Lions Leave the Jungle

These Lions are ready to take on the world after graduation!

Story and photos by Seti Long

LIVE OAK, CA (MPG) - Friday night, 8 p.m., and the town of Live Oak is quiet... except for the roar of noise coming from Arostegui Stadium and Live Oak High School's Class of 2024 Graduation.

Live Oak High School is known for its rousing graduation ceremonies where families and friends are encouraged to cheer on their graduates as long as they are respectful of others.

This year was no different. Live Oak High School Principal Tony Walton emceed the evening, welcoming guests to "the jungle" as the Class of 2024 made its way onto the field to the Guns n' Roses song of the same name ("Welcome to the Jungle"). Respecting the diversity of the community, a welcome was recited in three languages, English, Punjabi and Spanish, before Class President Vanessa Perez, Salutatorian Jasmeen Bassi, and Valedictorians Katherine Hutchinson and Amanvir

Singh spoke to the large crowd.

The Class of 2024 boasted about their excellence in athletics with the boys' soccer team taking section championships in 2021 and 2022, the girls' soccer team section championship in 2023, girls' tennis being undefeated in league in 2023, championships in girls' tracks in 2023 and back-to-back section championships in girls' wrestling for years 2021, 2022 and 2023.

In addition, the Class of 2024 took a huge sense of pride in the cumulative 5,039 hours of community service they performed.

Live Oak High School Class of 2024 had the distinction of starting their high school career on Zoom due to the Covid-19 pandemic, overcoming the many challenges that presented over the following four years.

Perez said, "High school has been more than just stressful classes and exams. It has been a state of self-discovery, growth and unforgettable memories. Continued on page 8

Butte County's Quality of Life In Jeopardy

By Mickey Mrakuzic

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Butte County Board of Supervisors are exploring a one-cent sales tax measure on the Nov. 5, 2024 ballot and are asking for feedback.

The Herald attended one of the hosted meetings on May 15 to learn about the county's budget challenges and impacts. In attendance were Butte County Chief Administrative Officer Andy Pickett, Butte County Library Director Misty Wright, and CAL FIRE and Sheriff's Office representatives.

With Pickett's experience preparing Butte County's budgets, he expressed concern that the costs of administering services such as staffing the Sheriff's Office and correctional officers in Butte County are increasing faster than incoming revenue.

Year after year, the Governor's Office creates unfunded mandates causing the budget to be stretched thin. The Governor's Office also transfers revenue from counties back to the state to cover the state's deficit.

When Proposition 13 was passed in 1978, it limited county government's ability to increase property taxes. The increases were capped at two percent each year. Because of Proposition 13, the growth of revenues hasn't kept up with the cost of services, which caused a gap in the yearly budget.

When creating Butte County's yearly budget, the gap in revenue requires cuts in services for the budget to be balanced. The county previously balanced the budget by combining similar programs, cutting non-mandated services, and cutting or reducing support services. Public safety was also reduced but still maintained core services.

After implementing all these measures throughout the years, Pickett said, the county has nothing left to eliminate to balance the budget without serious cuts to public safety. The possible cuts are closing fire stations; decreasing deputy sheriffs, probation officers and prosecutors; and eliminating the whole library system. This is Continued on page 3

Biggs Graduation Reflects Small-Town Community

BIGGS, CA (MPG) - When a graduation begins with the students walking up into the bleachers to present a rose to their mothers, you know you're in a small, community-minded town. So it is in Biggs, where teachers, family and friends came to honor the hard work, dedication and character of its newest Biggs High School graduates.

The celebratory atmosphere could be seen in the candy, cash and memory necklaces, the honorary sashes and cords, the highly-decorated graduation caps and the sunglasses. After all, the graduates faced the setting sun.

Valedictorian Adeline Scott spoke and recalled the resilience of her classmates, "The Class of 2024 exudes the ability to adapt. ...Our educational journey was paused during the Oroville Dam evacuation, the devastating Camp Fire, and, as we all recall so vividly, the COVID pandemic."

She gave credit to their small town: "This creation of community and connection indeed arise from living in such a small town, getting to know most of you on a deeper level outside of the classroom."

The New Pi-Line

By Josh F.W. Cook

Butte College (the illustrious Alma Mater of this columnist) won the Northern California Bowl and now the Roadrunners have seen 17 players recruited to Division I College Football schools. Cornerback Malcolm Dewalt signed with D-I University of Akron, cornerback Marvelous Owens signed with D-I Western Kentucky, defensive lineman Dylan Labarbera signed with D-I University of Nevada, linebacker Gabe Foster and safety Cameron Carr signed with NAIA Southern Oregon, and defensive back Malcolm Colquitte has signed with Arizona Christian. One key take-away from this story is that I will urge my daughters to name the next male grandchild Marvelous.

This column has become a go-to source for information about the best restaurants in the community. This week, there is no specific restaurant review per se; nonetheless, here is some culinary advice that everyone could use: any taco truck that offers hotdogs is not really a taco truck. The same is true of any hamburger joint that offers tacos; it is not a real taco stand. Mexican food can only be paired with other ethnic foods in specific ways, done improperly, it cancels itself out.

Other Butte College football news is much sadder. NFL Hall of Famer and former Butte College Roadrunner Larry Allen died at age 52. Much too young, truly sad.

If you're looking for a fun summer getaway road trip, go to the monastery in Vina. The Abbey of New Clairvaux is a rural Trappist monastery located just over the county line on HWY 99. The vineyards and orchards were once owned by Leland Stanford. They have wines that are beating the wines from Napa at wine contests. As I am not one to imbibe (drink booze), I go for the religious experience and their other farm wares, like honey. The most interesting thing is their stone Spanish church building from the 1200s (1235 is the year it was dedicated). Long story short - The Spanish government stole their church in 1835 and sold it. Stones from the Abbey of Santa María de Óvila (Chapter House and other parts) were sold to William Randolph Hearst for $96,500. The church made up 11 cargo ship shiploads and arrived in San Francisco in 1931. An odd series of events, including WWII and an earthquake, left the stones sitting in piles in Golden Gate Park. In 1995, the Monks got them back and started figuring out how to put them together; it was not until 2013 that they opened the completed building. It is the only place in California to visit a historic European church. Starting with Vigils at 3:30 a.m., the monks pray in their old church seven times a day.

expectations for me and my classmates is high, because I know we can do anything we put our minds to.”

She added, “The future’s bright for all of us and I can’t wait to see it come to life.”
Angela McLean attended the graduation with her husband, Josh, and several family and friends to watch her son, Chase, graduate. McLean was also a Biggs High School graduate, along with five of her siblings. With all three of her children graduating from Biggs High School, she sees the benefits of a small town and high school.
“When we moved to Biggs, the kids noticed the difference, that it is like a family here,” McLean said. “People care for each other and watch out for each other.”
McLean sees other benefits: students can participate in a variety of activities, such as sports, FFA and leadership. Also, living close to the school is convenient, especially in a family emergency.
Chase is McLean’s last child to graduate from Biggs High School.
“The biggest shock will be not having the sporting events to go to,” she said. They will miss the travel ball, the sports camps, and washing uniforms. “Not being in the bleachers,” added McLean, “will be the hardest thing.” Instead, she said, they will be traveling to visit their children, who will be out-of-state college students.

McLean especially enjoys seeing the generational element of the Biggs community.
“Some of the students are the fourth and fifth generation in their family to graduate from Biggs,” McLean said. “Parents, grandparents and great-grandparents are at sporting events talking about their own memories competing for Biggs, even singing the fight song with the crowd.”

When asked about her son's class, the Class of 2024, McLean noted that five of its sports teams played in a section championship game: football, boys’ basketball, softball, baseball and girls’ wrestling, with the boys’ basketball team winning section championship. She added that they are intelligent, hardworking and supportive of each other.
Before presenting the Declaration of Completion, Superintendent Doug Kaelin spoke to the 23 graduates saying, “I wish each and every one of you a productive life, the respect of your fellow human beings and the love of your families.” ★

Parade of Grads

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - A tradition is spreading throughout our area – Graduate Parades.

As multiple high schools in our area wrap another school year and send a new batch of young adults out into the world, graduates are taking the time to visit their beginnings, both reminiscing on their educational paths and inspiring their younger counterparts.

Live Oak High School has visited Luther Elementary School for years before their graduation, Manzanita Elementary School has started doing the same with their eighth-grade graduates, and now for the second year in a row, Gridley High School has followed suit.

Thursday, May 30, Gridley High School seniors dressed in their caps and gowns and visited their alma maters of McKinley, Wilson and Sycamore schools. The students at the respective schools lined the hallways or playgrounds, giving the seniors high fives and cheering them on as they passed by.

According to Gridley High School Leadership Advisor Jennifer Davidson, seniors delivered letters of appreciation to their past teachers and took a moment to take photos with younger siblings or former teachers.

Students at Sycamore Schools even made banners for seniors that they knew, wishing them luck at their future colleges and in their endeavors.
Gridley High School hopes to continue this tradition in years to come. ★

Remembering Ms. G

Gridley's McKinley Elementary School staff and community came out to celebrate the life of teacher Stephanie Gualandi at a memorial walk last week. Photo provided by McKinley School

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - On Thursday, May 30, McKinley Elementary School students, Gridley Unified School District staff, the community and family of Stephanie Gualandi paid tribute to the special education teacher who recently lost her battle with cancer.

Gualandi taught at McKinley Elementary School for nine years and was described as a devoted teacher with a passion for serving her special needs students. Fellow McKinley School teacher Stephanie Olson said that Gualandi constantly advocated for her students and strived to connect with both mainstream and special needs children.

Gridley Unified School District Superintendent Justin Kern said in an email that everyone thought that Gualandi was winning the battle with cancer when she suddenly lost the battle. Gualandi was just 31 years old when she passed.

Olson organized a walk in remembrance of Gualandi's legacy and to acknowledge the impact that she had on all their lives.

"I think we needed closure," said Olson. "She was a very special person to our community and the kids that she served."

At 4:30 p.m., a large group gathered in front of McKinley Elementary School, some wearing light green and green ribbons to represent the cancer that took Gualandi too early. Superintendent Kern and McKinley Elementary School Principal Rhiannon Treat took a moment to speak about the teacher before setting out.

The walk took a route around both Sycamore and McKinley campuses, ending on the playground at McKinley. There, students enjoyed cool treats and a variety of games. Gualandi's husband and family were present, thanking everyone for coming out to honor the life of Gualandi.

For some, emotions ran high but it was clear that the woman had touched many lives both in the schools and within the community. ★

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - When Rotarians honor their own, they also reach out to honor community members who are dedicated and selfless community volunteers. This year, they honored four service-minded area residents.

Liz Ayon, Gridley High School English teacher, is also the advisor for the Gridley High School Interact Club. Sponsored by the Rotary Club, Interact encourages students to reach out and serve in the community. For example, Interact members worked to beautify the fairgrounds during Volunteer Day in April. Clark Redfield, Rotary president, said of the students, "What an amazing group of kids, polite and considerate." He remembered that when they attended a Rotary luncheon, they didn't leave without first helping clear tables.

Madison Albani, Gridley High School ag teacher, was honored for taking the school's ag program from a quality program to a superior program. She is also the ag department chair and helped bring new teachers into the program.

Diane Wilkerson was honored for her dedication to multiple community efforts: the fair, activities and programs for children and youth, and helping families in need. Redfield remembered that when he first arrived in Gridley to take the position of Gridley Unified School District superintendent, he attended a picnic at Wilson School. As he walked through the students and adults, Wilkerson approached him and asked, "Who are you?" They became acquainted and Redfield quickly learned the force for good that she is.

Annette Boone was honored for her well-known community service. She was particularly involved in the Camp Fire response, helping families in their recovery efforts.

Paul Harris founded Rotary International in 1905. Each year, Rotary honors its members who have donated $1,000 to the club or multiples thereof with the Paul Harris Award. This year, Steve Stark, Gabriel Ruiz and Jackson Glick received their first award. Ravi Aujla, Milt Brown, Jay Croy, Joe Hughes, Heather Payne, Howard Hamman and Kory Hamman received their "plus" awards, having donated multiples of $1,000.

Redfield is finishing his year as Gridley Rotary president. Lynne Spencer, president-elect, will assume leadership July 11. Rotary meets Thursdays at noon at the Gridley Presbyterian Church. why the Board of Supervisors suggested the idea of a one-cent sales tax.

According to Pickett, the proposed one-cent sales tax will generate enough revenue to stop the reduction of these services.

Pickett also stated all fire stations would be open and fully staffed, the Sheriff's Department would be fully staffed and libraries returned to full operating hours. Pickett said this revenue is 100% local and Sacramento cannot touch these funds.

The Board of Supervisors and county officials want to hear from residents so they created an online survey at bit.ly/ButteCoSurvey so you can say what is important to you. The officials also encourage you to share the survey with your friends and family, so they can hear from as many residents as possible. ★

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (855) 976-3916 or visit this Internet Website https://www.auction.com/sb1079, using the file number assigned to this case S.477-1196. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. For sales conducted after January 1, 2021: NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 976-3916, or visit this internet website https://www.auction.

That's a Pretty Good Deal

Dear Dave,

I'm in college full-time right now, and my parents have been generous enough to pay for some of my school expenses. In addition, they let me live at home while I complete my degree. I work some nights and most weekends so I can go to school debt-free, but I'm trying to figure out how to move out on my own and continue working, while remaining a full-time student and attending career-related campus events. The cost of living is high in our area, so I'm having trouble figuring out how to make it all work. Do you have some advice?

— Will

Dear Will

You sound like a very driven and mature young man. Congratulations on everything you've been able to accomplish so far. I'm glad you're working hard in school with an eye toward the future. First off, out of the three considerations you mentioned — school, work, and cost of living — I think you need to decide which is your number one priority. If I were in your shoes, school would come first.

Now, to go to school without borrowing money, you're going to have to keep working. But finishing school on time, while attending some of the extracurricular events that will move you toward your career, might pre-empt work. You'll have to work enough to pay for things, but if you can finish school and hit your academic and graduation goals while staying at home just a little bit longer? That sounds like a winner to me. It's a pretty nice deal your parents are offering, but I can understand your desire to be out on your own, too.

I want you to be out on your own as soon as you can, as well. But if you do that right now, you're going to have extra bills and be forced to work even more. That's going to throw your entire school process out of whack. Guess what your number one priority was in that scenario? Right, moving out. If it's the tail that's wagging the dog, it has become the number one priority. If it's disrupting work, and thereby disrupting your academics, then in my mind you've put your focus on the wrong thing.

Your number one goal should be finishing school on time, while attending as many connected events as possible. Meanwhile, keep working enough so that you're able to continue doing all this debt-free. If that means you're staying at home a little bit longer to pull it off, I'd do it!

Thoughts to Ponder

by Kathy Neal

Gridley United Methodist Church

What would you do with your final days? Jesus knew the day and the hour when His end would come, yet He walked with His followers and even fed thousands. He ate His last meal and washed the feet of His disciples.

People on death row have a final day and hour. They even get a final meal. What if you knew that day and hour?

Those who have died in car accidents, or sudden falls, or sudden serious illnesses didn't know. The people in the towers in New York only had minutes or maybe an hour to decide. But what if you received a notice giving you the date and time for your final time?

First panic, then disbelief, possibly anger, and then "what do I do now?" Think about it. You have been given a chance to repair relationships. Give extra hugs. Give away your stuff to help others. You can even make peace with your Maker. A massive choice has been given to you. How do you use it?

Take a few moments and give it some thought. Cry, scream, stomp your feet, then relax. God is in control. He has it all planned.

The Bible tells us He has the days and hours assigned to each of us. It is up to us to use that span the best way we can. Now you have an end date. Do all you can in that time to love your family and leave a lasting good memory of you.

Make a list of things you want to say. Leave a letter to each person who needs to hear from you. You can even make a video these days for social media. But first make things right with your Lord because you will need His mercy and grace very soon.

Repent and ask for forgiveness, then forgive those in your life that have wronged you. Remember this life is a steppingstone to eternity, Jesus is your Savior. Like the thief on the cross would use his last breathes and to ask Jesus to be with him. It is never too late!!!

We never know when will take our last breath. It may be so sudden we can't react. Make sure you are ready when it comes. Jesus is our way home.

We can all work on being ready when the time comes. We can do that with the help of the church and the people in it. Come to the Gridley United Methodist Church at 285 Magnolia Street. We worship every Sunday at 10 am. ★

We have had some summer temperatures this late spring. Even with that we are still experiencing the last of Spring things yet dealing with Summer-heat. The lady bugs have been busy in my fruit trees. I don't see aphids but the lady bugs are making certain I don't see them. The Praying Mantis egg cases are empty. I missed the hatch but I will see the survivors when they are bigger. I still think we should call these insects Preying Mantis.

My husband and I went out to a fish and water plant business pass Butte Collage. They had Bull Frog polliwogs. I so wanted one or two or three. My pond is not big enough for several Bull Frogs so I resisted. I do miss their night music. I do have the little brown frogs and they have a great croak that is almost like a cartoon "ribbit."

Our asparagus has been yummy this year. I always think of it as an early Spring vegetable but the variety we have seems to go right up to summer with producing spears. No complaints about that. The artichokes are also doing very well with a minimum of bugs so far. Some type of tiny beetle has been showing up between the leaves but they are easy to wash out. I hate when the aphids get in there. So far, no aphids in them.

A friend of mine was a reader of this column before I met her. She had convinced her brother in El Paso to read it. She is also the person whose son gave me the baby toads. I was so happy to meet her son and her brother who was visiting from El Paso at Red Suspenders Days. So fun to meet new people who like all the things I like and more. ★

Billy's been a busy guy ever since he became the official town dog here. Sally had been the town dog until she passed away on Doc's porch, and then Billy's owner died just two weeks after that, so it was something of a natural progression. Sometimes offices are filled without an election.

The high school wood shop boys built Billy a dog house next to the school crossing, but Billy preferred Aunt Ada's couch in the cold months and a nice dog depression under an oak tree when it's warm.

Billy was making the rounds this morning. He had snacks at the Gates

"I'm glad you came over today ... Billy"

of Heaven Chinese café (back door, of course) and the Mule Barn truck stop, and conned a granola bar out of some kids just leaving the convenience store. Then he headed down the main street, turned right at the drug store, and ended up at the The Rest of Your Life Retirement Home. A brief scratching and whining gave him access, and he cruised around, being petted and loved, until he found Pop Walker.

Pop can remember what happened in World War II right down to the mess hall menu, but he has a tough time with names and whether he's had breakfast today or not.

"Uh ...?" Pop looked at the lady in the nurse's uniform.

"I'm Jean, Pop."

"Oh sure ... Jean, okay

if I go outside with the dog?"

"Only in the back yard, Pop. Okay?"

He grinned. "Okay."

Pop and Billy walked around back there for a while, and Pop found a stick and threw it for Billy a few times. Then they went to a bench in the shade and Billy laid his head on Pop's knee and got some free ear rumples.

Pop looked down at the dog.

"I'm glad you came over today ... Billy," Pop said.

Pop remembers World War II, also.

Analysis: Escalating China Trade Tensions Could Impact California Agriculture

A trade war with China could have significant impacts on California agriculture, according to an analysis by economists at University of California, Davis, and North Dakota State University. The Biden administration recently increased tariffs on Chinese electric vehicles, solar cells and other products. If tensions result in the U.S. revoking China's Permanent Normal Trade Relations status, the analysis said that could lead to a 9.5% increase in China's agricultural import tariffs—resulting in $1 billion in trade losses for California farmers and ranchers.

Newsom Administration Stands by Proposed Delta Tunnel Despite Surging Costs

The projected cost for a long-planned water tunnel system for the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta has increased from an estimated $16 billion in 2020 to $20.1 billion, according to a new estimate this month. Yet the Newsom administration argues the controversial Delta Conveyance Project would provide significant cost benefits by modernizing the State Water Project with new conveyance infrastructure. The Department of Water Resources said the project, if operational, would have captured an additional 909,000 acre-feet of water since Jan. 1.

Inspectors Test Dairy Cattle at Facilities Impacted by Avian Bird Flu

Federal authorities have conducted tests on beef tissue from 96 cull dairy cows, which were condemned at facilities inspected by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Services. In a news release, the USDA said samples from 95 cows tested negative for H5N1 Avian influenza, the bird flu that has spread to dairy cows. The USDA said viral tissues were found in one cow and that no meat from the inspected cattle entered the food supply. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said two U.S. dairy workers were reported infected as of May 24.

California Organic Fertilizer Project to Benefit From USDA Investment

The U.S. Department of Agriculture this month announced it is investing $83 million in domestic fertilizer production in hopes of spurring economic growth in rural communities and increasing competition in agricultural markets. The new funding from the Fertilizer Production Expansion Program includes a $25 million grant to build and equip a food waste upcycling facility in Riverside County's Jurupa Valley that will use insects to recycle food waste into organic nutrient fertilizer. Projects in 12 states are intended to increase independent fertilizer production. ★

We’ve navigated through the difficulties of adolescence, balancing academics with extracurriculars, sports, jobs and our social lives. We’ve learned from our successes and also our mistakes. We’ve discovered our passions, strengthened our skills and formed bonds that will last a lifetime.”
Bassi added, “I think I speak on the behalf of everyone here when I say we are fortunate to learn from teachers who not only provided us an education but take the time to connect with students and inspire us to pursue our dreams.”
The first valedictorian of the evening to speak, Singh related to the crowd a game of chess he had been playing earlier with Principal Walton. Singh was not faring well. After close examination, Singh discovered that the game he thought he was hopelessly losing could be turned around by one single move. Implementing that move, the tides turned and he was suddenly winning. Singh reminded his classmates that it was the same with life, saying, “We all had these challenges throughout our years but each time, all it took was one move in the right direction. That one move led us to our success, triumph and the happy memories we had along the way.” He continued, “Just remember, regardless of what challenges you might face in the next chapter of your lives, you’re always one move from victory.”

Valedictorian Hutchison was the last to speak before diplomas were handed out. She said, “If I were to impart one thing to the people here today, it would be this: take initiative. Thank the people you’re grateful for, tell your loved ones you love them. Fight for the things and people that you believe in.”
Hutchison ended with, “I wish you all nothing more than the greatest happiness throughout your life. It might be naive but I truly believe in our futures. And if it’s a choice, I’ll choose optimism every time.”
With that, each student crossed the stage, taking their diploma in hand while Principal Walton shared their future plans with the crowd, and they reunited with their classmates one last time before heading off into their future. ★

Live Oak Football Locks In Bulldogs Knocked Out

Live Oak football players work out as Lions’ strength and conditioning coach T.J. Newsom looks on during the midnight workout session on Saturday, June 1.

Story and photos by Steven Bryla

LIVE OAK, CA (MPG) - The Live Oak Lions football team grinded out an all-night affair for bonding that is going to put them above their competition in the 2024 football season.
A couple of hours after the 2024 class graduation in the football stadium, the Live Oak football team began its focus on the upcoming football season that begins in the final weekend of August.
The Lions varsity football team held a lock-in night for the first time in program history in hopes of building camaraderie and bonding together as a unit.
Live Oak players prepared their sleeping arrangements in the campus gym with sleeping bags, air mattresses, televisions, gaming consoles and coolers/tables for snacks.
The Lions made their way over to the weight room shortly before midnight on Saturday, June 1, where they had a high-intensity team workout for a little over an hour and 15 minutes. Following the workout, the Live Oak players filtered back into the gym for the remaining hours of the morning where they would lock themselves inside the gymnasium and bond over multiple activities that included pick-up basketball games, video games, cornhole matches, chatting with one another and simply playing catch with a football.
Lions head coach Robert Tilton told the Herald that he saw an original idea of building camaraderie through shared misery through the Netflix documentary on the University of Florida that came out in 2023.
Tilton added that he isn’t a fan of continuous misery with no reward because in many cases people will get tired of it and quit.
“If I’m able to give both ends of the spectrum between shared misery and fun together, then we have the means of building that complete camaraderie between everyone,” Tilton said.
Live Oak strength and conditioning coach T.J. Newsom, who was the defensive coordinator/defensive backs coach for Yuba College in 2023, had the Lions working hard during the workout and he made sure they were loud and proud about it.
The energy was felt throughout the weightroom between the switching of stations. Following the weight training session, it was time for the fun part as the Live Oak head coach Robert Tilton plays a game of cornhole during the Lions’ first ever lock-in bond night on Saturday, June 1.

Live Oak players would be inside the gym for the next six-plus hours of having fun.
As mentioned in the different options mentioned earlier, there were plenty of smiles, bonding and competitive fun-trash talk going throughout the gym as the hours unfolded.
2025 quarterback Aaron Rogers and 2025 running back Mario Williams expressed to the Herald that they felt at the end of the season like the team could have been better bonded and were both excited about the opportunity of spending more time with their teammates.
Rogers and Williams told the Herald they were hoping to gain a lot more trust with their teammates throughout the night as the Lions were all there doing something none of their competition was doing.
2025 guard T.J.Ehrke told the Herald that he hoped the night they shared brought everyone on the roster together so they could be closer as a team.
Ehrke added that they made significant strides through last season, but said with more time with one another they will continue to add success.
“We’re going to be more united as one,” Ehrke said.
Live Oak players enjoyed a catered breakfast from Huckleberry’s in the morning where they ended their time with one another for the night.
The Lions open the 2024 football season with a home game on Friday, August 30, against a former Northern Section foe in the Wheatland Pirates. ★

Gridley senior pitcher/infielder Emmet Smallwood (12) throws a pitch in the Bulldogs’ 6-4 loss to Oakmont on Tuesday, May 28.

Story by Steven Bryla, photos by Aaron Jackson

ROSEVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Gridley Bulldogs baseball season came to an end as they were defeated in the opening round of the CIF NorCal Division IV play-offs 6-4 by the top-seeded Oakmont Vikings on Tuesday, May 28.
Gridley could not have started the game any better as they put up four runs in the first inning, and they all came with two outs.
Bulldogs sophomore third baseman Jason Davis Jr. hit a two run-batted-in (RBI) single that was followed up by junior shortstop Gus Stogsdill, who smacked a two-run RBI to give Gridley their only runs of the game.
Bulldogs sophomore pitcher Tanner Abbott got through the first inning with no trouble.
The Gridley lineup was able to manage three more hits through the next six innings as Oakmont senior pitcher Ayden Dringenberg was in the zone and pitched a complete game.
Dringenberg gave up six total hits, three walks and struck out six.
In the bottom of the second, they took a 5-4 lead and it was all Oakmont for the rest of the game.
Abbott was relieved in the third inning by senior pitcher Emmet Smallwood, who came in and shut down the Vikings’ hitting lineup for the final four innings.
Smallwood surrendered only two hits and one run, and he struck out three hitters. Smallwood was able to get a hit at the plate.

Gridley sophomore pitcher Tanner Abbott (5) tosses a pitch during the Bulldogs’ 6-4 defeat on Tuesday, May 28.

Quinn Spring told the Herald that he is proud of his team for the accomplishments they have repeated this season as going back-to-back as the Northern Section Division III champions and winning the first Butte View League title in the program since the 2018 season.
“I told the guys how lucky and fortunate they have been the last couple of seasons as when I was a student here, it wasn’t possible like that,” Spring said.
Spring is an alumnus of Gridley from 2016, and in his tenure as a member of the Bulldogs, they reached the NSCIF Division III title and were defeated in the finals in the same year.

Spring told the Herald of the seniors graduating this week that he is proud of them and excited to see them become good young men in the future.
Spring said that if the guys continue working in the future, they will continue to be successful and will build new traditions for the Gridley baseball program. ★
