SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The story of a 7-year-old boy’s health care journey will take the country by storm this year.

A larger-than-life image of UC Davis Children’s Hospital patient Shine Arslanian appears on the sides of two semitrucks from Knight Transportation and Swift Transportation.

The trucks also include photos of the Children’s Hospital transport team, a 24/7 unit that connects children such as Shine in 33 counties in Northern California, with specialized pediatric care at UC Davis Children’s Hospital.

Both trucks will cross the country in 2025. It is part of the trucking companies’ Fleet of Miracles campaign, which raises awareness for Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals.

Born five weeks early in 2017, Shine weighed just 4.5 pounds and was transported to UC Davis

Tdap Shot Urged as Whooping Cough Increases

California Department of Public Health News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - California is experiencing an increase in cases of whooping cough (also known as pertussis), a highly contagious bacterial disease that can be spread through coughing and can cause severe illness, especially in infants. California Department of Public Health is urging all Californians, especially those who are pregnant and those who provide care to infants, to be up to date on their Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis) vaccine to help prevent whooping cough.

Individuals vaccinated against whooping cough are protected against severe illness and complications due to whooping cough. These complications can be most severe in infants, causing apnea (dangerous pauses in breathing) and can be fatal.

More than 2,000 cases of whooping cough were reported statewide between January and October 2024. 62 of those cases were infants less than four months of age who were hospitalized, including one infant who tragically died. During the same time range in 2023, there were less than 400 whooping cough cases reported in the state.

“Since the COVID-19 pandemic has subsided, many practices that had lowered instances of whooping cough are no longer in place, and we’re seeing the disease return to pre-pandemic levels,” said Dr. Tomás J. Aragón, California Department of Public Health Director and State Public Health Officer. “Infants are particularly vulnerable and that’s why California Department of Public Health especially encourages people who are pregnant to receive the Tdap vaccine in their third trimester which will pass along protective antibodies to the baby.”

With whooping cough cases rising, ensure you are up to date on your whooping cough vaccine. Vaccination is recommended for all: Pregnant

SMF Secures Loan for Growth

Airports News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Build America Bureau has officially executed a Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (TIFIA) loan with Sacramento International Airport (SMF), marking the first time funding for an airport project has been secured under the program. The loan will provide critical financing for the new pedestrian walkway, offering significant cost savings and supporting long-term infrastructure improvements.

"We are grateful to our elected officials for assisting us in securing this loan on multiple fronts," said Cindy Nichol, Sacramento County's Director of Airports.

Rep. Ami Bera (D-CA, District 6) and Rep. Doris Matsui (D-CA, District 7) supported the pursuit of this loan. Rep. John Garamendi (D-CA, District 8) championed the Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act's expansion

At the end of each year, a revised series of population estimates from the census date forward is used to update the short-term projections for the population clock. Once the updated series of monthly projections is completed, the daily population clock values are derived by interpolation. Within each calendar month, the daily numerical population change is assumed to be constant, subject to negligible differences caused by rounding.

The Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act is a federal program offering low-interest loans to large-scale infrastructure projects historically focused on surface transportation. Under the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, signed by President Biden in 2021, Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act eligibility was expanded to include airport projects.

The Build America Bureau, as part of the U.S. Department of Transportation, offers expertise and guidance to access federal funding for qualified infrastructure projects.

“Being the first airport to close a TIFIA loan offers an incredible opportunity to improve infrastructure while keeping costs low for our airport and community,” said Nichol. “The combination of our rural qualification and TIFIA’s flexible terms made pursuing this financing a clear

SMF will benefit from the program's flexible terms, including low fixed interest rates, deferred repayments, and up to a 35-year repayment period. The $36.1 million Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act loan is projected to save SMF more than $15 million compared to traditional financing methods.

"The Pedestrian Walkway is part of the $1.3 billion SMForward capital campaign to modernize and enhance infrastructure," said Chris Wimsatt, Assistant Director of Airports for Sacramento County. "Ensuring SMF's ability to meet the needs of the traveling public today and in the future. The TIFIA program offers an innovative financing solution that allows us to modernize our facilities while keeping costs low."

Following the execution of this loan, Sacramento International Airport intends to pursue additional Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act financing for future projects. ★

Sacramento State Opens New Art Studio Lab

During the ceremony, Art department Chair Rachel Clarke thanked many of the people associated with the project.

“The new ASL affirms the Sacramento State Art department’s reputation as the preeminent institution to study art in Northern California,” Clarke said. “The high level of instruction, along with the excellent new facilities, will give students all the tools they need to succeed ... fulfilling the Art department’s mission to educate the next generation of artists, educators and scholars.”

The new Art Sculpture Lab replaces its predecessor, which served as a California Department of Fish and Wildlife warehouse from 1951 until 1971, when Sac State acquired it and utilized it as an art education and creation space.

Sac State broke ground on the new Art Sculpture Lab, which was designed by HGA and built by Otto Construction, on June 30, 2023. The University continues to offer potential donors opportunities to support the project, including naming the building and its rooms. Clarke said ongoing fundraising efforts, such as selling engraved bricks that are installed in key locations outside the building, have been successful.

“We are still looking for a building and studio naming donors because we would like to have a substantial endowment that we can use to support new initiatives, like the ASL sculpture garden and our 3D technology space,” Clarke said. “It will mean that we can continue to invest in and sustain the technology, machinery and equipment we use in our programs.”

The department originally planned to move students into the building this semester, but construction delays altered those plans.

Over winter break, the department will move in more equipment and furniture, including $300,000 worth of items funded by the University, as they prepare for students to use the new space full-time in the spring.

“We are on target to start teaching there at the beginning of next semester,” Clarke said. “In the spring, there will be drawing and painting classes, sculpture classes, and all the shops - wood, metal, wood construction, wax and plaster - will be in full use. The kilns will be working, and the grads will be in their studios.”

The old Art Sculpture Lab will be used by the department for the foreseeable future. The Art department produced a book commemorating the old structure that will be made available to donors of $250 or more, in addition to an engraved brick. The book will also be available at a donation level of $75.

The book was a collaboration with Photography Professor Eliza Gregory and her students. It includes photos from the last time the old Art Sculpture Lab was fully operational along with photos submitted by alumni and emeritus faculty, as well as interviews with former students and faculty.

Sac State President Luke Wood suggested the new structure will have significant long-term impact.

“This facility stands as a testament to what we can achieve together, and it will serve as a beacon of creativity and innovation for generations of Sacramento State students for years to come,” Wood said. “We are here to celebrate our ongoing commitment to providing innovative, hands-on learning experiences for our students and providing the space for our faculty that they need to guide our students as we they grow the next generation of artists.”

Master of Fine Arts graduate student Sokthea Chan, who also earned a bachelor’s degree in Studio Art from Sac State in 2014, talked about the importance of collaborative art spaces.

“I hope for the future of the new ASL there will be opportunities for artists in all fields to be able to connect with each other, have a collaborative space and also share innovative ideas with one another, regardless of where we are in our academic journey,” Chan said.

Amari C. Moore, a bachelor of Fine Arts student studying Studio Art, expressed gratitude for all the opportunities afforded by the Art department and compared the old and new spaces.

“(The old ASL) has been a place of learning, refining our gifts and talents while building this strong sense of community and friendship,” Moore said. “It is my hope that this new space will continue to do just that on an even bigger level.” ★

UC Davis Tallies Record Enrollment Numbers

By Julia Ann Easley
University of California, Davis

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The University of California, Davis, released systemwide enrollment statistics on Jan. 7. The University of California, Davis, welcomed one of its most diverse entering classes and became eligible to be one of the nation’s few research-intensive universities designated as a Hispanic-Serving Institution, as it enrolled a record 41,239 students in fall 2024.

At Davis, overall enrollment, including undergraduate, graduate and professional students as well as 1,174 veterinary and medical residents and interns, increased by 391 students, or 0.9%, over fall 2023.

UC Davis enrolled 9,443 new undergraduates: 6,767 as first-year students direct from high school, 2,656 as transfer students and 20 others seeking a second undergraduate degree.

In late October, UC Davis announced Latinx enrollment had reached a new peak of about 8,100 students or 25.1% of undergraduate full-time-equivalent students. That surpasses the U.S. Department of Education’s criteria of at least 25% to be considered a Hispanic-Serving Institution.

The campus has long-sought Hispanic-Serving Institution designation to underscore its commitment to serving Latinx students.

The status would also make the university eligible to apply for competitive grants from the federal government and foundations to support student success, innovation and institutional transformation benefiting all students.

The campus already secured the federal government’s status as a Minority Serving Institution in 2019 when it was designated an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander-Serving Institution.

The new undergraduates come from 56 of California’s 58 counties, 47 states and U.S. territories, and 48 countries. Approximately 83.4% are California residents, 4.6% are U.S. domestic students from outside California, and 12.1% are international students.

Among new California undergraduates, the percentage of students from historically underrepresented groups (African American, American Indian, Hispanic/Latino(a) and Pacific Islander) increased to 37.5%, the highest percentage in more than 25 years. Last fall, the percentage was 36.2%.

Among the new students, 40.8% indicated they would be in the first generation of their family to graduate from a four-year university.

About 31.3% of all new undergraduates were considered low income, and 38.8% were recipients of the federal Pell Grant for low-income students.

Robert Penman, executive director of Undergraduate Admissions, said the average grade point average for first-year students was 4.04, and the median was 4.08.

More than 75% of first-year students had a weighted GPA above 3.92. ★

Shine has had 17 surgeries to date, including the amputation of his legs above the knee at 2 years old. Still, Shine has not let these challenges hold him back and he hopes to be a Paralympic athlete one day.

“We’re really hoping that our story can be a message of hope to other families,” said Shine’s mother, Jamie Duby.

The semitrucks made a special stop on the UC Davis Health campus last week, giving hospital employees, as well as Shine and his first-grade class, the opportunity to see them up close.

“I like it,” declared Shine when he first saw himself on the trucks.

Disaster-Prone California Should Adopt a Preventive Approach, Rather Than a Reactive One

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

As horrific as they may be, the wildfires sweeping through Los Angeles neighborhoods, destroying homes and businesses and killing dozens of people, are certainly not unprecedented. Rather, they join a California continuum of natural and human-caused disasters that have afflicted the state throughout its history — fires most recently, but also earthquakes, floods, dam collapses and deadly riots. It’s as if Californians must endure periodic calamities as the cosmic cost of enjoying unmatched attributes of weather, scenic beauty, mineral wealth and enormous amounts of arable land. Precisely 60 years ago, for example, the ruggedly beautiful northwestern corner of California coped with immensely destructive flooding from epic storms. The Eel River basin received 22 inches of rain in just two days. Several small towns along the Eel and Klamath rivers were destroyed, drowned in as much as 50 feet of water, and dozens of state and local bridges were demolished, isolating the region. The federal government even sent naval ships, including an aircraft carrier, to bring relief supplies and assist in search and rescue efforts. Less than a year earlier,

Crescent City, a Del Norte County town afflicted by the floods, had been clobbered by a tsunami touched off by a massive earthquake in Alaska. The persistence of disasters befalling California is underscored by just one data point: During Pete Wilson’s governorship in the 1990s, every California county was declared a disaster area at least once, and several times in some counties. Wilson’s emergencies included the 1994 Northridge Earthquake, the 1992 Rodney King riots and heavy flooding in 1997 that sparked disaster declarations in 48 of the state’s 58 counties. Simultaneously during his time in office, California experienced the worst recession since the Great Depression, a severe drought and was just beginning to recover from the 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake in the San Francisco Bay Area that destroyed a section of the Bay Bridge, among other things. It was as if the four horse-men of the apocalypse were galloping across California, dragging Wilson behind them. To his credit, Wilson figuratively shrugged his shoulders and assumed the role of crisis manager, even though, ironically, the disasters undermined his plans for “preventive government” that would deal with issues before they became crises. If disasters of one kind or another are baked into California’s existence, what could be done to mitigate their impacts? When it comes to floods and wildfires, we could — if we had the political will — either stop building homes in areas prone to flood or fire, or at least impose strict standards on construction to make buildings less vulnerable, as we do for earthquakes. There is some anecdotal evidence that homes built with fire-resistant materials, including non-flammable roofs, have fared better in the Los Angeles fires. We could start by imposing tough new building standards when neighborhoods scorched by current fires are rebuilt. We also need to plan for better escape routes and install better systems for warning people to evacuate. The narrow winding streets in Southern California’s upscale communities became death traps for some. Finally, we need a new approach to insurance coverage. Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara is finalizing a new regulatory system that would let insurers include estimates of future losses and costs of reinsurance in their premiums, hoping that it would prop up a very unstable market. Maybe we should go beyond that. Maybe we need the state to provide basic casualty coverage in a master statewide policy financed by mandatory fees on property, with the option for property owners to purchase supplemental coverage. If disasters are unavoidable in California, we need to accept that fact and adopt Pete Wilson’s preventive approach, rather than merely reacting after the fact. Dan Walters is one of most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state’s political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★

Tips Offered as Tax Filing Season Begins

Franchise Tax Board News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Franchise Tax Board (FTB) kicked off the 2025 tax filing season on Jan. 7 by providing taxpayers with vital information regarding cash-back tax credits, disaster loss relief, and the advantages of filing and making payments electronically. Taxpayers must pay any taxes owed by April 15 to avoid penalties.

“I encourage all California taxpayers to file their taxes early to take advantage of valuable tax credits that can provide essential financial resources to themselves and their families,” said State Controller and FTB Chair Malia M. Cohen. “I also invite Californians to make the most of FTB’s online services, including e-filing and selecting direct deposit to a bank account, which can significantly expedite their refunds.”

E-file for Faster and Secure Refunds. File your taxes for free using the IRS Direct File and the Franchise Tax Board’s CalFile. CalFile allows most Californians to e-file their state tax returns quickly, easily, and for free. Eligible Californians can file their federal taxes online using Direct File, and then they will be directed to CalFile to complete their state return. Direct File provides a simple way to file federal tax returns securely and accurately. For information about Direct File eligibility, please visit www.directfile.irs.gov.

Find Your Answers Online. Taxpayers are encouraged to use Franchise Tax Board’s 24/7 online self-service options to avoid potentially long delays when contacting FTB. Last year, millions of taxpayers visited the FTB website, www.ftb.ca.gov. Self-service options available through the website include checking your refund status, making a payment, determining whether you should file, figuring out which form to file and viewing our processing and wait times.

If you receive a suspicious letter from the FTB or IRS, contact FTB at 800-852-5711 or the IRS at 800-829-1040. ★

Sac City Unified Reaches Deal with Labor Union

Sacramento City Unified School District News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento City Unified School District Board of Education unanimously approved a new two-year contract with Service Employees International Union, the labor partner representing hundreds of nutrition services workers, bus drivers, school office managers, instructional aides, technology support specialists, and other administrative and support staff.

The contract includes a 2% salary increase for all unit members retroactive to July 1, 2023, and a 4% salary increase for all unit members retroactive to July 1, 2024.

The new contract also adjusts the main Service Employees International Union salary schedule to address salary compaction among the lowest-paid employees. It minimizes the district’s use of outside contractors and streamlines employee transfer and promotion language.

“This new contract demonstrates the district’s commitment to leveling compensation and uplifting some of our lowest-paid employees to a status that is more reflective of their immense value to the families and students we serve,” said Jasjit Singh, President of the Sacramento City Unified School District Board of Education.

“We are thrilled to announce the approval of a fair and forward-thinking contract that delivers much-needed salary increases and strong language to support our members, including our district’s lowest-paid employees,” said Karla Faucett, Service Employees International Union Chapter President. “This agreement not only addresses the critical need for competitive pay to retain and attract talented classified workers but also assists in filling vacancies as we continue to recruit and hire for essential positions needed to support the students we serve. Together, we’re building a brighter future for our schools, staff, and community,” said Faucett.

The district and Service Employees International Union look forward to beginning a new round of contract negotiations in the spring and working collaboratively toward an agreement for the 2025-2026 academic year. ★

What’s it To You?

I first met Bill at Baylor University. He was a fellow ministerial student who imprinted his fraternity shirt with a mock Latin phrase, “Quid tibi est?”

In 1978, Google was still a long way off, so my fellow pledges asked him to translate it.

“What’s it to you?” he asked with some defiance.

“Oh, come on,” we implored, “Just tell us what it means.”

Regarding us as lowly plebes, he weighted his last two words, “What’s it TO YOU?”

The puzzle game went on a few minutes until we heard the literal translation – “What’s-it-to-you?”

Game, set match. He had us.

But, I just shrugged it off because I’d dealt with folks like him in my past who were sanctimonious, always a self proclaimed expert who never offered any level ground to those of us who were searching.

One of my earliest such encounters was a church youth group leader named Sherry.

She always flashed bright smile before she pitched her loaded question, “Have you received the gift of the Holy Spirit?”

The question is a fallacious one, much like the one “Have you stopped beating your wife?”

It was impossible to give Sherry a good answer. If I said, “Yes, I’m full of the spirit,” she’d lay out her Bible like a religious yardstick to determine if my holy spirit measured up to hers.

If I said “No,” I confirmed her first impression that I wasn’t a good Christian.

Worse yet, a “no” answer brought the worst question, “Do you want to speak in tongues?”

This question was a reference to the ecstatic and unintelligible language spoken by thousands of people in charismatic churches. But, no, I wasn’t ready for that one.

I bring up the examples of Bill and Sherrie because I suspect that some of you have been turned off religion by people like them. If so, you’re the victim of the loaded questions fired by the pious church goers into innocent bystanders.

These inquisitors are trying to reduce your spirituality to some kind of test that only they can pass with questions such as: “Don’t you believe in Jesus? Don’t you want the spirit in your life?” or “If you were to die tonight, did you know you’ll go to hell?”

How do you answer questions like that from folks like this?

Fellow columnist Carolyn Hax suggests that we regard people’s “nutritional label” and ask if they are worth the time. If not, she says, “Friends with a low decency content need to be treated as junk food.”

I think this is true in our efforts to find a spiritual community too. Some people and places are just gonna be junk food, but we can also find quality people when we make the effort to look for them.

At the end of the day, spiritual junk food doesn’t “fill” you any more than this woman’s version of the “holy” spirit. You only encounter God through a spiritual relationship. And like all relationships, you ask questions, you must dialogue, you can even lose your temper, but you will also learn to laugh at yourself and forgive others.

In the meantime, to all you who’ve had someone discourage you from involvement with the local church, I leave with the strategy suggested in one more psudo-Latin phrase, “Illegitimi non carborundum.”

The humorous phrase originated as an informal motto in the British Armed Forces.

It roughly means, “Don’t let the idiots get you down,” but if you Google it you’ll find a more colorful version mock-Latin aphorism that is best left out of this family newspaper. ★

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

Who’s the hottest team in the NBA right now?! Well, if you’re Steve Kerr, he’s telling his Golden State Warriors it’s the Sacramento Kings, as the former world champs embark on their short journey from the bay area to Golden One Arena on Wednesday night.

Winners of 9 out of the last 10 games, only the Milwaukee Bucks kept the Kings from riding a 10-game win streak.

Solid playoff bound teams like the Celtics, Bulls, and Rockets met with the defensive minded Sactown boys, and each came away wondering what just hit them.

Is there reason for optimism in Sacramento? You bet there is, and if there’s one thing the Kings need to be caution of, it’s making an ill-advised trade.

You find many fans or commentators that will argue that the Kings need to strengthen their front court, and the reason is that the current alignment is not living up to their billing.

Third year player, and much lauded Keegan Murray is having a subpar season, and if he doesn’t watch out, fans will stop looking at him as a 3-point shooter. As of late, Keegan has made more impact on the boards and on defense than he has as a shooter. Sadly, in a 23-point blow-out of the Wizards, Keegan contributed only 4 points and failed to connect on all 5 of his 3-point attempts.

Not to be left out, Trey Lyles, who has been playing abysmal basketball as of late, scored only 4 points as well, while taking up 20 minutes of play on the hardwood.

Once considered the Kings 3-point assassin, Kevin Huerter took a total of six 3-point shots, connecting on just one. So, Murray, Lyles, and Huerter made exactly one 3-point field goal while putting in a combined 61 minutes of play on the hardwood.

Why do I point out the negatives with the Kings winning 9 out of 10 games and climbing above the 500 mark? Sadly, none of the three just mentioned are likely to bring anything of value on the trade market.

While Keegan Murray held significant value on the trade market just one year ago, his interest and value has dropped to an all-time low, and many teams are likely not interested in Keegan at all.

Similarly, Kevin Huerter is fortunate to make a basket from 3-point land at all, and the former starter for the Kings and 3-point specialist is likely to fall into the same disinterest category as Keegan Murray.

As for Lyles, like Keegan, he’s having a subpar performance in 2024/2025, and his lack of offensive productivity will likely garnish him little interest from other teams.

Unfortunately, while teams turn away from trade offers for Murray, Lyles, and Huerter, they will be coming strong for players like Fox, Monk, and possibly even Keon Ellis.

Of all the players the Kings have currently, it’s possible that Keon Ellis has the most prolific upside. Ellis remarkably is supplanting other players on the team, as a Bonafide 3-point shooter. In Sunday night’s win over the Washington Wizards, all Keon did was score 18 points in 18 minutes, while connecting on six 3-point shots to lead all players from beyond the arc.

Pay attention Sacramento, and I’m talking to you Monte McNair. Keon Ellis brings game on both ends of the court.

Sabonis remains untouchable if there is such a term in NBA circles today, but the gossip surrounding DeAaron Fox needs to die down, as any trade involving Fox from this writer’s perspective is a bad idea.

The Kings need to hold the fort, pay little attention to trades involving Fox and Monk, and hope that Murray, Lyles, and Huerter will return to some form on shooting acumen. Slumps don’t last forever, and the fact that the Kings have played with such assiduous vigor and success over the past 3 weeks gives Sactown some much-needed breathing room.

Shout-out to Domantas Sabonis for taking player of the week in the Western Conference last week, and continuing to lead the league in rebounding and double-double’s once again. Appreciate this remarkable big man, he’s possibly the best we’ve ever had.

All the best Kings fans and enjoy this team!

people between 27 and 36 weeks of pregnancy, even if they have received Tdap in the past.
Adults, every 10 years.
Adolescents aged 11 or 12 years (Tdap vaccine is also required for 7th grade advancement in California).

Infants and young children receive their own whooping cough (DTaP) vaccines starting at 2 months through 4-6 years of age. Babies and children who haven't had all recommended doses are more likely to have serious complications.

Talk to your doctor or pharmacist about which vaccines are right for you and your family.
People with whooping cough have severe coughing attacks that can last for months. Infants too young for vaccination are at greatest risk for hospitalization and death.
Early signs of whooping cough are similar to symptoms of the common cold such as a runny or stuffy nose and low-grade fever. Babies with whooping cough may have trouble breathing, turn blue or stop breathing.

To protect infants from whooping cough, California Department of Public Health strongly urges maternal immunization with Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis) vaccine in the last trimester (between 27 and 36 weeks) of every pregnancy. When given during pregnancy, Tdap is approximately 90% effective in preventing infant hospitalizations due to whooping cough. It is also beneficial for all family members and caregivers of newborns to receive either the Tdap (for adults and children older than seven) or DTaP (for those seven years of age or younger) vaccines to prevent spreading whooping cough to infants.

These vaccines are safe and effective and can be received at the same time as flu, COVID, or RSV vaccines.
Tdap vaccines are widely available at many doctor offices and pharmacies. Schedule a vaccine appointment by visiting MyTurn.ca.gov or contacting your local pharmacy or health care provider.
Most health insurance plans, including Medi-Cal, cover Tdap vaccines. Individuals experiencing difficulty finding a place to get immunized may contact their health care provider or local health department for help.

The Vaccines For Children (VFC) program is a federally funded program that provides vaccines at no cost to children (18 and younger) who might not otherwise be vaccinated because of an inability to pay. Contact your doctor to learn if they are enrolled in Vaccines For Children or visit MyTurn to find a location based on your eligibility.

Whooping cough (pertussis) activity in California is on the rise, with more than 2,000 reported cases and one infant death between the months of January and October of 2024.
Everyone who is between 27 and 36 weeks pregnant and family members or caregivers of infants should get the Tdap/DTaP vaccination to help protect infants and young children against serious illness and hospitalization. ★

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - As the new year begins, Sacramento County is highlighting the importance of a healthy start by recognizing January as Substance Use Disorder Treatment Month. Many might unknowingly celebrate this month with positive “new year, new me” changes such as “Dry January,” which encourages individuals to limit or eliminate their consumption of alcohol and drugs to promote physical and mental well-being. This is also a great opportunity to evaluate your relationship with drugs and alcohol and seek treatment if needed.

Substance use disorder affects countless individuals and families, often showing signs that can be easily overlooked. These warning signs include drastic changes in mood or behavior, such as irritability, impulsivity or depression, as well as shifts in eating or sleeping habits, memory blackouts and neglect of home or work

2024 Seventh-Best Year for Region’s New Home Sales

North State Building Industry Association News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Well above-average new home sales in December pushed sales for the year to just under 7,000, making 2024 the seventh-best year for sales in the Sacramento region since the North State Building Industry Association (BIA) began keeping records.

The Building Industry Association announced Jan. 7 that its members reported selling 398 new homes in December, bringing the yearly total to 6,993. That figure is up 8% from 2023 and is 35% higher than the average year since records began being kept in 1997.

Building Industry Association President and CEO Tim Murphy said area builders are optimistic that the market for new homes will remain robust in 2025.

“While mortgage interest rates remain higher than expected, there is still high demand for new homes, and we are optimistic that trend will continue into 2025,” Murphy said. “Many builders are able to offer incentives that make new homes more affordable, and the advantages of buying new are clearly a major selling point as well.”

December’s sales total was down 24% from November, which is normal as December is historically the slowest month for builders. Sales for the month were even with December 2023 and were 24% above the monthly average. As with sales for the year, it was the seventh-best December on record.

For the year, Rancho Cordova nosed out Roseville for the most sales with 620, five sales more than the usual leader. Sacramento was third with 431, followed by Elk Grove (428) and Folsom (331.) Note that total sales for 2024 have been trued up by including statistics for a handful of builders who do not report on a monthly basis. Thus, the monthly figures and the annual total for 2024 are different.

Building Industry Association statistics include sales by members in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sutter, Yolo and Yuba counties. ★

CalPERS Commits Billions to Climate Solutions

CalPERS News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Public Employees' Retirement System (CalPERS) recently announced it has committed more than $53 billion toward investing in climate solutions as part of a growing global transition toward a low-carbon economy.

The milestone comes one year after CalPERS launched its $100 Billion Climate Action Plan. The plan is a key component of CalPERS' Sustainable Investments 2030 Strategy which, in addition to identifying opportunities for growth, seeks to reduce investment risks by cutting the emissions intensity of the fund's portfolio in half by the end of 2030 and achieving Net Zero emissions by 2050.

"The energy transition underway represents one of the biggest investment opportunities in history," said CalPERS Chief Executive Officer Marcie Frost. "We are providing the capital necessary to plant the seed for the low-carbon economy of the future."

CalPERS had identified $47 billion in existing climate-focused investments when the plan was launched last November. Those investments are now valued at $50 billion. In addition, CalPERS has made new commitments of $3.6 billion in climate solution investments over the past year, divided between private equity and infrastructure.

Through a partnership with Brookfield, a global investment firm that acquired a stake in FirstEnergy Transmission, the CalPERS plan provides support for initiatives focused on the clean energy transition, including investments to enhance power grid reliability across multiple Midwest and Mid-Atlantic states.

CalPERS climate investments also include a private equity investment partnership with TPG Rise Climate.

The fund focuses on scaling climate solutions globally and the partnership seeks to invest and collaborate in opportunities across the fund's core themes including energy transition, green mobility, sustainable fuels and molecules, and carbon solutions.

Climate solutions funded by CalPERS over the past year include an investment in Octopus Energy, a fast-growing renewable energy company based in the United Kingdom. The company uses an advanced operating system to power 6 million homes in the UK, 60 million homes globally, and is expanding its operations into the United States.

"We believe that making sound, long-term investments in climate solutions will generate outperformance while also providing the clean energy needed to meet the increased demands that people have for their homes, cars and technology," said CalPERS Chief Investment Officer

Stephen Gilmore. Beyond the fully executed deals, officials are reviewing an additional $3.2 billion in climate-related investments. Some of these investments could be finalized in the coming weeks and months. The $100 Billion Climate Action Plan seeks investments aimed at climate adaptation, transition, and mitigation efforts. The plan is a partnership between the CalPERS Sustainable Investments team and the teams that manage the fund's various asset classes, working together to identify key investing opportunities. ★

Sacramento State University Athletics News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sacramento State Softball’s 12th-year head coach Lori Perez announced the team's 2025 schedule, which is comprised of 50 games, including 27 at Shea Stadium.

This year’s regular season schedule, which also includes 17 road games and six at neutral sites, runs from Feb. 6 until May 9. The Hornets will play in three preseason tournaments, including a pair of annual home events, NorCal Kickoff (Feb. 6-9) and Capital Classic (Feb. 28-March 2).

The Big Sky Tournament will take place in Greeley, Colo., May 6-9, and should the Hornets win the title, they would compete at NCAA Regionals beginning May 16.

Sacramento State is coming off a 2024 season in which the team finished with a 28-20 overall record and 7-4 in the Big Sky Conference. The Hornets went 2-2 at the Big Sky Tournament and fell one victory shy of reaching the tourney title game.

Sacramento State returns just 12 players from a year ago, as the team welcomes 14 new players to the program. The Hornets graduated 11 seniors from last season’s team.

Of the Hornets’ 35 non-conference games, 26 will be played in the state of California. The Hornets will travel to Hawaii for the Spring Fling (Feb. 13-15) and play a three-game set at Oregon State (March 15-16). Sacramento State will play 18 non-league games at home, including the two tournaments, and home dates with UC Davis, BYU, Fresno State, Cal, Stanford, Pacific, Loyola Marymount and Columbia. The LMU games are a three-game set the weekend before conference play begins.

Sacramento State will play 15 Big Sky games featuring the usual three-game series format with doubleheaders on Fridays and single games on Saturday between March 28 and April 26.

In conference play, the Hornets will host three-game series vs. Idaho State (March 28-29), Northern Colorado (April 11-12) and Weber State (April 18-19). Road series will take place at Portland State (April 4-5) and Montana (April 25-26).

Sacramento State’s coaching staff has two new additions, first-year assistant coach Marina Demore, and first-year student assistant Lewa Day. Demore will serve as the pitching coach after spending the 2024 season as interim head coach at Nevada. Day recently completed her playing career at Sacramento State (2020-24) in which she established herself as one of the greatest players to wear the Green and Gold.

Every home game (schedule permitting), and road games against a Big Sky opponent, will stream on ESPN+. ★

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Ahead of their temporary move to Sutter Health Park in West Sacramento for the next three seasons, the Athletics got a taste of the passion from sports fans in the area while attending a Sacramento Kings game just down the road at Golden 1 Center.

A’s manager Mark Kotsay and players Brent Rooker, Lawrence Butler, JP Sears and JJ Bleday were treated to courtside seats and took in a thrilling Kings victory in double overtime. Throughout the night, the group was frequently stopped by fans in the arena who expressed their excitement about having a new Major League team in town.

“Going to that [Kings] game was our first taste of Sacramento as a sports town,” Rooker said. “Seeing the passion that the fans had for that team made us hungry to get out there and put a good product on the field so we could experience the same thing.”

That Sacramento sports fan fervor is expected to translate to baseball, as the Athletics announced on Friday that 2025 season tickets for their inaugural season at Sutter Health Park in West Sacramento have sold out.

Limited single-game tickets will go on sale in late January. Further details on the pricing of those tickets and promotional and fan events will be shared ahead of the on-sale date.

The A’s inaugural game at Sutter Health Park is set for Monday, March 31 against the Cubs. The home schedule includes matchups against the Padres (April 7-9), Mets (April 11-13), Phillies (May 23-25), Giants (July 4-6), Braves (July 8-10), D-backs (Aug. 1-3), and Reds (Sept. 12-14).

“I think it’ll end up playing to our advantage,” Sears said of playing at Sutter Health Park. “It seems like they’re going to pack it out every night and support us pretty strong. The clubhouse facilities and those facilities we toured looked really nice and upgraded. ... I haven’t been this excited for a baseball season in my life.” ★

City of Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Two members of the Sacramento City Council have been appointed by Mayor Kevin McCarty and unanimously confirmed by the City Council for leadership posts.

The Council on Jan. 7 approved Councilmember Karina Talamantes (District 3) as vice-mayor and Councilmember Eric Guerra (District 6) as mayor pro tempore for 2025. Vice-mayor and mayor pro tempore appointments typically last for a calendar year.

The vice-mayor and mayor pro tempore chair meetings in the mayor’s absence and often represent the city in public if the mayor is unable to be present. Councilmember Caity Maple (District 5) served as vice-mayor and Councilmember Talamantes (District 3) was mayor pro tempore in 2024.

“Vice-Mayor Talamantes and Mayor Pro Tem Guerra bring valuable experience to their new roles,” McCarty said. “I am confident they will serve our city with dedication and help us continue making progress on the important work ahead.”

The City Council also recently approved

McCarty’s appointments for the formal committees that make up the city’s governance structure. Those committees are Law and Legislation, Personnel and Public Employees, Budget and Audit and the Racial Equity Committee. Those appointments include:

Law and Legislation: Roger Dickinson, Rick Jennings, Caity Maple (chair) and Phil Plukebaum.

Personnel and Public Employees: Rick Jennings (chair), Lisa Kaplan, Karina Talamantes and Mai Vang.

Budget and Audit: Roger Dickinson (chair), Eric Guerra, Caity Maple and Karina Talamantes.

Racial Equity: Eric Guerra, Rick Jennings, Karina Talamantes and Mai Vang (chair).

McCarty also appointed councilmembers to represent the city on regional governance bodies such as the Sacramento Area Council of Governments and joint powers authorities such as the Sacramento Housing and Redevelopment Agency.

New Law Inspired by Ex-Lawmaker’s DUI Adds to Alcohol Education in California Schools

By Ryan Sabalow, CALMatters.org

California public school students will get additional coursework on the harms of alcohol in 2025, thanks to a new law from a former lawmaker whose drunken driving arrest inspired her legislation.

In September, Gov. Gavin Newsom signed Assembly Bill 2865 by former Los Angeles Democratic Assemblymember Wendy Carrillo, whose DUI last year helped derail her political career.

California schools are already required to provide instruction about alcohol, narcotics and other dangerous drugs. This bill would require that schools also provide instruction about the short- and long-term harms of excessive drinking — including alcohol’s link to chronic diseases, mental health problems and deaths.

As she pitched her bill to her colleagues in 2024, Carrillo told them that it was important for students to learn about alcohol’s consequences in the hopes they don’t go down the path she did.

“I wish I would have known in high school what I know now,” she said at one hearing. “I would have made different choices.”

On Nov. 3, 2023, Carrillo crashed into parked cars in Northeast Los Angeles. Police said her blood-alcohol level was twice the legal limit, according to the Los Angeles Times. She ended up pleading no contest to the DUI in the middle of her race for Los Angeles City Council, which she lost. Because

Carrillo said her DUI was a wake up call for her. She said she started going to therapy and became sober. As she reflected on her life, she said her own struggles with booze began at an early age. And she was troubled by how prevalent alcohol is in society, despite its documented dangers.

Alcohol is a National and Global Health Issue

According to federal health officials, alcohol-related diseases kill 178,000 people in the U.S. each year, and death rates are increasing. Noting that alcohol causes at least seven types of cancer, including bowel and breast cancers, the World Health Organization last year declared that “when it comes to alcohol consumption, there is no safe amount.”

Carrillo testified that 54 Californians die each day from alcohol.

“I want young people to learn early how something that is so legally and easily accessible can do so much harm if not consumed with more knowledge and more responsibility,” she told her colleagues.

Her bill passed without any lawmakers voting against it.

What Law Will Do

Under the new law, school boards can decide which grades receive the new instruction. They can ask the state for reimbursements for the costs of instruction, training and updates to instructional materials, said Nicholas Filipas, a spokesperson for the California Department of Education.

At the San Juan Unified School District in the Sacramento region, educators shouldn’t have trouble rolling the bill’s requirements into their schools’ curriculum, said Raj Rai, a spokesperson for the district, which educates about 39,000 students.

“Alcohol education has been embedded into our high school health class curriculum for quite some time,” Rai said in an email. “Our curriculum team will review the currently adopted health materials to see if anything additional is needed to meet the new requirements.”

The district already has several programs that teach students grades six through 12 about the harms of alcohol and drugs with the goal of reducing or eliminating teen substance abuse.

The district’s high schools also regularly participate in California’s Highway Patrol’s “Every 15 Minutes,” Rai said.

The CHP describes the program as challenging teens to “think about drinking, driving, personal safety, the responsibility of making mature decisions and the impact their decisions have on family, friends, their community, and many others.”

Ryan Sabalow is a Digital Democracy reporter for CalMatters. A graduate of Chico State University, he began his career covering local news for the Auburn Journal in Placer County and The Record Searchlight in Redding. ★
