YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - What is it that makes the county fair so appealing?

For some, it's the games and adrenaline-fueled rides; for others, it's the novelty entertainment acts or the selection of deep-fried delights.

No matter your preferences, there's an undeniable vibe at the county fair. "We haven't been here in years but some friends gave us free tickets," said Terri Howard. "I can't believe how much it's grown. It really makes me feel young again."

Speaking of young'uns, Friday was the Yuba-Sutter Fair's Kids Day, with free admission for those 11 and under. It also happened to be the coolest day of the week, with temperatures peaking at just 80 degrees. Gates opened promptly at 4 p.m. and time-savvy thrill-seekers headed straight for the rides.

Even in the bright afternoon sun, rides such as "Freak Out," "Zipper" and "Rock Star" had lengthy wait times but nothing compared to the gridlock rush hour of twilight. As the skies turned orange, the lines grew longer, dazzling riders in the rainbow glow of neon bulbs.

"It's just so beautiful," said 11-year-old Alex Jones, describing

Record-Breaking Turnout at Miss Yuba-Sutter Pageants

By Shamaya Sutton

YUBA-SUTTER, CA (MPG) - The Yuba-Sutter Fair was buzzing with excitement June 19 night as the Miss Yuba-Sutter Scholarship Program crowned its newest royal court in what organizers say was the largest turnout since the 1990s.

According to co-director Ashley Newman, the 2025 competition featured 30 official contestants vying for titles, plus 21 "Future Misses" and five outgoing court members, with as many as 56 kids on stage at once.

"This year was great," Newman said. "It was a really big night for us, and the kids all did a really, really great job of showcasing the youth in our community."

Newman herself is a product of the program, having first competed as a Mini Miss in 1999. She went on to hold the titles of Miss Yuba-Sutter and Miss California State in 2007 before stepping into the director role in 2013. After a brief hiatus, she returned in 2020 and now co-directs alongside Andrea Dunham.

This year's newly crowned Miss Yuba-Sutter is Simrat Johal, a 16-year-old River Valley High School student with plans to pursue pre-med studies at UC Davis. Johal called the program life changing.

"It's helped me find my voice, grow in confidence, and feel more

Council Approves Repair Contract for Pump Station

By Shaunna Boyd

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Marysville City Council held a closed session on May 20 to consider several items. The items included labor negotiations with Teamsters, Marysville Police Officer Association and the Firefighter Union; real estate negotiations regarding a Kinder Morgan pipeline relocation for the B-Street Project; a legal conference about the City of Marysville versus Sutter-Yuba Friday Night Live "Packard Library" litigation; and negotiations regarding potential city-owned property offers from Caltrans.

After more than two hours in closed session, the council reconvened into open session and announced that no reportable actions were taken.

The council then considered a contract for the repair of pumps in the detention basin near Highway 20 at 17th Street.

The pumps remove stormwater from the basin to ensure flood protection for Marysville. However, the current pump capacity cannot keep up with heavy rainfall, causing the basin to overflow into surrounding neighborhoods.

After completing the bid process, city staff recommended awarding the repair contract to Laurel AG & Water LLC. The recommended contract amount is $254,248, with additional costs for contingency and design.

City engineer consultant John Mallen explained that the costs will be higher if the pumps and motors need to be replaced instead of repaired. But the cost of replacement will still be within budget of the Yuba Water Agency grant funding, which is approved up to $713,000, Mallen said.

The Marysville City Council voted unanimously to approve the contract for the 17th Street pump repair project.

At a special meeting on May 27, the council held a closed session to continue labor negotiations with Teamsters, Marysville Police Officer Association and the Firefighter Union.

The closed session also included continued negotiations about the Kinder Morgan pipeline relocation for the B-Street Project, as well as the possible addition of an amendment to the Disposition and Development Agreement with Engstrom Properties,

Men in Alleged Conspiracy Ring Arrested

Butte County District Attorney's Office Press Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - As part of an ongoing investigation of a 2024 Butte County arson, arrest and search warrants were served June 19 in Butte, Sutter, and Sacramento counties alleging multiple counts of arson and insurance fraud.

Three men were arrested June 19 on individual $1,000,000 warrants issued out of Butte County Superior Court. They were identified as Gurtej Singh, 28, of Yuba City, who was arrested on a warrant alleging Arson, Destroying Insured Property for Fraud, Presenting a False Insurance Claim, Perjury, Fraud and Wire Fraud; Aaron Pamma, 30, of Live Oak, who was arrested on a warrant alleging Arson, Supporting a False Insurance Claim, Perjury, Fraud and Conspiracy to Destroy Insured Property for Fraud; and Simren Pamma, 28, of Sacramento, who was arrested on a warrant alleging Arson and Conspiracy to Destroy Insured Property for Fraud.

Butte County District Attorney Mike Ramsey said the arrest and search warrants were the result of a lengthy joint investigation involving the CAL FIRE Law Enforcement Division, the Butte County District Attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The investigation arose out of a Feb. 17, 2024, arson fire that severely damaged a farmhouse on Ord Ferry Road in Butte County. During the investigation, CAL FIRE investigators determined the house and surrounding orchards had been purchased in April of 2023 by Singh using a U.S. Department of Agriculture mortgage program.

Approximately one month after purchasing the property Singh transferred 50-percent ownership of the property to Aaron Pamma and Simren Pamma, according to the District Attorney's Office.

CAL FIRE investigators determined Singh had purchased an insurance policy on the house approximately three months before the fire. Working with the insurance company, investigators determined Singh had made numerous false and/or misleading representations in the application for the insurance policy and that Singh and Aaron Pamma had made numerous false and/or misleading representations to the insurance company after the fire.

Investigators alleged that shortly after the fire, Singh, Aaron Pamma and Simren Pamma sold the Ord Ferry property and then collected payment from the insurance company resulting in an estimated gross profit of over $200,000.

As part of the alleged conspiracy, investigators also determined that after buying the property in 2023, Singh, Aaron Pamma and Simren Pamma hired Big Dog Handyman of Corning to renovate and improve the farmhouse. As part of the renovations and improvements, Big Dog Handyman purchased thousands of dollars' worth of goods and materials from multiple Chico area businesses, using checks on a non-existent bank account, according to the District Attorney's Office.

The owner of Big Dog Handyman, Javier Molina-Bravo of Corning, 37, was charged in Butte County Superior Court with multiple felony counts of check fraud last March. Molina-Bravo failed to appear for a scheduled hearing in Butte County Superior Court and is currently a wanted fugitive from justice. ★

Ceramics Classes for Veterans

Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture News Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture (YSAC) is proud to announce the next series of free art classes for veterans and active-duty military. "Ceramics for Veterans" is a yearlong program which includes basic hand building ceramics classes, wheel throwing and related lectures, gallery shows and sales.

The next eight-week session of classes will be held in the Gallery at Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture, 624 E St. in Marysville starting on Thursday, July 10, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. The final class will be on Aug. 28. The classes are free of charge for veterans, active-duty military and their families. Additional classes will be offered during the remainder of the year, along with a series of offsite wheel throwing classes. Veterans are invited to be a part of these workshops and related events. They will learn the basics of working with clay and hand-building techniques, giving them a powerful creative outlet. Ceramics improve fine motor skills, concentration and problem-solving. Participants will leave with a sense of accomplishment and finished projects.

Classes will be led by well-known Northern California ceramic artists, Amy Davis and U.S. Army Combat Veteran Jason Lewis. Davis' instructors early in her career included Glenn Husted at Yuba College where she studied traditional Asian ceramics and wood firing and Dick Hotchkiss at Sierra College. Lewis is a former student of Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture's Ceramic Artist in Residence, Navy Veteran Drew Sallee. Sallee was the Sutter Union High School ceramics teacher for many years where he taught Lewis.

Later in August, Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture is offering a series of free wheel throwing classes in collaboration with Verge Center for the Arts in Sacramento. In pottery, a potter's wheel is a machine used in the shaping (known as throwing) of clay into round ceramic ware. The wheel may also be used during the process of trimming excess clay from leather-hard dried ware that is stiff but malleable, and for applying incised decoration or rings of color. The experts say it is not as easy as it looks, but Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture wanted to be able to offer this creative outlet to Veterans as well as the hand building classes currently underway in Marysville. Watch for further announcements about the wheel throwing classes later in July.

Art classes for veterans like these provide a therapeutic outlet for expressing emotions and experiences that may be difficult to verbalize. Many veterans face challenges such as Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, anxiety or depression, and creative activities like ceramics and other art forms can offer a sense of relief and healing. These classes foster a supportive environment and a sense of community, where veterans can connect with others who share similar experiences, promoting camaraderie and reducing isolation. Overall, these programs support emotional well-being and help veterans with new-found skills and confidence.

"The simple act of taking a piece of clay and transforming it into something beautiful and/or functional has real value for the creator," said David Read, the Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture executive director. "The veterans and other students leave class with a sense of accomplishment and decorative, useful finished projects."

This series of Ceramics for Veterans classes is funded by Sutter Yuba Behavioral Health. Again, this program is open to all veterans and their families in Sutter and Yuba counties at no cost. Be sure to pre-register at yubasutterarts.org or for additional information, call 530-742-2787. ★ his experience on the Zender ride.

"You feel like you're floating in this crazy dream and all the lights are swirling above and below you."

Those looking to escape the crowds could find solace among the show animals, many of whom were out for their evening stroll or getting packed up for the night.

For rabbit exhibitors, Friday marked the end of their fair run, following final showmanship events that afternoon. Among them was young Stella Hunt, proudly showing off her Netherland Dwarf rabbit, "Sir Archie," a rare, two-pound breed that isn't often seen at local fairs.

"He won first in his class," said Hunt. "But he was also the only one in his class."

While Sir Archie was considered a pet or breeder, other rabbits at the fair had a different fate.

"If you look around and see multiple in a pen, those are probably meat. Solos are usually pets," explained Hunt's mother, Philipa.

Over by the cattle pens, Logan Choate Foster was giving his cow, Gemini, a final evening walk. A Marysville Future Farmers of America member, Choate Foster has been showing cows for four years but only recently began selling them.

"Last year, I got eighth place in the carcass contest and I got Choice Plus," he said. "Eating him (Gemini) would be like eating at a very fancy restaurant."

This year, he upped his game: Gemini placed third in Market and first in Commercial, with an estimated 70% yield of Choice Plus or Prime grade meat.

Although the goodbye is bittersweet, Choate Foster focuses on the quality of life he has given his animal.

"He's had a good life," he said. "(For Gemini), it's like eating the best food you could ever have every single day of your life and being loved every single day of your life."

As the evening rolled toward dinner hour, food stands came alive with hungry visitors. A new dumpling booth attracted curious customers with steaming pork buns and panda buns filled with sweet red bean paste. Nearby, caricature artists kept folks entertained while they waited.

With warm plates in hand, many headed toward the picnic area beside the main stage. There, as golden hour hit, the Josh Day Band made their debut, bringing energy and classic rock vibes with covers such as "Simple Man" and others that had the crowd swaying along.

Several fairgoers complimented lead singer Josh Day's clean, strong vocals, calling it the perfect end to another memorable night at the Yuba-Sutter Fair. ★

Where to Celebrate the 4th of July in Yuba-Sutter

By Shamaya Sutton

YUBA-SUTTER, CA (MPG) - Whether you're looking for a hometown parade, a fireworks finale or just an excuse to eat a hot dog and wave a flag, the Yuba-Sutter region offers plenty of patriotic ways to celebrate Independence Day this year.

Festivities kick off on the morning of July 4 with a beloved local tradition, the annual Children's Parade in downtown Yuba City.

The fun begins at 10 a.m. at the corner of Plumas and Center streets, where children decked out in red, white and blue will parade their decorated bikes, scooters, wagons and strollers to the Town Square Fountain.

All participants are invited to stay afterward for a free hot dog lunch and popsicles, while enjoying a live performance by the Yuba Sutter Symphony, which starts at 10:15 a.m. near the fountain.

For those looking to extend the celebration into the evening, Bryant Field in Marysville may be the place to be.

The Marysville High

Wheelers baseball team traditionally hosts Friday night fireworks and with this year's Fourth of July landing on a Friday, there's a good chance the sky will light up after the final pitch. Whether you're a die-hard baseball fan or just in it for the spectacle, it's a perfect way to cap off a day of community celebration.

Elsewhere in the region, the small town of Grimes offers its own slice of Americana with a 10 a.m. Fourth of July parade featuring vintage military vehicles and all the charm of a classic rural celebration. While they did not offer fireworks last year and have yet to confirm this year's schedule, it remains a festive spot for those seeking a laid-back outdoor holiday.

Backyard celebrations will also be in full swing, supported by a network of local nonprofits operating fireworks booths throughout the area. Official sales begin at noon on June 28 and will continue through

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

I have long known that Sacramento Kings fans are true basketball fans, so the NBA finals were a real treat for everyone that loves the game.

Two small-market teams vying for the title of the best in basketball, with defense as the defining factor of the series. It was a clinic on team defense, and Sacramento fans had the privilege of witnessing exactly how it's done

This series could have gone either way, and if Tyrese Haliburton hadn't gone down in the first quarter of game seven, perhaps it's Indianapolis celebrating Monday morning. We'll never know, and for true Kings fans, seeing Tyrese go down with what experts' suspect is an Achilles injury was a sobering moment.

If the injury is a torn Achilles, Haliburton will likely miss all next season and greatly hamper any chances the Pacers have of reaching the finals.

Now that the finals are over and the Oklahoma City Thunder were crowned NBA champions for the 2024/2025 season, one area where Indianapolis truly dominated was their bench. With a record-breaking 249 points in the series, led by TJ McConnell and Obi Toppin, the bench kept them in the fight, playing a key role in pushing the finals to its limit.

Both teams share players that are long and have huge wingspans.

Chet Holmgren proved why he was the No. 1 draft pick for the Thunder two seasons ago, setting an NBA record with five blocks in Game 7. He added 18 points, and his energy gave OKC what they needed as they capitalized on a Pacers team that found themselves short-handed in the first quarter of Game 7.

TJ McConnell's 68 points, 28 assists, 19 rebounds and 14 steals, set a finals record for a bench player, but even this remarkable effort was no match for the defense of the Oklahoma City Thunder.

What can Scott Perry and his Sacramento Kings take from watching this series?

Value the talent you have and access it accurately. If the Kings have a shortcoming, it's their inability to access talent.

Sacramento Kings fans are optimistic that with a leadership change, new GM will change that and begin the process with a notable find in the upcoming NBA draft.

Is there a player at pick No. 42 that can make any impact with the Kings next season? Can Scott Perry and his staff find a diamond in the rough?

Unless a trade is made to move the Kings into the first round, that is what the new leadership team has to do.

Trades are beginning to occur, and 7-footer Kevin Durant is on the move. The same Kevin Durant that was drafted No. 2 overall by the Seattle Supersonics that became none other than the Oklahoma City Thunder.

The traveled Kevin Durant will settle in Houston, Texas, where he'll reunite with former teammate Steven Adams to help the Rockets rebuild. In return, the trade sent Dillon Brooks, Jalen Green, and five second-round draft picks to the Phoenix Suns. Who ultimately wins this trade remains to be seen.

Draft choices matter, and the Sacramento Kings not only let fan-favorite Davion Mitchell go to the Toronto Raptors last season for a player who never saw a minute of regular-season action, they also threw in a second-round draft pick.

These are the moves that must stop if the Kings franchise is going to become a playoff contender.

Do Kings fans want to accomplish what OKC just did, and hoist the Larry Obrien trophy for the first time in franchise history? Of course, but I assure you fans will settle for playoff tickets every year as a place to start.

Mr. Perry, all eyes are on you! What exactly do you have in your bag of tricks that doesn't include trading Domantas Sabonis? Add to that list Keon Ellis, Isaac Jones, Devin Carter and Keegan Murray.

Teams are chomping at the bit to bite into our young talent that haven't had the opportunity to show what their true potential is.

Moves are imminent, and while some fans will never be happy with the players that are traded, but patience and true appreciation for the young talent we have is needed.

Stay tuned Kings fans, because just as the sun will rise tomorrow, a trade is in the offing.

All the best!

Social Security Matters

What about Non-Career Veterans and their VA Healthcare?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: In your answer to the retired U.S. Navy veteran about why he is forced to enroll in Medicare, you focused on military TriCare's requirement for the member to enroll in Medicare. But you said nothing about regular VA health care. If a non-career veteran is eligible for VA health care, couldn't that be used in place of Medicare? Signed: Veteran Advocate

Dear Veteran Advocate: Thank you for your feedback. FYI, I have previously explained numerous times that veterans who rely on the VA for 100% of their healthcare can, indeed, disenroll from Medicare Part B (thus saving the monthly Part B premium). I don't personally recommend it because of my personal experience, but it certainly is possible to do so. Personally, I use the VA for some of my healthcare needs - usually an annual checkup and optometry services - at my local VA clinic which is only a mile away from where I live. But for any extensive treatment needs (medical tests, etc.) I must travel about 40 miles to the nearest VA hospital facility. For contrast, I have numerous private healthcare services, specialists, and hospitals very near where I live, but to use them under the VA I must get VA preapproval and use only certain VA-approved providers, which is inconvenient for me. Personally, I prefer the freedom to go to any healthcare service provider I choose, without restriction, at any time I need to. So, I use my VA coverage when it is convenient for me but rely also on non-VA, Medicare-approved specialists who I can choose to use (or not) at will. For me, it's a matter of convenience and the freedom to use whichever healthcare provider I want. That said, I fully understand that some veterans rely exclusively on the VA for their healthcare needs, and I have explained to many who have written to me that they have that option. I have also published several public articles about this as well. Here is one such article:

<https://socialsecurityreport.org/ask-rusty-why-should-a-veteran-pay-for-medicare/>

So, please rest assured that we regularly advise our veterans about their healthcare options under Medicare, including the ability to decline Medicare Part B coverage if they have full VA healthcare coverage. FYI, free Medicare Part A (inpatient hospitalization coverage) is mandatory to collect Social Security after age 65, but Medicare Part B coverage is always optional because there is a premium associated with Part B. A veteran can decline Medicare Part B coverage and save that monthly premium, but they would need to contact Social Security to do so. Social Security will want to interview the veteran to ensure they are aware of the potential financial consequences of not having Medicare Part B. And they may need to file form CMS-1763 (Request for Termination) But a non-career veteran can opt out of Medicare Part B if they get all of their healthcare services through the Veterans Administration.

Politicians Agree on School Money But Poor Test Scores Need Attention

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Historically, the annual process of writing a state budget has often stumbled over how much money California should spend on its public school system and its nearly 6 million students. However, as Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders negotiate a final budget for the 2025-26 fiscal year, dealing with a multi-billion-dollar deficit, they have only small disagreements on school finance.

Both Newsom's latest budget and the Legislature's alternative draft would peg state spending on schools at $80.5 billion, including transitional kindergarten, a new education subcategory.

That's $4.5 billion less than the current budget allocates, but with anticipated increases in education's share of local property taxes, total spending would remain roughly even.

With schools off the table, politically, Newsom and legislators are wrangling over more contentious issues, particularly the reductions in medical and social services for poor, elderly and disabled Californians that Newsom seeks to close the budget gap.

The comity on school spending, however, shuns a debate that California's politicians should be having — what to do about the system's chronically subpar academic achievement.

This week the Public Policy Institute of California issued a timely reminder that there's been little progress — and some regression — in such basic skills as reading and mathematics, with wide gaps among students tied to family income, ethnicity and other socioeconomic factors.

In an analysis of state academic tests that were administered last year, PPIC researchers reported that fewer than half of all students “met or exceeded state standards in English Language Arts, while about a third (36%) did so in math.”

The analysis also found that “proficiency rates were highest among Asian students: just above 70% in English and nearly two-thirds in math. White students' rates were lower, with 60% meeting the standard in English and 50% in math. Proficiency rates were lower on average for Black and Latino students — 24% and 37% in English, respectively, and 18% and 30% in math.”

Also girls fared much better than boys in English. And proficiency in basic skills among low-income students is scarcely half that of those from moderate- or high-income families.

To cap it off, PPIC notes that California students' rates of proficiency in federal tests continue to lag behind those of other states.

None of these findings is unexpected. California students have been lagging behind the state's expectations and national norms for many years, even as spending on the school system has continued to climb to well over $20,000 a year per pupil from state aid, local property taxes and federal subventions.

One would think that California's stubbornly mediocre — at best — education outcomes would sit atop the political agenda, given their negative effects on students and the state as a whole.

However, the Capitol's discussions of education usually start and end with how much money schools should receive, when it's obvious that school finances, while important, are just one factor in outcomes.

There are some signs of progress on those other factors, such as a recent agreement to encourage local school systems to use phonics in teaching elementary students how to read, the most important of all academic skills.

While the state is stopping short of mandating phonics, as many education experts advise, it's a step forward that more or less declares a winner in the very long debate over methodology that's been dubbed “reading wars.”

However, there's also been some regression. As PPIC notes in its study, the state Board of Education, which tends to reflect the education establishment's priorities, has adopted new definitions of academic test proficiency that could obscure embarrassingly low results. For instance, if a student scores below grade level, their performance will be labeled “Developing” or “Minimum.”

“Understanding student scores could be growing more difficult,” PPIC says. That's not a good thing.

Dan Walters is one of the most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state's political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★ federal law will run in jurisdictions opposed to it, and over the morality of those underlying laws.

To use a term borrowed from segregationists in Virginia in the 1950s, the opponents of ICE are engaged in a campaign of “massive resistance.”

Virginia Democrat Harry Byrd and his allies came up with an across-the-board strategy to undermine Brown v. Board of Education. “If we can organize the Southern states for massive resistance to this order,” Byrd said, “I think that in time the rest of the country will realize that racial integration is not going to be accepted in the South.”

Similarly, Democratic officeholders and activists hope to make ICE raids so politically toxic and so painful to implement that the federal government stands down and accepts the status quo of routine lawlessness.

The opposition is relying on a version of another doctrine of the Southern resisters: nullification. This is the idea that states can invalidate federal laws that they deem an offense against our constitutional order.

This notion has a long, undistinguished history in this country as a precursor to the Civil War and, later, as a tool to attempt to preserve segregation. Although it is most associated with the South, other parts of the country have tried to resort to it as well.

Now progressive cities and states are joining the list. They have no equivalent of John C. Calhoun, the brilliant, if catastrophically wrong, South Carolina statesman who developed a sophisticated defense of the concept. Instead, they want de facto nullification, or nullification as a practical matter rather than a theory.

Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass has been quite clear about this. “We need to stop the raids,” she insists. “The only thing it does is contribute to chaos.” Her attitude would take Los Angeles well beyond its status as a sanctuary city, which involves not affirmatively cooperating with the feds, and make it something else -- effectively a no-go zone for immigration officers and a jurisdiction that affirmatively resists them.

Of course, the anti-ICE resistance would reject any association with the massive resistance of yore, arguing that its cause is just, in contrast to the segregationist South. But violent opposition to law enforcement officers acting within their lawful powers is deeply wrong, whatever the underlying cause (and the mass illegal immigration imposes significant costs on our society).

If enforcing our laws is offensive to progressives, they should seek to change the statutes in question and pass a large-scale amnesty, rather than relying on a rioter's veto to dictate what ICE agents can do and where they can go.

Violent mobs have no legitimate part to play in our democratic republic, not in Oxford, Mississippi, in 1962, not in Los Angeles, California, or anywhere else inspired by its sordid example in 2025.

The New Massive Resistance

On Sept. 30, 1962, the University of Mississippi experienced a “mostly peaceful” demonstration. As with all such protests, it was peaceful until it wasn't -- it became a riot, and a particularly heinous and destructive one.

The mob attacked federal officers, including border patrol agents, with rocks and Molotov cocktails. They burned cars. They smashed streetlights. They ransacked buildings. They drove vehicles at the officers. And they did it all to try to prevent the federal government from enforcing the law.

This, discerning readers will realize, was the notorious Battle of Oxford, when students at Ole Miss and outside agitators exploded in fury to prevent the enrollment of James Meredith, an African-American, who was under the protection of federal agents.

President John F. Kennedy had federalized the Mississippi National Guard days before the disturbance, and sent in the Army when things got out of hand. Eventually, he drew on 31,000 troops, a necessary exercise of overwhelming force.

Now, once again, mobs are in the streets in opposition to federal power and federal law. We are probably at the beginning stages of another titanic struggle over whether the writ of

The Brownsville Bailinwick & Beyond

This Independence Day will mark about 250 years since we, as a country, decided not to let a king tell us what do to. We fought for a vote and the right to decide on laws to run our country. For us in Brownsville sometime we seem very removed from what is happening in Washington DC. However, here on the hill, please be super careful with fireworks. We have been fortunate, so far, not having a wildfire close to us. Let's keep it that way. Join Foothill Volunteer Fire team and let them handle the fireworks safely.

Brownsville is fortunate to have a paved "Bike" lane that runs from our airport to the post office, a good mile and more. The area includes two trailer parks, our medical center, two grocery store, as well as several other small businesses. Even though we call it a "Bike" lane, it is used by wheelchairs, golf carts and other small motorized vehicles. However, it is not marked as such, so many people don't even realize what it is for. There should be no parking on the bike lane because that means people in wheelchairs would have to travel into the traffic lane. I wonder how we could get better signage.

The plans for Mountain Fair are really coming together. Please set aside July 26 – 27. There will be fliers out soon and lots have planning has gone into this event.

Look Back in Time -In 1904 the hotels in Clipper mills and Woodleaf were filled with summer tourists, enjoying hunting, fishing and reading (there were even places to stay in Challenge and Beaver ranch area, people needed to get out of the heat in the valley).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon. ~ Yvonne ★

Some Places

By Kathy Craig Harteis

There are some places that beckon us with a promise of peace, and a sense of calm.

This week as we remember our fathers Tom and I are in one such place.

We have a favorite riverside cabin we visit each year in Cardwell, Montana.

Rocky dog is welcome here also. He's a runner in nature so he has to go out on a leash. This part of the river is shallow but it is swift moving. I'm pretty sure Rocky would move through the water like a rubber raft. Best to keep control of him.

It's been a couple of welcomed peaceful days here.

My folks both loved to travel. I think I inherited the road trip bug from the two of them. I love a road trip. I much prefer driving myself to being at the mercy of the airlines. If an ocean doesn't separate me from my destination you can count on me driving.

Now that we have a second place in California, I suspect I'll be on the road as much as I can for as long as I can.

I take a look at my life and feel very blessed. I'm loved by those who matter.

I've had decent health as I age. I have noticed changes and new challenges but I think that's part of the deal. The Lord has a plan for all of us. I just heard a quote stating that there is a better version of ourselves around each corner. I'm praying I keep turning corners and finding a better and better version of me.

Meanwhile I have one more day here at the cabin by the river. God has a way of showing us His handiwork. All I need do is look around me here and know life is planned and life is good today.

More Violence Spooks the Markets

No sooner than I write an article mentioning man's propensity to kill and maim each other in attempt to alter somebody's grand world view, another escalation in the middle east region makes the news and the market tanks once more.

I have to admit, although the Dow and its related markets have come off their April 2025 lows, and the overall markets have a general upward trajectory of late, it seems yet another fecal bag hits the proverbial fan blades and down we go again.

Although inflation has been the main issue with the markets in the past few years and the Federal Reserve's interest rate crusade to try and harness it is making investors continually nervous, the death and destruction that is the middle east is just another in a long line of horrendous and violent acts perpetrated by man against his fellow man.

Israel struck out against Iran last week and tensions are escalating in both the markets and the inhabitants of the region.

The price of oil is rising as the region is one of the main sources of the black stuff although any hiccup in an oil supply line, wherever it is, causes such price spikes.

The price of oil is very "elastic", which means it can move very rapidly under the winds of supply and demand.

The newest round of attacks coincidentally coincides with the 250th anniversary of the U.S. Army parade in Washington Sunday which reminded me of the Chinese military parades where soldiers march in astonishing precision and lines of tanks and missiles go around the block ten times to supposedly scare off any would be invaders.

When I see all that grey and green ugly hardware, I think of all the money spent on that stuff and sadly realize most of it is only there to kill people.

I know such weaponry can be considered insurance against other aggressors who might want our land and liberty, but it certainly is a sobering fact that we find it necessary that in order to stay alive, we must threaten to kill others.

Like I said last week, mankind apparently loves to kill and maim his fellow man. It must be so as it has been going on since the beginning.

I keep thinking about John Lennon's line in his song "Imagine", where it goes "Imagine no possessions, nothing to kill or die for".

Of course, in a world of "no possessions," it's called something like socialism or communism, or what have you, and only fools wish for such things.

We know from history, go that route and the protest signs eventually come out and soon are followed by more weaponry on both sides.

Of course, as detailed in last week's article, this too, whatever it is, will pass, and life will go on, God willing. The sad part is life WONT go on for some.

They will get caught up in the melee and the weaponry, get run over or shot or hit in the head and pass on into history.

For now, however, we can pray things settle down over there and calmer heads will prevail.

Meanwhile, the AIR INDIA crash of yet another Boeing airliner last week snuffed out another 250 or so lives, proving it's not only weaponry that is capable of reducing the population of the planet.

A Boeing 787 Dreamliner couldn't seem to get off the ground by much and belly flopped soon after takeoff. All but one guy on the plane met their maker. The crash also took some lives on the ground where it hit. Our hearts and prayers go out to the families of the victims.

Boeing makes planes don't ya know, but they also make things that kill people like the weaponry in the parade displayed last weekend.

The caveat here is the Dreamliner is not designed to kill people but transport them.

You wouldn't know that for sure as this is the third Boeing to go down in the last 7 years.

Although we don't know what exactly caused this latest plane to go down, the first two were certainly Boeing's faulty software called the MCAS system, which was designed to aid in keeping the plane in the air.

Apparently the software thought otherwise.

That does it for the week. There is certainly more I could cover and the markets will most likely be volatile this week.

Like I said, hopefully calmer heads and markets will prevail.

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may visit the Internet Website address <https://www.servicelinkauction.com/> or call ServiceLink Auction | Hudson and Marshall at (866) 539-4173 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA06000007-25-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866) 539-4173, or visit this internet website <https://www.servicelinkauction.com/>, using the file number assigned to this case CA06000007-25-1 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust has deposited all documents evidencing the obligations secured by the Deed of Trust and has declared all sums secured thereby immediately due and payable, and has caused a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be executed. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the County where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500291559 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500291559 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. The Challenge of Democratic Policing

By Steve Smith of the Pacific Research Institute

News of the fairly small federal enforcement action spread quickly amongst opponents of immigration enforcement, and based on the flags and signs, a host of other political causes as well, resulting in days of riots, assaults on police officers, arson, and vandalism.

The situation is made more confusing in California because here, state and local law enforcement officials are barred from enforcing immigration laws or cooperating with immigration authorities by SB 54, the so-called "California Values Act".

Specifically, SB 54 prohibits California peace officers from participating in joint federal/state task forces that involve immigration enforcement. They may not arrest individuals for immigration law violations or hold inmates longer than their customary arrest and holding periods without a judicial order for the purposes of immigration enforcement. They must also ensure that schools, hospitals, or other public spaces remain open to all without consideration of the immigration status of anyone accessing those facilities. In all they do, they cannot ask the immigration status of an individual.

ICE actions thus create a strain on the social contract between some Californians and local and state law enforcement agencies who are viewed by many to be indistinguishable from their federal counterparts. Consequently, in Los Angeles, local officers are being attacked and property is being destroyed as protesters and criminal opportunists take advantage of the misconception of their role.

In addition, the tactical response to an emerging riot can be maddeningly slow.

Consider that the Los Angeles Police Department has just 8,900 police officers on staff to provide service to over 3.8 million residents, yet the number of officers actually on duty at any given time is a scant 315, or less than 1 officer per 12,000 residents.

Even with assistance from other local law enforcement agencies and the CHP, it is a challenge for the police to quickly marshal the resources to quell an organized and large civil disturbance. Along with tactical considerations, the law leaves state and local peace officers in Los Angeles in a legal gray area when devising their strategies to maintain peace and manage crowd control while at the same time not being seen to be assisting ICE agents.

Another challenge is the fact that immigration law is administrative and not criminal. Consequently, officers engaged in enforcing those laws may find themselves in difficult legal circumstances were an enforcement action to turn violent or even deadly.

History has shown that the slow police ramp up during the three major LA riots (the 1965 Watts riots; the 1992 Rodney King riots and, most recently, the 2020 George Floyd riots) allowed a considerable amount of crime to take place before California's governors utilized the California National Guard to assist in ending the riots and restoring order – a process known as "calling up."

For that purpose and more, all US states and territories maintain a national guard, which in times of civil emergency can be called upon to assist local authorities. In some circumstances, the President of the United States can assume control of a state or territorial guard, such as when a state's governor refuses to enforce federal law as famously happened in Alabama when President Kennedy nationalized the Alabama Guard based on Gov. George Wallace's refusal to comply with the Civil Rights Act. Going back to 1954, President Eisenhower ordered elements of the 101st Airborne Division to protect the "Little Rock Nine" at Central High School in Arkansas.

This weekend (June 7 weekend), President Trump did the same when he ordered 2,000 California National Guard members to Los Angeles over the objections of Gov. Gavin Newsom, who said: "The federal government is taking over the California National Guard and deploying 2,000 soldiers in Los Angeles — not because there is a shortage of law enforcement, but because they want a spectacle." On June 9, an additional 700 active duty Marines were sent to Los Angeles.

There appears to be ample evidence that, in the past, presidential authority to enforce federal law extends to ordering the US military and national guard to aid in carrying out law enforcement actions and the securing of facilities. California Attorney General Rob Bonta has filed a lawsuit challenging that authority alleging, among other things, the federalization deprives California of the guard in the event of an emergency and infringes on Newsom's rights as Commander-in-Chief of the state guard.

Despite Gov. Newsom's assurances that all was under control, there are a shortage of peace officers in Los Angeles and, for that matter, the rest of California. Los Angeles Police Chief Jim McDonnell reported after the first day of rioting that, "We are overwhelmed".

It should be no surprise as the LA Times reported in January 2025 that LAPD was down hundreds of officers with little hope of returning to full staffing for several years. This situation is echoed by a recent peace officer staffing report by PORAC noting that statewide, law enforcement numbers are at a 30-year low.

There may be soon a day of reckoning in the Supreme Court not just over the extent of presidential authority vis a vis the use of troops to enforce laws but also over the constitutionality of state laws limiting cooperation with federal law enforcement authorities.

The question in Los Angeles today is that given these challenges, will the thin blue line hold?

Small Business Owners Describe Slightly-Improved Conditions

National Federation of Independent Business News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Small business owners expecting better business conditions and sales boosted the National Federation of Independent Business's latest Small Business Optimism Index numbers, released on June 10, to 98.8, slightly above the 51-year average of 98.

The latest index also gave labor shortages and labor quality and inflation a break from their occasional rankings as the most important problems, replacing them with taxes. The last time taxes were ranked as the most important problem was in December 2020.

"California was already the highest taxed state in the nation, so the findings in the latest Optimism Index are not so much a surprise as they are a reminder of our crying need for better policies," said John Kabateck, state director for the National Federation of Independent Business in California. "One such better policy would have been to pay off our $20 billion debt to the federal government over our unemployment insurance loans when Uncle Sam was ladling out gobs of cash a few years ago. Too late now, which means small business owners are on the hook for the increased costs associated with the unemployment insurance taxes, which only businesses pay, for many more years to come. And to think some lawmakers still want to award striking workers who already have jobs with unemployment benefits. More than most examples, this shows the mentality of the policymakers in charge of making decisions for California."

The National Federation of Independent Business's Index is the gold standard measurement of America's small business economy. Used by the Federal Reserve, congressional leaders, administration officials and state legislatures across the nation, it's regarded as the bellwether on the health and welfare of the Main Street.

The Optimism Index, aka Small Business Economic Trends report, is a national snapshot of National Federation of Independent Business-member, small-business owners not broken down by state. The typical National Federation of Independent Business member employs between one and nine people and reports gross sales of about $500,000 a year.

"Although optimism recovered slightly in May, uncertainty is still high among small business owners," National Federation of Independent Business Chief Economist Bill Dunkelberg said. "While the economy will continue to stumble along until the major sources of uncertainty are resolved, owners reported more positive expectations on business conditions and sales growth."

Highlights from the June 10 Optimism Index included a net one percent, seasonally adjusted, of owners who viewed current inventory stocks as "too low" in May, up seven points from April and the highest reading since August 2022. This was the largest monthly increase in the survey's history.

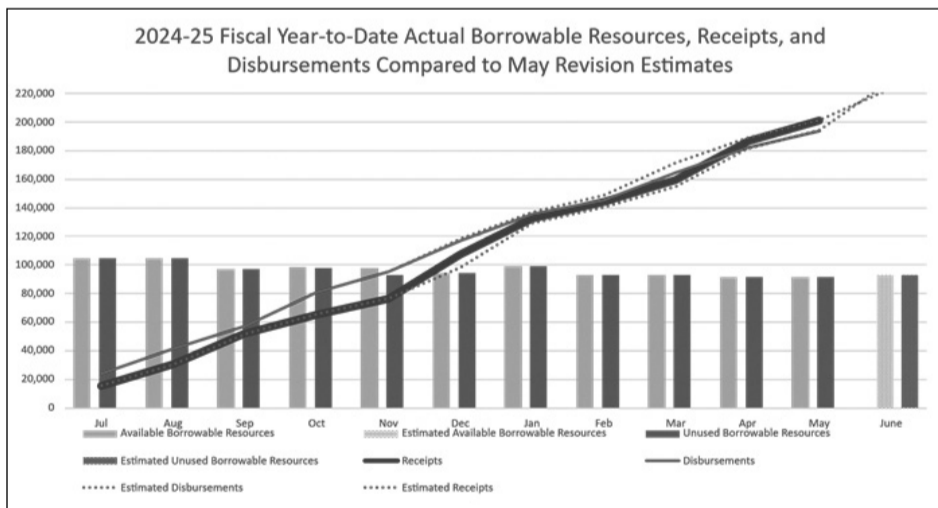

The net percentage of owners expecting better business conditions rose 10 points from April to a net 25%, seasonally adjusted.

The net percentage of owners expecting higher real sales volumes rose 11 points from April to a net 10%, seasonally adjusted. This component contributed the most to the Optimism Index's improvement.

The percentage of small business owners reporting labor quality as the single most important problem for business fell three points from April to 16%.

State Controller Issues May Cash Update

The State of California started the fiscal year with a $14.7-billion General Fund cash balance and ended May with a $21.7-billion balance, according to the California State Controller's Office. Image courtesy of the California State Controller's Office

California State Controller's Office News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California State Controller Malia M. Cohen released her monthly cash report covering the state's General Fund revenues, disbursements and actual cash balance for the fiscal year through May 31.

As noted in the controller's monthly statement of General Fund cash receipts and disbursements, receipts for the fiscal year through May were higher than estimates contained in the 2025-26 May Revision by $640.1 million or 0.3 percent. Fiscal year-to-date expenditures were $3.3 billion, or 1.7 percent, lower than the governor's budget estimates. The state started the fiscal year with a $14.7-billion General Fund cash balance and ended May with a $21.7-billion balance.

"Even with rising economic uncertainty at home and abroad, the state's strong cash position and its ability to pay its bills on time and in full continue with revenues and spending meeting expectations," Cohen said. "With the Legislature currently finalizing its spending plan for the fiscal year beginning on July 1, I encourage continued fiscal restraint coupled with maintaining reserves in the event the state faces increased volatility in its revenues or spending."

For the fiscal year through May, personal income tax receipts were $374.4 million above May revision projections or 0.3 percent. Corporation tax collections were $225.3 million or 0.8 percent above estimates. Retail sales and use tax receipts were $255.3 million below recent projections or 0.8 percent.

The controller continues to note that while April 15 is the traditional annual personal income tax payment deadline, the Franchise Tax Board extended the current deadline for Los Angeles County individuals and businesses in response to the fires that began on Jan. 7. These individuals and businesses have until Oct. 15 to file and pay taxes.

As of May 31, the state had $91.5 billion in unused borrowable resources. These resources are from internal funds outside of the General Fund that are borrowable under state law and that the State Controller's Office uses to manage daily and monthly cash deficits when revenue collections are lower than expenditures. Internal borrowing from special funds is short-term and is repaid so that borrowing does not affect the operations of the special funds. ★

Kiley Developing Legislation Against Rioters

Kevin Kiley

Congressman Kevin Kiley News Release

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MPG) - As the anti-Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) riots continue to be violent and dangerous in Los Angeles, Rep. Kevin Kiley (R-CA) is developing legislation that would make Non-Governmental Organizations involved in organizing unlawful riots ineligible for federal funding or tax-exempt status, along with legislation to increase penalties for disrupting federal immigration and law enforcement operations and assaulting federal officers.

Right now, the penalty for a simple assault on an officer is one year in prison and there is no specific financial penalty.

"The violence we have witnessed in Los Angeles is a threat to the safety of our communities and federal officers, and it undermines democracy by obstructing the policies of a duly elected president from being implemented," Kiley said. "We need better tools to deter and punish this lawless and anti-democratic behavior."

In the wake of the L.A. riots, it has come to light that the nonprofit known as Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights of Los Angeles received $34 million in state funding.

The group, which has previously campaigned to abolish ICE, played a pivotal role in enabling the riots by broadcasting the precise location of ICE operations in real time.

Congressman Kevin Kiley represents California's Third Congressional District, which includes Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, Alpine, Mono and Inyo counties, and parts of Yuba, El Dorado and Sacramento counties. ★

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA, CA (MPG)

- On the evening of June 21, the stadium at Chico High School filled with senior football players from high schools across the north state ready to battle it out in the 48th Annual Lions All-Star Football Game.

Top players from small and large schools would be divided into teams for the North -vs- South game.

Division 2&3 North and South teams would face-off at 7:30 pm, with players from the Gridley, Live Oak, and Yuba-Sutter areas competing together on the South team.

The North would put numbers on the board first, getting off to a strong lead as the South found their footing.

Gridley's Gus Stogsdill (QB) would lead the South as quarterback, utilizing favorite targets Marcus Meras of Sutter (RB/DB) and Henri Reed of Lindhurst (RB/OLB/S), for running and passing-game gains as he attempted to put digits up.

Meanwhile the North showcased their ball handling skills, making multiple hand offs and short passes during the first quarter, carrying a 18-0 score into the second.

The Norths defense would put pressure on the pocket sacking Stogsdill, but the QB would stay focused, handing the ball off to Rodriguez for the first touchdown of the night for the South team. Stogsdill would run the ball himself for the conversion, bringing the score to 18- 9.

Stogsdill would make another TD with 3:35 minutes left in the 2nd but fail to make the conversion due to the Norths tight defense.

The score would sit at North 18 – South 16 as players broke for the half.

Stogsdill would put more points on the board early in the second half, taking his time by eating up yards with shorter plays interspersed with deep passes to his targets downfield.

The Norths defense swarmed South players, but the purple team answered with their own tight coverage and intercepted multiple passes from the North QB's Kayden Leaf and Justin Polley.

Moving into the second half, excessive flags and play calls from the referees, including personal fouls and illegal procedures, would kill the momentum of both teams and making them somewhat 1-dimensional on the field.

The North trailed the South 30-18 in the 3rd as Stogsdill continued to widen the gap in points, looking to Reed's speed and agility for two additional TD during the game.

The North powered back as the clock ran down, taking possession of the ball last with just minutes left in the game. Hopes for the "win" would be decimated as the clock stuck zero and the North failed to score.

The South was named 2025 Lions All-Star Football Champions.
