Office of Governor Gavin Newsom News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Much of interior California entered its fourth day of temperatures reaching 110 degrees or higher on July 5 and most areas weren't expected to see relief until early next week. Governor Gavin Newsom urged Californians on July 5 to take precautions and directed an all-hands response to the heatwave by state California through the week. The National Weather Service forecasted an Extreme Heat Risk for many parts of the state, with hot conditions between 105 and 118 degrees, and little overnight relief.

Extreme heat kills more Americans every year than all other extreme weather, including wildfires and flooding.

"California is in the middle of a record heatwave and now is not the time to let our guard down. We must remain vigilant: stay cool, stay hydrated and check in on loved ones and neighbors," Newsom said.

Office of Emergency Services deployed in-language preparedness messaging to California's most impacted communities and those who might be most at risk during extreme temperatures, including those 65 years of age or older; individuals with chronic illness, disabilities or who are pregnant.

The Office of Community Partnerships and Strategic Communications deployed in-language messaging to higher risk communities through Heat Ready CA, which includes a network of community organizations and outreach to ethnic media. Through the state's Priority Populations Task Force, the Office of Emergency Services convenes more than 20 agencies to coordinate state and local resources and share information with the public, identify and Continued on page 3

Californians Affected by Wildfire Smoke Should Take Steps to Protect Their Health

California Department of Public Health News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - With wildfire smoke and reduced air quality affecting many California communities, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) is urging Californians to take steps to protect themselves from air pollutants. Wildfire smoke can affect anyone's health, but some people are at higher risk, including pregnant people, children, older adults, first responders, and people with chronic conditions like asthma, COPD, diabetes, kidney disease or heart disease.

"All Californians should be aware of the risks of wildfire smoke and ash inhalation and take steps to avoid breathing in pollutants, including reducing outdoor activity and staying indoors when possible," said Dr. Tomás J. Aragón, California Department of Public Health Director and State Public Health Officer. "Wildfire smoke can make anyone sick, but it's particularly unhealthy for vulnerable individuals, including children, people who are pregnant, and those with chronic health conditions."

About two weeks ago, the governor directed the Office of Emergency Services (OES) to activate its State Operations Center and move into Phase II of its Extreme Temperature Response Plan. This action ensures a 24/7, coordinated, whole-of-government response to the heatwave.

MikesPlayground, a nonprofit organization dedicated to fostering inclusivity for special needs children, is gearing up to transform parks in Citrus Heights and the greater Sacramento area into havens of accessible play.

Through educational workshops, recreational activities, and support services, the organization aims to support underserved families and ensure every child can experience the joy of playing in a welcoming and supportive environment.

"We are bridging the gap between abled and disabled," said Founder and CEO Aurelia Walker. "We have to help those who can't help themselves, those who can't speak for themselves. My mission is to have California be the first state with all-inclusive parks."

MikesPlayground collaborates closely with Sunrise Parks & Recreation to acquire parks where it implements its inclusive, ADA compliant, playground projects. All funds raised through donations are deposited into a designated account specifically allocated for purchasing playground equipment. This process involves bidding from local contractors, ordering, and eventually installing the equipment within selected parks.

To fund its ambitious projects, MikesPlayground is gearing up for their inaugural fundraiser on Aug. 24 at San Juan Park located at 5509 Mariposa Ave. in Citrus Heights. The event promises a vibrant lineup including raffles, guest speakers, special recognitions to the Citrus Heights Police and Fire Department, comedians, musical acts, and a variety of food vendors offering everything from carnival-style treats to healthy options and culinary delights from the Brazilian Center of Cultural Exchange of Sacramento. To avoid possible health problems due to wildfire smoke and poor air quality, California Department of Public Health recommends taking the following steps:

Stay informed. Check the air quality and sign up for updates. Californians can check their local air quality index (AQI) at AirNow.

Stay indoors. If the air quality is bad, stay inside as much as possible and close all windows, doors and vents.

Adjust your A/C. Change the settings on your A/C unit to re-circulate or close outdoor air intakes to avoid drawing in smoky outdoor air. Running an air purifier can also help.

Wear a mask. If you must go outside, wear a well-fitting N95 mask. This is especially important for those who must work outdoors for long periods, in areas with heavy smoke.

California State Fair Honors the State's Agricultural Industry, with Much to See and Enjoy!

By Carol Feineman

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The 170th California State Fair offers 17 days of old-fashioned fun for the whole family, from July 12 to July 28.

Lucky for us that we don't have to drive too far; the first state fair sponsored by the California State Agricultural Society, was held in San Francisco on Oct. 4, 1854, and rotated to different cities for the next six years. In 1861, however, Sacramento became the permanent location for the extravaganza.

While today's California State Fair still honors the state's agricultural industry, there is much more to see and enjoy at the annual event.

Grand Jury Addresses Missile Site Contamination

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA, CA (MPG) - One of the 2023-2024 Placer County Grand Jury Final Consolidated Report's 13 individual reports addressed the trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination spreading today from a Lincoln Titan 1-A Missile Site that closed in 1965.

The 58 county grand juries, made up of interested community members, investigate operations of the various officers, departments and agencies of local government, according to California Courts, Judicial Council of California.

The grand jury is part of the county judicial system authorized by the California State Constitution.

What's striking about this year's report is that the grand jury took on the missile site's contamination that falls under the responsibility of a federal agency, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the state's Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board. The Water Board oversees what corrective actions the Army Corps will finally take to eliminate the TCE.

The areas which are not within Placer County Grand Jury jurisdiction include federal agencies and state agencies.

Yet the Placer County Grand Jury addressed today's contamination spreading into a Lincoln active-adult community from the missile site because "it is important to educate the citizens of Placer County about this issue. Cleanup of former military sites contaminated with toxic chemicals such as TCE is a lengthy process. The process typically involves assessments, cleanup plans and implementation, with involvement from multiple stakeholders. It is crucial to prioritize safety and effectiveness in these cleanup efforts."

From left, Lincoln City Councilman Bill Lauritsen, Ray Birge and Anne Constantin Birge, members of the grassroots Titan 1-A Missile Site Environmental Contamination and Remediation Committee, were looking at the number of the monitoring well to see what the trichloroethylene (TCE) levels have been over the years.

that the former Lincoln missile site "poses environmental health risks due to past activities, including chemical use, chemical spills and unexploded ordnance (military supplies such as weapons, rockets, or armor). The source of contamination is trichloroethylene (TCE), a solvent which was used to clean the liquid oxygen Rocket Propellant-1 piping and was discharged into the ground..."

The grand jury found that "Cleanup efforts will require soil remediation and groundwater monitoring to mitigate environmental impacts.

To date, no remediation efforts have been completed, resulting in health and environmental concerns from the community. Without cleanup efforts, the contamination poses a risk to the surrounding environment and public health. It is essential for proper authorities to prioritize and initiate cleanup efforts to address these potentially serious hazards. This remediation project underscores the importance of monitoring and managing environmental contamination at former military sites to ensure public safety and environmental preservation." A little history is in order. The 54 former intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) silo sites in California, Colorado, Wyoming and Washington built during the Cold War in the early 1960s were designed to destroy enemy targets anywhere around the world within an hour of launch.

The two-stage missiles were stored in underground silos and raised to ground level for launch, according to the Library of Congress. Furthermore, each complex consisted of three missile silos supported by a network of underground fuel storage tanks, equipment terminal, antennas and connecting tunnels.

Beale Air Force Base 851st Strategic Missile Squadron oversaw Northern California's triangle of Titan I missile silo complexes in Lincoln, Chico and Live Oaks.

Co-founder Anne Constantin Birge of the grassroots Titan 1-A Missile Site Environmental Contamination and Remediation Committee trying to speed up the cleanup process appreciated the grand jury report.

The report accurately stated that no remediation efforts have been completed, according to Birge.

"Many thanks to the members of the Placer County Grand Jury for succinctly and clearly putting the issues on the table for all to see," Birge said. "And, for the Water Board and United States Army Corps of Engineers to know, there are others watching them."

address unmet needs, and ensure comprehensive preparedness and response in support of Californians at greatest risk and coordinate with local jurisdictions.

Protecting Workers

The California Division of Occupational Safety and Health (Cal/OSHA) reminded employers to protect workers from heat illness during high temperatures by providing water, rest, shade and training.

Field inspectors are conducting targeted inspections at worksites where workers are most vulnerable to heat illness, including in agriculture and construction.

Details on heat illness prevention requirements and training materials are available online at 99calor.org. Cal/OSHA's heat illness prevention standard applies to all outdoor worksites.

The Government Operations Agency has coordinated messaging to all state employees on increased temperature preparedness and worked with building managers to reiterate state efficiencies during warmer days.

Protecting Public Health and Safety

The California Department of Public Health created a Heat and Summer Safety toolkit to provide resources and communication tools that can be shared, including the difference between heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

California Department of Public Health also develops heat guidance for schools, local health jurisdictions and other community service providers to protect Californians, particularly heat-vulnerable populations such as children, students, older adults, the unhoused, outdoor workers and those with existing health conditions.

Increasing Climate Resiliency

The California Natural Resources Agency and state climate partners are addressing longer-term impacts of climate change and extreme heat events through the Extreme Heat Action Plan to Build Community Resilience.

Efforts include resources for vulnerable and underserved communities, investments in shading communities through green schoolyards and urban forestry initiatives and putting nature-based solutions to work to cool buildings and infrastructure.

Stay cool (during the hottest times of the day). Those without air conditioning should consider going to a cooling center. Check out this list of cooling centers across the state or visit a public location such as a library or shopping mall. To find free transportation to cooling centers in certain areas, use this finder tool.

Avoid physical exertion or exercising outdoors.

Wear lightweight, light colored, loose clothing, hats, sunglasses and sunscreen.

Stay hydrated. Drink plenty of fluids, especially water, even when not thirsty; drink sports drinks (in moderation with water) to help replace electrolytes lost during exercise.

Avoid sugary, alcoholic, and very cold drinks.

Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables.

Stay connected. Monitor those at higher risk of heat-related illness including infants and young children; people 65 years of age or older; individuals with chronic illness, disabilities or who are pregnant. Determine risk at heatreadyca.com.

Californians are also encouraged to check on their neighbors – call or visit higher risk people and offer to pick up groceries, medication and other necessities. Older adults, young children and babies, people with chronic medical conditions and those who are pregnant are most at risk.

Use a buddy system when working in the heat.

As a precaution, keep all communication and medical devices charged.

Stay informed. Check for weather forecasts, extreme heat alerts and cooling centers at https://news.caloes.ca.gov/ coolingcenters/.

Stay safe outdoors. Warm summer weather is causing continued snow melt from winter's record snowpack, resulting in colder and faster water that continues today. Remember to always be safe around the water.

Make sure you and your loved ones wear properly fitting, U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jackets. Several public and private entities make life jackets available to the public on a loan basis.

Always supervise children by appointing a designated "water watcher." Know your limits. Swimming in a lake, ocean or river is different than swimming in a pool. If someone is in distress, seek help from a lifeguard or call 9-1-1 if one is not available. ★

the organization's park retrofitting efforts.

"This is all about love, it has to do with the heart," said Vice-President Roberto Thompson. "If you have a heart for your neighbor, a heart for your community, a heart for children, you are going to want to be a part of MikesPlayground because nothing makes people smile more than watching kids have fun."

MikesPlayground is actively pursuing a critical initiative to support families with children who rely on life-sustaining medical equipment, such as oxygen concentrators. Recognizing the vulnerability of these children during power outages, especially in emergencies or natural disasters, the organization aims to provide backup generators to ensure continuous operation of essential medical devices.

"This project, still in the research stage, originated from a personal experience," said Aurelia, "witnessing the challenges faced by my grandson dependent on an oxygen machine when power was lost due to the weather." The typical oxygen concentrator consumes approximately 350 watts per hour at its highest setting, prompting MikesPlayground to explore viable backup power solutions. Options such as the GEN-420, GEN-620, and GEN-820 generators are being evaluated for their capacity to provide emergency power ranging from 12 to 28 hours on a single charge, tailored to meet varying needs.

To assess demand and refine its approach, MikesPlayground is collaborating with Sacramento State University to conduct comprehensive surveys and gather data on the number of children in the Sacramento area requiring such life-saving equipment.

Looking ahead, MikesPlayground plans to host a convention and gala later in the year, aimed at engaging businesses and decision-makers in their cause. By building partnerships and securing sponsorships, the organization hopes to raise $300,000 to retrofit two parks, expanding their reach and impact across the region. To facilitate these gatherings, the City of Sacramento allowed the organization to host both its events at the Safe Credit Union Convention Center in downtown Sacramento, a recently renovated city-owned venue located at 1401 K Street.

MikesPlayground goes beyond creating inclusive playgrounds by actively supporting children in developing essential life skills.

"They can do it like everyone else," Roberto said. "It might just take them longer and require a little more attention."

In the future, the organization aspires to build homes equipped with specialized amenities to meet the needs of families caring for children with medical dependencies. This visionary initiative aims to alleviate financial burdens, particularly for families facing challenges such as compromised credit scores due to substantial medical expenses. By providing a supportive environment and essential resources, MikesPlayground seeks to enhance the quality of life for both the children and their families.

In addition to advocating for inclusivity, MikesPlayground raises awareness about Dravet Syndrome, a rare and severe form of epilepsy that affects children from infancy, characterized by frequent and prolonged seizures that can be difficult to control.

Partnerships with Kiwanis, Jessica Tillery of All Quality Graphics, Dr. Michael Korpiel of Mercy San Juan Hospital, Alta Regional, Marissa Han from The Alliance, and local chambers of commerce are instrumental in helping MikesPlayground achieve its goals. Their contributions range from providing essential printed materials for events to offering healthcare expertise and community engagement support.

For those eager to get involved, MikesPlayground offers various volunteer opportunities and welcomes donations through their website. Whether assisting with events, providing administrative support or sharing specialized skills, volunteers play a crucial role in advancing the organization's mission.

"By supporting MikesPlayground, you are investing in a brighter, more inclusive future for special needs children and their families," mentioned on its website.

Wildfire smoke contains fine particles which are respiratory irritants, and when inhaled deeply, can affect the lungs and the heart. Exposure to high concentrations of fine particles can cause persistent cough, runny nose, phlegm, wheezing, and difficulty breathing. Smoke from wildfires can also cause eye irritation, reduced lung function, and bronchitis. Those with asthma or another lung disease should keep at least a seven-day supply of medication on hand and call a health care provider if nearby wildfires worsen breathing issues.

In Case of Evacuation

Wildfires can also lead to emergency evacuations and it's important to follow the direction of local officials when evacuations are ordered. Current evacuation information can often be found through monitoring local news outlets as well as official social media channels of emergency responders such as a sheriff's office, police department, and fire department.

Knowing the "Ps of Preparedness" can help you react quickly if a wildfire threatens your area:

That's Not Okay

Dear Dave,

My husband and I own a small business. We've been open for 12 years, and fortunately we've been very successful. We made the decision when we first opened to run the business debt-free. Along with that, we only accept cash, checks and debit cards for payment. Recently, we've had a client become very insistent that we start accepting credit cards. Our relationship with this client is becoming a little contentious over the issue. How should we address the situation?

– Debra

Dear Debra

Like we, as entrepreneurs, don't have enough things to worry about every, single day, right?

As you might imagine, I have a bunch of people who are mad at me all the time because I don't accept credit cards. But in my case, it's not just a business decision. I teach people all the time not to use credit cards, and why they shouldn't. So, I can't very well go around encouraging folks to just swipe their credit cards when they buy from my company.

For starters, that client is way out of bounds. It's not their place to tell you how to run your business. But you're lucky to only have one person getting pushy about the whole credit card deal. Everything about the credit industry today is out of control. But even though your case is a little different than mine, you have every right to not accept credit cards-especially if you have a moral or values-related issue with the product.

As time goes by, you'll probably have a few other people turn up their noses at the idea of not being able to pay with a credit card, but if vou consistently offer great services or products at great prices, those experiences will only be a bump in the road. You don't want to be argumentative when things like this happen, so maybe you can just smile, and let them know you always appreciate input from your clients. I'm sure you and your

I'm sure you and your husband work hard to make your business the best it can be. The fact that you're still around over a decade after opening up shop is proof of that. You've probably realized, too, that being in business for yourself isn't all sunshine and rainbows every day. Regardless, no one has the right to get in your face over how your business is structured or try to push you into doing things differently. Listening to, and evaluating, suggestions from clients only makes sense. It's a smart thing for any business owner to do. But this one client is saying you should change a long-standing operating principle based on a whim-their whim.

And that's not okay

"Forced Worship Stinks in God's Nostrils"

split because they sought to make the USA into a Christian nation.

The first argument is true. Separation of church and state is only an interpretation of the First Amendment which clearly forbids our government from establishing a religion. Additionally, it's interpreted to mean the government can't favor any single religion. The second point is decidedly untrue. Thomas Jefferson, the primary author of the Declaration of Independence was "not a God-fearing humanitarian but rather a slaveholding epicurean deist," says Tim Alberta in his latest book, "The Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory: American Evangelicals in an Age of Extremism." "Jefferson was not an earnest follower of Christ but was known to mock revivalists and rarely attend church," Alberta writes. I gained some understanding of Jefferson's view during my visit to Roger Williams National Memorial last summer. It's possible that Jefferson's understanding of the church and state issue was forged from Williams's. Living 100 years prior to Jefferson, Williams was excommunicated from the Anglican Church for blasphemy. Banished from his home in 1636, he was forced on a most horrendous walkabout through a blizzard to present-day Rhode Island. It was there he established a Baptist community free from puritanism. According to a National Park Service article, Roger Williams believed government-established religions were "...responsible for the death of millions of innocent souls whose only crime was having their own, t unique conscience."

Williams added with succinct clarity, "Forced worship stinks in God's nostrils."

Alberta notes that Jesus himself "physically ran and hid from the people who desired to make Him king. Jesus dismissed his critics by telling them, 'Give back to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's.'"

Spiritual Care BY NOBBIS BUBKES

BY NORRIS BURKES

Under a new Louisiana law, every public school from elementary to college will be required to post the Ten Commandments by the end of this year.

If Jesus were around today, and I believe he is, I think he'd find the new law reeking with hypocrisy.

He'd likely question the irony of enforcing Commandment No. 2 in a state that still carries the stench of 130 graven images of confederate "heroes."

He'd likely call "foul," as the LSU Tigers, the eighth-best team nationally, dishonor the Sabbath with Saturday games.

But worst of all, he'd ask if the state legislature planned to include the fine print of Mosaic law with 248 do-this commandments, and 365 definitely-do-notdo-this commandments.

For instance, will the posted commandments include Exodus 21:29, that says if an ox gores someone to death, both the owner and the ox must be executed?

I'm not trying to villainize the Pelican State, but I am trying to prove a point during this season of patriotism about the principle of separation of church and state.

The principle has taken some hits in recent years.

Opponents make two points. First, the separation idea is not in the constitution. Second, they say our founding fathers would have never favored such a Alberta concludes this thought with an interpretation from a modern-day preacher who gained fame in 1965.

"In other words, pay your taxes, forget politics, and serve God with all your heart."

That man was the late Jerry Falwell – before he successfully revived his failing college through a political arm called, "The Moral Majority."

Imagine what might happen if a different religion wanted to post their treatise.

Visualize a Baptist mom in New Orleans whose job transfer takes her family to Dearborn Michigan. Once there, she will likely enroll her Baptist son in a school belonging to the largest Muslim-populated school district in the US.

Once in class, Mom will need some assurances that her son can enjoy his religious freedom without being required to memorize the Five Pillars of Islam.

As you approach the voting booth this fall, let's keep church and state separate. But most of all, beyond November, I encourage people of faith to, "Serve God with all your heart."

Currently, the Louisiana law is being legally challenged. In the end, I suspect Louisianans will find, as did a dozen other states, that their law won't pass the "the sniff test."

Environmental Opposition to Vital Sacramento Area Highway Project is Ridiculous

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Some things are just so ridiculous that they demand critical attention. One of them is the opposition from environmental groups to widening the Interstate 80 freeway between Sacramento and Davis.

For years, motorists have complained about what has been dubbed the "Davis bottleneck" that often backs up traffic for miles. What should be no more than a 10- or 15-minute drive can often take 45 minutes or more.

The state Department of Transportation wants to convert median strips into new traffic lanes that would require a toll payment to traverse. Environmentalists, who are trying to block the project in court, contend that it would merely encourage more drivers to use the stretch of freeway and therefore relief from congestion would be only temporary.

Opponents also complain that Caltrans and local officials are using the subterfuge of improving pavement to widen the freeway, and that the project runs counter to official state policy of reducing vehicular traffic as a way to reduce greenhouse gasses.

"These projects are being oversold to the public as a way to reduce congestion; they are not," Susan Handy, director of the National Center for Sustainable Transportation, told the Los Angeles Times. "A court decision is going to be very important.'

Ironically, Handy's organization is housed in the UC Davis campus, where the chronic congestion spills over.

The complaints might have some validity if this stretch was merely another local commuter route, but it isn't. Interstate 80 is one of the nation's most important transcontinental arteries, running 2,901 from San Francisco to the New York City metropolitan area with much of its route in western states following 19th-century immigrant trails.

The only other east-west interstates are either hundreds of miles to the north or hundreds to the south. That makes I-80 an extremely important route for interstate cargo, a fact evident to anyone who shares the freeway with an endless stream of large trucks.

Moreover, there are no alternative routes because the eastern portion of the freeway is a causeway over a marshy area that's home to wildlife and is often flooded during winter and spring months. Water is diverted into the "Yolo Bypass" from the Sacramento River as an important element of the Sacramento region's flood protection system.

Simply put, trucks and cars must either use I-80 between Sacramento and the Bay Area or not move at all. The notion that widening will increase traffic is ludicrous: The traffic will be there regardless because it has nowhere else to go.

"We experience some of the most severe congestion in California seven days a week," Autumn Bernstein, executive director of the Yolo Transportation District, told the LA Times. "We have more than five hours of congested traffic in the eastbound direction and (in) Davis every afternoon."

The ultimate fate of the project is not certain. The California Transportation Commission gave its approval in May and allocated money to begin work, but the environmental groups are suing, characterizing it as a showdown over the state's official policy of avoiding projects that increase carrying capacity and lead to more traffic.

It's unfortunate that Caltrans officials decided they needed to hide expansion of the freeway as a pavement improvement project and make it a joint project with local officials with some token funding for mass transit — to sidestep a direct confrontation over environmental impacts.

In a more rational world, the need would be obvious, and officialdom would be criticized for waiting so long to do something about a bottleneck.

Social Security Matters Will IRA Withdrawals Affect My Medicare Premiums?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am a member of AMAC and learn so much from the Ask Rusty column. I hope you can give me some information about a question that has come up in my family. My husband is retired and has reached full retirement age. He is considering withdrawing money from an IRA to pay off our mortgage. We are wondering what, if any, penalties may be incurred on Social Security, Medicare, and income tax. Thank you for your help in this matter. Signed: Concerned Taxpaver

Dear Concerned: Thank you for contacting the AMAC Foundation Social Security Advisory Service. Regarding your question on the impact of withdrawing IRA funds, there is no impact to your husband's gross Social Security benefit. The amount withdrawn, of course, is considered ordinary income for federal income tax purposes, and will need to be included as such on your federal income tax return and will therefore affect your federal income tax liability when you file the return

Depending on the amount withdrawn, there could be an impact to the Medicare premium due to the Income-Related Monthly Adjustment Amount (IRMAA) provision. Assuming you file jointly, you will pay a higher Medicare Part B premium if your modified adjusted gross income is above certain thresholds (i.e., more than $103,000 for an individual and $206,000 for a married couple). Please note that Medicare's procedures will not note this income change for two years, so if you make the withdrawal in 2024 it will not trigger the increases until your 2026 Medicare premiums. A change to your Medicare premium might also result in a change to your net Social Security payment at that time (since Medicare is automatically deducted from your Social Security payment). Also depending on the amount withdrawn, you may have to pay an additional amount on top of your Medicare Part D premium. The Part D adjustment amount is calculated based on a percentage of the Part D national base beneficiary premium, not on a percentage of the plan premium.

The Social Security Administration mails letters to beneficiaries who currently pay a Part B Income-Related Monthly Adjustment Amount (IRMAA) and, according to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), are in a Part D plan. The letter explains the additional Part D amount, and how exactly Social Security will collect it. You can contact SSA at 1-800-772-1213 or your local SSA agency if you have any further questions about your Part D IRMAA premium.

Rejuvenate And Shine

How would you like to invigorate your mind, body and spirit? It's called whole body wellness, and Dr. Susan Smith-Jones can help us "Rejuvenate and Shine."

Dr. Jones has made extraordinary contributions in the fields of holistic health, anti-aging, optimum nutrition and balanced living. I love having her on my POPPTALK Radio Show. She has authored some thirty books with the goal of making our lives better. So get ready for ten tips that can change your life.

1. REJUVENATE AND REFRESH. Make sure to build breaks into your day. From sunrise to bedtime—reset and refresh. It's okay to unplug now and then, or at least press the "reset" button.

2. EXERCISE FOR VITALITY. Everyone is different when it comes to the time of day that's best to exercise. Henry David Thoreau wrote: "An early morning walk is a blessing for the whole day."

3. JOIN THE BREAKFAST CLUB. The word "breakfast" literally means breaking the fast from the night before. It jumpstarts metabolism. Your body needs to be refueled for the tasks ahead of it.

4. UTILIZE NATURE'S HEALING POWER. Go outside to play and pray. The more time we get outdoors into nature and appreciate the beauty and blessings of God's splendor, the more compassionate, forgiving and kind we become.

5. VISUALIZE YOUR DAY AHEAD. Albert Einstein said: Your imagination is a preview of your life's coming attractions." Visualizing success and positive outcomes can help prepare us for the real thing.

6. EAT MORE FRUITS AND VEGGIES. The fiber in these foods helps your digestive tract keep humming along the way it was designed. Eating your fruits and veggies has the added bonus of beautifying skin, boosting metabolism, and elevating mood.

7. NOURISH YOUR OVERALL WELL-BEING WITH AMPLE SLEEP. Too little sleep makes you hungry, especially for calorie-dense foods It's harder to pass up that cupcake or order of fries) and primes your body to hold on to all the calories you eat.

8. ADJUST YOUR ATTITUDE TO INCLUDE PLENTY OF ATTITUDE. Those who catalog the positive things in their lives are healthier, happier, more motivated, less stressed, and more well-rested.

9. TAKE TIME TO PRAY, MEDITATE AND BREATHE DEEPLY. This simple, cost-free practice has been scientifically proven to heal the body, boost immunity, reverse aging, and lift your mood from negative to positive. It's a salve for the mind, body, and spirit.

10. ENJOY DAILY LAUGHTER AND TICKLE YOUR FUNNYBONE. Laughter releases endorphins into your body that act as natural stress busters. It helps relieve pain, counteracts fear, anger, and depression, all of which are linked to depression, and linked to illness and stress.

You can find these ten tips and so much more in her latest book "A Hug in a Mug." And don't forget to sign up for her free monthly newsletter. All you have to do is go to her website www.susansmithjones. com and look up in the right corner. One click on subscribe and you're in for a real treat with tons of great information and inspiration. Arcade Creek Little League Wins Again! Intermediate 50/70 Team Goes to NorCal State Championship

By Mike Powers

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - The 50/70 team from Arcade Creek Little League is something special!

the District 5 With Championship already in hand, Arcade Creek kept their momentum going by winning the Section 4 Intermediate Championship on July 1, defeating Nevada City/Grass Valley Little League 12-9 at Capeheart field in Antelope. With the win Arcade Creek advanced to the Northern California State Championship Tournament for the first time in the history of the young league.

While Arcade Creek Little League is a relatively new name in local Little League Baseball and Softball, its history runs deep. The league was created by the 2020 merger of Eastern Little League (formerly Del Paso-Eastern Little League) and Whitney Little League. Both Eastern and Whitney trace their roots to the early days of District 5, which was one of the original 33 Little League Districts formed in California in 1958.

Not since the Whitney Majors team made the 1993 NorCal State tournament has a team from Carmichael made it this far. Now, Arcade Creek 50/70 has an opportunity to do something unprecedented in league history...win State!

What does 50/70 mean? 50/70 is shorthand for the Intermediate League Baseball division of Little League, and the numbers refer to specific distances on the playing field: 50 feet pitching distance and 70 feet basepaths. It's a larger field than the traditional Little League Majors field, which is 45 feet and 60 feet, respectively. Little League created the 50/70 Division in 2013 for players aged 11-13 as an intermediate step before making the jump to full-size fields in Juniors and high school.

Arcade Creek Little League's 50/70 team has mastered the larger field.

Their seamless transition to the bigger field demonstrates adaptability and skill. Embracing the finer details that come with playing on a larger stage is commendable," coach Bryan Deyo said The team's skill was on display as they went undefeated in the Section 4 Tournament.

included home runs by Rex Laird and Jathen Howard, and excellent relief pitching by Jackson Waltrip.

The next day, Arcade Creek faced off against Maidu Little League (District 54), with the winner advancing to the championship game. Maidu struck early with two runs in the bottom of the first, but the Arcade Creek bats came alive with six hits and two walks in the third and fourth innings, including a big home run by Colton Nickols. Arcade Creek led 6-3 in a close game, and then got two insurance runs in the top of the sixth. Meanwhile, Jackson Powers kept Maidu off-balance at the plate, pitching 4.1 innings of scoreless relief while his teammates played stellar defense to seal the 8-3 victory in 7 full innings.

The semifinal win earned Arcade Creek an important day to rest from the hot summer sun while they awaited their opponent for the championship game on July 1. Nevada City/ Grass Valley (District 11) beat a depleted Maidu squad 17-7 on June 30 to advance to the championship.

The championship game

Arcade Creek took advantage of some opportunities. An error, hit-by-pitch, and dropped third strike put two runners on with one out for Nickols. He launched the first pitch that he saw for a no-doubt 3-run home run to straightaway center. A walk and then another error gave Marcos Tejeda a big opportunity he wouldn't waste. He sliced a line drive single to score two more runs and Arcade Creek had an early 5-0 lead.

Nickols continued his pitching dominance with three more strikeouts in the second but Nevada City/Grass Valley scratched out a single run to get on the board. In the bottom of the second, Arcade Creek put on a fireworks display a few days early. Jackson Waltrip's single led off the inning, followed by back-to-back-to-back homers by Nathan Beebe, Tian Deyo and (once again!) Colton Nickols. Another run gave Arcade Creek a huge 10-1 run after two innings.

The two teams traded runs in the third inning and Nevada City/Grass Valley got one more, but after four innings, Arcade Creek was in control up 11-3. With their fate seemingly sealed, Nevada City/ Grass Valley players got loose, sparked some joy and had some fun of their own. Taking advantage of three straight walks to open the fifth, they plated three more runs and had tilted momentum in their favor cutting the score to 11-6. Then Nevada City/Grass Valley got two more runners on and were within striking distance when Arcade Creek left fielder Marcos Tejeda made the defensive play of the game, a diving catch to save two runs from scoring.

Tian Deyo answered for Arcade Creek in the bottom of the fifth with his second solo homer of the game. In the sixth, Nevada City/Grass Valley followed with a solo shot of their own, and they weren't done yet! The plucky team from Gold Country struck it rich with two more hits and excellent baserunning to cut the lead to four.

Arcade Creek went quietly in the bottom of the sixth, giving Nevada City/Grass Valley one more chance to mount the ultimate comeback, down 12-8. Relief pitcher Nathan Beebe got two quick outs in the 7th inning, but another solo home run cut the deficit to three and buoyed the spirits of the undaunted Nevada City/Grass Valley players. The next batter belted a high drive, but not deep enough as centerfielder Tian Deyo gloved the final out at the fence and Arcade Creek Little League were champions once again!

After the win, the Arcade Creek family of players, coaches and supporters talked with the Carmichael Times about what two hits. Rex Laird shined at this team means to them. A common theme amongst the players was that they all love playing with their friends. "During practice and games, it's all 100% effort. We're all here to have fun and put in the work." Colton Nickols said. "Outside of baseball, I think what separates us from other teams is we're all some of the best friends, and we all know how to work together."

all have good chemistry, and are good at communicating with each other. We don't really get down that much. If we do, we pick each other up and that keeps us in the game."

Arcade Creek's parents love what they're seeing from this team and from Little League in general. Brandon Laird, whose son, Rex, played a couple years of travel baseball before this season, emphasized how much happier his son is playing Little League.

"There's more of a friend-onfriend relationship with these boys, with them going to school and growing up together. Going this far really feels like more of an accomplishment than a weekend win with a travel team," Laird said.

Said mother Kim Nickols, "This is a truly special team. These boys love being together on and off the field. They support each other. They are picking each other up when they need to and they're cheering each other on constantly, and it's just a really special time for them to be together playing."

Asked about her favorite moment from the season so far, Nickols replied, "That last out of every game and seeing the boys' reactions and seeing them realize all of the hard work that they put in is paying off."

Up next for Section 4 Champion Arcade Creek 50/70 is a opportunity to bring that friendship and hard work to the Northern California State Tournament at Brooktree Park in Citrus Heights. There they will battle the six other NorCal Section Champions from July 6 to 13. When asked what they were most looking forward to at the state tournament, consensus among the players was a short, simple answer, "Winning...and having fun too."

Arcade Creek got the State Tournament off to a great start. winning their first game 5-3 against Sunnyvale Little League on July 7. Nathan Beebe pitched six strong relief innings and had the plate with two clutch RBI singles. The whole team played good defense, turning two double plays. Arcade Creek will try to keep the momentum going on July 10 versus Bollinger Canyon Little League, who (at press time) is 2-0 in the tournament and has not yet allowed a run. The winner of the game will earn an automatic bid to the championship game on July 13. Good luck, Arcade Creek! ★

In their first game on June 28 Arcade Creek beat North Natomas Little League (District 6) 13-3 in 5 innings. Highlights was set, Arcade Creek versus Nevada City/Grass Valley. Throughout the tournament, both teams exhibited depth at pitching, excellent contact hitting and fun loving, neversay-die attitudes. All these traits were on display in the game. Arcade Creek's Colton Nickols threw the first pitch as the temperatures soared well over 100 degrees. 15 pitches later Nickols had struck out the side. In the bottom of the first,
