GIVE YOUR CHILD A HEAD START!

Introduction

Are you curious about how to prepare your child for kindergarten? Will she get along with other children? Will he follow instructions? Will she be able to use the bathroom independently? If these questions are on your mind, NCO Head Start is here to help.

NCO Head Start has been a vital part of early childhood education for children and families for the past 56 years. Our program aims to prepare children for kindergarten and beyond by focusing on their overall development, including academic, social, and emotional growth.

Early Academic Foundations

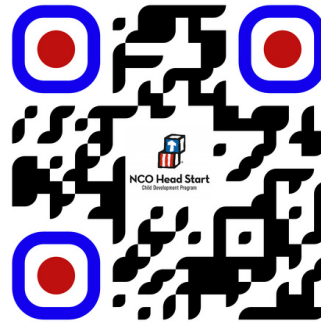

We emphasize early learning with play-based activities that develop key skills in reading, math, and critical thinking. Research shows that children in Head Start often start kindergarten with better vocabularies, letter recognition, and early math skills compared to those who didn't attend.

Individualized Learning Approaches

Our personalized approach is a major strength. We observe each child to understand their needs and strengths, tailoring their teaching methods accordingly. This ensures every child gets the support they need to thrive academically.

Parental Involvement

We recognize the vital role of families in education. We work closely with parents, encouraging involvement through regular communication, classroom participation, and resources for home learning. This collaboration improves children's academic outcomes and fosters a love of learning.
