County Unveils 2030 Climate Action and Adaptation Plan

Yolo County News Release

YOLO COUNTY, CA (MPG) -

Yolo County has adopted its groundbreaking 2030 Climate Action and Adaptation Plan (CAAP), unanimously approved by the Board of Supervisors on Dec. 3, 2024. This visionary plan positions Yolo County as a regional leader in the fight against climate change, charting a bold path to achieving a carbon-negative footprint by 2030, one of the most ambitious climate goals of any local government in the United States, while prioritizing equity at every

The development of the Climate Action and Adaptation Plan began in 2020 when the Yolo County Board of Supervisors adopted a Climate Emergency Resolution (Resolution No. 20-114), recognizing the urgent need to address climate change impacts including increased wildfires, extreme weather events, and their associated effects on public health, agriculture, and infrastructure. The resolution directed staff to develop a plan to achieve a carbon-negative footprint by 2030.

"Yolo County is already experiencing impacts from the changing climate, and we know we need to take immediate action to reduce our emissions and protect our residents," said Supervisor Lucas Frerichs. "This plan reflects the county's unwavering dedication to equity and advancing solutions that will build a more resilient. sustainable community for generations to come."

At the heart of the Climate Action and Adaptation Plan is a commitment to ensuring a just transition for all residents. # Yolo County Superintendent of Schools Statement on Sensitive Locations Policy Overturn

Yolo County Office of Education News Release

WOODLAND, CA (MPG) -

On Jan. 20, the Trump Administration rescinded the federal government's "sensitive locations" policy. The sensitive locations guidance was issued in 2021 and expanded on 2011 guidance issued by the federal government. This guidance limited immigration enforcement activities at or near schools, childcare centers, churches and hospitals unless there was an immediate public safety threat.

In response to the federal government's update, Garth Lewis, Yolo County Superintendent of Schools, issued the following statement.

"The Yolo County education community remains committed to ensuring that all children and youth in our communities have equal access to quality education and the resources they need to thrive. The federal administration's directive to rescind protections for sensitive locations (such as schools, churches, and hospitals) from ICE enforcement actions undermines the trust and safety essential to our communities. These spaces are pillars of support, learning, and healing, not places for fear and intimidation. This policy shift threatens to disrupt the educational environment and instill unnecessary anxiety in children, youth and families.

The Yolo County Office of Education firmly opposes this directive. We reaffirm our unwavering commitment to supporting all children, youth, and families in our communities, regardless of immigration status. Our schools will continue to be safe spaces where students can learn, grow, and thrive without fear.

In Yolo County, we stand united in our dedication to equity, inclusion, and the well-being of every student. We will not allow federal policy to compromise the safety and dignity of those we serve. Schools are places of learning and opportunity, and I will continue to work with district superintendents, other educational leaders in our communities, and state and local legislators to ensure they remain so."

Additional information and resources about immigration rights and schools can be found on the Yolo County Office of Education website at www.ycoe.org *

Equity and Engagement Technical Advisory Committee coordinated more than 80 community engagement events throughout the plan development process, including community pop-up events, bilingual public workshops, and presentations to local community groups. Furthermore, more than 1,000 community members responded to planning surveys, ensuring the Climate Action and Adaptation Plan reflects the needs and aspirations of Yolo County residents and that the benefits of the plan extend to everyone, particularly those most vulnerable to the impacts of climate

The Climate Action and Adaptation Plan outlines a robust framework designed to achieve its ambitious goals through 10 transformative strategies, 40 specific measures and 180 detailed actions across critical sectors such as on- and off-road transportation, energy consumption, natural and working lands, water, and solid waste. Phase I Implementation begins this month and will direct resources to Yolo County communities, including through the launch of home weatherization and electrification rebate assistance programs for eligible community members.

In addition to outlining measures for reducing greenhouse gas emissions associated with transportation and building energy use, the two greatest sources of emissions in Yolo County, the plan emphasizes support for nature-based solutions to achieve the carbon-negative goal.

Led by the Yolo County Resource Conservation District, a Natural and Working Lands Technical Advisory Committee comprised of farmers and ranchers identified a set of priority conservation and management practices that enhanced carbon sequestration and also improved soil health and protected the natural resources vital to Yolo County's agricultural and rural communities. By fostering sustainable practices and innovative approaches, the Climate Action and Adaptation Plan promises to create healthier ecosystems, bolster local economies and enhance the quality of life for all residents.

"Agriculture is at the heart of Yolo County's identity and economy," said Kristen Wraithwall, Yolo County sustainability manager. "This plan is a testament to our commitment to supporting the agricultural community as a vital partner in building a sustainable and resilient future."

As implementation begins, the county is dedicated to transparency and accountability. Staff will provide regular updates to the Board of Supervisors and will be launching a public-facing Climate Action and Adaptation Plan Tracking Dashboard where community members will be able to monitor progress on individual plan actions.

Bird Flu Detected in Yolo County Backyard Poultry Flock

All birds in the affected backyard flock have died or been euthanized, so there is no ongoing risk to other animals or humans. New birds were introduced into the flock from a source in another county days before the birds began exhibiting symptoms, making it likely that the infection was acquired elsewhere and imported into Yolo County. Yolo County Public Health is monitoring two people exposed to the affected birds; both remain asymptomatic.

"The detection of bird flu in a backyard poultry flock in Yolo County is not unexpected given the widespread nature of bird flu in California poultry and dairy cows," said Dr. Aimee Sisson, Yolo County's public health officer. "The risk to the general public from bird flu remains low, although people who work with dairy cows, poultry, or wildlife are at increased risk and should wear personal protective equipment when working with these animals. To protect themselves from bird flu, Yolo County residents should not touch wild birds, sick or dead wildlife and should avoid consumption of raw milk or raw dairy products."

In addition to previous detections of bird flu in wild birds in Yolo County, influenza A (H5N1) has also been detected sporadically and at low levels in wastewater in the cities of Davis and Woodland since late November 2024, likely related to dairy products.

The current bird flu outbreak in the United States and California involves transmission of bird flu from wild birds to poultry and cows, and then from cows and poultry to humans. While 38 human cases of bird flu have occurred in California since August 2024, no person-to-person spread of bird flu has been detected in California and all cases have been associated with mild illness. All but two of California's human cases have occurred in dairy workers.

Bird flu is caused by a virus that can spread from infected animals to people by breathing in dust or droplets with the virus; splashing raw milk into the eyes, nose, or mouth; touching the eyes, nose, or mouth with unwashed hands after handling raw milk, cow or bird feces, sick or dead animals, or other contaminated surfaces; and potentially through consumption of raw dairy products. Symptoms of bird flu are similar to those of other respiratory diseases, including fever, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, body aches, and eye redness or discharge. The risk to the general public from bird flu is currently low. To protect against infection, members of the public should avoid contact with sick or dead animals and avoid contact with wild birds, which may appear healthy despite being infected. People should also avoid raw milk and dairy products because they may contain live bird flu virus. Pasteurized milk products are safe to drink. and cooked beef and poultry products remain safe to eat. Pasteurization and cooking destroy the bird flu virus. People who come into contact with cows, poultry, wild birds, or other wildlife are at increased risk of bird flu exposure and infection. These individuals should wear personal protective equipment when coming into contact with animals, including an N95 respirator, eye protection, gloves, coveralls, and boots (and/ or change their clothes and shoes). Individuals should also wash their hands before eating, drinking, or touching their face.

Bird flu infections in Californians have been mild to date, but public health experts warn that the bird flu virus could evolve into something capable of causing more severe disease and/ or able to spread from person-to-person. U.S., state, and local public health departments continue to monitor the bird flu situation closely. In the meantime, they recommend that residents receive a seasonal flu vaccine, which will reduce the likelihood of an individual becoming infected with both bird flu and seasonal flu at the same time. Such a co-infection can create an opportunity for the bird flu virus to progress.

For more information about bird flu in California, visit the California Department of Public Health's Bird Flu website and the California Department of Food and Agriculture's (CDFA) on poultry and dairy infections. The California Department of Food and Agriculture is the lead agency working with poultry and livestock producers across the state to address the current outbreak. Recently, the California Department of Food and Agriculture placed a ban on poultry and dairy cattle exhibitions at fairs and shows in order to protect the remaining unaffected herds and flocks across California.

Infant Formula Thieves Charged with Multiple Felonies

Yolo County District Attorney's Office News Release

WOODLAND, CA (MPG) - On Jan. 22, the Yolo County District Attorney's Office filed multiple theft-related felony charges against Bryce Johnson, 19, of Sacramento, and Isaiah Wilson, 18, of West Sacramento.

Both are charged with Conspiracy to Commit Theft; two counts of Conspiracy to Commit Theft; two counts of Grand Theft; two counts of Second Degree Burglary; Organized Retail Theft; all felonies and one misdemeanor count of Resisting a Peace Officer; along with Enhancements related to the crime and their criminal histories. Johnson and Wilson are set to be arraigned on the charges at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 23 in Dept. 1, after press time.

The charges stem from four incidents of baby formula theft at Target stores in Yolo and Sacramento County on Friday, Jan. 17. The thefts were reported to West Sacramento Police Department officers, who located the suspect vehicle in West Sacramento Friday evening. The occupants of the vehicle fled on foot when officers attempted to initiate a traffic stop. Johnson and

1 hank

Wilson were subsequently located by officers and taken into custody. A third suspect is still being pursued by law enforcement. Inside the vehicle, officers recovered over 100 cannisters of infant formula.

District Attorney Jeff Reisig said, "This kind of brazen and intolerable theft has hurt our communities for far too long. This problem has impacted everyone, from big box stores to the families who cannot afford the rising costs of products - including infant formula.

However, with the help of new laws created by Prop 36, passed overwhelmingly by California voters in November 2024, offenders like this will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law in Yolo County. With these tools, will seek justice and do all that we can to address the retail theft crisis."

CARB Withdraws Federal Waiver, Allowing Truck Drivers to Stay in Business

Office of Assemblywoman Alexandra Macedo News Release

CALIFORNIA (MPG) - On Jan. 14, the California Air Resources Board (CARB) withdrew its Advanced Clean Fleets Rule, which required California truck drivers to transition from diesel to electric trucks. Assemblywoman Alexandra Macedo (R-Tulare), who represents the largest agricultural region in the state, issued the following statement:

"California truck drivers are a pivotal component of the state's agricultural industry and our state's supply chain. They transport food from California farms to our grocery stores nationwide. Due to the perishable nature of agriculture products, time is of the essence in the transport of food. Diesel trucks allow this to happen in a timely manner.

"This ill-conceived policy would have put truck drivers – many of whom are from working class communities – out of business. Additionally, this burden on the trucking industry would only contribute to the affordability crisis the State of California is experiencing. Policies such as these fail to take into consideration the financial impact on businesses and

"It is time the Governor, CARB and the rest of his Administration work with, instead of against, employers and their workers who are critical to the State's economy."

Elected in 2024, Assemblywoman Alexandra Macedo represents the 33rd District, which includes Tulare, Kings and Fresno Counties.

Notes on the call also indicated that Wilson had exited the store with a lunch box full of stolen merchandise. Officers located Wilson walking in front of a nearby motel, activated their emergency lights and attempted to contact Wilson. Wilson immediately began running away from the officer's direction and continued to flee on foot toward an apartment complex parking lot. Officers located Wilson hiding in the parking lot behind a parked vehicle and detained him without incident. A records check showed Wilson was a parolee at large and had an active felony warrant. Loss prevention employee advised officers that two subjects entered the store and walked past all points of sale with $2,400 worth of baby formula. The employee wished to seek prosecution. Surveillance footage determined there was a third suspect who acted as the getaway driver. The employee also advised that these subjects had stolen baby formula from two other stores in Sacramento County earlier in the evening. The quantity was too large for personal use and officer believed the thefts were for resale. Assisting officers circulated the area, located the suspect vehicle and conducted an investigative stop. The occupants of the vehicle exited and ran away on foot. Officer conducted an inventory search of the vehicle and located a California identification card belonging to Johnson. Officers also found a large amount of baby formula inside the backseat and trunk of the vehicle. Officers later located Johnson on a nearby property, hiding inside a random citizen's vehicle. Johnson was determined to be the getaway driver and was arrested without incident. Later that evening, Wilson approached an AMR ambulance advising that he needed police assistance. Officers arrived on scene and found Wilson wearing the same clothing from the store surveillance footage. The loss prevention employee positively identified Wilson as one of the suspects. # Kings Korner By V.G. Harris

I firmly believe the schedule makers for the NBA have a mean streak in them.

After back-to-back wins over the Wizards and Warriors, the Sactown boys were forced to travel to Denver and play in back-to-back games. The travel, altitude, and Nikola Jokic were too much for Kings as the Nuggets registered a 132-123 win over a tired Sacramento squad.

Amazingly, the Kings mounted an unlikely comeback, coming from 25 points down and bringing the game to within five points late in the contest.

Michael Malone was so concerned, he brought back Jokic late in the game to insure the victory.

Jokic had a historic performance, registering his fifth triple-double in a row, scoring 35 points, claiming 22 rebounds, and dishing out an unheard of 17 assists. His performance was one for the record books, and at the end of the day, the furious comeback by the Kings was no match for the 3-time MVP.

For the basketball purest, you had to just sit back and watch a true master of the hardwood at work.

Domantas Sabonis countered with 23 points and 17 rebounds, but on this night, Denver would not be turned away.

Rumors continue to swirl as the Kings shop the market for the missing link, that being a power forward that can tip the scales.

My hope is that the recent success the Kings have had will calm the front office and allow them to realize what this team is capable of doing. Wins like the one at the Boston Garden serve as a wake-up call to Monte McNair, and scream don't give the store away!

Make absolutely certain you know what you have before you give away a future allstar, and by all means pay attention to your

Players like Isaac Jones are just waiting for an opportunity to shine, and his recent accomplishments in the G league should serve notice to every fan that his big man has some real game. Jones played for three colleges in three different conferences and earned awards wherever he went. Finally arriving at Washington State Jones earned All-Pac-12 conference honors.

Amazingly, 6'9" Isaac Jones was overlooked in the 2024 NBA draft, and before it's over there will be a lot of teams that will wonder what their scouts were

When I see the infrequent time that Isaac has had with the Kings, I'm constantly impressed with the way he carries himself on the court, and in this young rookie the Kings have a legitimate forward who seems to get better every time he takes to the hardwood.

In recent G league performances, he has looked like a man among boys and registered three straight 30-point plus performances. Not an easy thing to accomplish, but it tells me Isaac Jones needs more minutes at the NBA level. By all means, put him on the no-trade list along with Sabonis, Fox, and Keon Ellis.

What I'm loudly saying is build from within before you give away talented players that you have not fully realized. Isaac Jones is one of those players and same can be said of Devin Carter. It's essential that the Kings allow rookies to develop, and coach Christie needs to find playing time

The Sactown boys are 10-3 under Doug Christie, and I don't believe it's a fluke. The Kings are currently on a torrid 6-game road trip, and will face the Nets, 76ers, Thunder, and Timberwolves before they set foot in the friendly confines of Golden One Arena. If the Kings can win two of the remaining four games, I would consider it a victory, as the Thunder and Timberwolves are tough matchups for Sacramento. The recent 7-game win streak seemed to regenerate Kings fans, and the upside for Sacramento is looking probable rather than just fortuitous. Let's celebrate our stars and root on our rookies. Great things are yet in store!

If the Kings don't make a trade by the trade deadline of Feb. 6, don't lose heart. This team as assembled can make the playoffs, and I believe McNair will make an acquisition at some point.

We are witnessing some great performances. Enjoy them! More to come.

All the best Kings fans!

Clarification of Medicare IRMAA and MAGI

AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am confused by an article in my local newspaper which said that "MAGI" (modified adjusted gross income), on which my Medicare Part B premium is based, is my Adjusted Gross Income, plus any non-taxable interest, plus 50% of the social security I received. The part that is confusing is the 50% part. When I look at my tax return my Adjusted Gross Income includes the taxable portion of my Social Security benefit which, in my case, is 85% of my total benefits. Why must 50% of benefits be added to my AGI if it is already included in my total AGI?

Signed: Confused Dear Confused: The article you refer to was misleading for stating that the Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) used to determine your Medicare premiums includes your normal Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) from your income tax return, plus any non-taxable interest you may have had, plus 50% of the SS benefits you received during the tax year. What the article should have said was that the MAGI which determines your Income-Related Monthly Adjustment Amount (IRMAA) to your Medicare premiums consists of your normal AGI from your tax return (which includes the taxable portion of your Social Security benefits), plus any non-taxable interest you may have had. For additional clarity, the Income-Related Monthly Adjustment Amount (IRMAA) is a supplemental amount added to the standard Medicare premium for those with higher incomes. The thresholds at which the IRMAA supplements apply depend on your IRS filing status, and your MAGI determines the amount of supplement which will be added to the standard Medicare premium. Single filers with MAGI over $103,000, or married filers with MAGI over $206,000 will see an IRMAA supplement added to their Medicare premium. Those whose MAGI is under the first IRMAA threshold pay the standard Medicare premium, but those whose MAGI exceeds the first IRMAA threshold above will pay more. How much more depends on how much their MAGI exceeds the first IRMAA threshold by. The IRMAA supplement (the additional premium amount) could be anywhere from $69.90 to $419.30 per month for Medicare Part B (coverage for outpatient services), or an additional $12.90 to $81.00 per month to the Medicare Part D (prescription drug plan) premium - again dependent on how much over the initial MAGI threshold the person is for their IRS filing status. You can see the MAGI levels and corresponding IRMAA supplements at this Medicare website: www.cms.gov/newsroom/ fact-sheets/2024-medicare-parts-b-premiumsand-deductibles

IRMAA and MAGI can be confusing. If you have questions about your Medicare premiums, help is available at SSadvisor@ amacfoundation.org, or at 1.888.750.2622.

Trump Jumps Back into California's Water Wars with a Pro-Farmer Decree

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

It would be impossible to overstate the complexity of water supply management in California. Hundreds of federal, state and local agencies decree who or what is supplied with water, when and how much will be delivered, and the prices recipients must pay.

Moreover, there are policy differences within those broad categories. For instance, local agricultural water agencies and municipal providers to homes and businesses often have different priorities.

The politics of water are even more convoluted, involving not only the public agencies but seemingly countless outside stakeholders, ranging from developers who need water supply commitments for their projects to commercial fishermen who want to protect spawning salmon.

The proliferation of competing agendas explains why it is so difficult to reach the consensus needed to move policy forward. It's not unusual for proposed projects and policies to kick around for years, if not decades, before something concrete occurs.

For example, the proposed Sites Reservoir on the west side of the Sacramento Valley now seems likely to be built, but only after 70 years of promotion by backers. federal agencies to adopt The long-planned expansion of Los Vaqueros Reservoir in Contra Costa County collapsed recently when the East Bay Municipal Utility District pulled out, citing ever-rising costs.

More than six decades ago, state water officials proposed a canal to carry water around the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. After gaining legislative approval, a 1982 referendum blocked construction, and 40 years later, a proposed tunnel beneath the Delta remains stalled by a political stalemate.

Operations of existing of dams and canals are similarly fraught, particularly divvying up water among farmers, municipal users and flows to protect fish and other wildlife as supplies fluctuate due to climate change.

For years, federal and state authorities have sought to reduce diversions by agriculture — by far the largest water users — to bolster habitat flows. Farmers have resisted.

The state has sought "voluntary agreements" from farmers in the San Joaquin River watershed between Stockton and Fresno to enhance natural flows, threatening to order reductions if agreements are not reached. But unilateral action by the state would spark a legal battle over water rights whose outcome could not be predicted.

Another player in California's high-stakes water game emerged eight years ago when Donald Trump became president for the first time. He forcefully backed farmers in their conflict with state water managers, ordering the Bureau of Reclamation and other more agriculture-friendly policies.

Four years later, after Trump was defeated by Joe Biden, the policies were reversed. Just days before Biden's tenure ended, federal and state water managers last month announced a new operational agreement.

This week, when Trump once again became president, he essentially sought to cancel that agreement and reinstate his previous policies. Based on a memo to federal water agencies, he directed them to draft a plan "to route more water from the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta to other parts of the state for use by the people there who desperately need a reliable water supply." Trump not only cited farmers' needs for a reliable water supply but reiterated his belief that a lack of water deliveries to Southern California made it more difficult to fight deadly wildfires a contention that has no basis in fact. Los Angeles had plenty of water to fight fires, but hydrants ran dry because the system was designed for fighting individual building fires, not massive wildfires, and was overtaxed.

Despite the media splash, it's doubtful that Trump's decree will be anything more than a relatively brief pause in efforts to resolve California's water conflicts simply because they are measured in decades, not any one president's term. Dan Walters is one of most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state's political, economic, social and demographic trends.

One of my grandchildren asked me quite a penetrating question this week. "Grandpa, how old are you?"

Before I was married, I had no problem about always telling the truth. I always got in trouble if I did not tell the truth, so my practice has always been to tell the truth, no matter how difficult it might be or who it might hurt.

After being married for several years, I was presented with a question I was unprepared for. We were going to a banquet and just before leaving the house, my wife looked at me and said, "Does this dress make me look too fat?"

After I got over being stunned by this question posed to me by my wife, a wonderful thought hit me. I looked at her and simply said, "I don't know about that, but your hair looks beautiful."

"Oh," she said with a smile dancing all over her face, "thank you." How old am I, really?

I am not sure I can really answer that kind of a question. It all depends upon your definition of old. When I was in my 20s, consider old. Now that I am this age, I understand the word old differently.

nothing to do with the year later became the Gracious of his or her birth. The one thing my father did tell me about people of the opposite sex is, "Never ask a woman her age." To the best of my knowledge, I have kept to that standard.

"So, grandpa," the curious little person asked, "how old are you?"

When you have a little person whose age is still in the single digits how do they know anything about age? Most of these little people are most anxious to reach that birthday where their age is double digits. Single digits only last for nine years while double digits lasts the rest of your life!

This little person looked at me with curiosity all over her face, when a marvelous thought danced into my cranium. I then responded, "Well, I am not as old as your grandma." For the time being, that satisfied that little slice of curiosity.

I do not know any year I would like to repeat. I certainly do not want to be a teenager again. I remember those teenage years someone my current age I and I was so glad to get out of that age group. My 20s were not any better, except it was during my 20s How old a person is, has that I met the person who Mistress of the Parsonage. Those were good years.

Then when I got into my 30s, little people started coming into our house. They arrived about 18 to 20 months apart and stopped when the number reached three. Three is a good number.

The roughest thing about having teenagers is that it is payback for when you were a teenager. That is why as a grandpa, I smile benignly as I watch my children trying to parent their teenagers.

David understood this when he wrote, "Now also when I am old and greyheaded, O God, forsake me not; until I have showed thy strength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come" (Psalms 71:18).

I am not old; I am just mature for my age.

Dear Dominic,

Dear Dave,

I'm a non-traditional student in my last semester of college. In May, I'll graduate with a degree in elementary education and have a job waiting for me. It will bring our household income up to a little over $100,000. We're already living on a budget, but the problem is we'll have $15,000 in student loan debt to repay, plus $5,000 in credit card debt. What should we address first?

- Marta

Dear Marta,

It sounds like all your hard work is about to pay off in a big way. And I've got some more good news for you. If you two keep living the way you have been, and put the rest toward debt, you can have that student loan and credit card debt knocked out in just a year or so.

But I want you to pay close attention to what I'm about to say next. Just because you're making more money doesn't mean you should start buying a bunch of toys or pick up a car payment. Sit down together now-don't wait-and practice making a written monthly budget based on your new income. Give every dollar a name before you spend it, and don't forget to work the debt snowball, too. List your debts from smallest to largest, make minimum payments on the largest, and then attack that credit card debt with a vengeance.

Chances are you can get the credit card debt taken care of in two or three months. Then, roll the money from that payment over, and apply it and any other cash you can scrape up toward the student loan debt.

With just a little more work, you folks are going to find yourselves in a really great place soon!

Sacramento State Athletics News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Winners of four of the past five Big Sky Championship titles, the Sacramento State women's golf team was unanimously selected to continue its dominance by being tabbed first in the coaches poll.

Sacramento State received all nine of the possible first-place votes as coaches were not permitted to vote for their own team. Northern Arizona, who finished second in the voting, received the other available first-place vote.

The Hornets had an impressive fall campaign, which included a third-place finish at the Evie Odom Invitational and a fourth-place showing at the Golfweek Red Sky Classic.

At the 2024 championship,

Sacramento State cleared the field by 14 strokes, finished at 2-under par (282-282-286-850) as a team. That 54-hole total marked the lowest in Big Sky tournament history.

Sacramento State's roster features a lot of veteran leadership, including 2023-24 Big Sky Player of the Year Sneha Sharan and 2023 individual champion Caitlin Maurice.

Tabbed second, Northern Arizona features the league's defending individual champion in Lizzie Neale, who had the lowest 54-hole individual score of 203 (-10) at the 2024 championships. The remainder of the top five was comprised of Montana State, Weber State and Idaho.

The 2025 Big Sky Conference Women's Golf Championship will take place at The Wigwam in Litchfield Park, Arizona from April 14-16.

CRC Hawks Score Great Grades

Cosumnes River College News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - For the 10th consecutive semester Cosumnes River College (CRC) student-athletes compiled a grade-point average above a 3.0 as the Hawks continue to shine among the brightest in the state for their combination of academic and athletic success. The overall GPA for the student-athletes from CRC's 10 varsity sports was 3.323 for the fall 2024 semester while attempting an average of 16.04

"Just another record-setting performance by our student-athletes," Dean of Kinesiology, Health, and Athletics and Athletic Director Collin Pregliasco said. "Not only is this the 10th consecutive semester of the athletic department achieving a 3.00 GPA or higher, but it is the highest GPA in the 55 years of CRC Athletics. A 3.323 GPA and 10 consecutive semesters of a department GPA over a 3.0 shows not only our students' dedication and determination, but it also is a reflection of the hard work and support of our academic staff and coaches whose emphasis on academic success has become a benchmark of CRC athletics."

Academic success in Fall 2024 continued to be across-the-board for the Hawks, who had nine of 10 sports post a team GPA above a 3.0 for the semester. The softball team had the highest GPA in the fall with a mark of 3.629, followed by men's swimming who had the highest GPA with a 3.549 among men's programs with a 3.549 mark. The teams rounding out the top five GPAs were women's beach volleyball (3.464), women's soccer (3.427), and baseball (3.420).

From an individual standpoint, there were 32 student-athletes who posted a perfect 4.0 GPA in fall 2024. The group represented seven different teams, led by the women's soccer program who had nine student-athletes with a 4.0 GPA. There were six student-athletes from softball and five from women's beach volleyball with a 4.0 for the semester, as well as four from baseball and three each from women's volleyball and men's swimming. In all, more than 74 percent of student-athletes had a GPA of 3.0 or higher while more than 50 percent earned semester marks above a 3.5.

A longstanding practice, the CRC Athletic Department recognizes scholar-athletes that competed in fall or are on a current spring sport roster, completed 12 or more units, and posted a GPA of 3.0 or higher. There were a record 108 student-athletes who achieved this distinction for the fall semester. Women's soccer led the way with 20 scholar-athletes while baseball (17), men's soccer (14), and softball and women's volleyball (13) were close behind.

Pregliasco said, "I want to thank the entire campus for their continued support of CRC Athletics and our student-athletes. It is only through your support that our student-athletes have the opportunity for these amazing accomplishments." ★
