacramento SPCA opened the Zoe K. McCrea Animal Health Center in 2021 - to immediately expand access to the public and our animal welfare partners in a time when all facets of animal welfare in our region and across the nation are struggling to keep up with demand."

The 300,000th animal to receive surgery at the Sacramento SPCA was "Mama Goose" - a feral cat who had given birth and raised kittens in a yard in Sacramento. She was trapped and brought to the Zoe K. McCrea Animal Health Center at the Sacramento SPCA through the week-day Community Cat Clinic. Thanks to the Feline Spay and Neuter Fund, she was spayed at no cost to her trapper, and returned home.

The Sacramento SPCA serves the Sacramento region and beyond as a premier provider of low-cost spay and neuter services, collaborating with local rescue groups, feral and community cat caregivers, those in need, and the public to alter 20,000 animals annually.

The Zoe K. McCrea Animal Health Center dedicates every Sunday to the health and welfare of community cats, providing free surgeries to more than 70 cats in Sacramento County each week. The shelter also offers 10 surgical slots for Sacramento County cats Monday through Saturday at no cost, thanks to the Sacramento SPCA's Feline Spay and Neuter Fund. In collaboration with and funded by Zoe K. McCrea, Kathy Lelevier & Richard Rose, Dr. Nancy T. Field, and Mary & Kevin Clark, this initiative was launched in August of 2022 to provide more spay/neuter surgery appointments for community cats outside of the Sunday clinics.

Thanks to the fund, the Sacramento SPCA has altered more than 4,000 community cats so far this year, 500 more cats than this time last year. Since 2007, more than 50,000 cats have been altered, vaccinated, and received flea/ear mite treatments through the shelter's trap, neuter, and return (TNR) program.

As the only full-service 100% nonprofit animal shelter in the Sacramento region providing no-cost spay/neuter services to feral and community cats 7 days a week, the Sacramento SPCA relies on donations from individuals, businesses, and foundations to support their lifesaving work. The Sacramento SPCA is local, independent, and not affiliated with any other SPCA or humane society, including the ASPCA. All funds stay right here in the Sacramento region - helping animals - and the people who love them - in our own communities.

To join the lifesaving efforts and support of the Feline Spay and Neuter Fund, visit <https://www.sspca.org/> or contact Sarah Haney, Chief Development Officer, at 916-504-2805 or shaney@sspca.org.

Founded in 1892, the Sacramento SPCA has been providing homeless animals with individual comfort, shelter, and love for more than 131 years. The Sacramento SPCA provides compassionate medical care to tens of thousands of animals annually and offer a variety of programs and services designed to keep people and pets together for life. ### CHP News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As the popularity of electric bikes (e-bike) continues to skyrocket, the California Highway Patrol (CHP) is launching an online e-bike safety and training program to help keep commuters and recreational cyclists safe.

"With the rise in popularity of e-bikes across the state, the CHP worked with Governor Newsom's Administration, the Legislature, and key stakeholders to develop California's first e-bike safety and training program," said CHP Commissioner Sean Duryee. "The CHP's program can be accessed on our website and is designed to promote safety for those who choose to ride this alternative mode of transportation."

Assembly Bill 1946, which was signed into law by Governor Gavin Newsom and took effect on January 1, 2023, required the CHP to work with relevant stakeholders to develop an online training program that offers information on e-bike safety, emergency maneuver skills, rules of the road, and laws related to e-bikes. The e-bike safety and training program features tutorials, videos, a quiz, and other interactive elements with an easy-to-follow, intuitive presentation to help make the material engaging, practical and informative.

Electric bicycles are heavier and faster than standard bicycles and, without the proper safety education and training, e-bike riders have a higher risk of becoming severely injured or killed in a crash. As e-bikes become more commonplace, it's also important for drivers to familiarize themselves with sharing the road with e-bike riders.

According to preliminary data from the California Statewide Integrated Traffic Records System, there were more than 9,600 bicycle-involved crashes in 2022. At least 225 of those crashes involved an e-bike, including four which resulted in fatal injuries. This reflects a significant increase from the previous year when there were 80 e-bike crashes reported in California.

The CHP's online e-bike safety and training program is designed to help riders of all abilities and all ages identify potential hazards, while offering information on safe riding practices and hazard-avoidance maneuvers.

The CHP collaborated with, and would like to thank, the many stakeholders who assisted with the content and creation of the e-bike safety and training program. This diverse group of safety stakeholders includes several leading organizations committed to bicycle safety; federal, state and local government traffic safety partners; and injury prevention coordinators from hospitals throughout the state. Through these partnerships, and other safety programs, the CHP is committed to enhancing safe travel for all road users. ★
