Feed Community, Grow Community

Story and photos by Seth Henderson

RIO LINDA, CA (MPG) - For more than 30 years on the corner of 16th Street and Elkhorn Boulevard in Rio Linda, River Valley Feed and Pet Supply has served the community, providing accommodating service in a rapidly changing industry.

Randall Welker, the store’s operations manager, said he has been at the store since 2012 and has seen the store grow in several ways over the years.

“The food, it’s an ever changing thing,” Welker said. “Brands come and go; nutrition is ever changing. What was the ‘in food’ of five years ago isn’t even on the shelves anymore.”

Welker said that River Valley Feed and Pet Supply has been a huge supplier of chickens and all the necessary commodities for residents to raise them, as well as featuring products for other pets such as horses, reptiles, cats and dogs.

“We’re very accommodating to special orders,” Welker said. “We may not stock it but we’ll order it for you. Whatever you want if we can get it.”

Welker manages the product inventory on the store’s website and said he has added as many products as possible to show variety “for such a small store.”

Serene Doria, a Rio Linda resident and cashier at River Valley Feed and Pet Supply, said she has been at the store for two years and loves working with the animals. Doria has many animals at home, including snakes, lizards, chickens and dogs, giving her relatable experience to numerous customers.

“I enjoy what I’m working with and helping people to gain the knowledge that they might not know and getting them on the right track,” Doria said.

Another River Valley Feed and Pet Supply cashier, Bailey Buckles, said she is also a Rio Linda resident and has worked at River Valley for three years. One of her favorite parts about working at the store, Buckles said, is being in the heart of her hometown, talking to people that she knows and grew up with.

“The animals are a great plus but I don’t know, I kind of just like being in the midst of everything,” Buckles said. “Kinda knowing what’s going on, it keeps me updated.”

Buckles said she grew up coming to River Valley Feed and Pet Supply and “has a lot of memories” there but is also making memories with customers now as an employee.

Promoting Independence for All

Sacramento County Health and Social Services News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County is celebrating local achievements to create a disability-friendly community. One exciting achievement is the Local Age and Disability-Friendly Action Plan (LADAP).

By 2030, one-fourth of Sacramento County’s population will be 60 or older, and currently, approximately 200,000 residents live with a disability.

In response to these growing needs, the Department of Child, Family and Adult Services launched the Local Age and Disability-Friendly Action Plan, a comprehensive initiative shaped by years of advocacy and community input. The Sacramento County Board of Supervisors voted to adopt the plan in February and the county celebrated the launch in March.

One partner of the Local Age and Disability-Friendly Action Plan is Sacramento County’s Resources for Independent Living, which has been serving people in the county for nearly 50 years.

Resources for Independent Living promotes the independence of people with disabilities by providing independent living services and advocacy. It is part of a national network of more than 400 Independent Living Centers and is one of 28 centers in California.

While the Local Age and Disability-Friendly Action Plan was being shaped, Resources for Independent Living and its partners coordinated efforts to make sure the plan would reflect the lived experiences and priorities of people with disabilities.

“At the core of the Independent Living Movement is the conviction that all individuals, regardless of disability, have a fundamental civil right to make their own choices and to live independently within their communities,” said Resources for Independent Living program manager Rebekah Reynolds.

Through partnerships, such as the one with Resources for Independent Living, Sacramento County is helping lift up the voices and the needs of people with disabilities.

Learn more about Resources for Independent Living’s services by visiting its website at ril-sacramento.org or calling 916-446-3074.

Plant It, Pick It, Race It

By Seth Henderson

RIO LINDA, CA (MPG) - Rio Linda Grange No. 403 is hosting its annual Zucchini Races at the Rio Linda Library from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Aug. 9, featuring vendors, a car show, prizes and of course the races.

The community event is free for all who attend and some sponsors include The Grotto, Tummy’s Sub Shop, Kells Krafty Kreations, Elverta Market, Dan’s Garage, Charlie Horse Ranch Timing Systems and The Key Shop and More, according to the Rio Linda Zucchini Races Facebook page.

The Grange expects more than 2,000 people at this year’s event and racers can bring their own pre-made racer or participate in the Build-A-Racer workshop for $5 per person.

Track restrictions for Zucchini Racers require that the racer be no more than 14 inches from the front of the racer to the back of the back wheels. The racer can be no more than 12 inches high and must be no more than 14 inches tall. Zucchini can be of any size.

Used rolling toys were collected at the Dry Creek Ranch House and the Rio Linda Grange, so the public will have an inventory to choose from when assembling their racers during the Build-A-Racer workshop.

According to the Zucchini Races Facebook page, “several generous donors” helped prepare 100 row feet of summer squash for the races on May 30.

Other event sponsors included ABC Ready Mix, Chery Island Golf Course, NEAR to You Pest Control, Pioneer Feed & Pet Supply, Rio Linda Quilt Trail Project and The Elder Craftsmen.

Sponsorship levels ranged from $50, which supported 10

Build-A-Racer opportunities to “The Whole Enchilada,” meaning the sponsor would out bid all others, becoming the event’s biggest sponsor.

The Rio Linda Library is located at 6724 6th St. in Rio Linda. Zucchini race shirts were made available for preorder and some shirts might be available on Aug. 9, the day of the races. ★

Celebrating Polish Culture

Polish American Club of Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- Have you danced the Polka, ate Pierogi and had your picture taken with a “Polish Princess?”

Never, you say? Well, it’s about time you did.

Join the Polish American Club of Sacramento, Inc. at the 34th annual Polish Festival. Come celebrate and learn about the Polish culture through traditional food, drink and song from noon to 5 p.m. Sept. 6 at 327 Main St., Roseville.

The best part of the festival is the food and entertainment. There are no Polish restaurants in the greater Sacramento area, so the Polish Festival is the only time when people can enjoy authentic Polish food while listening to traditional Polish music, performed by professional musicians.

The Polish American Club of Sacramento, Inc preserves and perpetuates Polish traditions, customs, culture and heritage through social events and activities. Since the club’s forming in 1959, membership and the festival have grown. For more information about the performers and vendors, visit the website at <https://sacpolishclub.com/annual-polish-festival>.

More than 1,500 festivalgoers are expected to attend this year’s festival. But don’t worry, there will be plenty of food. Come fill up on home-made Polish delicacies with more than 5,000 Pierogi (potato-cheese filled, meat filled or mushroom and sauerkraut filled dumplings); 1,000 Golabki (cabbage rolls); 700 pounds of Kielbasa (Polish sausage), hundreds of servings of placki (potato pancakes) and a variety of Polish pastries.

Beside all the wonderful food and entertainment, several vendors will sell Baltic Amber, handmade crafts, Polish souvenirs and Polish sausages.

Volunteers work on baking the paczki (Polish donuts).

Polish sausage sandwiches are another big draw for festivalgoers.

Dance the polka or, while you eat, enjoy the music.

Potato pancakes are another popular offering at the annual festival honoring the Polish culture. ★

Don’t forget to visit the Polish marketplace.

If you’re in a bidding mood, there is also the silent auction. For those who wish to try their luck, tickets for the raffle will be available. You can commemorate your visit with a picture

There is something for everyone at the 34th annual Polish Festival.

Admission and parking are free. The event will have wheelchair access and credit cards will be accepted. The event is for all ages.

Sacramento Superior Court Executive Officer Retires

Sacramento Superior Court News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)
- Sacramento Superior Court Executive Officer Lee Seale will retire on Aug. 1, following a career dedicated to law and justice.

Presiding Judge Bunni O. Awoniyi made the announcement on July 25 and praised Seale’s leadership and contributions to the court.

“Lee Seale has been an exceptional leader, providing clear direction, meaningful support and fostering collaboration with our justice and labor partners,” said Awoniyi. “Under his guidance, the court expanded its capabilities, embraced innovation and improved access to justice for our community. It has been an honor to work alongside him and we wish him the very best in this next chapter.”

Seale was appointed Court Executive Officer in June 2021 following a unanimous vote by the court’s judges.

During Seale’s tenure, the Sacramento Superior Court saw both operational and service improvements, including a 30-percent increase in the court’s budget, providing new resources for expanded operations, staffing increase by approximately 100 employees and strengthening court services across all divisions.

Seale saw the launch of eCourt and electronic filing for Civil, Probate, Small Claims and Unlawful Detainer cases.

He saw the introduction of postcard jury summons and jury service text message updates to improve communication with jurors, restructuring of the Probate Division and expanded hours at the Carol Miller Justice Center to reduce case backlogs and improve public access.

Seale saw the creation of the Guardianship Assistance Program, in partnership with local law schools, to support self-represented litigants and the launch of a civil home court model, leading to a reduction in civil case backlogs.

He saw continued delivery of grant-funded mediation services in Unlawful Detainer and Small Claims cases during his tenure and the celebration of two milestones: the 10th anniversary of the court’s unique One Day Divorce program and the fifth anniversary of Civil Self-Help

Services, as well as significant progress on the new Tani Cantil-Sakauye Sacramento County Courthouse construction.

“Lee has demonstrated strong leadership in overseeing and developing the court executive team,” added Awoniyi. “His steady and supportive guidance has had a lasting impact on our 700-plus court employees.”

Before joining the court, Seale served as Sacramento County’s Chief Probation Officer and held positions in the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation under Governors Arnold Schwarzenegger and Jerry Brown. He also served as a Special Assistant Inspector General, overseeing investigations and legal staff in California’s prison system, and worked as a Deputy Attorney General in the criminal division of the California Department of Justice, handling cases throughout the state and appearing before the California Courts of Appeal and Supreme Court.

“Serving as Court Executive Officer has been a rewarding role,” said Seale. “I am proud of what this court has accomplished and thankful for the extraordinary judges, staff, and justice partners who have made our progress possible.”

The court has begun a competitive recruitment process for its next Court Executive Office. For more information, visit <https://bit.ly/SacCourtCEO>. ★

County Connects Veterans and Families to Benefits

Sacramento County Health and Social Services News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County’s Veterans Services Office plays a vital role in helping veterans and their dependents access life-changing benefits. For Elyse Ehlert, that support meant a full college education at UC Davis—without the burden of student debt—and a future filled with purpose and opportunity.

As the daughter of a U.S. military veteran, Elyse qualified for both the CalVet Tuition Fee Waiver and Chapter 35 education benefits, support made possible through programs facilitated by the Sacramento County Veterans Services Office. These benefits covered her tuition, eased the financial burden of college, and opened doors that might have otherwise been closed.

“The impact of the tuition waiver and stipend on my time at college cannot be understated,” Elyse shared. “It has prevented me from having any college debt and has allowed me to plan for my future with optimism.”

Throughout her time at UC Davis, Elyse didn’t just focus on academics—she thrived. She took on meaningful internships, unpaid educational roles and even contributed to a research study on hearing loss in military veterans. These experiences, made possible by the financial freedom her benefits allowed, helped shape her passion for community education and outreach.

Her achievements were recognized with the Outstanding Senior Award and a Department Citation for Academic Distinction. This summer, she plans to apply for her California substitute teaching credential, with dreams of one day teaching science and environmental education in schools or working with non-profit and state organizations to make a difference.

“I will forever be thankful to my father who served, and without whom I could not have received these benefits,” she said.

Elyse’s success story is just one example of how Sacramento County is making a real difference in the lives of veterans and their dependents.

The Department of Veterans Services is committed to helping individuals access the benefits they’ve earned through military service—whether it’s for education, healthcare, housing or financial support.

“As a veteran and mother, I understand firsthand how life-changing these benefits can be. Our team is deeply committed to honoring that service by making sure every veteran and their family have access to the resources they’ve earned. Elyse’s story reminds us why this work matters,” said Rochelle Arnold, Sacramento County Veterans Service Officer.

If you are a veteran, active service member or a dependent, you may be eligible for a wide range of state and federal benefits.

Our knowledgeable staff is here to guide you through the process and help you apply.

Don’t leave your benefits unclaimed. Visit <https://ha.saccounty.gov/benefits/VeteransServices/Pages/VeteranHome.aspx> or call us to speak with a Veterans Services Specialist today.

transition into eating the “good stuff,” Buckles said. After some time, the customer came back to thank Buckles. The customer informed her that the pup had unfortunately died but the customer was thankful for their assistance providing high quality products and support.

“It kind of warms my heart to know that she was still thinking of us even though, you know, that had just happened to her, that she lost her dog,” Buckles said.

Buckles said she has a dog and two cats and grew up on a small farm in Rio Linda on 24th Street with chickens, ducks, geese and goats.

Buckles and Welker said that chicken scratch is probably their number one seller and Buckles said there are multiple options to choose from.

Online orders from River Valley Feed and Pet Supply more than $75 receive free shipping and large deliveries for items such as hay bales that require a flat-bed truck should expect to see a $45 delivery charge. Large deliveries can be placed in person or over the phone and delivery days are Mondays through Fridays.

According to rivervalleyfeed.com, the store provides propane refills, dog washing and a loyalty program. Military, police and fire members receive a 5% discount on their entire purchase. On Sundays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., preventative veterinary care is available on behalf of VIP Petcare, a business running more than 2,900 clinics within retail stores. River Valley Feed is located at 6549 16th St. in Rio Linda across from Calvary Baptist Church. The store is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Welker said that brand representatives come into the store and train staff on the products, giving them better insight to help customers. He once recommended a food brand, Nutrisource, for a woman’s cat, Welker said, because he knew it would remedy the issues the pet owner described and she came back to thank the staff for their recommendation.

“That’s so cool to have that experience of ‘hey, I’ve been trained that this will fix problems’ and to actually see it in action and have someone come back and say, ‘hey, this worked,’” Welker said. ★

Snake, Rattle and Rescue

By Susan Maxwell Skinner

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - In what the Chinese zodiac calls the Year of the Snake; reptiles are keeping wildlife capture specialists busy.

Though many people fear snakes, they are as vulnerable to human ignorance as any wild animal.

“They get a bum rap,” said Ben Nuckolls, who operates the Fair Oaks-based California Wildlife Encounters organization. “In fact, they’re shy creatures. They’re as frightened of us as we are of them. People don’t realize their value.”

The animal capture specialist counts many snake rescues among hundreds of missions that he has undertaken for wildlife safety since spring.

“Snakes get more active in hot weather,” Nuckolls said. “A Fair Oaks couple recently called me. They’d discovered a five-foot Northern Pacific rattlesnake in their garden near the American River. Thankfully, their instinct was not to kill it. Instead, they called me. It was the biggest rattlesnake I’ve seen. He was at least six inches in diameter and his rattle had 14 buttons. I’m guessing he was seven or more years old. I found him coiled under a cluster of bamboo shoots. The guy was so heavy, I bent my metal snake tongs lifting him. We carefully put him in a large container while we figured out where to move him. My concern was to get him to out of harm’s way. We found a safer place for him.”

Large and small, venomous or harmless, snakes play an important part in rodent control, said Nuckolls.

“When people kill these creatures, they’re doing the community a disservice,” said Nuckolls. “Without them, our rodent population would not be in check. 2025 certainly has been the Year of the Snake for me. Not just for rattlesnakes. I’ve been called to remove gopher and king snakes from danger in several counties. They’re not venomous but they’re just as misunderstood as rattlesnakes. And they’re just as important for the ecosystem.”

Residents who find snakes that seem in danger are advised to call their county’s licensed rehabilitation facility. In Sacramento County, the number is 916-965-9453. ★

Dave Ramsey Says Focus on What’s Important Now

Dear Dave,

I’m 22, working my way through college and I’ve already been able to start setting money for life after graduation. I had a talk with my parents recently about my plans once I get a real job and get out on my own. They seem to think I’ll be okay, but sometimes things can seem so overwhelming. How do people manage and prioritize more adult responsibilities like investing, marriage, having kids and everything else?

– Kieran

Dear Kieran,

You’re right, it can be overwhelming if you look at all these things as if they have to be done right now. But I’ll tell you something you already know: You don’t have to do everything right now. It’s great to look toward the future, and have a plan, but you’re only 22. You’ve got plenty of time to decide what’s important to you. For now, let’s just say you’ve done a great job so far. Take a deep breath and relax. You’re way ahead of the game compared to most young people your age, and you should be proud of your accomplishments.

Now, all the things you mentioned are great goals. Some of them are kind of intimidating, but those aren’t what you’re facing right now. In my mind, finishing college is your number one priority. Then, after you graduate and begin life on your own, you can begin looking at the other things you mentioned—one at a time. Once you find a good job, you can begin setting aside for retirement. If your car is about to roll over and die, that first step may be a better vehicle. If there’s a special lady in your life, you might begin focusing on marriage somewhere down the road.

Don’t be too intimidated, Kieran. Things are often easier to deal with when you break them down into smaller pieces and address them individually. There’s a funny old adage that goes something like this: How do you eat an elephant? One bite at a time. Do you get what I’m saying? Nobody can do four or five big things at once and do them all to the very best of their abilities. Decide what matters most, put it at the top, and list everything else in descending order of importance. Once you’ve done this, go down the list, focus and knock them out one after the other.

You’re a smart and determined young man, who has accomplished a lot already. Something tells me you can do just about anything you set your mind to!

She Sings it Like She Feels it

What can I say about a country music outlaw star that she hasn’t said about herself as she sings/tells it like it is, and never pulled punches about life. Lacy J. Dalton is one-of-a-kind and an icon in the entertainment industry. Her songs reverberate with what is going on in the world today with songs like “Everybody Makes mistakes,” “Devil By A Different Name,” “I Can’t Breathe,” “Scarecrow,” “For the Blacksheep” and so many more over her incredible career.

Lacy J was born Jill Byrem in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania mining country. Her dad played, guitar, mandolin, and banjo. Both parents enjoyed singing country songs. It had to influence her life. As she recalled in an interview with Time Magazine, “I loved the songs more than the singing. Country music is a storytelling art.” She actually studied art, but music drew her back into writing songs and playing guitar. It was a long journey, but she continues that journey of storytelling in her own way, and truly telling it like she feels it. When I asked her one of the many times I interviewed her on POPPTALK, how the songs come to her. Without hesitation, she said that she thinks it comes from the spirits above that guide her on her journey.

She has done duets with legendary artists like Willie Nelson, (“Slow Movin Outlaw”) a classic Texas outlaw ballad. She has collaborated with such Country Music Hall of Fame members as Glen Campbell, George

Jones, and she toured for long periods of time with outlaws like Merle Haggard and Hank Williams Jr at a time when it was very unusual for a woman to do so. But she was no ordinary woman. She spoke out and still speaks her mind through her songs. But if

But what I love about Lacy J has a passion for helping others, two legged and four-legged. Courtesy photo you follow country music, you will recognize her songs from way back with “16th Ave” and “Crazy Blue Eyes.” Her signature song “16th Ave” became the anthem for Nashville songwriters. She is so modest about her stellar reputation. But I’m not. She was inducted into the North American Country Music Association Hall of Fame.

But what I love about Lacy J has a passion for helping others, two legged and four-legged. She has fought so very hard trying to save the wild horses that really make the west what it is as they roam the plains, and how they are sold and slaughtered for profit. Lacy J’s heart is as big as they come. I can go on and on about what she does for so many, but how would you like to see and meet her personally? She will be coming to Sacramento to perform August 15 at “The Side Door” at 2900 Franklin Blvd from 7-9 PM and then she is off to Watsonville the following day August 16 to perform at The El Vaquero Winery at 5 PM. Check her out at www.lacyjdalton.org for her great story.

And I am so happy that I can call Lacy J my dear friend. You will love her too! See you at the Side door! ★

Trio of Hornets Taken on Day Two of Major League Baseball Draft

Sacramento State Athletics News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Three Sacramento State baseball players were selected on day two of the 2025 Major League Baseball Draft on Monday, as right-hander Carson Latimer (Cincinnati), infielder JP Smith (Minnesota), and right-hander Kade Brown (Athletics) were among the 615 players chosen overall during the league’s two-day event.

This year’s trio becomes the 30th, 31st, and 32nd Hornets either to be drafted or to sign a professional contract with a Major League club under Head Coach Reggie Christiansen since 2011 and marks the 19th consecutive season that a Sacramento State baseball player has been drafted or signed since 2007.

Taken with the 354th overall pick in the 12th round, Latimer became the highest drafted Hornet since Travis Adams (sixth round) and Scott Randall (seventh round) were top-10 round selections in 2021 and is the seventh Sacramento State player drafted by the Reds in program history, the first since infielder Ray Brown was selected in the 28th round in 1994.

In his first season with the Hornets, Latimer made 15 appearances on the mound and started seven games for Sacramento State, finishing 2-3 overall with 28 strikeouts in 36.2 innings of work. He struck out a season-high five in

The Hornets’ three draftees this year mark the first time since 2019 that three Sacramento State players were selected in the same season when Austin Roberts was picked by Pittsburgh in the eighth round, Tanner Dalton was selected by the Chicago Cubs in the 17th round and Parker Brahm was drafted by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 27th round. Image courtesy of Sacramento State Athletics three innings against Abilene Christian on April 5 and had four more strikeouts in three innings against UT Arlington on March 22. Against California Baptist on April 18, he allowed just one hit over four shutout innings, striking out three Lancers.

Smith was selected with the 509th overall pick in the 17th round by Minnesota and became only the fourth Hornet to be drafted by the Twins in program history joining Tanner Mendonca (17th round in 2013), Tyler Beardsley (16th round in 2016), and the aforementioned Adams, who made his Major League debut earlier this month and picked up his first career victory on July 12.

A first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selection for the second time in his career in 2025, Smith finished the campaign hitting .291 while starting all 58 games, scoring 42 runs, collecting 18 doubles, and slugging 12 home runs to go along with a team-high 52 RBI. He ranked in the top 15 in the WAC in hits (t12th), RBI (t8th), doubles (6th), home runs (t9th), and total bases (10th).

Brown became the third Sacramento State player selected on Monday, taken by the Athletics in the 20th round (590th overall). It marked the second straight year that the Athletics drafted a Hornet after taking infielder Gunner Gouldsmith in the 19th round in 2024, while Brown became the ninth Sacramento State player to go from Hornet green and gold to Athletics green and gold.

A third-team All-America selection and finalist for the “Stopper of the Year” by the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association, Brown was a first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selection in 2025, finishing 3-2 on the mound with a 2.93 ERA, posted 49 strikeouts over 43 innings of work, and held opponents to a .204 average. A three-time All-WAC selection during his career and the school’s all-time leader in home runs with 48 over his three seasons, Smith ranked in the top 15 in the WAC in hits (t12th), RBI (t8th), doubles (6th), home runs (t9th), and total bases (10th) this past year.

The Hornets’ three draftees this year mark the first time since 2019 that three Sacramento State players were selected in the same season when Austin Roberts was picked by Pittsburgh in the eighth round, Tanner Dalton was selected by the Chicago Cubs in the 17th round and Parker Brahm was drafted by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 27th round.

It also represents the first time that three Sacramento State players were drafted in the top 20 rounds since 2003 when right-hander Chris Kinsey was selected by Arizona in the fourth round, Jesse Schmidt was taken in the 10th round by San Francisco and Mikela Olsen was taken in the 15th round by Florida (now Miami).

In all, 10 former Hornets have appeared in a Major League game in the history of the program with five of them currently active on MLB rosters (as of July 14): Rhys Hoskins (Milwaukee), Nathan Lukes (Toronto), Sam Long (Kansas City), James Outman (Los Angeles Dodgers), and Adams (Minnesota). ★

Five Aggies Named FCS Football Central Preseason All-Americans

UC Davis Athletics News Release

DAVIS, CA (MPG) - Rex Connors and Hunter Ridley took home first team honors to lead the way for UC Davis football’s five members on the FCS Football Central Preseason All-American list, with Winston Williams, Jacob Psyk and Porter Connors earning the honors.

Williams and Psyk were named to the second team while Porter Connors earned a third team nod. The Aggies were tied for the third-most members on the team joining fellow Big Sky Conference member Montana State, North Dakota State and South Dakota.

Rex Connors adds to a quickly filling trophy case with this being his second Preseason All-American honor this season having earned the nod from STATS Perform. The Aggie defensive back was also named the Big Sky Preseason Defensive Player of the Year (the first Aggie to earn that honor) and earned Preseason Big Sky All-Conference honors.

His 2024 All-American season was record-breaking finishing with a program record 74 solo tackles, finishing with a total tally of 115 on the season.

Ridley has had a busy summer of accolades, earning STATS Perform Second Team Preseason All-American honors along with being named Big Sky Preseason All-Conference. The Aggie primary kicker was also nominated for the 2025 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. He was named a 2024 Fred Mitchell Award finalist after going 16-for-18 in field goals and hitting 56 PATs during the 2024 campaign.

Williams, who has already earned STATS Perform Second Team Preseason All-American and Big Sky Preseason All-Conference honors was also named the second-best returning tight end in the nation by HERO Sports.

He ended the 2024 season leading all Big Sky tight ends in touchdown receptions and he finished second in the nation for most receiving touchdowns by a tight end. When the year came to an end, Williams had racked up career numbers finishing with 265 receiving yards on 34 receptions, snagging six touchdowns while averaging 19.0 yards per game.

Psyk joined the Aggies during the offseason as a transfer after four seasons at Harvard. During his senior season Psyk was named All-Ivy League first team following a year where he ranked 29th in the nation in sacks, finishing with 26 tackles, 6.5 sacks, one forced fumbled and one recovery.

Porter gained STATS Perform Third Team Preseason All-American honors to go along with a Preseason Big Sky All-Conference nod. Sacramento Golf Council News Release

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

- The 55th Sacramento County Women’s Golf Championship took place on July 26 and 27, at Mather Golf Course in Rancho Cordova, drawing top female amateur golfers from around the region.

Taylor Baker of Sacramento emerged as the 2025 Sacramento County Women’s Champion, capturing the Championship Flight title with an impressive two-day total of 131 (69/62). Her second-round score of 62 set a women’s course record on the back nine, cementing her place in the tournament’s history.

In the Handicap Division, Karen Biscaha of Fair Oaks claimed victory with a gross score of 184 and a net score of 134, finishing an impressive 10 under par.

The Championship Flight featured golfers with a handicap index of 6.6 or less and was played from the Navigator (silver) tees at 5,550 yards.

The Handicap Flight included players with an index of 18.4 or less and was played from the Mustang (purple) tees at 5,250 yards.

Deborah Kanner was tournament chairman, assisted by Linda Bigler of the Sacramento Golf Council.

The Sacramento County Women’s Golf Championship continues to showcase outstanding talent and sportsmanship in Northern California women’s golf. ★
