Credit Union's Grant Program Funds $90,000 in Support for Nonprofits

SAFE Credit Union News Release

FOLSOM, CA (MPG) - Six Greater Sacramento region nonprofits received $90,000 in funding from SAFE Credit Union's annual community grant program dedicated to uplifting the communities it serves in 2023.

The grant recipients – Foster Youth Education Fund, Junior Achievement Sacramento, Rebuilding Together Sacramento, Soil Born Farms, Volunteers of America, Northern California/Nevada and the Yolo Crisis Nursery – provide services supporting career development, financial education, higher education, the health and well-being of infants and toddlers, housing, and veterans.

A not-for-profit financial institution, SAFE's community grant program stems from the credit union's cooperative principle of sharing profits within communities.

"We take our mission to help our members and communities build financial freedom to heart," says SAFE Credit Union Vice President of Community Relations and Financial Education Rebecca Delmundo. "These grants help individuals in often underserved communities receive the support, respect, and the resources they need to build better lives."

Here are more details about each nonprofit recipient and the programs supported by SAFE's 2023 community grants:

$10,000 Soil Born Farms, exclusively offering "farm to wellness" career programs to veterans in the Sacramento region. Located in Rancho Cordova. Media: Audio/video available here. $10,000 - Yolo Crisis Nursery, Safe Stays Crisis Respite Care program, providing between 2,000 and 2,500 stays for children annually, including 100 parents and children in crisis, a caring and home-like environment for visitors. CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG)

- Twenty-six percent of children in Sacramento County are being raised by single mothers and the non-profit Single Mom Strong has made it their mission to support single mothers in the Sacramento region.

Registration is open for a Career Exploration Workshop: Exploring Skilled Trades at The Empowerment Center, by Single Mom Strong, 7525 Auburn Boulevard, Suite 5 in Citrus Heights on Saturday, February 3rd from 11 to 1 pm for women to explore non-traditional careers in growing sectors that offer high-income potential with low barriers to entry. The workshop, presented in partnership with SMUD and the Sacramento Valley Manufacturing Alliance, will explore skilled trades that aren't all heavy lifting and dirty fingernails. The event is sponsored by the City of Citrus Heights with monies from the city's Community Support Fund which are dedicated to strengthening and improving the overall quality of life in Citrus Heights, said Marisa Brown, city communications officer. Registration for the Saturday event is through Eventbrite at: https:// www.eventbrite.com/e/ single-mom-strongs-career-exploration-workshop-exploring-skilled-trades-tickets-791178675717. "This is the third component of what we have wanted to have in place for a long time to help single moms succeed," said Tara Taylor, its founder and executive director. The event is anything but a "typical career fair," she explains. Since opening in 2019, Single Mom Strong's Empowerment Center has come to encourage the success of some 1,100 single mothers who have entered its doors. The non-profit has made it their mission to support single mothers in the Sacramento region. The Single Mom Strong Empowerment Center, a Continued on page 3

Sacramento Superior Court Implements e-filing for Civil and Probate Cases

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -Sacramento Superior Court has implemented electronic filing or e-filing for civil and probate cases effective today, Jan. 16, 2024.

"E-filing will enhance the efficiency and accessibility of court filings for court users and legal professionals," said Presiding Judge Bunmi Awoniyi.

With e-filing, parties in civil and probate cases may submit documents to the court through an approved service provider listed on the court's website.

e-filing will be optional until July 1, 2024, at which time it will become mandatory for litigants represented by attorneys. Self-represented parties in civil cases will be exempt from this requirement, but may file electronically in addition to filing documents at the counter, utilizing drop boxes, or postal services.

For probate cases, attorneys and self-represented parties are exempt from the mandatory electronic filing requirements set to take effect on July 1, 2024 but are encouraged to utilize e-filing in addition to filing documents at the counter, utilizing drop boxes, or postal services.

Documents submitted electronically to the court will be reviewed and processed.

"The court looks forward to providing a more convenient and streamlined process for Civil and Probate cases," Awoniyi said. ★

California Highway Patrol Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -The California Highway Patrol (CHP) will give the public an inside look at its live-in training facility with this month's release of the new reality series, Cadets. Premiering Jan. 17 on the CHP's YouTube page, the nine-part docuseries focuses on a cadet class navigating the sixmonth journey through the CHP Academy on the way to becoming officers.

The release of Cadets is part of the CHP's ongoing, multi-year recruitment campaign to recruit and hire 1,000 officers. A trailer for the series, produced entirely by CHP staff, is available online. "Cadets is not just a series; it's a testament to the CHP's commitment to excellence, diversity, and the relentless pursuit of transforming individuals from all walks of life into dedicated officers ready to serve the community," said CHP Commissioner Sean Duryee. "We are excited to offer a start-to-finish look inside our Academy as future law enforcement officers are brought to life."

Viewers will "ride along" with nine cadets as they overcome physical and mental adversity throughout the journey to earning their badge and becoming a CHP officer. The audience will also hear firsthand from the cadets as they speak candidly about their experience.

"By sharing their experiences, in their own words, we hope to inspire more service-minded individuals to follow in their footsteps and join us for a rewarding career in law enforcement," added Commissioner Duryee.

If you are interested in an exciting career that offers diversity, challenges, and opportunities, the CHP invites you to apply to become a part of our professional organization.

The mission of the CHP is to provide the highest level of Safety, Service, and Security.

SMUD Sustainable Communities partner, offers support for single mothers, including affordable daycare, practical workshops, life skills training, and other events and activities. Its EmpowerME Pre-school & Childcare programs make quality early childhood education accessible to all young children by making preschool affordable, even on a single income budget.

"We've had both a one-to-one peer counseling program in place and a wardrobe closet available to help them prepare for interviews and to dress professionally to re-enter the work force."

"What we haven't had before, is a workshop where single moms can get together to explore non-traditional trade careers in growing business sectors which offer high-income potential with low barriers to entry," she said.

The rapidly growing solar, electrical and manufacturing fields are just some which offer a variety of high-wage jobs in careers in safe, clean and tech-oriented environments which often don't require a college degree, Taylor said.

Participants will have a one-to-one opportunity to talk with fellow women already working in these industries and ask real questions about what it is like to work in their field, and how they balance work and family, and learn about their experience with career advancement, Taylor said.

Many will also have an opportunity to learn and consider career opportunities which are offered by the city of Citrus Heights. Some 86 women are employed at City Hall and the Citrus Heights Police Department, and many are in more trade-oriented roles, said city communications officer Marisa Brown.

These include Regina Cave, General Services Director, 24 years; Leslie Blomquist, City Engineer, 8 years, Alison Bermudez, Senior Planner, 24 years in March and Susan McClendon, Development Services Technician, 17 years in June.

Open roles for the city of Citrus Heights can be found at: governmentjobs.com/ careers/citrusheights.

"Come and explore your options in the safe, friendly Single Mom Strong environment you know and love," Taylor said. "It's a great first event and it's open to all women, with single moms given priority for childcare."

Single Mom Strong is lead by founder Tara Taylor and by its president Meghan Huber, the Economic Development and Communications Manager for the City of Citrus Heights. Huber joined the SMS Board of Directors in 2019 with a goal to affect positive change and support families in the community.

Registration remains open for the "Career Exploration Workshop: Exploring Skilled Trades" at The Empowerment Center, by Single Mom Strong, 7525 Auburn Boulevard, Suite 5 in Citrus Heights this Saturday, February 3rd from 11 to 1 p.m.

"Come and enjoy lunch and hands-on career exploration activities, while also taking time to network and socialize," Taylor said. Childcare is available onsite in the Empowerment Center's licensed childcare center.

Officer-Involved Shooting in Rio Linda

Sacramento County Sheriff's Office News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - At approximately 11 AM on Wednesday, January 24, 2024, Deputies responded to the area of 18th Street and Elkhorn Boulevard in Rio Linda regarding a trespassing call. While on scene, a Deputy was waved down about an unrelated carjacking that just occurred a few houses away. An adult male, later identified as 23-year-old Brenden Waterman, physically assaulted an adult female and tried to stab her with a screwdriver while trying to steal her vehicle. Waterman attempted to pull the victim into the vehicle, but she was able to break away, and Waterman drove away in it. As the Deputy exited his patrol vehicle to speak to the victim, Waterman emerged in the victim's vehicle and drove toward the Deputy. The Deputy fired one round toward the vehicle and moved out of its path.

Waterman led Deputies on a short pursuit when he lost control of the vehicle, hit the center median, and crashed into an oncoming civilian vehicle. Waterman then ran on foot into a residence on the 6800 block of 18th Street. The sole resident inside the home ran outside, and Deputies set up a perimeter around the house. Both the carjacking victim and civilian motorist had only minor injuries and were not transported to the hospital.

The Special Enforcement Detail (SED), Critical Incident Negotiations Team (CINT), K9, and several other Sheriff's assets were dispatched to the scene. Deputies attempted to make contact with Waterman for several hours but were never able to establish any communication or dialogue. Waterman eventually exited the residence armed with a handgun when Deputies deployed less lethal shotgun rounds and a Sheriff's K9 unit. He was taken into custody without further incident. Waterman had minor injuries from the K9 bite and the earlier vehicle crash and was ultimately taken to a hospital as a precaution. He was booked into the Sacramento County Main Jail for several felony charges, including PC 215 - Carjacking; PC 245(a) (1) – Assault with a Deadly Weapon; PC 664/187 -Attempted Murder; PC 212.5(a) - First Degree Robbery; and other firearms related charges. He is ineligible for bail and is scheduled to appear in court on February 1, 2024.

The investigation into this incident is still ongoing and will be conducted by the Sheriff's Homicide Bureau and Professional Standards Division, which is standard practice for any officer-involved shooting that occurs in the Sheriff's Department's jurisdiction. An independent review of the incident will be conducted by the Sacramento County District Attorney's Office. In accordance with the Sheriff's Office policies and procedures, the Deputy involved in the shooting will be placed on administrative leave pending the investigation.

California Regulators Want to Spend Billions to Reduce a Fraction of Water Usage

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Hydrologists measure large amounts of water in acre-feet - an acre of water one-foot deep, or 326,000 gallons.

In an average year, 200 million acre-feet of water fall on California as rain or snow. The vast majority of it sinks into the ground or evaporates, but about a third of it finds its way into rivers. Half of that will eventually flow into the Pacific Ocean.

That leaves approximately 35-40 million acre-feet for human use, with three-quarters being applied to fields and orchards to support the state's agricultural output, and the remaining quarter – 9-10 million acre-feet – being used for household, commercial and industrial purposes.

In other words, nearly 39 million Californians wind up using about 5% of the original precipitation to water their lawns, bathe themselves, operate toilets and cook their food.

That number is important because it is such a tiny amount, even though the state's perennial household water conservation programs imply that taking fewer showers or reducing lawn watering will somehow solve the state's water problems.

The ludicrous nature of those propagandistic appeals is quite evident in the state Water Resources Control Board's new plan to force local water agencies into cutting household water use even more, no matter the multibillion-dollar cost, and with penalties if they fail to meet quotas.

The water board says the plan, which was authorized by the Legislature in 2018, would reduce household use by 440,000 acre-feet a year when fully implemented. That would be about 5% of current use, which is only about 5% of average precipitation - scarcely a drop in the bucket.

The plan is drawing some well-reasoned criticism from two independent observers, the Legislative Analyst Office, an arm of the Legislature, and the Public Policy Institute of California, the state's premier think tank.

The LAO, in a report to the Legislature, said the plan "will create challenges for water suppliers in several key ways, in many cases without compelling justifications."

In essence, the LAO said, local water agencies would have to jump through the state's hoops by spending billions of dollars for a tiny reduction in overall water use that could have an adverse impact on low-income families.

The PPIC is similarly skeptical, summarizing the plan as "very high cost for little benefit." PPIC fellows David Mitchell and Ellen Hanak also pointed out its effects on low-income communities and the difficulty it would impose on local governments' programs to plant and maintain trees as a shield against hot summer weather.

California does indeed have a water supply problem, mostly because its political leaders for decades have failed to expand the state's water infrastructure that had been built during the mid-20th century.

Household use is not the problem. It cannot be because it is such a tiny part of the overall water picture and actually has declined, in relative terms, as the state's population reached 40 million, more than twice what it was when the last major water works were constructed.

The major mismatch of demand and supply occurs in the two largest categories of water use, agriculture and the environment. Agricultural water agencies and environmental groups have been jousting for decades in the Legislature, in Congress, in courts and in regulatory agencies such as the water board over how much water farmers can draw and how much should remain in rivers to protect habitat for fish and other wildlife.

That's the issue that must be resolved by reallocating existing supplies, building new storage and/ or creating new supplies, such as desalination of seawater. Spending billions of dollars to save a few gallons of household water is just an expensive exercise in virtue-signaling that accomplishes virtually nothing.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for more than 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. 🖈

$24M NIH Grant Extends Study of Healthy Aging in African Americans

Black Americans Have the Highest Rate of

Alzheimer's Disease of All Ethnic Groups in the U.S. UC Davis Health News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Researchers at UC Davis Health and Kaiser Permanente Division of Research have received a $24 million grant from the National Institute on Aging, part of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), to continue the Study of Healthy Aging in African Americans (STAR) for an additional five years.

STAR, which launched in 2017, follows a group of approximately 750 older adults to understand how behaviors and lifestyle may increase the risk of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias for Black and African Americans. The study is also trying to better understand the factors that may protect brain health.

Black Americans have the highest rate of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias of all ethnic and racial groups in the United States. Older Black Americans are about one-and-ahalf to two times more likely than white Americans to be living with dementia or Alzheimer's.

Among Black Americans 70 years of age and older, 21.3% live with Alzheimer's. But information about potential risks in early life — and ways to mitigate those risks — relies almost exclusively on research conducted with white participants.

Rachel Whitmer, a professor in the departments of Public Health Sciences and Neurology and co-director of the UC Davis Alzheimer's Disease Research Center, and Paola Gilsanz, an epidemiologist and research scientist at Kaiser Permanente Division of Research, are the principal investigators of the study.

"We are thrilled to continue this study for another five years so that we can further unravel what contributes to brain health and dementia risk in Black Americans," Whitmer said. "There have not been a lot of studies following this community from middle age into late life. But understanding the risk and protective factors throughout someone's life is key to improving brain health and reducing disparities."

Study follows participants' health and habits over time

Participants in the STAR study are Black adults living in the San Francisco Bay Area and the greater Sacramento region. They are long-term members of Kaiser Permanente Northern California, meaning the researchers have a wealth of health data as far back as the 1960s. This offers a unique opportunity to understand how factors earlier in life, such as hypertension in young adulthood, may contribute to brain health later.

"With the ability to further follow these individuals over time, we will be better able to understand the cognitive aging transition and how to reduce the risk of cognitive impairment in this important population," Gilsanz said.

The STAR participants are visited in their homes or local clinics and participate in surveys and cognitive tests looking at an array of health, behavioral and functional measures. Some participants also undergo magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) brain scans, a noninvasive way to view brain health.

The information collected by the researchers helps identify associations between behavioral and lifestyle factors, along with changes in the brain over time, to understand the risk factors and protective factors for dementia.

Identifying factors that hurt or help brain health

The first five years of STAR produced significant findings regarding factors that may contribute to late-life cognition. Researchers learned that:

-School segregation and timing of desegregation are associated with differences in late-life cognition

-Hypertension, diabetes and high cholesterol (hyperlipidemia) in adolescence, young adulthood and midlife are linked to poorer cognitive performance and more vascular brain injury later in life

Jerrett Davis Takes Helm as Executive Chef for Hard Rock Hotel and Casino

Heather Atherton PR News Release

WHEATLAND, CA (MPG) - Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Sacramento at Fire Mountain is proud to introduce our new farm to fork focused Executive Chef, Jerrett Davis. Davis will oversee all culinary operations for eight dining venues including the award-winning Council Oak Steaks & Seafood and the signature Hard Rock Café as well as the Fresh Market Buffet, YouYu Asian Bistro and Constant Grind. A California native who spent 10 years cooking for the Maloof family after serving as a Marine around the world, Davis brings his unique flavor and perspective to the Hard Rock team in Wheatland.

Raised in southern Central California, just North of the Santa Ynez wine country, Davis moved to Sacramento in high school and graduated from McClatchy High School. He then enlisted in the Marines and spent four years traveling to 20 countries. Throughout his career he has also had the opportunity to work in Los Angeles, Las Vegas, and San Francisco prior to landing at Hard Rock Sacramento in Wheatland. He worked for the Maloof family for a decade as their personal chef and was able to cook for celebrities, sports stars, and dignitaries.

"I love what I do. Seeing people enjoy what I create and snapping photos of their plates is a guilty pleasure," explained Davis. "I'm thrilled to join the band and be able to work with such an incredibly iconic brand like Hard Rock Café and the other amazing restaurants here on the property to deliver my vision to the palates of our guests."

Davis lives on seven acres in Grass Valley with his family. He loves the outdoors and enjoys hunting, fishing, foraging, and farming. He collects whiskeys and has a passion for Bourbon and wine and holds a collection of rare bottles.

"We are thrilled for Jerrett to join our team and oversee our restaurant menu development. His food and beverage background coupled with his experience as a veteran is incredibly valuable in the fast-paced environment of restaurants," explained Jarrett Hipp, Director of Food and Beverage for Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Sacramento at Fire Mountain. "His familiarity with the Central Valley farm to fork connection and his roots in SACRAMENTO REGION (MPG) - As we get older, many of us need a helping hand. Our bodies may be sick, they may be broken, or they may just be worn out. In addition, the world currently has more illnesses than it ever has before. Many families would like nothing more than to keep their aging family members at home. However, Home Care is very expensive.

Insurance often does not cover Home Health Care, so many families find themselves in the position that they are forced to put their loved one in a facility, convalescent home, or some other facility that offers assisted living. There are many facilities that insurance pays for and a private facility can cost $4,000 per month and more.

According to American Veteran's Aid, a private company, the Veteran's Administration (VA), may be able to help. The program is called Aid & Attendance and may provide you a tax-free benefits of up to $3,536 per month for all types of long term care. It is designed to off-set the expense of long-term care and can be used for home care or for a facility.

The Vet must have served during War time and had to get anything except a dishonorable discharge. Eligible periods of war are WWII (12-7-41 to7-26-47 is considered war service), Korean Conflict (6-27-50 to1-31-55), Vietnam (11-1-55 to 6-7-75 for those who served in Vietnam, 8-5-64 to 5-7-75 for those who served outside of Vietnam) or the Persian Gulf War (8-2-90 through a date to be prescribed by Presidential proclamation or law).

Eligible individuals will be Vets and spouses of Vets that are 65 years and older, need assistance with daily activities such as dressing, bathing, eating, toileting or getting around or are totally disabled. In addition, the vet must have served for a minimum of 90 days and the spouse must have been married to the vet at the time of their passing, and cannot be remarried unless it is to another wartime veteran. There is income and countable asset criteria established by the VA.

"We just want to help any war time veterans that we can," said Barbara Wright. "We want them to get the benefit, which they so deserve." Aid & Assistance is provided by the Department of Veteran Affairs, and it is extremely easy to inquire about you or your loved one's eligibility. Simply visit https://americanveteransaid. com/, enter your information and answer 4 questions. Generally, a representative will call you back within 24 hours and they can often determine eligibility. This is not a one-time payment, but rather a monthly payment. If you don't have access to a computer, you may call Barbara Wright at 877-427-8065 ext. 1019.

Statewide With Federal Funding

California Department of Transportation News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - In a boost for electric vehicle reliability, the U.S. Department of Transportation has awarded Caltrans more than $63 million in federal funds to fix and install more than 1,000 chargers at 300 sites statewide.

The $63.7 million from the federal Electric Vehicle Charger Reliability and Accessibility Accelerator (EVC RAA) grant program – part of the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, also known as the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law – will replace broken charging stations and install additional chargers to meet new federal standards for public charging infrastructure.

"Thanks to the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, California will receive nearly $64 million to improve EV charging stations across the state," said Senator Alex Padilla. "Accelerating the adoption of an electric vehicle powered future requires a strong, reliable, accessible charging network across the state."

"This funding will allow California to continue to lead the nation in zero-emission-vehicle adoption, increasing reliability and cutting planet-warming pollution," said California State Transportation Secretary Toks Omishakin. "We want to thank the Biden-Harris Administration, Sen. Alex Padilla, and the state's congressional delegation for supporting the expansion of a charging network throughout the state while combatting climate change."

"Increasing the accessibility and standardization of EV charging stations will help us to build a more modern transportation system," said Tony Tavares, Caltrans director. "This latest federal funding will support Caltrans in achieving its climate action goals."

"As EVs go mainstream, ensuring a reliable charging network is a top priority," said Patty Monahan, commissioner of the California Energy Commission (CEC). "As California's lead agency for building out charging infrastructure, the Energy Commission includes reliability requirements for our grants, but many chargers aren't covered by these requirements. This federal funding will help fix and upgrade broken EV chargers, giving EV drivers more options for convenient refueling."

The EVC RAA program is part of the National Electric Vehicle Infrastructure (NEVI) Formula Program and made funding available for states to repair or replace EV charging stations identified as "temporarily unavailable."

For the application, Caltrans worked with EV charging providers to develop a list of chargers to fix and upgrade to national charging standards within the program timeline. The funding will support the replacement of both Level 2 and DC fast chargers. Caltrans will partner with the CEC to implement this funding, building on the agencies' partnership to deliver the NEVI Formula Program.

HOW WE GOT HERE

EV chargers: California currently has by far the most electric chargers in the nation with over 42,000 public charging ports;

California leads the country in all zero-emission vehicle (ZEV) market metrics, including the largest EV market share percentage, and the most extensive public charging infrastructure;

The success of the state's programs has led to ZEVs becoming a top export and has spurred major advances in manufacturing and job creation;

Over 25% of new passenger vehicles sold in California through Q3 of 2023 were zero-emission vehicles;

California has reached its ZEV truck sales goal two years ahead of schedule;

This latest award comes on the heels of California's call for projects to support $40 million in charging projects for passenger vehicles in the state's NEVI program.

Ten EV charging and hydrogen fueling projects in California, totaling $168 million, were recently awarded funding under the Federal Highway Administration's Charging and Fueling Infrastructure Discretionary Grant Program.

I was worried. Genuinely worried that after a miserable four-game losing streak that saw the Kings give away two games, largely because of abysmal free throw shooting, I would have nothing positive to write about.

Enter Harrison Barnes. Yes, the much maligned Harrison Barnes, and rightfully so. Harrison has under-performed nearly all season, and I have been critical of his effort: to the point of calling for coach Brown to give Trey Lyles his starting spot in the lineup.

So, after four miserable games, the Kings have now won three straight, and Mr. Barnes has played prominently in all three. 32 points, then a career best 39, and finally a solid 20-point performance against the Dallas Mavericks to help the Kings string three wins together.

The most prominent name mentioned in trade talks has been none other than Harrison Barnes, and this most recent resurgence in productivity has fans and pundits alike scratching their heads.

For many of us that have followed Harrison's career, we know and have seen what he is capable of doing, so the question must be asked, where has this been, and why now?

Coach Brown has been criticized with his starting lineup, and I will say, regardless of how well Harrison plays, Trey Lyles needs more minutes on the court every game. Trey has a basketball ceiling that we have yet to see, and we're only going to see it if he gets 30 minutes plus per game.

Much like Domantis Sabonis, Trey Lyles brings a workmanlike effort every game, and could start on many NBA teams.

Malik Monk continues to be coach Brown's 6th man, and if Malik can thrive in that role, I'll stand back and applaud. Without question, like Trey Lyles, Malik needs more minutes. His game time is a bit erratic, and if there is anyone that makes his presence felt immediately, it's Malik Monk.

What this brings us to, is what if anything are the Kings looking for as the trade deadline approaches?

If Harrison Barnes is going to play with the enthusiasm he's shown in recent games, it may very well change decisions made in regards to possible trades. We will see.

Another positive is the positive sight of Davion Mitchell coming off the bench again with regularity!

Like most players, Davion is at his best when he sees regular playing time, and he played well in all three of the Kings recent wins.

I would be remiss if I didn't mention the recent change in the Kings effort on defense. Davion Mitchell brings it every game, and his ferocious defensive style is contagious. When Davion disappeared for games at a time, getting no playing time, the defense struggled. Collectively the Kings have been getting better every game as their defense is currently at the best I've seen all season.

The Kings implausible nine blocked shots in the first half of the Maverick's game is without a doubt a record for most blocks in a half for this team, and one notable standout was none other than Keegan Murray. Three blocked shots against Luka Doncic in the first half set the tone for the game, and although the Mavericks made it closer than was necessary, the Kings defense rose to the occasion, and truly was the principal reason for the victory.

If we have learned anything about this team, it is that they can beat any team in the NBA on any given night, and further, if they decide to bring their defense to the court, they can win any game!

As the Kings continue on their seven-game road trip, I will watch with interest the reinvigorated Harrison Barnes, and watch to see if Davion Mitchell and Trey Lyles will continue to get extended minutes on the hardwood. These are absolute keys!

If Monte McNair can somehow add a player that can be a contributor to this team, I say all the better. Don't be too surprised if ultimately we stand relatively pat, as we did last year, making one move that proved to produce little to the equation.

Regardless, enjoy this team. This group has great leadership in Sabonis and Fox, and as the rest rally around them, great things can yet happen.

Stay tuned for an exciting second half, and if you like what you've read let me know your thoughts at vgharriskingsfan@gmail.com.

Until next time, GO KINGS!!

Grant Funds Awarded to Help Citrus Farmers Enhance Pollinator Habitat

The California Farm Bureau and its partners have received $5 million from the California Department of Food and Agriculture to implement climate-smart farming practices in citrus groves in 11 counties. The project, which is part of CDFA's Healthy Soils Block Grant Pilot Program, will focus on hedgerow planting, carbon sequestration and soil management practices, all of which create safe pollinator habitat in citrus groves. It will fund citrus groves in Fresno, Imperial, Kern, Kings, Riverside, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Tulare, San Diego, Placer and Ventura counties.

UC Davis Launches Center to Study Cultivated Meat and Proteins

The University of California, Davis, is establishing a new Integrative Center for Alternative Meat and Protein. The center will work toward large-scale commercialization and technological advancement of alternative proteins, including cultivated meat from animal cells grown in large fermentors, plant- and fungal-based foods and hybrids that combine conventional meat products with alternative proteins. The world's demand for meat is expected to increase 50% to 100% over the next 25 years, said Center Director David Block.

Research Takes Aim at Using Farm Byproducts for Fuels and More

University of California researchers are sharing new findings on how to access the sugars locked up in plant materials to convert byproducts into new feedstocks to produce fuels, materials and chemicals. The findings, published in the journal Green Chemistry, can help lower the technological barrier and make it easier for the sustainable conversion of plant material, including agricultural byproducts, said Tina Jeoh, a professor of biological and agricultural engineering at the University of California, Davis, which led research on the project.

USDA Announces $207 Million Effort to Boost Fertilizer, Renewable Energy Production

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will invest $207 million in renewable energy and domestic fertilizer projects in an attempt to lower energy bills, generate new income and strengthen competition for U.S. farmers, ranchers and agricultural producers. The plan was announced by Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack at the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Salt Lake City. Vilsack said the investments "will expand access to renewable energy infrastructure and increase domestic fertilizer production."

Former Farm Bureau Manager Arrested

Story by Susan Meeker

COLUSA, CA (MPG) - The former executive manager of the Colusa County Farm Bureau was arrested last week for allegedly stealing from the organization that exists to protect, promote, and enhance the agricultural industry through community involvement, advocacy, and education.

Police Colusa Department Lt. Sara Martin said Monica Sankey, 38, was arrested on Jan. 16, following a fivemonth investigation that began last summer, which led to Sankey's termination of employment when the alleged embezzlement was first discovered.

Martin said after being contacted by the Colusa

County Farm Bureau regarding their suspicions, it was quickly determined that a significant amount of funds had been embezzled internally.

After a lengthy review of various financial records, a warrant for Sankey's arrest was issued, Martin said.

Sankey was appointed to the executive management position by the Colusa County Farm Bureau in 2021, after the former longtime manager retired.

Sankey helped organize the nonprofit's fundraisers, as well as organized other fundraisers for local causes, including a destination photoshoot in Colusa County for a terminally ill girl in 2020.

Sankey was taken into custody and booked on one felony charge of embezzlement at the Colusa County Jail and released on $10,000 bail.

Martin said the investigation remains ongoing, and if anyone has any relevant information regarding this case, they are instructed to call the Colusa Police Department at (530) 458-7777.

An Emergency Fund Isn't About Instant Gratification

Dear Dave,

We've all our debts paid off, except for our home, and our fully funded emergency fund of six months of expenses is in place. In talking to people, it seems there are lots of different opinions as to what constitutes an emergency. What guidelines do you suggest when deciding whether to use our emergency fund?

- Ingrid

Dear Ingrid,

Here are three things to ask yourself when you're tempted to dip into your emergency fund. One, is it unexpected? Things like Christmas, birthdays and even certain bills come around at the same time every year. If you're not already budgeting for these things, it's time to start.

MPG)

Dave Ramsey Says

Otherwise, you might use your emergency fund for something that's just the result of poor planning.

Number two, is it absolutely necessary? Most of us think we know the difference between needs and wants, but sometimes the line gets a little blurry. If your car goes completely kaput, and you need transportation, use your emergency fund to buy something affordable and reliable you can pay cash for. But don't dip into your emergency fund just to upgrade your good car for one with a million bells and whistles. That's a want, not a need.

And three, is it urgent? Sometimes, you have act like a grown-up. Every idea that pops into your mind isn't unexpected, necessary or urgent. You can live that way if you want, but the result will be a quickly depleted emergency fund. Then, what're you going to do when a real emergency comes along?

Practice the art of patience. Avoid impulse buys. Urgent things include stuff like a broken air conditioner in the middle of summer, a busted transmission or sudden, unexpected medical expenses. A big sale at Wal Mart? No. Concert tickets? Definitely not. That great new pair of shoes you just saw in a store window? Give me a break!

Your emergency fund is about long-term security, not instant gratification. Don't use it on a whim. But don't be afraid to use it when you really need to!

Defendant Sentenced for Drive-By Shooting Murder

Sacramento County District Attorney News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Honorable James McFetridge sentenced Devonte White to life in prison without the possibility of parole. On June 13, 2023, a jury convicted White of first-degree murder and felon in possession of a firearm. The jury also found true the special circumstance that in the commission of the murder, White intentionally and personally discharged a firearm from a motor vehicle causing death.

On January 25, 2022, Matthew Keen was murdered on the front porch of his residence in a targeted drive-by shooting.

WE SUPPORT

FIRST RESPONDERS

He was shot at eight times and hit three times. Surveillance video showed a vehicle passing the victim, making a U-turn, passing the victim a second time before backing up and the driver shooting the victim at point blank. A stolen handgun was located at Devonte White's apartment. The District Attorney's Crime Lab matched the gun to expended shell casings on scene and in the car used in the shooting. White's DNA was also located on the firearm. Two weeks prior to the murder, White got into an argument with people the victim was with at a market near the victim's residence. White left the scene and returned with a firearm that he brandished at the victim.

Gearing Up for the 59th Colusa Farm Show

The Colusa Farm Show, billed as the "granddaddy" of farm trade expositions on the west coast, will open for its three-day run, Tuesday, Feb. 6, 2024, at the Colusa County Fairgrounds, 1303 10th St., in Colusa, to provide farmers and ranchers one-stop shopping for all agriculturerelated services. COLUSA, CA (MPG) The Colusa County Fairgrounds will welcome visitors to the 2024 Colusa County Farm Show, Feb. 6-8.

Sponsored by the 44th District Agriculture Association and organized by a committee of local farmers and businessmen, the Colusa Farm Show will be the focal point of activity for the agriculture industry in Northern California.

"The Colusa Farm Show always has the newest and most innovative technology," said Farm Show Committee Chairman Joe Steidlmayer, who is working alongside Joe Steidlmayer, Terry Bressler, Susan Gibbs, Shawn Hedleston, Justine Hedleston, John Loudon, Nancy Loudon, Gina Moresco, Kasey O'Brien, Bill Rohde. Patti Turner, and Elizabeth Harper to bring in the 59th installment of a show that offers visitors the opportunity to scout out the latest advancements in farm equipment and agriculture-related services.

Visitors will be greeted at the rain-or-shine Colusa Farm Show by manufacturers and retailers of farm equipment and other vendors, who provide onestop shopping for all farm services.

While the show will be somewhat smaller than in recent years, Steidlmayer said no one is expected to notice among the sweepers, sprayers, combines, tractors, shakers, scrapers, tillers, mowers, risers, and farm vehicles that will be on display outdoors. Farm credit and banking services, nursery and seed suppliers, water, soil and conservation experts, insurance agencies, and other service providers will hold court inside and outside the exhibit buildings.

Gates will be open 9 AM to 4 PM, Feb. 6-7 at the Colusa County Fairgrounds, 1303 10th St., Colusa. Gates will be open 9 AM to 3 PM on Thursday, Feb. 8, the final day of the show.

Food concessions stands are located near the front entrance and inside Festival Hall. Free parking and free admission.
