Aerospace Museum of California Unveils Freeway Sign, Traveling Snoopy Exhibit

City Councilman Roger Dickinson poses with Snoopy at the opening ceremony of "Snoopy and the Red Baron," a traveling exhibit making a pit stop at the Aerospace Museum of California on Oct. 16.

NORTH HIGHLANDS, CA (MPG) - Snoopy Flying Ace traveled to the Aerospace Museum of California as the organization opened its "Snoopy and the Red Baron" exhibit to the public on Oct. 18 and announced the pending placement of a sign for Interstate 80 to promote the museum.

The traveling exhibit is on display in the museum until Dec. 31, complementing the array of artifacts from World War I and memorabilia on display in partnership with the Charles M. Schulz Museum and Research Center in Santa Rosa.

President and CEO of the Aerospace Museum of California, Tom Jones (left), stands with Mika Klinsmann from Senator Roger Niello's office, holding a certificate commemorating the museum's approval of a highway sign on Interstate 80 on Oct. 16.

Schulz was the creator of the character, Snoopy, in addition to the Peanuts characters and some of the comic strips or artifacts at the exhibit were signed by him.

Tom Jones, the president and CEO of the aerospace museum, said during the VIP opening ceremony on Oct. 17 that Snoopy and the Red Baron was one of Schulz's most popular personas of snoopy and that Sacramento is quite fortunate to have this exhibit during Snoopy's 75th anniversary.

"Who doesn't love Snoopy? And then the kids see Snoopy and all of his different adventures that he goes on and his different personas that he assumes," Jones said. "I just think it's a fabulous way for kids to connect not only to Snoopy, but with aviation and aerospace."

New Home Sales Dip in September

North State Building Industry Association News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - As many prospective homebuyers waited to see what happened with mortgage interest rates, new home sales in the Sacramento region dipped in September but remained above the average number of sales for the month, according to the North State Building Industry Association.

North State Building Industry Association-member homebuilders reported selling 430 homes, 5 percent above the average 409 sales during September dating back to 1997. Sales were down 13 percent from August and 19 percent below September 2024. Building Industry Association President and CEO Tim Murphy said that many buyers are hoping that interest rates drop further before pulling the trigger.

"While mortgage rates have dropped to below 6.5 percent, many potential buyers are betting that they will fall even further in the near future," Murphy said. "It is also possible that buyers are waiting to see how soon the government shutdown is resolved. Markets like certainty and homebuyers are no different."

Murphy said that many area builders continue to offer generous incentives to help make home buying more attainable and there is a wide selection of styles and locations in the 197 active new home communities from Yuba City to Galt. And Murphy again called on area governments to streamline the permitting process and reduce the fees that now average more than $100,000 per home.

"Too often, the permitting process takes years between when a new development is proposed and when construction actually begins, and along with high fees and other costs, builders can't meet the demand for housing. Until this gridlock is broken, demand will continue to outstrip supply and housing costs will remain challenging," Murphy said.

In September, Roseville recorded the most sales with 98, followed by 75 in Rancho Cordova, 51 in Sacramento, 50 in Plumas Lake and 36 in Elk Grove. Natomas was sixth with 29 sales, followed by Lincoln (25), Folsom (13), Rocklin (11) and El Dorado Hills (10).

North State Building Industry Association statistics covered 197 new home communities reported by members in Amador, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, Sutter, Yolo and Yuba counties.

Teeing Off for Trunk or Treat

Cherry Island Golf Course's Halloween Community Event

By Seth Henderson

ELVERTA, CA (MPG) - The whole family is invited to Cherry Island Golf Course on Oct. 30 for Trunk or Treat, a free community event to enjoy a safe Halloween celebration.

Cherry Island Golf Course, located at 2360 Elverta Road, is scheduled to host the Halloween event in the parking lot and quad area from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Guests will have the opportunity to participate in a putting contest, trick-or-treating, and a decorating contest. The guest with the spookiest trunk decorations will win a prize from Cherry Island.

Businesses are also encouraged to participate in the event, promoting their products or services while staying on the Halloween theme. A poll on social media will determine who has the most decorated trunk and the winner will receive a prize.

The golf course is still looking for individuals who would like to volunteer their decorated trunk.

In addition to passing out candy, the Trunk-or-Treat is expected to feature a putting contest, kids' trivia, simulator games and more.

Vendor registration closed on Oct. 16 but to inquire about any last-minute registrations or any other questions about the event, including RSVP, email aplog@golfcherryisland.com or msalas@golfcherryisland.com for more information.

Beanie Babies Needed for Holiday Gift Drive for Kindergarteners

By Claire Gliddon, Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids Chief Blanket Gatherer

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Got beanie babies? Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids (SBSK) is asking for donations of new or gently used Beanie Babies for their kindergarten project that takes place each holiday season. Every September, Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids picks as many low-income elementary schools as they can and finds out how many kindergartners they have. Volunteers then make double-fleece blankets (about 50 inches by 60 inches) for all the youth, as well as a fleece pouch with a Beanie Baby in it to go with each blanket. Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids gives these blankets and Beanie Babies to the children right before Christmas break. Some of the children live in their cars or in places without heat and this is all they get for Christmas. In 2024, Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids gave out more than 3,300 blankets and Beanie Babies in their kindergarten project, reaching 58 schools. Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids is a non-profit organization that serves children in need from infants to 18-year-olds all year long. The kindergarten project is its special project each year. This is the organization’s 12th year running this project and members hope to continue doing it as long as they can get Beanie Babies. Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids is always looking for new volunteers to make blankets all year round for children in need. Like to knit, crochet, sew, quilt, make no-sew blankets and have run out of people to make gifts for? We’re looking for you! If you’d like more information about Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids, go to www.sacblankets4kids.com to sign up. There is no pressure, no timelines, no meetings but just people who enjoy crocheting, knitting, quilting, sewing, making no-sew blankets and helping children at the same time. ★

Judge Dismisses Grand Jury Indictment Against Egghead Vandals

Yolo County District Attorney News Release

YOLO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Judge Sonia Cortés of the Yolo County Superior Court dismissed a grand jury indictment against defendants Nathan Orr, (32), Lysandra Dasilva (32) and Cheyenne Xiong (22), all from Davis, on Oct. 14. The indictment alleged that on May 24, 2024, conspirators Orr, Dasilva and Xiong spray painted University of California, Davis’ famed Egghead statues, as well as many other buildings and signs, as part of a coordinated vandalism attack across the campus. The vandals’ messages criticized the Israel-Palestine conflict and UC Davis leadership. UC Davis Police Department officers captured Dasilva and Xiong fleeing the scene of the crime, according to the District Attorney’s office, and the crimes resulted in more than $4,200 in damages. UC Davis police forwarded the case to the District Attorney’s Office and requested formal charges. On July 19, 2024, a criminal Grand Jury of Yolo County citizens indicted Orr, Dasilva and Xiong on charges of felony vandalism and felony conspiracy; both Dasilva and Xiong were additionally indicted on misdemeanor charges of resisting, obstructing or delaying a peace officer. On Oct. 14, Cortes dismissed the indictment against all defendants, over the objections of the D.A., citing their willingness to pay restitution, their lack of criminal record and 12 hours of community service they had each voluntarily completed. In addition, an official representative from UC Davis indicated that community service that included an understanding of efforts undertaken to maintain the statutes would be beneficial and that the university did not object to a resolution to the case that fell outside the criminal justice system. The District Attorney’s Office consistently opposed the judge’s decision to dismiss the case, arguing that it was an illegal court diversion. “The judge’s decision to entirely dismiss the felony indictment of the grand jury was unprecedented in my experience,” District Attorney Jeff Reisig said. “Judges are not generally authorized to unilaterally divert criminals indicted by the grand jury. We believe that Judge Cortes’ decision was improper. “Moreover, the decision by the official UC Davis representative to recommend against a criminal conviction flies in the face of their original request and referral for criminal prosecution and creates a dangerous precedent for future cases of such conduct, suggesting similar criminal behavior at UC Davis will be treated with kid gloves. This outcome is not good for public safety in our communities.” ★

Voting in California’s 2025 Special Election

How to Make Sure Your Ballot is Secure and Counted

By Shirley N. Weber, Ph.D. California Secretary of State

As voters across the state prepare to make their voices heard on Prop 50 — arguably one of the most important elections in California’s history — it’s essential their ballots are cast with confidence that their vote will be counted securely and on time. There has been some misinformation surrounding ballots leading up to the Statewide Special Election on Nov. 4, and voters must understand the safeguards put in place to protect every ballot. California ballots are designed with multiple layers of security. It is against the law to tamper with a ballot. Whether a voter chooses to vote by mail, drop off a ballot at a secure location, or vote in person, rules and regulations ensure ballots are not tampered with. How to Vote Securely by Mail Mail ballots are sent to every registered voter in the state. Each envelope is carefully tracked from the moment it’s issued, and every ballot returned undergoes signature verification and inspection. Election officials check for any irregularities, such as damage to the envelope, or other signs it was compromised, before the ballot envelope is opened. If there’s a red flag, the voter will be notified and corrective action taken. To make sure a mail ballot is counted, it must be postmarked on or before Election Day, Nov. 4. In some areas, the U.S. Postal Service may not postmark mail until the following day, so it’s recommended to send ballots early. If mailing on Election Day, ask a postal employee at your local post office for a manual postmark to confirm it was mailed on time. Secure Ballot Drop-Off When returning a ballot in person, use only official, county-operated locations. Secure ballot drop boxes are constructed with tamper-resistant materials, locked, and anchored in place. Each box is regularly emptied by trained, bipartisan election staff following strict chain-of-custody procedures. Ballots can also be returned at any vote center, polling place, or county elections office, where election workers directly accept and track them through the county’s system. Voting Safely at Polling Places and Voting Centers Voting in person is another secure and reliable option for California voters. Polling places and vote centers are staffed by trained election workers who follow strict procedures to verify each voter, issue the correct ballot, and ensure every vote is properly recorded. Ballots cast in person are immediately placed into secure ballot boxes or scanned using approved voting equipment that is tested and certified before every election. These locations also provide language assistance, replacement ballots if one was lost or damaged, and same-day voter registration when needed. Still have Questions and Concerns? Voters who have questions about their ballots or the security of voting should go to a trusted source such as the Secretary of State’s office, which offers voter hotlines in multiple languages including Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Spanish, Thai, and more. Another option is to visit your county elections office. A complete list can be found at sos.ca.gov/elections. Additionally, the state provides tools to check when your ballot is received and counted, giving voters peace of mind and reinforcing the transparency of the process. By taking the time to plan your vote, verify your registration, and use official information sources, you strengthen both your voice and the integrity of our elections. Make sure your voice is heard on Nov. 4. ★

Fixing Sacramento County’s Roads

A Straightforward Plan that Works

By Sacramento County Supervisor Rosario Rodriguez

If you’ve driven anywhere in Sacramento County lately, you’ve probably noticed the same thing I have: our roads are in rough shape. Potholes, cracks and worn pavement have become the norm instead of the exception. The truth is that the condition of our county’s road network has continued to decline and unless we act, it’s only going to get worse. Right now, Sacramento County’s average Pavement Condition Index, or PCI, is just 41 out of 100. That is considered poor by engineering standards, meaning many of our roads are approaching the point where simple maintenance is no longer enough. Our backlog of deferred road repairs is now estimated at more than $1 billion, more than double what it was less than a decade ago. In Sacramento County, we’ve done what we can with the tools we have. For several years, the County has dedicated about $20 million annually from its General Fund to road repair, a significant commitment that few other counties make. As I’ve settled into this role and spent time in our communities, I’ve also seen how Citrus Heights is investing its own General Fund dollars into local road improvements and taking an entrepreneurial approach that stretches every dollar further. This commitment has delivered real, visible progress in recent years. Still, without a dedicated funding source, both the County and most cities face an uphill battle. Communities with local sales tax measures, such as Elk Grove and Rancho Cordova, are moving ahead more quickly, while others must continue stretching limited resources to keep pace. Part of the reason we’re here is because the gas tax and vehicle fees people already pay are not keeping pace with rising costs and declining state and federal funding. When the most recent state gas tax increase was passed in 2017, it was promoted as the solution that would finally fix our roads. The public messaging was convincing but the actual measure told a different story. Even before it passed, the previous county supervisor for this district warned that it would only cover a small portion of our road maintenance needs and that our PCI would continue to decline.

Unfortunately, that warning proved correct. The revenues from that gas tax helped slow the decline for a few years but they were never enough to reverse it. Meanwhile, the state’s distribution formulas have shifted funding toward statewide priorities and larger metropolitan centers, leaving counties like ours to fend for ourselves. At the same time, construction costs have skyrocketed, and as more residents switch to electric vehicles, gas tax revenues continue to fall. That’s why I’ve asked county staff to bring forward a proposal for the Board of Supervisors to consider: a small, time-limited sales tax that would be used only to repair existing roads in unincorporated Sacramento County — nothing else. This would likely be a half-cent or smaller increase for up to 10 years, overseen by a citizen advisory committee to ensure every dollar is spent as promised. Unlike past proposals that spread money across unrelated projects such as buses, bike lanes or light rail, this plan would be narrow, transparent and entirely focused on the issue residents care about most: fixing the roads we already have. People tell me all the time that they would support a tax if it actually went to fixing the roads. This proposal is exactly that. It would finally allow us to fully address the backlog and restore Sacramento County’s roads to a level of quality that residents expect and deserve. We cannot keep waiting for someone else to fix this. Either we make the investment now or we allow the problem to grow more expensive every year. I believe residents are ready for a straightforward plan they can trust — one that delivers visible, measurable results. If you’d like to share your thoughts or learn more about this proposal, please reach out to my office at 916-874-5491 or email SupervisorRodriguez@saccounty.gov. Together, we can make sure Sacramento County’s roads are safe, reliable and something we can all be proud of again. Sacramento County Supervisor Rosario Rodriguez represents the 4th District, which includes all or part of the communities of Citrus Heights, Folsom, Orangevale, Antelope, Rio Linda, Elverta, Gold River, Rancho Murieta, North Highlands, Carmichael, Foothill Farms and Fair Oaks.

said that he grew up reading those comics and some of the funniest ones were enlarged to be viewed at a distance. He said that the collaboration between the two museums was meaningful and allowed the aerospace museum to tie in other artifacts from World War II, showing how far Snoopy’s influence had spread.

“We’ve got great photo stations and all kinds of fun ways to engage with this exhibit,” Jones said. “Bring your kids, bring your grandkids, you know, just come see the museum. It’s a beautiful space and it’s super engaging for kids from 2 to 102.”

Jones said that the museum was able to incorporate artifacts from famed aviator Clay Lacy, who is actively encouraging aviators and a donor to the aerospace museum. The museum’s collection also featured artifacts from other aviators, such as Bud Anderson, Vicky Benzin and others.

Lacy flew his P-51 Mustang with a giant

Snoopy in the cockpit, Jones said, winning the Reno Air Races in 1970, encouraging youth to become involved with aviation. He said Anderson, as a Boy Scout in 1934, became a World War II Triple Ace nine years later because of what he had learned. Artifacts depicting Snoopy’s tenure as a Beagle Scout pay tribute to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and military members.

The Aerospace Museum of California also celebrated the approval of a new sign to be placed on Interstate 80 by way of legislation that Jones wrote to define how museums are categorized with Caltrans. Jones said that museums were previously categorized with locations such as the Golden One Center or Levi’s Stadium, making the museum slightly beyond the scope of allowing signage on the interstate.

Jones said Assemblymember Josh Hoover asked him to write a piece of legislation, which became Assembly Bill 1320 and was unanimously approved by the state assembly. Jones said that not a word was changed from what he originally wrote.

“Governor Newsom signed it into law about two and a half years ago and then we thought, ‘OK, great. We’re going to get signs now,’” Jones said. “But Caltrans had to change its manual.”

Before the aerospace museum’s inception, City Councilmember Roger Dickinson said that he has been involved with the organization, as he was the county supervisor for the area at the time. Dickinson helped get signs placed on Watt Avenue.

“This has been an outstanding facility with tremendous offerings and great programs for kids, particularly in STEM subjects,” Dickinson said. “But as you can see by the location, it’s a little hidden, so I think the significance of the freeway sign in particular is to let people know that it’s here and what direction to go to get here.”

Dickinson said that the aerospace museum is a great opportunity to honor Sacramento’s aviation and military history, as well as everything that goes along with it. He said it is one of those wonderful assets that the city has to help inspire young people to think about science, technology, engineering, arts and math (STEAM), such as the California Railroad Museum or the Crocker Art Museum.

Being exposed to the different facets of life through opportunities such as the aerospace museum, philanthropic or the symphony are experiences that help shape a person’s development, Dickinson said.

Sherrie Everhart, the owner of Hart 2 Hart wineries, made a sizable donation to the Aerospace Museum of California, providing funding for high quality display cases. Jones said that he was friends and members with Sherrie’s husband Jim Everhart, a member of the Sacramento County Sheriff’s Air Squadron. Jones said that Jim Everhart unfortunately died suddenly a few years ago.

El Dorado Hills resident Jerry Bernau said that he was friends with Jim Everhart and attended the VIP opening ceremony in honor of his friend. Bernau said he has a handicapped son who enjoyed visiting places such as the aerospace museum years ago because of its wheelchair accessibility.

Bernau said he is glad to see how much it has grown, including partnerships with schools or other organizations to keep children motivated. He said that a museum as high quality as the Aerospace Awaiting the real sign, weather permitting, the Aerospace Museum of California celebrates the approval of a highway sign for the museum on Interstate 80.

Museum of California deserves a sign on the freeway.

“There’s so many things competing with people’s time today,” Bernau said. “And so to have that sign for going up and down the freeway, and it’s like, ‘Oh, what’s that?’ I’ve never been there before. I didn’t even know that existed.’ So that’s a big deal to have that.”

The Aerospace Museum of California is located at 3200 Freedom Park Drive in McClellan Park and was founded in 1986. The organization is a nonprofit organization and features a 40,000 square-foot exhibit hall with 40 aircraft and rockets, as well as a four-acre outdoor air park. The museum is also a Smithsonian Affiliate and a member of the North American Reciprocal Museum Association.

The “Snoopy and the Red Baron” exhibit at the museum will feature special weekly pop-up activities for visitors of all ages that bring Snoopy and the other Peanuts characters to life, according to the museum.

The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays to Sundays and admission to the Snoopy exhibit is included in the museum’s general admission. General admission is $15 and to purchase tickets online, visit <https://www.aerospacemuseum.org/purchase/p/adult-general-admission>.

“I don’t think there has been an animal character in a long time that has done the different things that Snoopy has done,” Schulz once reflected. “He’s an attorney. He’s a surgeon. He’s the World War I Flying Ace.” ★

A docent from the Aerospace Museum of California speaks to guests during opening day on Oct. 16 about artifacts and memorabilia in the museum’s latest exhibit, “Snoopy and the Red Baron.” The exhibit is a traveling exhibit for Snoopy’s 75th anniversary and is open through Dec. 31.

Ellis Farms Offers Family-Oriented Fun

Story and photos by Seth Henderson

RIO LINDA, CA (MPG) - At Ellis Farms in Rio Linda, a transitional kindergarten teacher from North Country Elementary School in Antelope has been working to bring more family-oriented activities to town for more than five years.

In addition to teaching transitional kindergarten, Angela Albertson owns Ellis Farms, a pumpkin patch in the fall and a Christmas tree farm in the winter.

With inflatable attractions such as tricycle racing, slides and carnival games, Albertson said she has plenty of help to manage the multiple plots of land needed to facilitate the farm’s activities, including the growth of pumpkins and Christmas trees. It’s cost-effective family fun for the whole family, Albertson said, and Ellis Farms’ prices are cheaper than most other pumpkin patches or farms in the Sacramento area.

“We’re not as busy as some of the other pumpkin patches throughout this city. We’re close, we’re local and it is a lot of fun for the kids out here to come,”

Albertson said. “We’ve got choices of bigger bounce houses; there’s some fun little different games like carnival games that they can try, like rock wall.”

Ellis Farms, located at 7041 Rio Linda Blvd., features freshly grown and locally sourced pumpkins and an array of Halloween decorations, providing guests with ample photo opportunities with numerous props on site.

Albertson said that the planting of pumpkins begins around April or May, facing a battle with Mother Nature as the squirrels dig up freshly germinated pumpkins, forcing her and her staff to innovate ways to mitigate that issue.

When Ellis Farms first opened, Albertson said it was difficult to meet the conditional requirements, taking on a new process of responsibility, but has worked to build a relationship with the multiple planning departments and agencies to ensure smooth compliance.

Open from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. during the week and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the weekends, admission is free to browse pumpkins and the pumpkins are sold by size.

Ellis Farms had a food permit approved this year, allowing the sale of snacks and other food items.

For $10, guests can receive a wristband allowing them unlimited admission to the attractions. Nine holes of miniature golf are available for $5 per game.

John Roberts, a set-up crew member at Ellis Farms, said pumpkins are grown in a few different fields that the organization owns and need to be rotated because of the large water draw that pumpkins require. The farms grow pumpkins for other patches as well as receiving pumpkins from other local farms.

Roberts said that Ellis Farms closes the pumpkin patch after Halloween and opens again around Thanksgiving for a Christmas tree farm, complete with an ice rink that runs from December through January. He said that the opening and closing dates are usually dependent on weather conditions.

“We have a whole selection of gourds, mini oranges, mini whites and then these, especially, these are little tigers,” Roberts said. “So they’re all like cool little pumpkins that everybody likes.”

The Easter Seals nonprofit organization assists with volunteering, donations, fundraisers and other help needed around Ellis Farms, Roberts said. He said the farm participates in Ruby’s Baskets and a canned food drive, where guests can drop off goods for donation.

“I just do whatever I can to help out,” said an eighth-grade volunteer from Westside Preparatory Charter School. “I mean, the people just being here, it’s a cool experience too. I mean, it’s better than sitting at home on my couch.”

The volunteer said graduation requirements at her school require roughly 15 hours of volunteering or community service and that she volunteers whenever she can after school for a few hours. She helped plant the pumpkins in the spring, saying that her favorite part about working at Ellis Farms is the staff and the pace.

Ellis Farms had a food permit approved this year, allowing the sale of snacks and other food items.

Roberts said that specialty TNT Fireworks merchandise was for sale at the farm during both the fall and winter seasons, including glow-in-the-dark poppers for Halloween and Exploding Reindeer Poop for Christmas.

“I have such a passion for the kids and we really just wanted to bring something positive to our community where the kids can come and have fun with their parents,” Albertson said.

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

Well Kings fans, the preseason is behind us, and there is one difference between last year’s results and this year. Thanks to a stirring 117-116 win over the Los Angeles Lakers Friday night the Kings will enter the regular season on a winning note.

Fans will remember that one year ago with Mike Brown at the helm, the Kings ran through the preseason without a single win and finished the first 20 games of the regular season with a sorry win/loss record. That tepid beginning would be a catalyst that would eventually lead to the dismissal of coach Brown and bring on Doug Christie as the interim head coach.

Now one win certainly doesn’t portend a definite turnaround, but winning never hurts, and what came out of the win over L.A. was very telling.

After a less than stellar beginning for newly acquired point guard Dennis Schroder, the much-traveled guard broke out of a scoring slump with a rousing 25 points to lead all scorers on the Kings team. Moreover, Schroder looked like the veteran NBA point guard he is, and was impressive the way he managed the game and distributed the ball.

Certainly, it’s a huge relief for Doug Christie in light of loosing forward Keegan Murray for probably the next 6 weeks, and Domantas Sabonis pulling a hamstring that will limit his action entering the upcoming season.

Fortunately, the injury to Sabonis does not appear to be severe, so there is optimism that he will be back sooner rather than later.

The prevailing question going into the Laker game was who will fill the vacated minutes of Keegan Murray, and can the Kings find any kind of a flow as it relates to their offensive schemes? Although the Kings competed from start to finish, that question wasn’t completely answered in the one-point win over the hometown Lakers, but we at least got a glimpse of what might be going through the coaches mind.

Isaac Jones finally got some quality minutes logging 23, and played solidly with 10 points, 3 rebounds, and 2 assists off the bench.

Dario Saric added 10 points of his own and 6 rebounds. Dario played 25 minutes and while not sterling, was solid on both ends of the floor.

Keon Ellis returned to form with a stirring 20 points in 26 minutes of action, and it appears likely that these 3 players will be called upon to fill in for the largest portion of minutes replacing Keegan Murray.

The key question is whether Doug Chrisitie can turn the injury to Keegan Murray into something positive, and that would be using these minutes wisely to bring on players that have the most to give.

I continue to be an advocate of Isaac Jones, largely because he has never been given enough court time to see his full repertoire, and given his size and length, Isaac is difficult for opposing teams to guard around the rim. He is particularly adept at finishing lobs and has a soft touch in the low post.

Dario Saric has been around longer, and I think the Kings know what they can expect from him, but let’s use this time wisely to find out who else we have that can be a key contributor.

Another bright spot was the play of 2nd round draft choice Max Raynauld, who added 9 points and 2 boards in only 16 minutes, and is appearing to be more and more comfortable with every game.

Not be overlooked is the stellar play of Nique Clifford who has become the bastion of consistency. Nique played 33 minutes giving the Kings a much needed 13 points, 5 boards, and 7 big assists. Clifford has played the preseason as a standout on both ends of the floor and is giving everyone notice that this rookie is NBA ready.

Can Kings fans get excited with only one win to show for their preseason endeavors? You bet they can!

Friday night’s game was a win over a quality team led by svelte Luca Doncic, and it was accomplished with Sabonis, Murray, and Malik Monk on the sidelines!

Don’t underestimate the contribution that this future hall-of-famer, Russell Westbrook, has to offer, and if he can fit in with his new teammates, Westbrook could be the unforeseen x-factor that the Kings so badly need.

All the best!

Social Security Matters

How Do I Navigate the Social Security Maze?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am a woman, turning 65 this October (2025). It seems that deciding when to claim Social Security is complicated. I would like more information to navigate through this maze. Thank you.

Signed: Ready to Claim

Dear Ready: Deciding when to claim Social Security can be challenging, but we hope to make it a bit easier for you. You can, of course, call us at any time to speak to one of our certified Social Security Advisors, but I’ll share some pertinent information here as well.

Be aware that at age 65, you have not yet reached your Social Security (SS) full retirement age (FRA). Born in1960, your FRA is age 67, and that is when you can get 100% of the SS benefit you’ve earned from a lifetime of working. If you claim SS at age 65, your monthly amount will be reduced by about 13.3% from your age 67 entitlement (a permanent reduction). If you wait a bit more and claim at age 66 the reduction would be about 6.7%. To get 100% of your “primary insurance amount” you should wait until age 67 to claim. Note you can also wait longer than your FRA and earn Delayed Retirement Credits up to age 70, when your monthly amount would be about 24% more than your FRA entitlement.

If you are still working, at age 65 you will also be subject to Social Security’s Annual Earnings Test (AET) which limits how much you can earn when collecting SS benefits before your full retirement age. The earnings limit for 2025 is $23,400 (changes annually) and if you earn more than that, SS will take away $1 in benefits for every $2 you are over the limit. There is also a special rule for the first calendar year you are collecting early benefits, which will result in you not getting benefits for any month your work earnings are more than $1950 after your early benefits start. So, if you claim SS at age 65 and continue to work, you won’t get any SS benefits in any 2025 month thereafter that you earn more than the monthly limit (unless your total annual; 2025 earnings are less than the annual limit). FYI, the earnings limit no longer applies once you attain your full retirement age.

In the end, deciding when you should claim Social Security should consider your need for Social Security money, your life expectancy, your plans for working, and your marital status. If you are (or were) married, you might be eligible for a spousal (or ex-spouse) benefit. You may also want to peruse the Social Security Q&A section at our website www.SocialSecurityReport.org. So, as you have already discerned, deciding when to claim Social Security can be confusing, but we are always here to assist you as needed. You can either call us directly at 1.888.750.2622 or email your specific Social Security questions to us at ssadviser@amacfoundation.org. In either case, we will be most happy to help you decide when to claim, based on your unique personal circumstances.

Still No Progress After Newsom’s Housing Pledge

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Eight years ago, as he began his campaign for governor, Gavin Newsom described fixing the state’s chronic housing shortage as a moral imperative.

“This is a question of who we are,” Newsom wrote in 2017. “Housing is a fundamental human need — let’s not forget the human face behind the dire statistics.

“Housing instability can cause genuine mental and physical adversity,” he added, “and lead to insufferable decisions: no one should have to choose between paying rent or buying groceries. Knowing that too many Californians face this kind of anxiety breaks my heart.”

Newsom pledged that as governor he would lead the effort to develop 3.5 million new housing units by 2025, “because our solutions must be as bold as the problem is big.

“I realize building 3.5 million new housing units is an audacious goal,” Newsom continued, “but it’s achievable. There is no silver bullet to solve this crisis. We need to attack the problem on multiple fronts by generating more funding for affordable housing, implementing regulatory reform and creating new financial incentives for local jurisdictions that produce housing while penalizing those that fall short.”

The 3.5 million-unit goal was never anywhere near realistic. It would have required increasing construction from about 100,000 units a year when he made the pledge to more than 400,000, doubling peak production in this century.

That said, Newsom has over the almost seven years of his governorship, pretty much, done what he said he’d do to increase housing. He has signed multiple bills meant to speed up housing permits by eliminating state and local legal impediments, capped by two major measures this year.

Newsom signed Assembly Bill 130, which makes it more difficult to use the California Environmental Quality Act as a tool to block housing projects, and Senate Bill 79, which overrides local government land use authority to authorize multi-family, multi-story housing projects near transit stops.

Meanwhile Newsom’s Department of Housing and Community Development has set statewide goals of 180,000 new units a year and 2.5 million units over eight years. It also imposed ambitious quotas on local governments to designate land for residential development and cracked down on communities that impede multi-family projects for low- and moderate-income families.

The latter effort responds to the most acute aspect of California’s shortage — housing the nearly 35% of Californians who are living in poverty or near-poverty, mostly due to housing costs that are among the nation’s highest.

With the enactment of AB 130 and SB 79, the looming conclusion of Newsom’s governorship and the likelihood that he will run for president, it’s time to appraise results.

Has the production of housing in California substantially increased? Unfortunately, no.

At the time Newsom made his pledge, about 100,000 units were being built each year, with the net increase substantially lower due to losses by fire or destruction. Eight years later, it’s virtually unchanged, no matter which authority one consults.

The Census Bureau reports that between 2019, when Newsom took office, and 2024 new housing permits in California ranged from a high of 120,780 units in 2022 to a low of 101,546 last year. Newsom’s own budget agrees with the Census Bureau’s data for the same period and projects future construction through 2028 at 100,000 to 104,000 units a year.

Clearly, even though systemic barriers to housing construction have been eased, many developers have been unable to see housing in California as a good investment. The COVID-19 pandemic, which had massive economic impacts, and increases in interest rates to battle inflation also have had an effect.

Housing is far more complicated than Newsom depicted it when he made his promises. He gets a ‘B’ for effort — and an ‘F’ for results.

Dan Walters is one of the most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state’s political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★

The “ceasefire now” crowd finally got its ceasefire, although not the way it hoped.

Israel and Hamas have agreed to stop the fighting in Gaza, while the terror group will release all Israeli hostages in exchange for Palestinian prisoners held by Israel.

There’s always a chance the agreement falls apart. Still, it isn’t creating jubilation from all the people who have been braying for Israel to end the war. There are two reasons -- one is that the deal is favorable for Israel, and the other is that the deal’s architect is a president of the United States whom, the fiercest advocates of a ceasefire hate.

If it holds, the agreement is the biggest victory yet for Donald Trump’s hyperactive, transactional diplomacy.

A lifetime of maneuvering for advantage in the real estate and media worlds in New York City -- searching for and using every ounce of leverage -- was better preparation for high-level international diplomacy than if Trump had spent a lifetime on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Whereas “international opinion” believed we had to isolate and cut off Israel, Trump armed the Jewish state, bombed Iran and squeezed Qatar to bring Hamas to heel -- and it worked. The deal is a tribute to avoiding the well-worn ruts of Middle East diplomacy.

The Gonzo Brilliance of Trump’s Gaza Diplomacy

As for Israel, it needed to find a way out of a conflict that had become a PR disaster. Getting the hostages back is an important national goal, even if the exchange is lopsided (these swaps always are). Meanwhile, Israel will pull back to an agreed-upon line, but still hold an estimated 53% of Gaza as a security buffer. Even if things eventually go south again, Israel has bought time by decimating Hamas and significantly diminishing the threats from Iran and Hezbollah.

It is certainly true that Phase 2 of the deal, which is supposed to disarm Hamas and establish a technocratic Palestinian government in Gaza, will be much more difficult to pull off. If it were to come to fruition, though, it would be transformative for Israel’s security and for the lives of Gazans.

There will presumably be no speeches at Hollywood awards ceremonies crediting Trump for his peace-making. Among other things, there’s too much cognitive dissonance in saying, “I think President Trump is a dangerous fascist -- but appreciate how bound and determined he is to end conflicts around the world.”

Trump is a gonzo version of standard U.S. foreign policy. All American presidents want to make peace in the Middle East, and all want, whether they say it or not, to win the Nobel Peace Prize. What’s different about Trump is his methods, and his openness about seeking a call from the Nobel committee.

A hallmark of his policymaking at its best is an unwillingness to take “no” for an answer, an unrelenting sense of urgency and a creativity that is considered unrealistic or reckless by conventional metrics. We saw it during his first term with his success in securing the border, with the historic achievement of Operation Warp Speed and with the Abraham Accords.

“The reasonable man adapts himself to the world,” George Bernard Shaw maintained, “the unreasonable one persists in trying to adapt the world to himself. Therefore, all progress depends on the unreasonable man.”

In this sense, Trump is usefully unreasonable. Everyone around the world needs to be a little afraid of him, while he is willing to talk to anyone or consider anything. His optimism can be misplaced (the Ukraine war was a tougher nut than he thought) and his highly personalized diplomacy can misfire (he got unnecessarily crosswise with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi), but he can also prove all his doubters wrong.

The Washington cliché is that there is no limit to the good you can do if you don’t care who gets the credit. Trump shows, to the contrary, that sometimes there is no limit to the good you can do if you want all the credit.

Sacramento State Athletics News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sophia Lee’s even-par round of 72 led the California State University, Sacramento women’s golf team during the final round of the Golf Iconic Classic on Oct. 15 at the New Mexico State University Golf Course.

The Sacramento State Hornets finished tied for eighth place out of 19 teams in the tournament with scores of 284-285-301-870. Boise State won the team title after finishing 13-under par. Northern Arizona stormed into second place in the team standings at 7-under while UC Irvine (5-under), Santa Clara (1-under) finished third and fourth.

Lee opened the third round on the seventh hole and parred her first three holes. Her first bogey came on the 10th hole and was later matched by a birdie on the par-4 14th. Lee moved to 2-over following bogeys on numbers 16 and 18 but was able to finish even following birdies on the par-4 first and fifth holes.

Lee tied for 36th overall at 73-75-72-220.

The Hornets also counted rounds of 75 from Tova Hatton and 77s from Darla May Dela Torre and Jocelyn Tseng toward the team total.

Overall, Ella Kraft and Dela Torre tied for 22nd place for the highest finish on the Hornets. Kraft shot 70-66-81-217 while Torre had rounds of 69-71-77-217. Lee and Ashley Koga tied for 36th, Florencia Dufey was 43rd, Tseng 46th and Hatton 65th.

Sacramento State will quickly return to action as it competes at the Rainbow Wahine Invitational on Oct. 20 to Oct. 22, after press time, in Hawaii. The tournament will be the final event for the Hornets members during their schedule’s fall portion. ★

Former Beaver Joseph ‘Pey’ Brito Dies

American River College Athletics News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Joseph “Pey” Brito, a former Beaver infielder from Delta High School, died two weeks ago. Pey redshirted at American River College in 2000 and then played second base for the Beavers baseball team in 2001 and 2002.

In 2002, he helped lead the Beavers to a second-place finish in the Bay Valley East Conference, as he hit .300 with five doubles and 14 RBI (runs batted in) while playing rock solid defense.

“Pey was a really good human being, a great father, friend and teammate,” said current American River College head coach Doug Jumelet. “He played the game hard and with passion and had the respect of all of his teammates and coaches. He was a leader on the field and off. He was full of energy and we will all miss that, especially his family.”

Former head coach Kevin Higgins when Brito was at American River College, said that he saw Brito at the gym a couple of months ago and Brito was very upbeat and spiritual, although he wasn’t in great health due to cancer.

Athletics Director Rocko DeLuca’s High Fives

UC Davis Athletics News Release

DAVIS, CA (MPG) - Caden Pinnick racks up weekly awards following a performance against No. 14 Northern Arizona that earned No. 6 UC Davis football a victory on homecoming. The red-shirt freshman quarterback added to his weekly awards being named the FCS Nation Radio National Offensive Player of the Week.

Pinnick was also named the Big Sky Offensive Player of the Week following the win against Northern Arizona, his third-straight such honor which tied a conference record.

The Aggie signal caller became the first Big Sky honoree to earn three-straight offensive player of the week honors since Dalton Sneed (Montana) earned the honor three times in a row in 2019. The difference between the two is that Pinnick has done it against three conference opponents, while Sneed played two conference opponents with his streak starting in the non-conference portion of Montana’s 2019 schedule.

Pinnick shined in another Aggie victory throwing for a career-high, 348 passing yards while throwing five touchdowns, the most by an Aggie since 2018. Pinnick was also lights out going 25-for-29 to finish with a completion percentage of 86.2 percent. Over three games, Pinnick has gone 62-for-82, thrown for 949 yards, tossed 10 touchdowns and thrown no interceptions to lead the Aggies to 3-0 start in Big Sky play for the second-straight season.

As of Oct. 15, it was the fifth time this season that Pinnick earned weekly honors and the second time he earned national honors. He was named the Stats Perform National Freshman Player of the Week back in week one and he earned Big Sky Offensive Player of the Week honors after the Aggies knocked off Weber State, following the road win at Cal Poly and after the recent victory on homecoming over Northern Arizona.

Donor Impact – Willett Family

The Willett family’s bond with UC Davis Athletics runs deep, rooted in both tradition and personal legacy. Genia Willett, daughter of long-time legendary UC Davis head coach Woody Wilson, and her husband, Jim, were recently recognized as the Champion Aggies Club Donors of the Game during UC Davis football’s Big Sky opener against Weber State alongside their daughter and son-in-law, Tom and Kim Windall.

“We support athletics because of the high caliber of the program and the student-athletes,” Genia said. “We also like to support athletics to honor my father, Woody Wilson, who put his heart and soul into the track and field program.”

Their philanthropy has helped fuel scholarships, facility upgrades, and opportunities that empower student-athletes to excel both on the field and in the classroom. For the Willetts, each donation is a way to celebrate excellence and remember a man who gave everything to elevate the program.

Today, the Willett family’s involvement is visible across campus, from the stands at Aggie football and basketball games to the track that bears the late Woody Wilson’s name.

Their passion continues to inspire others in the Aggie community, exemplifying how one family’s loyalty and love for a university can shape its legacy for generations.

Staff Spotlight – Jason Grace

If something runs smoothly at UC Davis athletics, chances are Jason Grace had a hand in it. As manager of Facilities and Operations, he’s the steady presence making sure every field, court and locker room is ready to go, no matter what the day brings.

“My day can consist of stringing a lacrosse goal, setting up for a home game, fixing a locker or hanging a TV in a coach’s office,” Grace said. “I like not always knowing what my day is going to look like. Game days are the things I take the most pride in. It’s not just the game but also the prep before and after the game.”

After more than 20 years as a coach, Grace brings that same mindset into his work.

“Even though I’m not the coach, I still want everything set up the way I’d want it to be on game day,” he said. “It’s also helped me notice when something looks off and make sure it gets fixed so our coaches don’t have to worry about it.”

“Jason is one of those people who makes everyone around him better,” said Director of Athletics Rocko DeLuca. “His commitment, reliability and pride in his work embody what UC Davis athletics stands for. We’re incredibly grateful for the difference he makes every day across our department.”

Team Spotlight – Volleyball

With wins over UC San Diego and Long Beach State two weekends ago, UC Davis women’s volleyball is off to a historic start to their season.

“I think the team is playing with a ton of tenacity and courage, and it’s been a ton of fun to watch them play over the start of the season,” said head coach Dan Connors. “We’re still early in the season and there are a lot of things to grow and get better at but I really like the way we are approaching growth and change and the way we compete.

We compete at a really high level and I really appreciate the team and their effort in that.” ★
