My Heart Lies in Historic Uxbridge

BY LINDA WESSLING

Third time's the charm in Uxbridge, Massachusetts.

I moved three years ago to our Garden Street ranch house in Uxbridge from Milford -population of 30,000 plus, and I hail from a busy Boston suburb.

I escaped the congestion and sirens of Milford, having lived on South Main Street which runs parallel to Milford Regional Medical Center, and the Logan airport noise and constant traffic that comes with living in proximity to Boston.

At first, I was leery of this new-to-me mid-size Blackstone Valley town, but I quickly settled here, unearthing its charm and learning to love what my husband and I refer to as our Garden Street estate, conveniently located less than 100 yards from Uxbridge Shopping Center where we have access to coffee, groceries and take-out dinners.

A close friend lived in Uxbridge shortly after moving to Massachusetts in the early 90's. She piqued my interest in the history of the town by describing the historic mills located on the north side of Uxbridge, which have since been converted to senior housing. This led me to a Google search to pull back the curtains on the beauty of the 30.4 square mile town, of which 0.8 square miles are water, located on the Rhode Island border which became the earliest industrialized region in the United States.

Uxbridge was named after the Library Poetry Tour Coming

The Shawna E. Shea Memorial Foundation has announced the next stop on its Library Poetry Tour featuring New Bedford poet Jasmine Ramos. This event, part of the Shawna Foundation's mission to uplift diverse voice and foster creative expression in community spaces will take place Monday, May 19 at the Simon Fairfield Library in Douglas; Wednesday, May 21 at the Milford Town

Library; and Thursday, May 22 at the Uxbridge Free Public Library. All readings begin at 7 p.m. and are free. Everyone is welcome to experience the power of the spoken word through Ramos' evocative, high-octane work.

Jasmin Ramos was born and reared in New Bedford. After serving in the Army, she embraced her role as a mother of three while passionately pursuing her love for poetry. Her journey reflects a blend of strength, creativity and dedication to her craft.

The Library Poetry Tour is supported by the Milford Cultural Council, the Uxbridge Cultural Council and the Massachusetts Cultural Council and is critical to the Shawna Foundation's mission of giving voice to poets to change the world.

Opioid Task Force Funding

State Sen. Ryan Fattman (R-Sutton) and State Rep. Mike Soter (R-Bellingham) announce the Blackstone Valley Opioid Task Force, based in Uxbridge, will receive $129,300 in funds from the Mosaic Opioid Recovery Partnership. The funds for the program come from settlements paid by drug companies to the state.

The grant will be used to hire a local clinician, case manager, peer mentors and a van driver to provide clinical services and transportation. The grant will support services in Uxbridge, Douglas, Millville, Blackstone, Northbridge, Mendon, Sutton, Upton and Bellingham.

"I'm glad that Uxbridge is receiving the critical funding from the Mosaic Opioid Recovery Partnership," said Soter. "This grant will play a vital role in strengthening local efforts to combat the opioid crisis by supporting initiatives focused on prevention, recovery and family care. By addressing the multifaceted challenges of addiction, this funding will help provide the necessary resources for individuals and families impacted by the crisis. It's an important step in creating a healthier, more resilient community."

As newly elected president, Washington embarked on his 1789 inaugural tour of New England where his first stop was in Uxbridge. He chose to stay at the home of Revolutionary War veteran Samuel Taft, gifting 30 yards of chintz and five guineas to Taft's daughters for waiting on the visiting party.

Fire Safety Grants for Worcester-Hampden District

State Sen. Ryan Fattman (R-Sutton) announced $52,053.89 of new grant funding for fire departments across the Worcester and Hampden district in the second round of Fire Safety Equipment Grants. These grants will fund new protective gear and tools like thermal imaging cameras and hazardous gas detectors. Sen. Fattman was also proud to announce $77,417.48 in grants for the Student Awareness of Fire Education (SAFE) and Senior SAFE programs. These programs promote fire safety for children and the elderly, who are most vulnerable to burns. In total, fire safety programs in the Worcester and Hampden district will receive over $125,000 in new grant funds.

"I'm proud to announce this critical new funding to protect our firefighters and keep all residents in our communities safe," said Senator Fattman. "These grants will fund important safeguards for firefighters who put their lives on the line to protect our communities. Additionally, these grants will fund educational fire safety programming for seniors and children, which makes all of us safer."

Six notable Uxbridge women: Lydia Chapin Taft, widow of Josiah, was the U. S's first legal colonial voter. When her husband died, Lydia became the largest landowner in Uxbridge and was given a proxy vote at the annual town meeting.

Deborah Sampson was the U. S's first woman soldier. Abby Kelley Foster was a 19th century social reformer. Alice Bridges was an Olympic Bronze Medalist swimmer in the 1936 Berlin Olympics. Jeannine Oppewall was a Hollywood film art producer; and Jaqueline Liebergott was the first female president of Boston's Emerson College.

I have lived in numerous towns and cities across Massachusetts and traveled to many states and cities around the world but my heart now lies in Uxbridge with its history and allure. I enjoy walking around the streets and wooded paths and breathing in the novelty of the area. As Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote in one of her letters addressed to R. H. Horne in 1839, "The luck of the third adventure" is proverbial.

How to Cope With Market Volatility

Mark Freeman, CEPA

FINANCIAL FOCUS® Provided by Edward Jones

The financial markets always go through periods of instability. And we may see more of that now, given concerns about tariffs, inflation and the economy. As an investor, how can you deal with this volatility?

Some investors try to take advantage of market ups and downs by attempting to follow the age-old advice to “buy low and sell high” — that is, they seek to buy stocks when they feel prices have bottomed out and they sell stocks when they think the market has reached a high point. In theory, this is a great idea, but in practice, it’s essentially impossible, because no one can really predict market highs and lows.

Rather than trying to anticipate highs and lows, your best strategy for coping with the price fluctuations of the financial markets is to diversify your investment portfolio by owning a mix of stocks, bonds and other types of securities. Different types of financial assets can move in different directions at any given time — so, for example, stocks may be up while bonds are down, or vice versa. If you only owned one of these types of assets, and the market for that asset class was down, your portfolio could take a bigger hit than if you owned a variety of asset types.

And you can further diversify within individual asset categories. Stocks can be domestic or international, large-company or small-company — and these groupings can also move in different directions at the same time, depending on various market forces. As for bonds, they too don’t always move in a uniform direction, or at least with the same intensity — for instance, when interest rates rise, bond prices tend to fall, but longer-term bonds may fall more than shorter-term ones, which are closer to maturity with fewer interest payments remaining. Conversely, when rates are falling, longer-term bonds may be more attractive because they lock in higher yields for a longer time. Consequently, one diversification technique for bonds is to build a “ladder” containing bonds of varying maturities.

Some investments, by their nature, are already somewhat diversified. A mutual fund can contain dozens, or even hundreds, of stocks, or a mixture of stocks and bonds. And different mutual funds may have different investment objectives — some focus more on growth, while others are more income-oriented — so, further diversification can be achieved by owning a mix of funds.

Furthermore, some investors achieve even greater diversification by owning alternative investments, such as real estate, commodities and cryptocurrencies, although these vehicles themselves are often more volatile than those in more traditional investment categories.

While a diversified portfolio is important for every investor, your exact level of diversification — the percentages of your portfolio devoted to stocks, bonds and other securities — will depend on your individual risk tolerance, time horizon and financial goals. You may want to consult with a financial professional about creating the diversified investment mix that’s right for your needs.

Ultimately, while diversification can’t guarantee profits or protect against all losses, it can help you reduce some of the risks associated with investing and better prepare you to deal with the inevitable volatility of the financial markets — two key benefits that can help you over the many years you’ll spend as an investor.

You must evaluate whether a bond or CD ladder and the securities held within it are consistent with your investment objectives, risk tolerance and financial circumstances. Including callable bonds may increase the interest rate risk of a bond ladder. Bonds may be called prior to maturity, which could result in lower yields with new investments..

BVT Has a New Superintendent

For the first time in 31 years, the Blackstone Valley Vocational Regional School District is proud to announce that, effective July 1, 2025, Assistant Superintendent-Director/Principal Anthony E. Steele II will become the next Superintendent-Director, making him the fourth leader in Blackstone Valley Tech's (BVT) history. With a three-year agreement, he will take over for Dr. Michael F. Fitzpatrick, who will retire at the end of June. BVT is excited about Steele's leadership and his vision for the future.

With nearly three decades of education experience at BVT, Steele has held many roles. The first was in 1997, when he began his career as an English teacher. He can still recall his first interview for this position.

"I vividly remember cresting the hill on Pleasant Street in 1997 and laying my eyes on our school for the first time. Customary jitters aside, I was relieved that my McNally Road Atlas led me to our campus on time and without incident. I was confident, yet hopeful to be offered the job, but I never imagined that BVT would become my home for the next 28 years and come to represent my life's work."

For BVT, it was an exciting and pivotal time when education reform would challenge vocational schools to meet the MCAS standard. Bringing a vocational perspective to the position, Steele said, "As a 22-year-old construction worker, I hung up my hard hat to try my hand at teaching English. I never anticipated the numerous opportunities for professional growth beyond improving my classroom teaching."

When Steele was named Assistant Principal/Director of Curriculum in 2001, BVT sustained a feverish pace of redefining what was possible in vocational education.

"It was thrilling to be a key player in transforming BVT from a strong, traditional vocational school to a nationally acclaimed career-technical center for the new era."

He says there has never been a dull moment in his career. "For the past thirteen years, I have been honored to serve as the Assistant Superintendent-Director/Principal under Dr. Fitzpatrick, who encouraged innovation and embraced change," said Steele. "My leadership experiences and growth at BVT were not accidental, but rather a philosophy in action that has allowed our school to develop talent, maintain focus on our mission, and ensure smooth transitions as time passes. We strategically develop succession plans to maintain a deep bench of talent that ensures the upward trajectory of our school for generations. I am well prepared to build on Dr. Fitzpatrick's legacy and lead our school on a continued path of innovation and excellence."

Steele has also served on various state committees and held leadership positions in professional organizations throughout his career, including the Massachusetts Association of Vocational Administrators and the Massachusetts Secondary School Administrators Association. He appreciates the perspective gained from his longevity at BVT and is most proud of the school's culture of high expectations, collegiality, and the resulting success of its graduates.

Steele has been a key player in transforming the school into the successful model it is today. His foresight for the future is exciting for many reasons, and he has several immediate goals for the district:

Expand Access to Career Technical Education (CTE): Establish the Blackstone Valley Technical Institute, which will expand our adult Moonlight Program to implement 200-hour, credential-based programs in HVAC, Electrical, Plumbing, Welding, and Advanced Manufacturing. This grant-funded program will allow us to deliver high-quality CTE to adults interested in upskilling and retraining, provide skilled labor to the local workforce, and generate non-taxpayer revenue to help fund the school.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Across the Curriculum: Continue to refine our AI Governance policies as we embrace this technology in our teaching and learning. We are training our academic teachers and vocational instructors to use AI in their classrooms and shops, and likewise, we are training our students on the responsible use of AI. It is vital that we stay current with emerging AI tools and practices and that our graduates are prepared to utilize AI in the modern workplace.

Maximize the benefits of the "Skills-Based-Hiring" Movement: Through our Cooperative Education (Co-Op) Program, we will continue to increase the number of students placed in Co-Op employment positions. Over 180 students participate in Co-Op each year, providing a seamless pathway to employment after graduation. Our students learn sophisticated career planning through their Career Enrichment courses, and we are giving extra attention to analyzing emerging opportunities as the Skills-Based-Hiring movement grows nationwide. We will also continue to work with employers to create attractive opportunities for seniors going directly to work after graduation.

Expand the Role of The Valley Tech Education Foundation: With sensitivity that there are fewer tax and State dollars available each year, it is imperative to generate alternative revenue streams to maintain the quality of education at BVT. We wish to increase the Education Foundation's efforts to seek charitable donations through businesses, foundations, and the private sector, and expand fundraising activities and events. The goal is to strengthen the quality of education and student opportunities at BVT while decreasing the reliance on member town assessments.

“I am eager to provide the unique blend of administrative experience, historical perspective, local knowledge, leadership style, and philosophy required of the next superintendent-director,” said Steele. “I am honored to serve my school in this new role, and I am very excited about our future.”

Having nurtured the talent within its administrative team, BVT has qualified, prepared internal candidates for the assistant superintendent-director and principal roles, and they will lead an exhaustive search for outside candidates as well. Either way, BVT will continue to be led by bold, innovative, mindful leaders with new ideas.

United Presbyterian Church of Whitinsville Celebrating 150 Years

One hundred, fifty years ago, natives of Ireland and Scotland (Scotch-Irish) founded the United Presbyterian Church of Whitinsville. A century and a half later, we celebrate the many events that have taken place since then, creating the history of our church. The sesquicentennial anniversary of the founding was on December 30, 2024, and we are having a year-long celebration through 2025 to commemorate our rich history.

The “Scotch-Irish” historically refers to Scottish Presbyterian immigrants who settled in Ulster, Northern Ireland, and later migrated to America, bringing their strong Presbyterian beliefs with them, making them a significant part of the early American Presbyterian Church. Essentially, the Scotch-Irish played a key role in establishing Presbyterianism in the United Presbyterian Church of Sutton and partly adherents of the Congregational Church of Whitinsville before starting the United Presbyterian Church in Whitinsville.

During the anniversary year, we will be having a number of activities in celebration, including, a performance by the Whitinsville Community Center Youth Theater, movie nights, and the removal of a time capsule located inside the church cornerstone and replacement with a new time capsule. We invite the Whitinsville community and surrounding communities to join us for these special events.

Please visit our website at whitinpres.org and click on the “150th Anniversary – Click Here” button for updates.

In this area, they were recruited by Whittin Machine Works and were partly members of the United

Sheriff Says Spring “Smishing” Scams Surge

Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis is warning residents about a recent wave of “smishing” scams targeting cell phones across Massachusetts. Smishing, a combination of “SMS” (short message service) and “phishing,” involves scammers sending fraudulent text messages with website links to residents’ cell phones.

According to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), a typical smishing scam message may appear to be from your bank or another trusted organization. These messages often contain a link or phone number designed to entice you to click or call. If you engage with these messages, you risk falling victim to the scam. Once you interact with the scammers, they may manipulate your personal information, which they can sell or use for further scams. Additionally, “smishers” may try to lure you into downloading malware onto your personal electronic devices.

Recent reports state that the following scams have been identified:

- MassDOT Toll Scam:

In this scam, individuals receive a notification, often via email or text, claiming that they’re being contacted regarding unpaid highway tolls. The text may demand payment via fake payment links or phone numbers.

- USPS Undeliverable Package Scam:

In this scam, individuals receive a notification, often via email or text, claiming that a package sent through the United States Postal Service (USPS) could not be delivered. The message typically includes a link to resolve the issue, which leads to phishing sites designed to capture sensitive personal and financial information.

- One-Ring Scam:

This scam involves receiving a phone call that rings only once or twice before hanging up. When victims return the call, they are connected to a premium-rate number, resulting in high charges that are billed to their phone. Many area code numbers used in this scam are international, leading to significant unexpected charges on victims’ phone bills.

“Residents need to beware of any unsolicited calls that ask for their personal or financial information,” commented Sheriff Evangelidis. “These callers can sound convincing, may be aggressive, and try to intimidate you with threats of jail time or steep fines. We encourage anyone who gets a suspicious call to hang up and contact their associated institutions directly to verify any requests.”

Finally, Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis is issuing a warning to residents regarding a “spoofing” phone scam involving the Sheriff’s Office. The phone scammer poses as an employee of the Sheriff’s Office and informs the victim that they have an arrest warrant, charges filed in their name, or missed jury duty. The scammer then demands payment of a fine to avoid being arrested and serving jail time.

Sheriff Evangelidis says, “In general, if you do not initiate contact and an unknown caller is requesting money or making threats of arrest or loss of utilities, it’s likely a scam.”

The Worcester County Sheriff’s Office encourages people to be aware of text and phone call scams like this and to never give personal or financial information to an unknown number soliciting payments. For more information on the Worcester County Sheriff’s Office, please visit worcestercountysheriff.com.

Tai Chi for Body and Mind at Plummer Place

Lynne Galluzzo is the new Tai Chi instructor at Plummer Place, the Senior Center in Whitinsville. She has over six years of experience practicing Tai Chi both in-person at Plummer Place and leading classes online.

Galuzzo has a deep passion for the art and describes it as a graceful, flowing practice, like a slow meditative dance.

In addition to Tai Chi, Galuzzo enjoys Qi Gong, an ancient discipline that combines gentle stretching and mindful breathing. Both Tai Chi and Qi Gong are good matches for all fitness levels and require no special equipment, just comfortable clothing.

Plus, all movements can be done standing, without the need to get up and down from the floor. The health benefits of these practices are well-documented. Studies, including research from Harvard Medical School, highlight improvements in balance, memory, flexibility and self-confidence.

"I'm not very athletic," Galuzzo said, "but this is fun, easy and engaging. It's made a real difference in my life."

The classes are offered at Plummer Place every Monday at 11 a.m. They are also on Northbridge Community TV (NCTV) at any time. Try it – it's a practice that nurtures body and mind.

His dedication to academic and vocational studies was displayed when he earned a silver medal in Mechatronics at the SkillsUSA State Leadership & Skills Conference in 2023 and 2024. A John & Abigail Adams Scholarship recipient, Jayden has made the Commendation List every term of his high school career. In addition to academic success, Jayden excels as a student-athlete on the soccer field—a contributing member of Colonial Athletic League boys champion teams in 2023 and 2024.

After analyzing multiple placement opportunities and options that will strengthen his workforce entry options, Jayden is eager to further his education and training by studying computer science at the Georgia Institute of Technology.

"Dylan Leeds and Jayden Quang exemplify the modern career-technical student by demonstrating extraordinary commitment to career technical training and rigorous academics and are an inspiration for their peers and teachers. It is a pleasure to have them represent our school," said Steele. "It is equally exciting to see how they apply what they have learned at BVT and in their future professional endeavors."

OBITUARY

Hannelore Amelia Pacheco (Kuhlmann), 95, formerly of Holbrook, known affectionately as Hanna to her friends and family, passed away peacefully of natural causes on May 1, 2025, in Raynham, Massachusetts. Born on December 8, 1929, in Mecklenburg, Germany, she was a beacon of adventurous spirit, generosity, and captivating charm throughout her 95 years.

Hanna's early years in Germany were marked by an appreciation for the great outdoors, a passion that only grew as she did. Her love for ice skating, skiing, and hiking was matched by her talent in each, and became an integral part of her life. Her melodious voice found a home at The Boylston Schulverein, Walpole, a German Club, where she joined the singing choir, and she sang with gusto and joy, sharing her culture and zest for life with all those around her.

A master of the garden, Hanna cultivated beauty and life in the soil of her home in Holbrook, creating an oasis that reflected the care and attention she gave to every aspect of her life. Her gardens were a symbol of her nurturing soul, a trait that extended into her relationships with her loved ones.

She is reunited in eternity with her husband, Manuel Costa Pacheco, her mother Dora Becker, and her sister, Ursula Clark, whom she cherished deeply. Hannelore leaves behind a legacy of love carried on by her children Bruce Pacheco and wife Beth, Mark Pacheco and wife Linda, and Michelle McSherry and husband George, her grandchildren Jonathan, Lauren, Emily, Hannah, Katelyn, Shane and Joshua and her great-grandchildren Evelyn and Kellan. Each family member carries forward a piece of Hanna's extraordinary legacy through their own lives.

Those who knew Hanna will remember her as a woman who embraced life's challenges with a remarkable blend of strength and grace. Her generous nature knew no bounds, and she was always the first to offer help to anyone in need. Her life was a tapestry of experiences that made her one of the most interesting and engaging individuals to be around.

Hanna's passing leaves a void in the hearts of all who loved her, but her spirit remains a guiding light. Her adventurous tales, her laughter in the chorus, and the beauty of her gardens will continue to inspire and comfort her family and friends. Hannelore Amelia Pacheco's life was one well-lived, full of passion and kindness, and she will be dearly missed by all who had the privilege of knowing her.

A private memorial service honoring her life will be held at Cartwright funeral followed by burial at Blue Hills cemetery.

The family would like to thank Old Colony Hospice of West Bridgewater for their compassionate care. Memorial contributions may be sent in lieu of flowers to Old Colony Hospice, 321 Manley St. West Bridgewater, MA 02379.

LIVING WITH LUKE

amyleclaire@hotmail.com

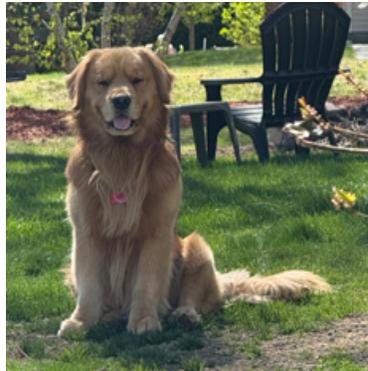

A Potent Kind of Love

brandishes a wolfish smile. “Life is so good.” I massage his ears and compliment him. “You’re the best boy, Luke. Thank you for listening. Mummy doesn’t want to lose you.”

It’s true. Luke is a big part of my life now. I don’t want to lose him.

A dog’s life is short. Dog parents sign up knowing this—even those who have experienced multiple passings. The joy of owning and sharing a life with a dog seems to supersede the pain of losing one. Nonetheless, the loss is nearly unbearable. Regardless of our dog’s age, we are never ready to say good-bye.

Ten years is considered an average life span for a Golden, with some studies suggesting that a decade is considered generous. Luke laps a wedge of blueberry scone from the palm of my hand. He’s trying so hard to “be easy” these days. He lowers his head like a lamb’s while I pet him. “Maybe you can give me just one more piece to reinforce a learned habit.”

Ten years? My pup is already three and we have so much more to accomplish. There are beaches and rivers and friendships to soak up. There are trails and bunnies and football games to follow. His gaze rests on the last piece of scone. Luke is unconcerned with the doom and gloom of his too-short life, or the fact that his mom will suffer a numbing, hollow pain, one redeemed only by strange, erratic dreams. What just happened? Where’s Luke? Oh, not this. My dog. Sigh.

“You’re having a good day, aren’t you, Luke?” He lifts a paw to agree. “Every day is a good day when we’re together Momma.” Luke does not concentrate on suffering. He has people to see and places to go. That’s what got me thinking.

Dogs Live in the Moment

Dogs naturally live every day as though it’s their last. Have you ever noticed how grateful a dog is to be a part of the simplest of routines? “I GET TO COME ON A CAR RIDE WITH YOU!!!!” He barrels down the stairs when I give him the affirmative signal, the jingle of his leash and a high-pitched voice. “Luke can come to.” It doesn’t matter where we’re headed, but only that we are together. Traffic jams are simply an opportunity to see drivers up-close.

“Hey, Mom—that lady is laughing at me.” I notice him tilt his head to the driver behind us. Indeed, her smile is lavish. I explain to him that adult drivers love to see dogs in cars. “The sight of a cute dog is a welcome surprise and respite from road rage. She’s not laughing at you, she’s just happy to see you, Luke.” His frozen stare becomes a smile. “If you think I’m cute, you ought to see my Daddy.”

Dogs Receive and Give Freely.

In life, giving often feels better than receiving. The “giver” receives a surge of joy when presenting a gift to a loved one. “I thought of you when I saw that stuffed bunny on the shelf. I know how much you love to watch them in our yard, so I found you one. This brand is known for the longest chew time, too.” We pat ourselves on the back and glimmer with a giver’s high. Here’s the truth. A stranger could offer your dog a cardboard box and

Do You Think the Housing Market's About To Crash? Read This First!

Lately, it feels like a lot of people have been asking the same question: "Is the housing market about to crash?" If you've been scrolling through social media or watching the news, you might have seen some pretty scary headlines yourself. That's why it's no surprise that, about 70% of Americans are worried about a housing crash in 2025. But before you hit pause on your plans to buy or sell a home, take a deep breath. The truth is: the housing market isn't about to crash – it's just shifting, and that shift actually works in your favor. Today's Inventory Keeps the Housing Market from Crashing. Economists are saying, there's just generally not enough supply. There are more people than housing inventory. It's Econ 101. Think about it. If there's a shortage of something – like tickets to a popular concert – prices go up. That's what's been happening with homes. We still have a shortage of supply. Too many buyers and not enough homes push prices higher. Even though the number of homes for sale is climbing, data from Realtor.com shows we're still well below normal levels. That ongoing low supply is what's stopping home prices from dropping at the national level. Again, economists are saying "...

BY MARK MARZEOTTI

he will be just as happy to receive it. "I love boxes!! Especially square Amazon boxes!! Let me at it!" The box will move and bounce like a live cartoon while he wrestles. Dogs are fully and naturally appreciative. They give and receive freely.

In a dog's world, giving is natural. Receiving matters just as much.

Our dogs provide us with intangible gifts, the stuff money can't buy. They give us their time, companionship, unconditional love, loyalty and affection. We give back all of this, along with a forever home. When we are sad, we need to think about all that our dogs have received. Like them, we need to be grateful.

Where would Luke be without all that he's received from me? What if a different family with a different lifestyle didn't realize that he has a mild case of claustrophobia? "These people are cool, but these four walls are getting old." What if he sat crated all day long? He'd scratch at the latch, I imagine, and find a way to free himself. Then, like an episode from Lassie, he'd run and run along back roads and find his way back to me. "Luke!! I missed you so much!" We'd roll around on the ground like a pair of fools.

Right now, I don't have to miss Luke or worry about the future.

I have today. We have today! He curls up on his bed like a fox, tail wrapped around his mouth. "Love you, Luke." I collapse by his bedside and snuggle for a few moments. Then I fluff up his blankets on the floor, in case he wants to change positions throughout the night.

Luke will receive rich and priceless gifts from me each day, until he's ready for his last. Life is too short for my gloom. We will stay blessed by a life lived out loud—and with a potent kind of love. (I still pray that this meatball will reach a solid nineteen).

The Glowing Stone and the Ghost Girl

BY THOMAS D'AGOSTINO

The strange paranormal events that transpired in St. Stephen's Cemetery in Attleborough, Massachusetts, established in 1889, caused nationwide attention. So much so, that it was said to be on the show, Unsolved Mysteries. Although the segment aired a long time ago, some of the locals still living in the area remember cars reportedly lined on both sides of the street full of paranormal enthusiasts, thrill seekers and legend trippers all there to see for themselves, the legend of the glowing stone.

The marker is not any special elaborate monument or anything that would immediately stand out from the rest of the headstones or memorials. Yet, the stone (name withheld out of respect) has been heavily studied and investigated by paranormal researchers and scientists alike. It was proven that the stone would glow with a greenish hue around dusk and into the early twilight. Fantastic accounts of people witnessing the sun's rays dipping below the horizon while the memorial would begin to ooze with light on its own accord. Investigators of various sciences gathered and tried many experiments, including turning the stone to dispel the possibility of an outside reflection being cast upon the marker. This was to no avail as the stone still emitted the now famous light. After returning it to its original position, the stone took on a reddish hue for several days before returning to its familiar green glow.

The date of decease on the stone are 1962 and 1964 which means the phenomena began sometime after the stone was put into place in the 1960s. From then until recently, the legend of the glowing stone has sent scores of people on a pilgrimage to witness the uncanny event. Alas, recent reports state the stone no longer glows, but that has not stopped some from visiting in hopes of perhaps an encore performance of the green glow.

If one does not witness the glowing stone, perhaps they will get a visit from one of the resident ghosts of the cemetery. The road that goes to the left of the giant cross leads toward the rear of the cemetery where Eugene (1881-1924), his wife Albertine (1888-1936), their son Ernest (1918-2002) and two year old Doris Doucette (1917-1919) are buried under a monument bearing their names. Eugene and Albertine had six children in all, but only two are buried with them. One of them, Doris, seems to enjoy greeting visitors who happen to wander into that section of the cemetery.

There are numerous reports of a child's footprints left in the wet grass or on the pavement. Other reports include the sound of footsteps that resemble a small child walking or skipping. The sound usually follows people as they walk down the road near Doris's resting place. Some have heard the laughter of a small child near the grave as well.

The ghost of Doris also appears every now and then. Her apparition appears near her grave and then vanishes into thin air. Witnesses have also seen the ghosts of who they believe are Albertine and Eugene roaming around their gravestone, probably looking for Doris as she frolics among the tombstones looking for someone to play with. Whether The ghosts know the living are there, or just appearing and disappearing at random is anyone's guess. Perhaps they are just eternally passing time, a mom and dad spending the afterlife with the daughter they lost so young. If you should happen to visit the cemetery and see any one of the ghosts of Eugene, Albertine, or Doris, you may want to make an attempt to ask them why they linger in the place where their mortal frame is interred. Who knows, you might just get an answer.

Growing up, Lorelai Drapeau started playing Nipmuc youth softball because of her dad's baseball background. Not only did he influence her, but he was also her coach and she found that she truly enjoyed the sport. Eventually she began to addition to making her feel more accomplished playing the sport on a higher level.

While the Thunder allowed her to improve upon her game, she came to the conclusion that there was just too much drama and that was not the scene for her so she tried out for the Blackstone Valley Venom, another local tournament team.

Everyone had grown over the years. She had worked hard at improving her craft and playing for the Venom helped her to bring her game to the next level. At that point softball became her life, not just a sport.

In the early days playing for the town league Drapeau found herself trying many different positions, but third base is where she believes that she is at her best. During her freshman season playing for the varsity team, she found herself getting into a few games here and there, but it was playing the hot corner. That same year, she decided to try winter track for something to do; her she would throw the shot put and run the hurdles. Last fall she found herself bored and decided to join the soccer team with her friends.

"When I joined track I figured that I had the arm for the shot put, it was throwing in a different way," she said. "As for the hurdles, there were no girls doing it so I threw myself into the event and seemed to pick it up quickly. My best friend's brother was a hurdler so he helped me out."

During her sophomore campaign on the softball field, she found herself playing first base for a couple of games and coming into this year she knew that things were going to be different, the team having graduated a lot of seniors.

"I knew this year, although my heart is at third base, I'd probably be playing different positions and it could be difficult at times," Drapeau said. "I don't mind playing different positions if it's going to help the team out. I just want to do my best while helping the team win more."

Playing different positions was an understatement as Drapeau got ready for her junior season for the Rams. At the time of this writing, Northbridge has only played six games and Drapeau found herself as the opening day pitcher. She has played behind the plate, as well as her third base position.

"Being short on numbers, having only 10 players, I knew that there was a big possibility that we would need someone this year to give our number one pitcher a rest," Northbridge coach David Mills said. "However, due to an injury at that position Lorelai was thrust into action almost immediately and she opened the season for us."

Drapeau mentioned that it was no big deal to move into the get noticed for her talent on the diamond.

"In addition to playing softball I was also involved in gymnastics; a sport that I had enjoyed for the longest time but I was growing out of it," Drapeau said. "At that time people were also telling my dad that I was a good softball player and should join a tournament team."

Drapeau gave up gymnastics and decided to join the Central Mass Thunder, where she was hoping to fulfill her softball lifestyle. Originally, she found that playing for a tournament team was definitely different, but knew that in the long run it would be a change for the better for her in

"I figured that I was going to make the U16 team, but to my surprise they selected me to play for the U18 College Showcase team," she said. "I remember getting that text; it was a huge confidence builder. It was crazy that I wasn't going to have to work my way up to get to that team and the program was a welcoming community, something that I was looking for."

Although it was an entirely new situation for her, Drapeau noted that she knew some of the girls and upon entering her second season with the Venom she has not only found the character development that she was looking for, but she also noticed how ev-

Calipers Rusting Prematurely, Most Likely Road Treatments Are the Cause

Q. I changed calipers, rotors, and brake pads and both back tires of my 2012 Acura TL on December 2024. The work was performed at a AAA repair shop. Now the calipers look completely rusty. What should I do now?

A. Surface rust is not too serious, it is more the caliper slides that you need to make sure are properly lubricated. Certainly, you could take off the calipers and paint them to prevent more rust. Rustoleum makes a high temperature caliper paint. The rusting issue is typically caused by ice melting chemicals. The latest replacement for rock salt, such as calcium chloride, and magnesium chloride, often in liquid brine form are great for road safety but tough on car parts and bridges. You certainly could stop at the repair shop, show them the calipers, and ask if they have had any issues with that part or supplier.

Q. I have a 2020 Subaru Forester and when it was in a local shop for an oil change the technician showed me some cracking in the front suspension bushing. He said it was not serious, but it is something I should take care of in the future, maybe by year end. Any thoughts on this?

A. Some cracking in rubber bushing is normal and to be expected with age. If you take a screwdriver and stress the crack and it goes completely through the bushing, the bushings need replacement. In fact, Subaru states cracks with a width greater than 13mm (1/2 inch) will have an impact on the vehicle ride quality and will require replacement. Cracks with a width of 13mm (1/2 inch) or less will not cause any functional concerns and will not require replacement.

Q. I had an issue with my car running rough. I went to the dealer to ask about service, and they suggested based on experience, that the car has excessive carbon build up. They recommended cleaning using walnut shells. What do you know about this?

A. Years back the engine combustion chamber and specifically the intake valves would build up with carbon deposits. The issue was mostly solved with gasoline with a higher percentage of cleaning additive. Today we are seeing a similar issue with direct injection design engines. Direct injection engines are prone to carbon buildup because fuel is injected directly into the cylinder, rather than at the intake valves. This lack of fuel cleaning additive at the valves and ports leads to more combustion deposits over time. The walnut shell blaster is used once the intake manifold is removed to blast off any deposits. I first heard about walnut shell blasting to clean carbon buildup in aircraft engines. The walnut shell abrasive can be easily targeted to the valves and without causing damage to any other parts.

Q. I recently purchased a lightly used Ford Transit van that was used by a caterer who purchased it new. I like the truck. It works out great for my work and for bringing my art to flea markets. The one odd issue is on warm days when I have the air conditioner on, and I sit parked I hear a weird noise. It sounds like dripping water on a hot pan. Any ideas?

A. You are exactly correct it is water dripping but not on a pan but on the exhaust system. When the air conditioner is working it removes moisture from the air and that moisture drains on the ground. The air conditioner evaporator drain hose needs to be lengthened and repositioned to allow the water to drain without hitting the exhaust.

Q. I just purchased a 2012 Volvo S-60, and it is really gets decent mileage but there is one issue that bugs me, there is not an exterior trunk lock. Can a lock be added?

A. From what I have gleaned looking this up, the lock is there, but there is no access to it. The trim piece needs to be removed, and a hole drilled and then you have access to the lock. The lock is then covered with a plug to keep things weather tight.

Q. I recently inherited an old Jeep. It was a former army Jeep, and it looks like it is in good condition, sort of. The brakes are shot, and the engine is stuck. The brakes look simple enough to fix, but the engine has me concerned. Any idea where to start to free this up?

A. I would remove the spark plugs and add Marvel Mystery oil to the cylinders. Or you could make your own cleaner. Mix a 50/50 mix of transmission fluid and acetone also works well. Add this to the cylinders and let the mixture do its magic overnight. The next day try rotating the engine by hand. Go a little in each direction until you can make a complete revolution. Add more Marvel Mystery oil or the homemade mixture and rotate the engine until it feels smooth. Once everything is moving then you can move onto fuel and ignition. When you get it running there will be a lot of smoke from the oil, but it should clear up over time.

More homes for sale means price growth is easing, and, as more homes become available, that takes some of the intense upward pressure off home price growth – leading to healthier price appreciation. So, while prices aren't falling nationally, growing inventory means they also aren't rising as fast as they were. What we're seeing is price moderation and that moderation should continue through the rest of this year. In 2025, you should expect the pace of house price appreciation to moderate from the levels seen in 2024, while still maintaining a positive track. Put simply, that means prices will continue going up in most areas, just not as quickly. That's good news for anyone who's been having trouble finding a home and feeling sticker shock from the rapid price appreciation of the past few years. But of course, what's happening with prices and inventory is going to vary by local market. So, talk to The Marzeotti Group or another trusted agent to find out what's happening where you live. Don't let the talk scare you. Experts agree that a housing market crash is unlikely in 2025.

pitching circle for the Rams as she had pitched before in her earlier playing days.

"It wasn't out of the ordinary and I knew that I could handle the situation," she said. "The biggest problem was that I am very hard on myself and my biggest fear was that I'd be too hard. It was a challenge at first, but I realized that I was doing this for the better of the team."

The Northbridge coach went on to say that Drapeau does everything for the sake of the team.

"She has stepped up to fill a void; it's a pretty big thing to do and can be extremely difficult at times," Mills said. "Teams usually have only a limited number of pitchers and it is really hard to find someone last minute. Lorelai gave up her position to help the team."

At the plate the now junior has steadily improved her hitting over the years. This year, along with the other juniors, she will be counted on heavily. Mills was also looking for the junior to move up in the batting order; last year she batted sixth and so far this season she has been batting in the number three slot, where the coach is looking for some contribution.

Individually, Drapeau is hoping to create community at Northbridge, bringing everyone closer together like it used to be when she first made the team two years ago. She wants the rest of the team to come to practice excited while having the same passion for the game as she does. Drapeau is also looking for the team to be in the right mental aspect for the game. She noted that softball is a game of failure and you need to help not only yourself but your teammates.

While it's still early, the junior would love nothing more than to continue to softball career after high school is done. Currently she is looking into Salem State, Springfield College and Endicott College as some places she would like to attend. At this time, the early leader is Endicott, as it not only has the major she is looking to get into but they also have good softball program.

With college still in the future, the Drapeau is just hoping that she can put her softball skills to the best use and help her team advance into the State Tournament.
