GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - The leadership team at Wilson Elementary received exciting news this September: Wilson has achieved Platinum Level in its efforts to implement a strong Positive Behavioral Intervention and Supports (PBIS) system for their students. Less than 5 percent of California elementary and junior high schools have achieved this status, including just 3 schools in Oroville as well as a handful of Chico schools that have qualified.

What is PBIS? It's a framework for making data-driven decisions to plan for and support student learning and behavior outcomes. And if you think that's a mouthful, well, you're right. Dr. Joan Schumann, Wilson Principal, says it's all about mindset. It's about using data gathered from your students, from the issues and challenges you are seeing, to determine how to meet students' needs and how to adjust teachers' classroom teaching and the larger school environment.

Dr. Schumann says, "PBIS is really about intervening at the environment level and changing adult behavior. [At school you] really have to have a common understanding among all the adults in the building [in order to

What Better Time Than Now? Local Youth Give Back

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Local Zoe Torres has been up to some serious acts of kindness.

Toni Torres, mother of the former girl scout, says Zoe is always looking to give back to her community. After asking area food closets what they felt was a need in our community, Zoe took it upon herself to put together hygiene bags and more for the homeless as part of a personal service project.

After a few weeks of collection and organizing packages, Zoe made a large donation to the Gridley St. Vincent de Paul's food closet which included hygiene bags for the homeless containing personal care items, gift cards to local restaurants, and non-perishable food items. She even ordered a variety of new blankets for those in need to choose from.

Zoe polled businesses in the community for donations but purchased many of the items for the care

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Since the Candelario family purchased Ace Hardware in Gridley back in 2021, they have been finding creative ways to connect with and support our communities.

Owners Dagoberto and Katie Candelario have younger children and have expressed to the Herald that they wish to cultivate a fun, family-friendly atmosphere in the store, especially for the younger crowd. Katie says that in their first Halloween as owners of Ace they bought a giant skeleton and her son Antonio lovingly named him "Bob". They threw an Ace red vest on Bob's bones and considered him their first new hire.

their collection of Bobs, but with purpose. Dago shares that he, his family, and his store are always looking for ways to support area students when Katie came up with a fantastically fun competition for a good cause. Thus, the Candelario's announced Bob's Costume Contest.

Ace went out and bought more giant skeletons, bringing their total to four – one for each of the GH high school classes to decorate. "I wanted to make it fun and heat up the competition, so we decided to award the class with the most votes $500 for their Senior Sober Grad party," says Katie. Dago added that they have supported the last two graduating classes and thought that Bob's Costume Contest would be a great way for all of the high school classes to get started fundraising towards their own sober grad, not just the seniors. Katie contacted the

The New Pi-Line

By Josh F.W. Cook

With every single team except Washington State (Cougars, not Huskies) and Oregon State (Beavers, not Ducks) leaving the PAC 12 Athletic Conference of the NCAA, it is a reminder that the best football you'll ever see is on the Cowen Stadium field right here in Butte County. The Butte College Roadrunners are ranked #8 in the State as they head into the last two games of the year. And just so you know, Cowan Field is named after famous Gridley citizen John Cowan, who served on the Butte College Board of Trustees.

Driving down Highway 99 last week, the sky was almost completely blocked out by thousands and thousands of ducks coming to land on newly flooded Rice fields. I don't know why this came to my mind, but I started counting the ducks and attributing each duck to one pound of protein. If you have never done it before, go down one of the old country roads, and find a place where a flooded field is right next to the road, stop your car, turn off anything that makes noise, get out, and listen to the incredible noise that 4000 ducks make - honestly, it's a happy, joyous sound. You can kind of feel the joy and happiness of these ducks as they've all gotten together for a giant party, and they're doing the thing they love to do the most, which is eat and swim around (and from time to time - fall in love so to speak). The sound of so much life is truly unique. If you are not into spiritual exercises like listening to thousands of God's creations being happy, take photos or videos of them. If that does not reach you, start counting them and see whether or not I was right in my estimate of 4,000 birds per acre.

Members of the community, families, and even Gridley's CALFIRE firefighters cycled through the museum on Tuesday, October 24's mixer.

Story and photos by Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Gridley Museum, with the aid of the Gridley Area Chamber of Commerce, has brought back their mixers.

The two groups held the first mixer since 2020 and the COVID-19 outbreak on the evening of Tuesday, October 24th. The community was invited to drop in and enjoy an elaborate spread of refreshments and sweets, while browsing the large variety of displays depicting the multiple facets of Gridley (and area) history.

RuthAnn King, who dedicates countless hours to the management and organization of the museum says that the evening's soiree gives the museum the opportunity to showcase its extensive exhibits, including the second floor galleries. "People who have never been in here before are really impressed," says King. "They love the history. People don't realize how much history is really here, and once they get in the door they think 'why haven't I ever been in here before'."

Members of the community, families, and even Gridley's CALFIRE firefighters cycled through the museum, browsing the upstairs exhibits which feature historical displays of former businesses housed in the building and the many treasures displayed on the ground floor, including a full-size surrey and model electric train.

King says the Chamber approached the Museum about reinstating the mixers with the hopes that more will follow, and other area businesses will be interested in partnering together to promote the history of Gridley.

On behalf of the Chamber, Lisa Van De Hey thanked the museum for joining forces and holding the event saying, "We're very appreciative that the Museum welcomed having this mixer tonight. It's the first in three years and it was time to get them started again." ★

Sarah Moore, the current Vice Principal at Wilson, came to Wilson from Citrus Avenue Elementary School (which has also achieved Platinum Level) and was full of praises for the good that this particular mindset can do. She appreciates its focus on prevention, and recognition of positive behaviors. She spoke to the practicality of being able to look at the students and the school environment and decide where more attention is needed.

Moore also emphasized the importance of the enthusiasm and creativity that involved and committed staff members bring to the implementation. Both she and Schumann are quick to hand the credit for this honor to the PBIS team as a whole, who have devoted countless hours to honing their approach and devising incentives and school programs to appeal to their students.

At its core, PBIS dictates a 3-tiered approach to addressing school behavior issues. Tier 1 is the level at which all students are taught schoolwide expectations, offered opportunities to participate in activities designed to encourage positive behaviors and prevent problems before they start. Friendship Clubs, lessons in Social-Emotional Learning skills, Bucket-filler initiatives, are examples of Tier 1 activities that may sound familiar.

PBIS begins and ends with teaching and modeling positive behaviors in an atmosphere that provides positive relationships, and providing feedback regarding the appropriateness of the behaviors students are using.

As problem areas are spotted and needs arise, the idea is that the teaching, modeling and feedback increase in Tiers 2 and 3, specific to the areas of misbehavior and applied in a personal way to just those kids who are struggling. As Dr. Schumann described in an example, traditional discipline strategies dictate that if behavioral issues are showing up during football, you take away the privilege of participating in football. But PBIS says, figure out what’s triggering the issues during football, then look for ways to incentivize positive behaviors at football and replace the negative ones.

Schumann is well-positioned to be able to see the whole picture, with a firsthand knowledge of the potential for PBIS efforts to make a big difference. During her PhD studies, she worked closely at University of Oregon with some of the founders that helped get PBIS started nationwide.

After spending time as a Special Education professor at the University of Utah, Schumann also spent several years overseas, as the Director of Student Support Services at Stamford American International School in Singapore. PBIS is what she did – and she is passionate about the outcomes and growth that she knows are the result. It is clear that she practices what she preaches in this regard; since her arrival at Wilson, there have been many focus groups held to gather data around a variety of parent and student concerns and circumstances, from attendance to parking safety and general “visioning.” Gather data, use that data to inform decisions and intervention strategies. . . sound familiar?

Since returning to the United States, Schumann noted that there have been shifts in how PBIS is implemented. Specifically, PBIS training and efforts have expanded and have a new focus on integrated mental health supports and trauma-based services. She sees this as an overwhelmingly positive development.

When Dr. Schumann arrived at Wilson in 2021, she could see that many elements of PBIS were already in place. Really clarifying the focus and structure of Wilson’s tier support teams was the first major goal. The school counselor, Samantha Stone, was a significant help in this regard. By the end of the 2021/22 school year, a formal PBIS evaluator was invited to the campus. Following that evaluation, Wilson received Gold Level recognition for their PBIS efforts.

Last year, the main target for reaching Platinum Level was being able to document the growth and success of students being served at the top of the tier system. In 2022/23, the 5-6 kids who had extensive Tier 3 plans written to address their behaviors all a) graduated from their behavior plans, moving back down to a Tier 1 or 2 level and b) demonstrated huge academic growth across all subject areas.

Ms. LoriAnne Parks, a long-time 2nd grade teacher at Wilson, said of PBIS: “I feel it has really taught the kids what being a responsible, good human looks like and makes them reflect on their behavior as a whole.” She referenced practices such as restorative questioning (or use of open-ended questions to help kids process, resolve, and move on from conflict) and Primary Intervention Play that help kids develop the skills they need for friendly and appropriate play relationships. She stated that these interventions “really eliminate most of the bullying and lonely kid issues.”

Dr. Schumann reports that students and parents have responded positively. Parents are appreciative of the efforts being made to keep kids in class, where they can continue to learn alongside their classmates, and students recognize that there is a “different” feel than they have sometimes experienced in other schools. And in this case, that difference is a really good thing. ★

Old Jasper Blankenship went out to hunt deer the other day, the same way he's done for decades now. He's slower than he used to be, of course. Deer season has changed a lot for Jasper over the many years he's been at it. As a kid, he couldn't wait until he was old enough to get a license, because he wanted to bring a buck home to show his family. Not just any buck, either, but a big one.

As a young man, he wanted to see how many hunting seasons he could have in one year: duck, goose, quail, pheasant, deer, about anything that moved.

As a middle-aged man, he turned to the technology of hunting and wanted to learn about the newest gizmo that would make you quiet, make you invisible, make you irresistible to deer.

But things are different these days. Oh, Jasper still enjoys going through all the outdoor magazines and orders catalogs, and each year he orders some new gizmo that guarantees to bring home the meat. But he just chuckles at them, even as he orders them. Hunting, to him, means a reattachment to nature, a return to his roots. It is a time to see if his personal skills are still adequate. It is also a time to sit on a ridge and look around and appreciate what is there. And if what isn't there happens to be a deer, well, that's all right, too.

Venison isn't getting any easier to pack back to camp after all these many seasons, either. But there is something in the hunt, something in being allowed to silently stalk the nameless essence of fall, something in moving in near invisibility. There is something.

Sometimes it's just nice to go out there and see what happens.

Thoughts to Ponder

by Kathy Neal

Gridley United Methodist Church

Why do some people live to over 100 years others only a few hours? people give reasons why they have lived a long life, but the truth is only God knows.

King David gave us the real reason in Psalm 139: 16 when he said, "That God created our inmost being and all the days ordained for us written in God's book before one of them came to be."

When we were created and woven together in the womb, God knew how long we would reside on earth. God is all powerful, all knowing, and all merciful. He is in charge. He has plans for us and has given us a long amount of time to do them. He knows all.

Sometimes our lives resemble a giant puzzle, piece by piece it comes together. Year after year progress seems slow a times, but as we put it together we God's help we see the final piece in place, and we live as God has planned.

God is in charge and His plans and promises are always carried through. As we put our life puzzle together we learn what God has planned for us. For He said, "I know the plans I have for you to help you prosper and protect you." So from the first breath we take in life until the last one, God has numbered and set forth our days and tasks.

God has promised to finish the work He started in us, whether in this life or the next, we can count on that. Piece by piece, shape by shape, God is working to complete His creation. Know that He has it all written down and accounted for.

Come put your puzzle together with the help of God and the community of the Gridley United Methodist Church. We worship Sundays at 10 am. We are located at 285 Magnolia Street. ★

Time to start protecting tender plants. The greenhouse is cleaned out and plants are going in. The greenhouse can be kept right above freezing and that is where some plants need to be. A few would love to be in at least 50 degrees, those go inside the house. Most are able to make it under the patio cover because it is a little microclimate that stays slightly above freezing. We keep a freezer next to the house under the patio cover and the motor acts as a little warm place. I gather hardy but sorta delicate plants near that space and it works. I'm questioning whether or not to put all of the begonias in the greenhouse. I think they will do OK near the door under the patio cover. We'll see.

I was in Quincy CA for a couple of days. It was cold and the fall colors were really bright. So lovely and crisp. My aunts who are my age came out from Texas to see their children that live in California. We were there to look for items they wanted in a storage shed. It was a mess and we ended up spending hours cleaning our and throwing away junk. My parents were "collectors." I've learned to get rid of stuff but my brother has had this storage shed and refused to get rid of stuff. I think he is finally ready. Lesson learned: give your stuff of importance away while you are alive. Throw the rest away!! This also applies to the garden and its clean up this time of year. Rake up and clean around the fruit trees to keep disease away. Start cutting back and cleaning up the perennials. Pull out dead annuals. Sometimes easier said than done. Happy crisp Fall days to all of you. ★

Toni says that when she and her daughter arrived at the food closet, the volunteers there were shocked and excited at the donation. Cathy Slota, who was volunteering that day, said that she was incredibly impressed by the generosity of Ms. Zoe and hopes that her charity will inspire others to follow suit.

Zoe's mother said that "it was such a great feeling for her (Zoe)" and that it was heartwarming to see Zoe, who is known to be a "fire-cracker", showing her softer side and initiating these service projects on her own accord without being pushed by parents or other organizations. "It's amazing" says Toni, "It's such a great feeling that yes, the things we try to instill in them (children), they are actually absorbing" and wanting to give back.

Zoe is also planning a donation to area animal shelters and for first responders.

The Torres' didn't want recognition for their act of service but hope that sharing Zoes story will motivate others to do the same.

The St. Vincent de Paul's food closet is open Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 -11:30 am and is located at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church's Parish Hall, 1560 Hazel St., Gridley.

SPARKY'S CORNER

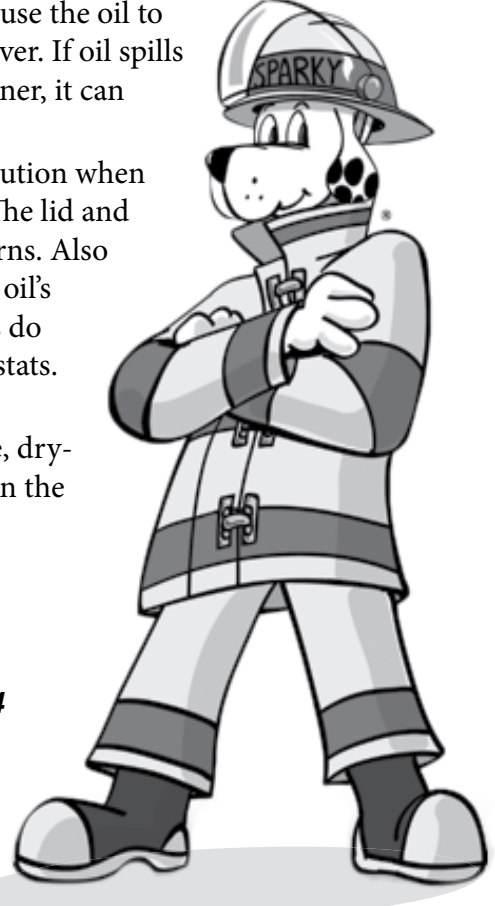

Turkey Fires

Careless cooking is the number one cause of residential fires. Never leave anything unattended while cooking! Don't let an unfortunate grease fire ruin your holiday meal. With the holiday season fast approaching; here are some helpful tips and safety information to make this holiday season a memorable one, brought to you by CAL FIRE/Gridley Fire Department.

- Stay Away from the House – Set up the turkey fryer more than 10 feet away from your home and keep children and pets away. Never leave it unattended.
- Find Flat Ground – The oil must be even and steady at all times to ensure safety. Place the fryer on a flat, level surface and carefully gauge the amount of oil needed.
- Use a Thawed and Dry Turkey – Make sure your Thanksgiving turkey is completely thawed and dry. Extra water will cause the oil to bubble furiously and spill over. If oil spills from the fryer onto the burner, it can cause a fire.
- Monitor the Temp – Use caution when touching the turkey fryer. The lid and handle can could cause burns. Also be sure to keep track of the oil's temperature as many fryers do not have their own thermostats.
- Be Prepared – Have a fire extinguisher (multipurpose, dry-powder) ready at all times in the event that the oil ignites.

Thank You, and Be Safe!!

OROVILLE, CA (MPG) - Oroville’s oldest active theater group, Hock’s Unlimited Melodrama, will once again step onto the Monday Club stage with a laugh-filled old time “Mel-er-drama” that takes place in the 1890s in Four Corners, Colorado. . .or is it Arizona? Maybe Utah or New Mexico? “Stop The Presses! or. . .She’s Not My Type!”, written by Tim Kelly and directed by Dell DeMeyer, will be presented November 16-18 at 7:30 PM and November 19 matinee at 2:00 PM, with a talented cast, sodas, beer, popcorn and other added attractions. Doors will open half hour prior to the curtain.

Tickets will be available at Marcozzi Jewelers and on Eventbrite the first week in October and are $20 which includes a $5 donation to the Oroville Veterans’ Memorial Park Fund and donations from each performance to the Thermalito Bridge Lighting Fund. There will be group seating available and tickets at the door, if available, of the Monday Club, 2385 Montgomery Street, Oroville.

The talented cast includes Loren Ott, David Glover, Christine Williams, Barbara Rocchi, Ruby Thomas, Sharyl Bacchues, Sandy Walburn, Mike Fisher, Cat Adams, Don Green, Wes Holstrom and Sarah Bartlett-Pierce. Linda James is music director, Diane Wilkerson is House Manager, Andrea Green will be running the kitchen crew, and Reidun Sognaes McGrath will be backstage as prompter. Other Hocks members will be serving refreshments, doing backstage work, and ticket sales.

Olio acts during intermissions will be by the Three Ott Sisters, sing-a-longs by Kim Bertoglio and Bill Tronson, a performance from the Oroville California School of Ballet and other musical talent. Andrea Green will be running the kitchen crew and Reidun McGrath will be backstage as prompter.

The play is three acts of zany action, involved around a newspaper office in a small, western town owned by old Granny Print and her granddaughter, Aspen. The villain, along with his two accomplices, decides to do his dastardly deeds, including buying the newspaper, running a crooked campaign for mayor and anything else he can think of to get his own way! A sheriff who really stands tall and townspeople who just won’t let things go wrong bring the villain to his proper end. Audiences are encouraged to boo and hiss the villain, and cheer on the hero and heroine as they romp through this old western story. Bring the family and friends but no dogs, please!

Hock’s was originally established in 1970 by Jane Hammer and Kelly Jordan and the group performed at both the Monday Club and across Montgomery Street in the basement of the Veteran’s Memorial Hall for a few years. Over the 53 years, Hock’s has presented 45 plays, has had three directors, several music directors and hundreds of aspiring actors and actresses, all volunteers, who love the theater and especially melodrama. Dell DeMeyer is a veteran Hock’s player who has only missed one season since 1970 and was most often known for her role as the villainess and sidekick to the nasty villain. This is her third year of directing, following the retirement of Shirley Bugado. ★ school, and a new spooky event was born.

With little time to spare before Halloween, the GHS classes got to work. Students were monitored by adults and so they didn't clog the isles of the store and cycled through in small groups to participate in decorating. Ace allowed the students to use some of their stock as props, which also acted to highlight potential gift ideas for the upcoming holiday season.

The Freshmen put forth a strong showing, decorating Bob in Dia de Los Muertos garb, including colorful flags, flowers and more. Sophomores kept things hot with a BBQ Dad Bob, his ice chest overflowing with fresh "meat" for the grill. The Juniors made a statement with their Bob in a box, putting a "Barbie" spin on things. The Seniors Bob was barely visible in his duck blind and camo, representing hunters and sportsmen in the area. All displays were fun, quirky, and horrifically well done. The Candelarios shared that every time they walked down the main isle of the store, they would laugh and smile at the creativity of the students and that shoppers loved the displays.

The public was given a window of a few days to visit the Bobs and vote on their favorite. The Candelarios tallied the votes on Halloween night, announcing the winner November 1st. And the winner is.... Senior Sportsman Bob!

The Candelarios say that Bob's Costume Contest will be returning again next year for the enjoyment of all. "We love giving back to the community and this was just a way to have some fun while doing so." ★

Wolverines junior running back Davis Long had four rushing touchdowns in the first quarter and that included three that went for more than 57-yards a piece.

On top of the big rushing numbers, the Biggs defense was ferocious and pounded the ball out of Willow's control as they caused and recovered multiple fumbles throughout the game.

The Wolverines put this game out of reach in a hurry as it was 35-6 at the end of the first quarter. The game went to a running clock in the fourth quarter.

Biggs head coach Brian Harrison and his squad head on the road to play at Mount Shasta tonight with kickoff at 7 p.m.

All of the scoring happened in the first half and head coach Robert Tilton told the Herald. He added that his team came ready to play and cliqued together all night to pull of the victory.

Offensively for the Lions, junior quarterback Aaron Rogers continues to escalate this offense with the ability to pass the ball efficiently and expand the offense from years of only running the ball.

Rogers threw eight completions for 132 yards in the air. Additionally, junior running backs Tanner Tillotson and Mario Ramirez combined for over 150 yards on the ground.

Not only was this the first SVL win of the year for Live Oak, but it was the first win in the SVL since the 2019 season after a Happy Halloween!

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Halloween week started with a variety of parades, trunk-or-treats and community celebrations.

Tuesday morning, McKinley School in Gridley held their Halloween Parade, escorting hundreds of kindergarteners, first graders and more to downtown Gridley to visit local businesses. Small business owners, members of the chamber of commerce and officers from the Gridley Police Department, including Chief Harr and Lieutenant Farr joined the fun and happily handed out candy.

Later that evening, families would stream into the LDS church's trunk-o-treat on Spruce Street. Costumed children would go car-to-cart, getting a kick out of the elaborately decorated vehicles and candy dealers dressed to kill. A favorite returned to the event once again, the giant witch's nose that little ones picked their candy from. Others of note were the Mad Hatter's Tea Party and gypsy wagon.

The streets in Biggs would be closed down for their annual trunk-or-treat event and Halloween Costume Parade. Kari Wheeler and Pamela Scott of eXP Realty, with the aid of photographer Rikki Donahoe, provided free family pictures for those in attendance. A selfie station, complete with a real coffin and hanging skeletons, made for horrifying fun pics. At 7:00 pm, children waving glow sticks and holding a parade banner made their way down B Street to the adoration of the crowd. Afterwards, those that had visited the various trunks made their way further down B Street, going door-to-decorated-door to rake in even more candy, packing the normally quiet streets.

Halloween 2023 is officially in the bag, with the rest of the treats! ★

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - A creepy Halloween blow-up arch marked the entrance to the GHS Leadership class Trunk-or-Treat, held Monday, October 30th.

This year, students and teachers blocked off the portion of Spruce St. in front of the high school and set up a carnival and trunk-or-treat for the community. Leadership students and members of the Link Crew spent hours designing games, decorating their personal vehicles, donning creative costumes and filling buckets with candy as they prepared to host hundreds of area youth on the perfect fall evening.

Leadership Advisor Ms. Jennifer Davidson-Link shared that the students held a candy drive at the high school to collect enough sweet treats for the little ghouls and goblins that would visit each stop along the circuit. Students manned game stations such as Halloween bingo, corn-hole, facepainting, a ring toss section and 5-gallon bucket bowling, to name a few.

Children danced to music, took selfies at the selfie station, and most of all, enjoyed visiting with all the other costumed trick-or-treaters.

Each of the Gridley high school leadership students passing out candy agreed that the event had a fantastic turnout this year, with 2023 possibly being the biggest year yet! ★
