Hagedorn lived nearby and played a huge part in tree-planting programs.

Hagedorn's death at age 79 in 2023 triggered much local mourning. Her community fundraised for the memorial park bench and a group of 40 applauded its unveiling. Hagedorn's longtime advocacy colleague, SMUD director Gregg Fishman, lamented rain and wind during the ceremony.

Cleaning Up the Voter Rolls in Sacramento County

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Did you know that after every general election, voters who have not voted in two federal elections and have not updated their voter registration file get canceled and removed from the voter roll? This duty is one of the responsibilities of the Sacramento County Voter Registration & Elections (VRE) office under the National Voter Registration Act.

There were 56,086 Sacramento County voters who met these conditions during our most recent review. As a result, on March 18, Voter Registration & Elections sent out postcards to these inactive voters letting them know that their voter registration would be removed from the voter roll.

Voters who received the postcard had to respond by April 2 to keep their voter registration active and on the voter roll in Sacramento County. Voters who missed this deadline had their registration canceled and needed to re-register to vote.

What to do if you receive this postcard for a voter who no longer lives at your address? Nothing. Our office will cancel the voter's registration on April 2.

What is this postcard for? The postcard is called a pre-cancellation card and is used as a final notice to voters in Sacramento that their voter registration is being canceled. The deadline for response to this postcard is 15 days from the day it is sent.

Other reasons we send out this postcard on a weekly basis include death, conservatorship and current incarceration for the conviction of a felony.

For more information on Voter File Maintenance, visit the elections website. If you missed the deadline to respond to this postcard and need to re-register to vote visit the California Online Voter Registration website.

Rancho Seco Recreational Area Implements New Boat Restrictions

By MPG Staff

RANCHO SECO, CA (MPG) -

The Sacramento Municipal Utility District announced new watercraft restrictions on March 25 at Rancho Seco Lake as a preventive measure against the spread of invasive, non-native golden mussels recently discovered in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

The new restrictions follow an alert issued by the California Department of Fish & Wildlife that indicated the potential environmental and economic threats it could pose to the region.

According to the alert, golden mussel shells were recently discovered in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. The species pose a threat to natural ecosystems, water conveyance systems, infrastructure and water quality in California and across the United

"This discovery is the first known occurrence of golden mussels in North America," the Department of Fish & Wildlife wrote in the alert.

Golden mussels are similar in appearance, biology and impact to quagga and zebra mussels, per the alert, but can also establish in waters with lower calcium levels than required by quagga and zebra mussels.

To protect Rancho Seco Lake from invasive mussels, only small watercraft that can be launched by hand (such as canoes, kayaks, smaller electric watercraft, paddle boats, sculls and the like) are now allowed.

A float-tube fisherman works the water at Rancho Seco Lake.

The watercraft must be thoroughly cleaned, drained and dried before launch, and cannot have been in any other waterway, including the Delta, for at least 30 days. To further protect the ecosystem, only artificial bait and lures are permitted.

The measure also bars trailer-launched watercraft and live aquatic bait, including all baitfish, crawfish, crabs and

Small electric trolling motors and other handlaunched watercraft such as hand-launched canoes, rafts, kavaks, rowboats, paddle boats, inflatables, sculls and other handlaunched recreational watercraft will still be allowed on the lake.

All permitted watercraft will be required to undergo a watercraft inspection by a certified inspector or canine upon park entry. Inspectors will restrict any boat that has been in any other body of water in the last 30 days or that they deem a risk.

All watercraft must be clean, drained and dry. Boaters will be required to participate in visual inspections of their watercraft.

launch any flotation device will receive inspection, and devices must be fully clean, drained and dry before launching.

Other bodies, including the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency, have taken similar steps to protect against the invasive species.

The 400-acre Rancho Seco Recreational Area remains open for a wide range of activities including camping, hiking, fishing and bird watching. Visitors can still enjoy the scenic Howard Ranch Trail, picnic areas and renovated facilities.

SMUD's popular Trout Derby event on April 5 and 6 continued as scheduled, with staff and resources in place to ensure all participants can enjoy a successful fishing experience while adjusting to the new watercraft guidelines.

Certified watercraft inspectors and canine teams will be on-site to conduct thorough inspections, ensuring all watercraft meet clean, drain and dry requirements before launching.

Enhancing Sacramento Residential Care Facilities

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Sacramento County's Department of Child, Family and Adult Services (DCFAS) is working to preserve housing for vulnerable residents in our community. The Department of Child, Family and Adult Services is distributing funds from the California Department of Social Services Community Care Expansion (CCE) Preservation Program. Sacramento County's Department of Child, Family and Adult Services is investing nearly $12 million to preserve facilities; maintain dedicated beds for qualified residents, which includes disabled and older adults; and avoid homelessness.

California has a shortage of licensed adult and senior residential facilities that accept individuals receiving or applying for Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Payment (SSI/SSP) or Cash Aid Assistance Program for Immigrants (CAPI). Many of these facilities are closing or reducing the number of beds available to Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Payment and Cash Aid Assistance Program for Immigrants residents (also known as "Qualified Residents") as benefit amounts have not kept up with the cost of facility operations and maintenance.

A breakdown of the funding throughout the county has been allocated $11,993,597 in CCE funding in the following manner: $5,162,415 for Operational Subsidy Payments (OSP) that is funding to support the day-to-day cost of operations. These funds must be used by June 2029. $6,831,182 for Capital Projects (CP) that is funding for facilities to make needed repairs and upgrades. These funds must be used by March 2028.

Sacramento County's Department of Child, Family and Adult Services are currently working with six licensed adult and senior residential facilities to support their ongoing operations and capital improvements. These facilities accept the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Non-Medical Board and Care rate, which is significantly lower than the market rate. At St. Mary's Home, a 14-bed adult residential facility, Capital Projects funds were used to replace toilets, upgrade resident furniture and install a new roof. At Wholesome Elderly, a 6-bed facility for older adults, Capital Projects funds were used to replace original windows, and a sliding glass door and to complete plumbing repairs. Other projects are scheduled to be completed during the contract period with the Department of Child, Family and Adult Services to ensure these facilities are safe and up to date.

"This project is important because our low-income older adults and adults with disabilities need an affordable, safe and stable place to call home; a place where they can live with dignity. These facilities provide, assistance with activities of daily living, medication management and opportunities to socialize with others. Without preservation, many facilities have to defer needed repairs; they have difficulty meeting operating expenses and can eventually close which leads to displacement of residents," says the Department of Child, Family and Adult Services Human Services Program Planner, Mary Parker.

By investing in licensed residential adult and senior facilities, Sacramento County is ensuring that low-income, vulnerable residents have a safe and well-maintained place to live. This funding plays a critical role in helping facilities that prevent homelessness in older and disabled adults.

Sacramento County is still accepting applications for Operational Subsidy Payments and Capital Projects from facilities. For more information contact Mary Parker (916) 875-4242 or email Department of Child, Family and Adult Services at SAS-CCE@saccounty.gov

American River Levee Upgrades to Improve Flood Protection Threaten Heritage Oaks

By Adam Abolfazli, Rio Americano High School

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Sacramento environmental groups are raising concerns about flood management construction on the American River slated to reach the Rio Americano High School area next year.

The controversial ongoing work, part of the Sacramento Levee Upgrades project run by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, has come under scrutiny since beginning last year, as the erosion prevention measures have required the removal of trees and plants along the river.

Up to 600 trees, including 100-year-old heritage oaks, will be bulldozed, according to the American River Trees group.

However, the Army Corps has said the work is necessary to prevent potential catastrophic flooding. The work is designed to update the Army Corps' standards from planning for a 50-year flood event to a 200-year event.

The American River Parkway is "one of the most at-risk areas for flooding in the United States," the Army Corps says on its website. (The Army Corps declined several requests for an interview and instead referred SacSchoolBeat to the general construction webpage.)

In a web statement the USACE said: "Several levee sections along the American River were identified as being susceptible to significant erosion from the higher, longer releases from Folsom Dam. The proposed bank protection work will armor the riverbank to reduce and prevent erosion which, if left unaddressed, could result in levee failure."

Project planners have admitted that the work will bring some disruption to local plants and wildlife.

Coming to the Rio Americano Area

The work near the school, part of the "Rio Americano West and East Mitigation Sites," was slated to start in July but has been delayed until early 2026. Some vegetation clearing may begin late this year.

The two sites are just behind Rio Americano High near Morris Way and Jacob Lane.

The project, part of Contract 3B, will see several acres of revegetation and habitat replacement to account for wildlife disruptions from flood management work farther west, which has been taking place along the levee for the last few years.

Erosion protection and flood management infrastructure has already been installed behind Campus Commons, the H Street bridge and near Howe Avenue. Contract 3B will expand that work between Howe and Watt Avenue. in addition to the Rio Americano mitigation sites.

At the Rio Americano sites, the valley elderberry longhorn beetle and western yellow-billed cuckoo will be most affected. Riparian vegetation will be replanted following the work so as to restore the habitat, the Army Corps says on its project website.

The Rio Americano work is primarily meant to offset the negative environmental impacts of construction toward Sac State by creating new riparian habitat.

Project Controversy

The American River Trees group helped convince the Army Corps to extend the Environmental Impact Report for Contract 3B and delay construction.

Pete Spaulding, the lead coordinator for American River Trees, said the organization recognizes the need for erosion control but would like to see a less-invasive approach used.

"It has been delayed a year, but we still have seen no evidence of any design changes or changes to the construction techniques to reduce the amount of trees that are being removed," Spaulding

American River Trees has filed complaints with the Sacramento Board of Supervisors, the Sacramento Area Flood Control Agency and the Central Valley Flood Protection Board. After generating 900 public comments regarding Contract 3B (the work near Rio Americano), the Army Corps agreed to push back the construction timeline.

"When I saw what the Army Corps was doing, it literally breaks your heart," Spaulding said. "It almost makes you want to cry. If there's work that needs to be done, do it the right way. This is not the right way."

The Army Corps will replace 30 types of plants and trees with just six, Spaulding said.

Rio Americano students have been taking a stand against the continuation of the project by working with the Save the American River Association.

Seniors Katherine Hickey and Charlotte Ponder started a school-specific chapter last year and have collected 500 of the 1,000 signatures SARA's petition to reconsider the construction has

"We're trying to get the Army Corps of Engineers to reform this project for it to be less invasive and less harmful to all of the trees and the ecosystem," Hickey

According to SARA and American River Trees, the levee and river behind Rio Americano follows a relatively straight path, so the area is at little risk for erosion.

"They're doing this all in the name of erosion control, but it seems counterintuitive that they're cutting down trees (given) how important trees are for the biological system of erosion control," Hickey said. "We're trying to push them to do more research. Their root systems are so vital to protecting the

The Army Corps is "more used to concrete and steel," she added.

River Access Impacts

Another controversial part of the construction work is that Contract 3B will shut down levee and bike trail access between Howe Avenue and Estates Drive for up to two years.

The area around Rio Americano would be used as an access point for trucks to travel to the construction sites between Howe and Watt, especially the Estates Drive levee entrance.

Traffic near American River Drive would also increase from both construction vehicles and cyclists rerouted from the trail. The parallel trail on the south side of the river will be closed,

Many students and teachers use the levee to bike or walk to school, so a full closure would be a major disruption to their commute.

"I take the levee to get to school every day," said senior Marin Abood, who bikes to school. "It's safer. It's more efficient. It's faster."

Sierra Oaks and Del Dayo elementary schools are also located near the river.

"Schools and the district do not typically have a formal role in the construction planning process for projects that occur outside of school property," San Juan Unified spokesperson Raj Rai said.

However, the district will make efforts to notify families of traffic impacts.

The river parkway generates roughly $365 million annually for the economy and attracts eight million visitors, according to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

"The river, as everybody says, is the jewel of Sacramento," Spaulding said. "It really is unique to a major metropolitan area like this. It's an incredible source of wildlife and recreation."

Sacramento County News Release

Regional Parks is pausing the re-opening of "Gravel Road A" to focus resources on completing necessary Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) improvements to the restroom facility and main parking lot off the Illinois access. Gravel roads, including the 0.35 mile "Gravel Road A" will remain closed at this time as Regional Parks works towards creating a plan, in accordance with Americans with Disabilities Act guidelines, to include a fully accessible trail at Sailor Bar.

Liz Bellas, Director of Regional Parks thanks all who participated in last week's Recreation and Park Commission meeting, adding "we hope this action will help re-focus the intention on creating safe accessible access to areas of the Regional Parks system to people with mobility issues as well as other disabilities which will assist Parks in reaching our overarching goal of increasing public access to Regional Parks."

Supervisor Rich Desmond, whose district includes Sailor Bar, stated, "Sailor Bar is an absolute gem along the American River Parkway, and the public discourse surrounding the park has highlighted its appeal among residents of our region. I look forward to working with our Regional Parks staff as they develop an Americans with Disabilities Act plan for Sailor Bar, and I hope to find ways to partner with groups throughout the County to bring more outdoor education experiences for youth and adults alike to this idyllic space along the river."

Update on Sailor Bar "Gravel Road A" Zoo's Baby Giraffe Has a Name

Sacramento Zoo News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Zoo is excited to announce that its adorable baby Masai giraffe, born on March 1, has been given the name Sumi. The name was selected though an online vote.

The name Sumi was inspired by sumac browse, a favorite snack of Sumi's mother, Amirah, during her pregnancy.

The name is a playful nod to the sumac tree and honors the important role that the local community plays in supporting the zoo's giraffes through its browse donation program.

The browse donation program allows the zoo to feed many of the animals, including the giraffes, chimps, lemurs and many birds, food that is exactly like what they would consume in the wild. They enjoy nibbling leaves, stripping bark and chewing on stems to keep their brains busy and their bellies full.

Every day, the Sacramento Zoo feeds pounds of browse (non-toxic branches and leaves from specific species of trees and shrubs). The browse donation program allows members of the public to donate tree and shrub trimming from specific species of trees and shrubs to feed the zoo inhabitants.

These donations help provide fresh, nutritious browse for the giraffe herd, enriching their diet and environment. For more information on the browse donation program, visit online saczoo.org/ browse-donation.

Thank you for your support. With your vote, you helped raise funds for a new shade structure for the zoo's giraffes. Your donations are already being put to good use, with construction on the new structure already underway.

Kings Korner By V.G. Harris

The 2024/2025 regular season is in the books, but the outcome is still anyone's

Without question the past season will go down as one of the most discursive seasons of basketball the Sacramento Kings have ever experienced. For many fans the trading of DeAaron Fox midseason came as a shock and a gut punch. Few players have ever seen the meteoric hero worship that DeAaron and his family enjoyed over nearly eight NBA seasons.

Watching DeAaron get married, have a family that fans would come to love as Recee would sit courtside with the babies was heartwarming, and we all seemed to grow up with DeAaron as he and Recee made their home in Sacramento.

But the NBA is a business, and altruism is a fleeting commodity as it relates to owners and General Managers's, so it's time for Kings fans to muster the courage to say goodbye and welcome in the new.

This is the nature of the NBA, and other teams such as the Dallas Mavericks have recently gone through the same thing. Speaking of the Mavericks, they will be coming to town on Wednesday night, minus superstar Luka Doncic, who was inexplicably traded not long ago to the LA Lakers in exchange for big man Anthony Davis.

Nonetheless, as the Kings host the first game of the playin tournament in search of a playoff bid, the Mavericks will be no easy opponent. It's a win or go home game for both teams, and I expect Golden One to be rocking on Wednesday night.

In recent weeks the Kings have witnessed the rise of newcomer Zach LaVine who is leading the NBA in 3-point percentage shooting, and after a tepid beginning with Sacramento, Zach has come on like the all-star he is.

Missing from the lineup will be spark plug Malik Monk who will likely miss the postseason with a calf injury, so coach Christie will have to look for answers

Coming off the bench with some regularity, Doug McDermott has added a spark, and even Isaac Jones sightings have been seen in recent games. These are good tidings for the Kings, as both players have the ability to bring needed energy and scoring punch from a bench that has lacked that commodity for much of the season.

Sacramento

Alfred Jay Lerner

So, Kings fans, as we look back on the 2024/2025 season what surprises you? Was it the sudden departure of coach Mike Brown, the shock of trading the face of the franchise, or the frenetic nature of this roller coaster season that left the Sacramento squad 2 games below 500?

Many, and I count myself as one, saw the Kings improving on a 46-game win season from just a year ago, and I was convinced this team could surpass the 50-win mark. Sadly, this was not to be, but even with improbable changes fans were forced to accept in a head scratching year, our hometown boys find themselves with an opportunity to still earn a playoff berth.

Some say unlikely, but I say were you watching when the Kings defeated the Boston Celtics shorthanded at the Garden? They went on to defeat the Minnesota Timberwolves, Houston Rockets, Golden State Warriors, Chicago Bulls, Memphis Grizzlies, Cleveland Cavaliers, Detroit Pistons, and the Dallas Mavericks?

Why do I list these teams you ask? Because they are all in the NBA playoffs, and the Sactown ballers have demonstrated time and time again that they are capable of defeating the best teams the NBA has

By no means does this team have little chance to move into the playoffs, and although Wednesday night will test their mettle, look for the Kings to likely travel to San Francisco on Friday night for a rematch with archrival Golden State. Yes, the hearts of King's fans have been wounded, but we represent a resilient crowd, so proudly put on your jersey's and let's give the hometown team all the support we can muster!

Sunday's win over the hapless Phoenix Suns was not the test they will face on Wednesday night but look for something special to happen.

Hope is ubiquitous, and so is our love for

Enjoy Kings fans. See you at the Social Security Matters

Will My Social Security Increase if I Keep Working After Applying?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am going to be 67 in a few weeks & I plan on working for another year or two. According to Social Security, they count the best 35 years to come up with your benefit. I currently have 30 years, with 2024 and 2025 taxes yet to be filed. If I take my benefit now, will I get an upward adjustment after filing my taxes for those years, or do I need to wait to apply for SS until after filing my taxes to get credit for those years? Signed: Still Working

Dear Still Working: Whenever you claim your Social Security benefit, SSA will look at your lifetime earnings record on file at the time (as received from the IRS) and calculate your "primary insurance amount" (PIA) using that record on file. They will use your highest earning 35 years to do that calculation and, if you do not yet have 35 years, they will use "zero $$" enough times to make it 35 years. In other words, your benefit will always be calculated using 35 years, whether you actually have 35 years of earnings on record, or not.

However, Social Security revisits your earnings record whenever additional information is received from the IRS, so if file your taxes and add the additional year's income after you start your Social Security benefits, you will get credit for those additional earnings. Essentially, you will be replacing one of the "zero $$" years originally used to calculate your benefit amount, and Social Security will recalculate your monthly amount to reflect that, resulting in an increase to your monthly benefit.

Thus, as long as you work and earn and report your earnings to the IRS, Social Security will update your record and automatically give you a higher benefit if warranted by your more recent earnings. That recalculation usually happens later in the year (after April 15th), but Social Security will make any increase retroactive to the beginning of the calendar year, so you will get any higher benefit effective with January.

So, since you have already reached your full retirement age (FRA), you can (if you wish) apply for Social Security now and be confident that Social Security will give you credit for any additional earnings after you apply. And for clarity, if you choose to wait beyond your full retirement age to claim, you will earn Delayed Retirement Credits (DRCs) which will continue to increase your monthly benefit amount until you are 70 years of age. DRCs will add 8% to your PIA for each full year you delay (.667% for each month you delay past your FRA).

Other States Do Housing Better Than California; A New Study Shows How They Do It

By Dan Walters,

Californians rate the intertwined issues of housing supply, living costs and homelessness as the state's most pressing issues, as a recent poll by the Public Policy Institute

The terrible trio, as one might term it, also draws constant verbal acknowledgement from the state's politicians from Governor Gavin Newsom down, and he and legislators have enacted dozens, perhaps hundreds, of

Nevertheless, there's little evidence that their efforts have had material impact. Either the three situations are beyond the capacity of politics to address, a distinct possibility, or the political efforts to date have it comes to increasing housing supply and moderating downtowns" and "great parks

Titled "Build Homes, Expand Opportunity" the report is a product of the George W. Bush Institute at Southern Methodist University.

"America's fastest-growing cities offer lessons on how America can address its housing affordability crisis," the report declares. "Based on our analysis of the 250 largest metropolitan areas and a deep dive into 25 large metros in the Sun Belt and Mountain states, places scoring best for pro-growth housing and land-use policies are mostly large Sun Belt metros from the Carolinas through Texas to Utah."

The metros doing the best job of meeting their housing demands, the report says, have policies that make it easy for developers to build. That includes allowing higher-density housing in "substantial fractions of every city," reducing minimum lot sizes, allowing residential construction in commercial areas, reducing or eliminating parking requirements and embracing innovative technologies such as modular construction and three-dimensional (3D) printing.

In addition to adopting spethan trying to freeze neighborhoods," and providing amenities such as "walkability, revitalized live-work-play and trails."

So, one might ask, which metro areas are hitting all the right buttons and which are not, as determined in the study?

The 25 top pro-housing metros are all either in the Sun Belt, particularly Texas, California's arch-rival, or in the mountain states such as Utah and Idaho. Number one is Charlotte, North Carolina. and number two is Austin, the Texas capital which is becoming a powerful competitor with California's Silicon Valley. Not surprisingly, California metros are heavily represented on the list of the nation's 25 "most restrictive" metros. While Honolulu is the least accommodating, Oxnard is number two.

Nine of the 25 are in California. They include, in order after Oxnard, San Jose, San Diego, Riverside-San Bernardino, San Francisco, Sacramento, Bakersfield, Fresno and Stockton.

It would be tempting to dismiss the Bush Institute's report as biased because it comes from Texas, but it contains a wealth of detail and explains how the data were evaluated.

A better response from California politicians would be to read the report and determine what more California could do to make the state housing friendly. The state's current path on housing, other living costs and homelessness is going in the wrong direction.

Presidential Message on Holy Week 2025

The White House News Release

WASHINGTON D.C. (MPG) - On April 14, The White House released the following statement from President Donald J. Trump:

This Holy Week, Melania and I join in prayer with Christians celebrating the crucifixion and resurrection of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, the living Son of God who conquered death, freed us from sin and unlocked the gates of Heaven for all of humanity.

Beginning with Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday and culminating in the Paschal Triduum, which begins on Holy Thursday with the Mass of the Lord's Supper, followed by Good Friday and reaching its pinnacle in the Easter Vigil on Holy Saturday night. This week is a time of reflection for Christians to memorialize Jesus' crucifixion, and to prepare their hearts, minds and souls for his miraculous Resurrection from the dead.

During this sacred week, we acknowledge that the glory of Easter Sunday cannot come without the sacrifice Jesus Christ made on the cross. In his final hours on Earth, Christ willingly endured excruciating pain, torture and execution on the cross out of a deep and abiding love for all his creation. Through his suffering, we have redemption. Through his death, we are forgiven of our sins. Through his Resurrection, we have hope of eternal life.

On Easter morning, the stone is rolled away, the tomb is empty, and light prevails over darkness, signaling that death does not have the final word.

This Holy Week, the Trump administration renews its promise to defend the Christian faith in our schools, military, workplaces, hospitals and halls of government. We will never waver in safeguarding the right to religious liberty, upholding the dignity of life and protecting God in our public square.

As we focus on Christ's redeeming sacrifice, we look to his love, humility and obedience, even in life's most difficult and uncertain moments.

This week, we pray for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon our beloved nation. We pray that America will remain a beacon of faith, hope and freedom for the entire world. We pray to achieve a future that reflects the truth, beauty and goodness of Christ's eternal kingdom in Heaven.

May God bless you and your family during this special time of year. May he continue to bless the United States of America.

Dave Ramsey

Dear Dave.

How do you feel about the leasing programs automotive manufacturers offer their employees? I've listened to your show enough to know you don't recommend leasing the traditional way through a dealership.

- Baker

Dear Baker,

I'd advise investigating the details of any deal like this very carefully. Some manufacturer offers, even ones to employees, are nothing more than another way for the company to fleece more drivers. But some manufacturers offer their employees decent programs that aren't a traditional lease. I assume this is the kind of deal you're talking about.

A few of them offer the use of a newer, high-quality car for very little money per month, with no hidden catches. In cases like these, things can work out pretty well for the employee and the company. I've even heard of a few companies offering gas and more in these employee

Now, you're right. I don't recommend leasing in a normal scenario. For the average buyer walking onto a car lot, leasing is a complete rip-off. I tend to call it "fleecing" because getting "fleeced" means getting taken advantage of financially. And that's exactly what happens with consumer auto leases. Basically, a car lease is a contract where, instead of buying a car, you pay in monthly installments to drive it for a set amount of time—usually two to three years. It's basically a glorified rental car. But unlike a rental, leasing is a form of debt. And on top of all that, leasing is also the overall most expensive way to own a car.

Again, just make sure you check all the details very thoroughly, Baker. Use your head and a calculator, not your heart, when making a decision on something like this.

Sir Procrastinate-A-Lot Rules My Day

I must admit that I procrastinate a lot. The biggest example is when I get up in the morning. I wait until the very last minute to get up. My goal is to get up before lunch.

This is the primary difference between me and The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. She couldn't procrastinate even if I gave her a thousand dollars. Of course, I would procrastinate in giving over that thousand dollars because that's how Loperate

My "to-do list" is put together with this understanding; I put things on this list that I know will be affected by my procrastination. If I want to get three things done in one day, I have to make a list of 25 things to do.

Unfortunately, The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage has not learned this about me. As long as we have been together which is something like 54 years, she doesn't get the notion that I'm a procrastinator. I'm not even sure if she knows what that means, and I'm not going to be the one to tell her. At least, I won't tell her today. Maybe tomorrow.

She believes that when she gives me a list of 45 things to do, I will jump up and finish them as soon as possible. But as a highlevel procrastinator, that's not how it works. When I get a list from her, it takes me all morning to read it. Usually, at lunchtime,

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage will say, "Well, did you get the list done yet?" I will look at her with a blank look on my face and say, "What list?" With a bit of growling in her voice, she responds, 'You know, the list I gave you this morning of things I wanted you to do." "Oh, that list. I'm still working on it." The last time I did not procrastinate was August 14 1971 when we stood before a minister who said, "Do you promise..." And with a nervous stutter, I responded immediately, "I do.'

Occasionally, The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage will ask, "Are you acting like a procrastinator?"

"I'm not acting."

must get everything done

In a marriage such as ours, we cannot both be procrastinators. That is why I stepped up to the plate and chose to be the procrastinator in our house. I've done a great job of it all these years.

Of course, there is a cost that comes with procrastination. Solomon hit it on the head when he said, "Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep: So shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth; and thy want as an armed man" (Proverbs 24:33-34).

As my father used to say, "You can't kick a can down the road forever. At some point you need to stop and pick it up."

My problem is I think I can do more than I can really do. Maybe I should be more realistic and concentrate on doing what I can do.

Ask ... DR. JNIVERSE

Why do we have two intestines?

- Dru, 11, Illinois

Dear Dru,

When it comes to intestines, it sure seems like two are better than one.

I asked my friend Franck Carbonero why that is. He's a microbiologist at Washington State University. He studies the bacteria that live inside the human gut.

He told me that the small intestine and the large intestine do different jobs.

Let's say you sink your teeth into some pizza. You chew it up and swallow it. All those chewed up bits land in your stomach. They mix with digestive juices and start to break down. The broken-down food and digestive juices together are called chyme. After about six hours, your stomach sends that chyme to your small intestine. The small intestine's job is to absorb nutrients from the food.

It might be called small, but the small intestine is super long. If you plopped it on the floor and stretched it out, it would be about 20 feet long. That's about as long as a small school bus.

"The small intestine is so long because it takes quite some time to absorb all the nutrients," Carbonero said.

It can take six hours for the small intestine to do its job. The nutrients are sucked from the inner surface of the small intestine into the bloodstream. Then they zoom away to other parts of your body. The small intestine sends what's left to the large intestine.

The large intestine's job is to absorb any leftover nutrients. Then it recycles extra water from the stew-like chyme. It forms the leftover waste into poop.

The large intestine is wider than the small intestine. But it's much shorter—about 5 feet long when stretched out. This part of digestion is slower. It can take 3 days.

That's because digestion in the large intestine involves about 38 trillion helpers. They're bacteria that live in your large intestine.

"The bacteria evolved to degrade the fiber and leftover food," Carbonero said. "They ferment it into smaller molecules for their own needs. By doing that, they also release vitamins our bodies can use."

The kind of digestion bacteria do is called fermentation. That's when bacteria break down sugars so they can use the energy. In the large intestine, bacteria break down fiber and sugars that we can't digest on our own. Fermentation also makes vitamins we need. By splitting up the digestion jobs-and partnering with lots of bacteria—your intestines get everything we can use out of the food we eat. They should really take a bow-el for a job well done.

Sincerely,

The small intestine and the large intestine do different jobs.

Over $316 Million in Illicit Cannabis Seized Since January

Governor Gavin Newsom News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On April 10, Governor Gavin Newsom announced that officials have seized more than $316-million worth of illegal cannabis and $474,000 in cash since this past January.

Through coordinated enforcement actions with state agency partners and local governments, these efforts build upon the previous work to seize $534-million worth of illegal cannabis in 2024.

In addition to confiscating 212,681 illicit cannabis plants, officials issued 99 warrants, which resulted in the removal of 35 firearms and 29 arrests.

"As California's legal cannabis market expands, we have a responsibility to crack down on the nefarious actors that put public health at risk and undermine the progress we've made. Unlicensed, unregulated products threaten consumer safety and jeopardize the integrity of this industry. We're doubling down on our commitment to protect Californians and lift the legal cannabis marketplace that so many have worked hard to build," said Governor Newsom.

These figures represent combined enforcement efforts from the Governor's Unified Cannabis Enforcement Task Force, the Department of Fish & Wildlife, the Department of Cannabis Control, the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration, the California Department of Pesticide Regulations, among others, since January.

California's regulated cannabis market is the largest in the world. The state fosters environmental stewardship, compliance-tested products and fair labor practices while driving economic growth and funding vital programs in education, public health and environmental protection. The Department of Cannabis Control recently released a market outlook report that shows prices are stable, industry value

Since 2019, officials have seized and destroyed more than 800 tons or more than 1.7 million pounds of illegal cannabis worth an estimated retail value of $3.1 billion through more than 1,500 operations. The cannabis task force was established in 2022 by Governor Newsom to enhance collaboration and enforcement coordination between state, local and federal partners. Partners on the task force include the Department of Cannabis Control, the Department of Pesticide Regulation, the Department of Toxic Substances Control and the Department of Fish and Wildlife, among others.

In September, Governor Newsom announced emergency hemp regulations in response to increasing health incidents related to intoxicating hemp food and beverage products, which state regulators found sold across the state. The new regulations ban any detectable quantity of tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) from consumable hemp products to protect youth and mitigate the risk of adverse health effects.

The emergency regulations better align the sale of hemp products with certain restrictions currently seen in the California legal cannabis market. Regulations include limiting serving and package size and establishing a minimum age of 21 to legally buy industrial hemp food, beverage and dietary products.

In October, Governor Newsom issued a statement online, called "Court shuts down industry attempt to block enforcement of California's hemp regulations," following the Los Angeles County Superior Court's recent decision to reject the hemp industry's attempt to block enforcement of the

Since the emergency hemp regulations were put in place, agents from California's Alcoholic Beverage Control have visited 9,251 locations and seized 7,007 hemp

State Library Receives Notice of Termination of Federal Grant

California State Library News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

- The California State Library has been notified by the federal Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) that, effective April 1, the 2024-25 federal grant awarded under the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) has been terminated.

In the current fiscal year (2024-25), the State Library received $15,705,702 in funding to assist local California libraries to provide programs and services, as well as supporting the services provided by the State Library to state government, policymakers, and the public. Over 21 percent of that funding has yet to be sent to California.

The Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) has provided critical funding for a wide range of programs that benefit communities across California. These funds support early learning and literacy programs, such as storytimes and play spaces for low-income families, summer reading initiatives that engage over a million children and teens, and programs that help at-risk youth develop workforce-readiness skills. Additionally, Library Services and Technology Act funds have enabled State Library staff to assist with the expansion of the Student Success Card program, ensuring that all California students receive a public library card by third grade.

Beyond literacy, Library Services and Technology Act funding strengthens communities by supporting diverse programs that align with California's cultural, educational, and environmental priorities. Local libraries have used these funds to create climate education programs, community gardens, tool libraries, and telehealth privacy pods for individuals without home internet access. Libraries also provide valuable services for veterans, formerly incarcerated individuals, and tribal and rural communities. Highspeed broadband initiatives, along with programs like California Revealed and the Cultural Heritage Disaster Preparedness Program, ensure that California's history and cultural treasures are preserved and accessible to the public.

Library Services and Technology Act funding also expands access to learning resources for Californians of all ages. It supports the state's only shared eBook collection, free access to major news publications like The New York Times and CalMatters for Learning, and databases that serve state employees, lawmakers, and the general public. The Career Online High School program, supported by State Library staff, enables adults to earn their high school diplomas through local libraries, while the Braille and Talking Book Library ensures that visually impaired Californians have free access to books in accessible formats.

Additionally, these funds help strengthen California's library workforce through statewide training, leadership development, and tuition reimbursement for those studying to become librarians. Libraries also benefit from partnerships with state agencies, including the Departments of Aging, Public Health, and Technology, which allow public libraries to serve as vital hubs for government resources and community engagement.

Established in 1850, the California State Library is the central reference and research library for state government and the Legislature. The library collection includes more than 4 million titles, 6,000 maps and 250,000 photographs, and includes an extensive collection of documents from and about the state's rich history. The State Library also serves California's local libraries, providing state and federal funds to support public libraries and deliver statewide programs and services.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - A new poll released April 9 by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) shows broad bipartisan support for America's small businesses. It also shows overwhelming support for keeping the 20% Small Business Tax Deduction in the tax code.

"California is not a low-tax state, which is why allowing the Small Business Deduction to expire at the end of the year would hit our small business owners much harder here than it would elsewhere in the nation," said California director of the National Federation of Independent Business John Kabateck. "Small businesses make up 99.9% of all businesses in California, employing seven million people, so it's vital for the health of the nation's economy that the Small Business Deduction be made a permanent part of the tax code. Small business owners have used the deduction to create new jobs, create new benefits, buy new machinery and expand their business."

According to the survey, more than eight in 10 Americans feel it is important for the federal government to support small businesses, including strong majorities of Republicans, Democrats and Independents.

That support translates to strong agreement (93%) that making the 20% Small Business Tax Deduction permanent should be a top priority for Congress, with nearly all Americans (95%) expressing some concern about the impact an expiration of the deduction would have.

Nearly eight in 10 respondents (79%) want to see more support for small businesses.

Americans support the expiring 20% Small Business Tax Deduction that was included in the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (TCJA).

About 62% of respondents want to keep the Small Business Tax Deduction in the tax code, while only one in five respondents supports letting it expire.

Approximately 77% agree that the Small Business Tax Deduction helps level the playing field for small businesses by keeping their tax rates closer to those of larger corporations.

Americans say that the 20% Small Business Tax Deduction has helped small businesses and the American economy.

Nearly 91% of Americans agree that small businesses rely on the Small Business Tax Deduction, according to the respondents.

Around 79% of Americans say that the Small Business Tax Deduction has a positive impact on the economy overall.

About 75% of Americans believe the Small Business Tax Deduction has a positive impact on the local economy where they live.

Lastly, 51% of Americans are extremely or very concerned about the impact on the economy if the Small Business Tax Deduction expires. Nearly all Americans (95%) express some concern about the impact an expiration of the deduction would have. The 20% Small Business Deduction was

However, this vital deduction is set to expire at the end of 2025. Without Congressional action, nine out of 10 small businesses will be hit with a massive tax hike, decimating their ability to expand business operations and raise wages for employees.

Economic Concerns Lead to Drop in Home Sales

North State Building Industry Association News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Economic uncertainty and an increase in the number of existing homes on the market led to a decline in new home sales in the Sacramento region in March, the North State Building Industry Association reported on April 8.

Building Industry Association members sold 472 homes during March. That is down 9% from February, down 22% from March 2024 and 11% below the average number of sales reported during the month. March sales were the lowest for the month since the COVID-19 pandemic year of 2020 but were in line with sales immediately preceding the pandemic.

North State Building Industry Association President and Chief Executive Officer Tim Murphy said the primary reason for the drop-off appears to be the decline in stock markets and concerns about the economy. This comes as the United States and its trading partners impose new tariffs. "Our members reported that the number of people visiting their communities last month was similar to levels from January and February, indicating that prospective buyers are still interested in purchasing a new home," Murphy said. "But given the economic uncertainty, many appear reluctant to pull the trigger."

"In addition, while still below pre-pandemic levels, the number of existing homes on the market in the region is up by about 20% from last year, giving prospective buyers a larger pool to choose from." The most sales were the 264 reported in

By River Cats Media Relations

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - A dominant start for Carson Seymour has earned hardware from Minor League Baseball, as the Sacramento River Cats right-hander was named the Pacific Coast League Pitcher of the Week for April 1 to April 6.

Although he had just one outing, which came in game three of the series on April 3, Seymour dazzled by punching out five hitters and walking only one with two hits allowed over his five blemish-free frames.

Seymour faced a total of 19 batters, just four over the minimum, and three of his five punchouts came with his slider while the other two came on the sinker.

For Seymour, this is his first Triple-A weekly honor in his career. He also received a weekly honor while in Double-A with the Richmond Flying Squirrels when he was tabbed the Eastern League Pitcher of the Week on Aug. 6, 2023.

This marks the second time that the River Cats have seen a player earn weekly honors from Minor League Baseball, joining Brett Auerbach who was named the Pacific Coast League Player of the Week after the year's first series from March 28-30. Additionally, it means that Sacramento is now exactly halfway to the four weekly honors earned last season when Mason Black (4/15/24) and Tommy Romero (6/10/24) were Pacific Coast League Pitchers of the Week while Tyler Fitzgerald (5/27/24) and Luis Matos (6/17/24) were Pacific Coast League Players of the Week.

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Aided by a $1,300 grant from Sacramento County Water Resources, the Carmichael Creek Neighborhood Association will spring clean public spaces in more than three square Carmichael miles on Saturday, April 26. Members and non-members are invited to pitch in.

The project will target roadsides and parks between California Avenue and the American River, bounded by Sutter and Stanley avenues.

Drains and waterways will get special attention.

"These are super-highways to the river," explained Carmichael Creek Neighborhood Association president Gareth Lacy. "We want to protect them from pollution. Even a plastic bag can release millions of toxic microparticles that harm wildlife and water supplies."

Association officers hope to underscore how contamination of drains impacts the American River. Their project also provides an opportunity to map seasonal arteries that wind through Carmichael Creek Neighborhood Association blocks.

"Neighbors who clean these waterways will learn about local geography," Lacy said. "As well as benefiting the environment, the work is educational. It also shows how local government can work with the community to improve our environment."

The county grant includes funding for new dog-waste stations in Sutter- Jensen Park. The stations will be installed by Carmichael Park District staff.

Carmichael Creek Neighborhood Association formed in 1986 with a mission to preserve open spaces, rural character and quality of life in its 1,000-home territory. Annual household subscription is

On April 26, cleanup volunteers should meet at the Sutter Avenue entrance to Sutter-Jensen Park at 10 a.m. Groups will be dispatched to areas needing attention.

Participants should have suitable footwear and gloves. Organizers will provide garbage bags and pick-up tools. For more information, visit directors@carmichael-

Clean Sweep for Neighborhoods Concerts in the Park Returns in May

Downtown Sacramento Partnership News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On April 4, Downtown Sacramento Partnership announced the much-anticipated "Concerts in the Park" series lineup, bringing live music back to downtown Sacramento on Fridays at 6 p.m. starting May 2, 2025.

Booking major national touring artists, this string of concerts are a staple to the growing music scene in Sacramento.

Following the footsteps of other festivals and state fairs, this year "Concerts in the Park" is changing dates and times of the concert series. Beginning this season, gates will open at 6 p.m. and music will finish at 9:30 p.m.

While previous years have been 12 weeks of music, this year it will be nine, finishing the season at the end of June before the intense heat hits in July. The concert venue remains the same, Cesar Chavez Plaza.

'We've been very focused the last three years on adjusting 'Concerts in the Park' to be more reflective of Sacramento," said Madelyn Bussola, Director of Communications and Outreach for Downtown Sacramento Partnership. "We started by adjusting the lineup to include more genres with their own specific nights, bringing in different partners and food and beverage options to make it more community-oriented. It's only natural that as summers get warmer and downtown evolves that we also change the dates and times, not only to make it more comfortable, but also make it more safe. That's always been our No. 1 priority."

The one thing that the Partnership won't change: the event will always be free. A purposeful choice in an increasingly expensive field.

"Concerts in the Park' has always been for the community, and in order for that to remain authentic, it has to be reflective of the changes happening within it," said Michael Ault, Executive Director of Downtown Sacramento Partnership. "Thirty-two years ago, these were a vehicle to keep office workers downtown for an hour or two longer after they clocked out at 5 p.m. Even with returnto-office orders, we want downtown to be a destination of choice, not obligation, so it's our responsibility to provide an experience that people want to come to, in-office or not."

The dynamic and high-energy 32nd annual "Concerts in the Park" line-up contains local and national artists including XZIBIT (hiphop), Phantogram (indie rock), Winona Fighter (emo), Jackie Greene (Americana) and Discrete (EDM), along with popular DJs including DJ Oasis, EDDY, and Joseph ONE.

A detailed lineup along with more information about "Concerts in the Park" is available on the Downtown Sacramento Partnership website, www.downtownsac.org/downtown-sac-experiences/ concerts-in-the-park/.

A production of Downtown Sacramento Partnership, "Concerts in the Park" is proudly sponsored by Dignity Health, Donaghy Sales, Jack Daniels, Bonney Electrical, Heating & Air, Republic Services, Audacy, Citizen Hotel, Xfinity & Comcast Business, and Visit Sacramento.

César Chávez Plaza is located at 910 I St. in Sacramento.
