CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - On a starry night last weekend, nearly 400 guests sat down to dine.

Wine and donations flowed. The Carmichael Parks Foundation's "Dinner in the Park" fundraiser garnered more than $60,000 for youth scholarships and park improvement.

A community staple for five years, the gala sprawled between Sutter Avenue's Garden allotments and the Jensen Botanical Garden on Fair Oaks Boulevard. Strolling between the hidden gem reserves, guests were serenaded by jazz, chamber music and rock artists.

The event honored past Foundation President Sharon Ruffner, a pillar of community activism and fundraising until her 2024 death. At $150 per ticket, table space nearly sold out.

Dinner included chicken, salads and barbecued tri-tip from Hawks Public House, Sacramento. Nothing Bundt Cakes offered mini treats for dessert.

Fundraising followed. Skip's Kitchen owner Ship Wahl and KFBK anchor Kitty O'Neil spurred paddle-raising for a drive that earned more than $36,000.

Live auction bids came next. A weekend retreat at Serene Lakes scored $3,200. The top earner was a Japanese demonstration meal hosted in an

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - The Kiwanis Club of Carmichael has donated $7,500 to aid drama studies at El Camino High School.

Via the Kiwanians' Impact Program, the grant will transform a decades-old classroom into a modern performance facility for use by hundreds of 14- to 18-year-olds.

"The money will help us create a theater-like space where students can be comfortable performing," said El Camino High Drama Department director Mike DiSalvo. "It's important they see we're taking them seriously. That way, they're motivated to take their studies more seriously."

The project aims to simulate "black box theater" elements in the classroom. Upgrades include new paint, curtains, lighting and a small stage. Funding came about through DiSalvo's direction of an outside musical program that included a Kiwanis Club member's daughter.

The mother (former club President Jen Hawley) asked DiSalvo if a donation would help drama studies at his school. The club's $7,500 gift came from fundraisers such as the Taste of Carmichael, a winter crab feed and Christmas candy sales.

"Our school's one of the oldest in our district," said teacher DiSalvo. "Any opportunity to upgrade a classroom is welcome and appreciated. The kids are excited to be supported by the community."

Project work will begin before the end of the 2024 school year. The theater space will be in use for 2025 drama classes.

FAIR OAKS, CA (MPG) - Start practicing your chicken calls because it's almost time to celebrate the 19th Annual Fair Oaks Chicken Festival from 12 to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21 at Fair Oaks Park (11549 Fair Oaks Blvd.).

Presented by the Fair Oaks Recreation & Park District, this year's event promises to be bigger and better than ever, with activities and entertainment the whole family can enjoy.

"The Fair Oaks Chicken Festival is a beloved tradition that celebrates the culture and charm of Fair Oaks and brings the community together in a fun and unique way," said Recreation supervisor and festival chair Sabrina Bernardo. "The family-friendly atmosphere promotes a sense of pride that keeps people coming back year after year."

With attendance numbers ranging between 9,000 and 10,000, organizing an event this size is no small feat. According to Bernardo, festival planning begins a year in advance and requires an extensive network of volunteers.

"Our volunteers help make the Fair Oaks Chicken Festival happen," said Recreation supervisor Mary Stoakley. "Whether assisting in the kid's park, helping out with parking, or welcoming event attendees at the entrance, they make a huge difference!"

The Fair Oaks Youth Advisory Board is one of the many volunteer service groups participating.

"The youth group serves in an advisory capacity to the Fair Oaks Recreation & Park District's Board of Directors and assumes responsibility for certain activities throughout the year, including the Fair Oaks Chicken Festival," Stockley said.

"The students will sell cold water bottles at the event for $2. The funds raised will support their activities throughout this year's term," Stoakley added.

Other participating organizations and long-time community partners include the Fair Oaks Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club of Fair Oaks.

"We started hosting the Cornhole Tournament three years ago and enjoy watching the event grow into a friendly and fun competition," said Chamber of Commerce CEO Kimberley Pitillo. "It's a great opportunity for the chamber to be out in the community, building awareness of who we are and what we do."

Said Rotary Club President Keith Walter, "The Rotary Club has been a cornerstone of the festival since its inception. In recent years, the club has hosted the popular beer and wine garden, raising approximately $15,000 yearly for local causes. The funds we raise are vital in providing scholarships, assisting the food bank and supporting youth, seniors and veterans' programs."

Beer and wine are donated by the Fair Oaks Community Foundation and local breweries. ★

Dave Ramsey

Dave Ramsey Says Time to Make Something Happen!

When I went broke a few decades ago, I had to re-think who I was in my own mind. I'd lost my business, and in many ways, I looked at that company as who I was. My identity was suddenly gone, and lots of guys go through that very same thing with a job loss.

If he's not willing to listen to you, I think you two need to sit down with a good, objective marriage counselor, because he's confused as to why he works. There are two reasons we work. One is to provide for our families. That's our primary job. The second reason is to exercise our calling—the reason we were put on this planet. But you can't accomplish the second one when you're not doing the first one. You've got to make sure your family has a place to live and food on the table.

Four months of a guy sitting on his butt like this is unacceptable. I don't want to hear about being over-qualified, or anything about a career path. Get a job and take care of your family! I don't care if it's cutting grass, shoveling snow or delivering pizza. In situations like this, you have to stand up, be a man and take care of your responsibilities.

I'm sorry if that sounds harsh, but it's the truth. Believe me, I get it. Sometimes people go through problems, and they need a break of some kind to work through the pain. I did a little of that when I went broke. But at the end of the day, we didn't lose our home because I was sitting around doing nothing. Even when I'd lost all my self-confidence, I still went out and tried to get things started again.

It's time for your husband to stand up, brush himself off and make something happen!

— Dave

MEMORIAL

DELORES ROUSE HUTH • 10/9/1936 - 8/14/2024

Delores "Dee," affectionately known as "Dolly" by her friends and family, passed away peacefully on the morning of August 14th, 2024, surrounded by the love and care of her family.

Born in Hannaford, North Dakota, on October 9, 1936, Dee was a devoted wife, mother, grandmother, entrepreneur, and adventurer. Her life was a testament to joy, love, and passion. As the eldest of 10 children, Dee was a natural leader who inspired those around her from an early age. Dee's strong work ethic was evident from her youth, earning her an honors scholarship to Western Montana College of Education in Dillon. In 1956, Dee married Donald Rouse, and together they moved between Anaconda, Montana, and various cities in Idaho and Utah, chasing their dreams and building a future. Dee held leadership positions throughout her career, including Deputy County Treasurer in Anaconda, and she achieved success in sales for several large jewelry companies.

The couple's adventurous spirit led them to manage a property in Nevada, where Dee honed her skills as an independent business owner. She bought and sold land and raw materials for fine jewelry, all while hosting events for local families and children. After traveling the Western states in an RV with their children, they settled in Sacramento, California. Here, Dee opened several businesses, including D's Jewelry Supply in Carmichael and Nighthorse Studios in Old Sacramento. Her entrepreneurial drive culminated in the founding of the California Institute of Jewelry Training (CIJT) in 1979, which trained over 3,500 students from across the globe in jewelry design, manufacture, and repair. Dee also added the Master Valuer (MV) appraisal program, a curriculum still used today.

Dee's leadership extended to her role as the first woman president of the Carmichael Chamber of Commerce. Dee also served as president of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. After separating from Donald in 1976, Dee met Lieutenant Colonel Mel Huth in 1987. The two married in 1990. Dee purchased Bramble's Fine Jewelry and the couple opened the Arden Town Mail & Business Center together. Their businesses became cornerstones of their community. Dee's work included global travel, helping to establish jewelry trade schools and offering Master Valuer workshops in multiple countries.

Dee was a force of nature, full of love, laughter, and generosity. She was a gifted hostess, always at the center of celebrations, and had a remarkable ability to bring out the best in everyone around her. Her love for her family was immense, and she found her greatest joy as a grandmother, affectionately known as "Gramma Dee," or "Grandma Barbie." She cherished her 11 grandchildren, 6 great-grandchildren.

Dee is survived by her husband, Mel Huth; her children, Robyn Kleinhans (Steven), Raina Palombi (Michael), Ryan Rouse (Cara), and Cheryl Demetre (Greg); her grandchildren, Hailey Kleinhans (Bryan), Kole Kleinhans (Jessica), Jennifer Spinner (Brandon), Tyler Rouse (Kayla), Jason Rouse (Kamryn), Charles Palombi (Kyra), Andrew Palombi, Samantha Palombi, Claire Rouse, Anna Rouse, Grace Rouse; her great-grandchildren, Jack Spinner, Cole Spinner, Maya Rouse, Roman Rouse, Liam Zablony, Waylon Kleinhans, and Kayce Rouse. She was preceded in death by her parents, Raymond and Myrtle Ohman; her brothers, Vernon, David, and Don Ohman; her sisters, Myrna Shockley, Karen Schorzman, and Nancy Morrison; her first husband, Donald Rouse; and her beloved eldest son, Ripley Rouse.

A memorial service will be held on Friday, September 27, 2024, at 11:00 a.m. at Carmichael Presbyterian Church, 5645 Marconi Ave., Carmichael.

Hoover, Niello Talk about Concerns

by Omella Rossi

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A crowd of more than 200 gathered at Bella Vista High School on Tuesday Sept. 3 for a community meeting featuring Assemblyman Josh Hoover and Sen. Roger Niello. The event provided citizens with an opportunity to hear firsthand updates from the Capitol and ask questions regarding their concerns.

Hoover and Niello offered a range of legislative updates, focusing on issues such as homelessness and crime. Hoover emphasized recent legislative efforts aimed at improving oversight of homelessness spending.

"AB 2903 was passed, which requires state-run homelessness programs to report cost and outcome data annually to the California Interagency Council on Homelessness," Hoover said. "This transparency is crucial, especially after recent audits revealed a lack of systematic tracking."

Hoover also highlighted his support for legislation protecting vulnerable children from sex trafficking. Senate Bill 1414, he noted, aims to increase penalties for purchasing children under 16 for sex from a misdemeanor to a felony.

Niello addressed the shift in legislative focus toward public safety.

"We are seeing a significant change in how crime is approached in the legislature," Niello said. "Many new bills have been proposed and passed to enhance public safety."

The meeting featured a Q&A session where attendees voiced concerns and sought clarification on various topics.

When asked about AB 1840, a home purchase assistance program, Hoover and Niello responded to concerns about aid for non-citizens.

"This program is intended to help California residents with down-payment assistance," Hoover said. "I do not support expanding this to non-citizens."

Niello agreed, "I would like the author of that bill to explain to people that apply and don't get the assistance

Assemblyman Josh Hoover and Sen. Roger Niello appeared together at a community meeting held on Sept. 3 at Bella Vista High School.

when a non-citizen does."

Equal access to education also drew attention as frustrations were brought up by attendees over educational disparities affecting unvaccinated students and concerns over Zoom schools. Hoover acknowledged the issue, citing the long-term harm caused by prolonged school closures during the pandemic and Niello emphasized the importance of local politics, advocating for school districts making decisions.

"I will continue to fight for quality education for all students," Hoover affirmed.

Business owners raised concerns about difficulty accessing grant money. Niello directed them to Go Biz, the state agency handling business grants, while Hoover acknowledged the state's budget challenges.

"We need to better manage our finances to support small businesses," Hoover said.

Residents also expressed frustration with the poor condition of local roads and the lack of investment in street maintenance. They emphasized how the neglect of street upkeep negatively impacts property values and diminishes the pride they take in their homes.

In response, Hoover agreed, noting that California's roads are ranked 46th in quality, despite the state's high gas taxes.

"Funds meant for road maintenance are often redirected to other priorities," Hoover explained. "We should not be taking money from our roads; our community deserves better."

Niello added that the state's broad approach to transportation funding often undermines the ability to allocate resources effectively.

"The policies compromise our ability to focus funds where they're needed most," Niello said.

In response to questions about homelessness enforcement, the Sheriff's Department emphasized the importance of promoting transitory movements rather than allowing large, stationary encampments in efforts to reduce criminal activity. The department also highlighted the role of the Homeless Outreach Team (HOT), which focuses on connecting homeless individuals with essential resources and support.

When asked about the implications of the governor's plan to return state workers to the office, including potential costs related to utilities, traffic, pollution, and employee expenses, opinions differed.

"Working from home can be more cost-effective for both the state and employees," Hoover said. "It also helps keep spending within our local economy."

In contrast, Niello emphasized the importance of in-person collaboration.

"While remote work has its benefits, face-to-face interactions are crucial for developing efficient and cohesive work groups," Niello Said.

When questioned about the alarming increase in hit-and-run incidents and the high number of fatalities, Niello expressed his strong concern. He attributed the rise in reckless driving and speeding to the habits formed during the COVID-19 pandemic when streets were less congested.

"We need to increase the consequences for speeding," Niello asserted, highlighting that improving traffic safety remains a critical priority for him. ★

SAFE Credit Union's Back-To-School Drive Successful

SAFE Credit Union News Release

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA (MPG) - SAFE Credit Union recently participated in a back-to-school supplies and backpack drive benefiting the Sacramento Children's Home for students in elementary, middle, and high school.

In total, SAFE employees and members donated 169 filled backpacks and three large bins filled with supplies.

SAFE is a not-for-profit, state-chartered credit union with membership open to businesses and individuals living or working in Yolo, Sacramento, Placer, El Dorado, Sutter, Butte, Nevada, Solano, San Joaquin, Contra Costa, Yuba, Amador and Alameda counties.

The back-to-school drive initiative was based on SAFE's philanthropic mission that includes supporting education initiatives and programs for underserved communities. The Sacramento Children's Home provides services to more than 7,000 children and 4,300 families each year.

"We love these sorts of activities that get our members and employees involved to help out a good cause," said SAFE Credit Union Vice-President of Retail Branches Janine Southwick.

SAFE Credit Union Vice-President of Community Relations Rebecca Delmundo said, "SAFE has a history of helping the Sacramento Children's Home through donations and volunteerism. They are doing good work in helping kids and families during tough times. At SAFE, we're honored to be able to do our part to help support their mission."

SAFE's efforts were part of a larger community school supplies drive for the nonprofit.

"This year, the community has rallied together to provide over 2,200 backpacks filled with school supplies to children and families served by the Sacramento Children's Home. Something as simple as a new backpack can make a big difference for the kids in our community. These donations help kids start their school year with a boost of confidence that can set them on a path to success," said Sacramento Children's Home Director of Philanthropy Todd Koolakian.

For more information on SAFE's school supplies donation drive, contact Assistant-Vice President Communications and Public Relations Carole Ferguson at Carole.Ferguson@safecu.org or by phone at 916-836-6318. ★

It's Ok to be Old

Do you feel old? What is old anyway? I've spoken with people who are in their 40s and 50s and they sure act old already. On the other hand I've had people on my show who are in the 80s even 90s and they are still living life to the fullest. Unfortunately, our American view is that old is not useful. Patricia Greenberg wants to change that point of view in her new book "It's OK to be Old." She challenges our societal views on aging. When she was on POPPTALK with me, she shared her thoughts on what aging is all about. Patricia is a best-selling author, and she drew from her extensive research and personal experiences to create this comprehensive guide. "The inspiration for her book came from observing the widespread misconceptions about aging" she said, "I wanted to provide a resource that not only challenges these beliefs but also equips individuals with the tools to age with confidence, purpose and joy." She is also a wellness coach, and so she shared these ten tips for aging well.

- 1) Stop caring what people think of you, and embrace each day as it comes on your own terms.
- 2) Tackle each day by taking on the hard things first. It will make your evenings easier and your sleep peaceful.
- 3) Instead of aggressively chasing your dreams, take a step back and carefully think through each step you are taking. Slowdown is not a negative. It's prudent.
- 4) Approach your nutrition with positivity. Eat what you love, just make sure it's the healthiest version you can find.

Good food, wine and chocolate make life wonderful.

5) As we age, fitness is more about staving off decline than competing. Stay upright in all you do. Walk, run, yoga, bike, and weight train. All of it is good. You choose.

6) Socialize on a regular basis. Interactions with other people will keep your brain engaged and your emotions intact.

7) Relationships should bring you joy and a sense of well-being. Seek out those who make you feel good about yourself.

8) Enjoy nature and embrace the beauty of the world around you.

9) Hold yourself accountable with goals. It gives you hope for the future and always gives you something to look forward to.

10) Give back to the world around you. Having purpose by helping others is still the most rewarding gift you can give yourself.

"It's OK to be Old" combines cutting-edge research on aging with practical, actionable advice. Her book is a unique approach which bridges the gap between academic insights and daily life, making it an invaluable resource to redefine what it means to grow older in today's world. You can check out more of what Patricia has discovered at www.patriciagreenberg.com. Let's keep an open mind with strategies for maintaining mental and physical vitality at any age. I'm up there in age, and you bet I won't be going quietly into the night. Why? Because "It's OK to be Old." WOO HOO! ★

The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 6.75% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for repayment period is 7.375%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 15%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $200,000, and a total maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $300,000, have a total maximum Loan to Value (LTV) of 65% and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal or property evaluation. This cost will be disclosed in your commitment letter and paid at loan closing. Property insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $525 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $85 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of John Martin Brown Jr.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Matthew Brown, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Matthew Brown be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows September 26, 2024, 1:30 p.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

California Has Spent Billions on Homelessness but Lacks Hard Data on Outcomes

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

California has allocated more than $20 billion to alleviate the state's homelessness crisis since Gavin Newsom became governor in 2019, but there's precious little data on how the money was spent and what effect it's had, other than the number of unhoused people has continued to climb.

Despite the absence of hard information, Newsom has been highly critical of what he characterizes as the shortcomings of local governments and has threatened to withhold funds from those deemed to be laggards. Local officials, in turn, say they cannot construct comprehensive, long-term strategies unless Newsom is willing to make multi-year commitments of financial support.

Earlier this year, state Auditor Grant Parks issued a harshly worded audit of the California Interagency Council on Homelessness, the Newsom administration's tool for coordinating homelessness programs.

"The state lacks current information on the ongoing costs and outcomes of its homelessness programs, because (the council) has not consistently tracked and evaluated the state's efforts to prevent and end homelessness," Parks wrote, adding that its most recent data is three years old.

Moreover, Parks said, the council "has also not aligned its action plan to end homelessness with its statutory goals to collect financial information and ensure accountability and results. Thus, it lacks assurance that the actions it takes will effectively enable it to achieve those goals."

It's rather cheeky for Newsom to blame local officials if his own agency has been so laggard in gathering information about where billions of dollars have been spent and how effective those expenditures have been.

The footdragging on data, however, is not confined to the state.

Since 2020, David O. Carter, a federal judge in Los Angeles, has been presiding over a lawsuit filed by the LA Alliance for Human Rights, a coalition of persons from businesses, neighborhoods and homeless groups demanding to know how officials in Los Angeles County have spent homelessness funds. He's angry about a lack of response from the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority.

"If there isn't documentation of the work being done, it's not being done. That can be our only conclusion," Carter said during a recent hearing, telling agency officials, "You're not working on your time frame now. You're working on mine."

Matthew Umhofer, an attorney for the LA Alliance for Human Rights, said, "The city and the county have been saying for decades they're trying really hard on homelessness, but we have to see results."

"An audit like this is a tool that helps us try and figure this out, but at the end of the day we need more beds," Umhofer added. "We need more services. If the city and county don't know where the documentation is that shows beds and services are being provided, we've got a massive problem."

Umhofer said that if the situation doesn't improve, Judge Carter can impose sanctions on the city and county, appoint a receiver or even assume control of homelessness services.

Meanwhile, back in Sacramento, the quest for hard information on homelessness has taken a baby step forward.

Before adjourning its 2024 session, the Legislature approved a bill that would direct state agencies that administer homelessness programs to annually file reports on spending and outcomes to Newsom's interagency council, which then would be required to make the information available to the public.

Assemblyman Josh Hoover, a Folsom Republican, carried Assembly Bill 2903, which implements one of the Parks audit's recommendations.

"Improving accountability over the dollars we are spending is the first step toward real reform," Hoover said in a statement. "Spending billions of taxpayer dollars only to make the crisis worse is the definition of failure."

That should be obvious. Now we'll see if Newsom signs the bill.

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

Football season has begun, but make no mistake about it, basketball fans are eagerly anticipating the upcoming camp and preseason for the Sacramento Kings.

This year's team will take on a decidedly offensive look, as they have added a perennial 20 points per game with DeMar DeRozan to their already potent offense.

Last season with the Bulls, DeRozan averaged 24 points per game, but he has exceeded 27 points per game twice in his already legendary career. This bodes well for the hometown team, as three-point shooters like Keegan Murray, Malik Monk, and De'Aaron Fox will undoubtedly get better looks, as defenders try to control the frenetic mid-range game of DeMar DeRozan.

The Kings can actually put 5 scorers on the court at the same time, and although Keon Ellis is known for his ferocious defense, his offensive game has come to life as well. We saw a man among boys in the NBA summer league, as Keon did pretty much what he wanted as he scored at will against the newcomers and younger players in the league.

Keon's experience from last year, particularly as a starter, will in all likelihood lead to a standout year in the upcoming campaign.

Starters for the Kings that we can already pencil in include Domantas Sabonis, De'Aaron Fox, Keegan Murray, and of course the standout offseason acquisition of DeMar DeRozan. That leaves one spot to be filled, and everyone seems to be coming up with their own personal favorite. The leading candidates are Malik Monk, Keon Ellis, and Kevin Huerter who is returning from a shoulder injury that cut short his 2023/2024 season.

Huerter and Ellis are accustomed to starting, but Malik Monk has made it known that he would like to transition from the 6th man position to the starting lineup.

The unknown quotient is coach Mike Brown who has a difficult decision to make. Hopefully he will give each of the three an opportunity to start in preseason games, but the preseason is short, and the body of work will be minimal to make a decision.

There are those for whom it's not who starts but who finishes, but I respond by saying, starting is a place of pride, and I've yet to meet the player that would rather come off the bench than start a game.

Trey Lyles has never gotten the love from coach Brown that Keon Ellis receives, and I contend that Trey has acquitted himself well, and to the point that his name should be in the conversation. When Trey plays alongside Sabonis the Kings present a much more formidable front line, and Lyles could be the missing ingredient the Kings need to give Domantas the wingman he needs to help clean the boards.

The truth is, whether Huerter, Monk, Ellis, or Lyles, all four of these players represent quality NBA talent, and Brown has some notable ballers to make his final selection.

All that said, the bench will be strong this year, and if Alex Len can take just one more step, I believe this 1st round draft choice from 2013 could finally live up to the potential that so many pundits believed that he had when originally drafted.

I like Len's game, and his efforts unquestionable. He acquits himself well when Sabonis needs a breather, and if he can take that next step, I can see moments when he and Sabonis are on the court together.

If I haven't yet mentioned your favorite player, dark horses like Colby Jones, Jordan McLaughlin, Boogie Ellis, or newcomers Orlando Robinson and Isaiah Crawford are waiting in the wings to make their presence known.

Just as Keon Ellis emerged last season, one of these players is waiting to show the Sacramento Kings fans that they deserve some accolades, and it will surprise me if I'm not surprised by one the aforementioned candidates.

Let's not forget that we haven't even mentioned Kings' top draft choice Devin Carter, and although he is scheduled to miss the first half of the upcoming season, Devin no doubt will be eagerly awaiting his opportunity to show the Sacramento fans why this 22-year-old was drafted #13 overall.

Get ready Kings fans, for a season that will rival any you've seen so far, and as always if you have comments, please send them to vgharriskingsfan@gmail.com.

Guaranteed Income Pilot Applications Opening

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County's Department of Child, Family and Adult Services (DCFAS) has partnered with United Way California Capital Region for a new Guaranteed Income Pilot called the Family First Economic Support Pilot.

The pilot gives qualifying families guaranteed payments of $725 a month for a year. Applications will open on Sept. 30. Two hundred applicants will be randomly selected from those who apply. United Way will contact those selected for the pilot to discuss the next steps and to verify eligibility.

To qualify, families must live in one of the following zip codes: 95815, 95821, 95823, 95825, 95828, and 95838. Applicants must be either the parent or legal guardian of a Black/African American, American Indian, or Alaska Native child and have a child who is between the ages of 0 and 5. Applicants must have an annual household income of less than 200% of the federal poverty line. To qualify, the families cannot be part of any other Guaranteed Income Pilot/Program.

Applications can be completed online at <https://ffesp.org>.

The purpose of the Family First Economic Support Pilot is to offer additional income to help eligible families in the focus zip codes. Data shows that African American/Black and American Indian/Alaska Native children experience higher rates of contact with the child welfare system compared to other ethnicities.

The Family First Economic Support Pilot is primarily funded through state grant money. Sacramento County Department of Child, Family and Adult Services partnered with a research organization, MEF Associates, to evaluate how the guaranteed income impacts the selected families.

For more information, visit the Department of Child, Family and Adult Services website at <https://dcfas.sacramento.net/Admin/Pages/Family-First-Economic-Support-Pilot.aspx>.
