The event, hosted by the Citrus Heights Chamber of Commerce, was held Jan. 20 at the Citrus Heights Event Center, 6300 Fountain Square Drive, and drew business professionals from across the city and surrounding areas. The luncheon is designed to connect members of the business community with families," Merrick said.

Hoover, a Republican representing California's 7th Assembly District, provided an update on recent legislative activity and his priorities at the Capitol. His district includes Citrus Heights, Folsom and Rancho Cordova, along with several unincorporated communities in Sacramento County.

"It's been a little while since I've been with you," Hoover told attendees. "We have a brand-new year and a lot going on in the Legislature."

Mushroom Poisoning Amid Statewide Outbreak

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Recent rain has contributed to widespread growth of Death Cap mushrooms in California. Sacramento County Public Health (SCPH), in alignment with the California Department of Public Health (CDPH), is urging residents not to pick or eat wild mushrooms as the risk of potentially deadly amatoxin poisoning is high. Since Death Cap (Amanita phalloides) and Western Destroying Angel (Amanita ocreata) are easily confused for safe-to-eat lookalike mushrooms, all mushroom foraging should be avoided.

Sacramento County Public Health confirms four cases of amatoxin poisoning in Sacramento County caused by people accidentally picking and eating Death Cap and/or Western Destroying Angel mushrooms.

This comes amidst a continuing statewide outbreak linked to the consumption of wild, foraged mushrooms. There's been reports of severe liver damage in both children and adults, resulting in three adult deaths and three liver transplants statewide to date.

Between Nov. 18, 2025, and Jan. 6, 2026, the California Poison Control System (CPCS) has identified 35 hospitalized cases across Northern California and the Central Coast, spanning regions from Sonoma to San Luis Obispo. Affected individuals range in age from 19 months to 67 years and include family groups and individual cases.

Most cases are in the Monterey and San Francisco Bay Area, though Death Cap mushrooms can be found across the state, particularly adjacent to oaks, other hardwoods and some pines. Information provided by affected individuals indicates that mushrooms were collected from various locations, including county, city and park lands.

Sacramento County Public Health and Sacramento County Regional Parks remind residents that wild mushrooms can be poisonous even if they resemble edible varieties and remain toxic even after cooking, boiling, freezing or drying.

Grocery Outlet Prepares for March Opening

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Construction of a new Grocery Outlet store in Sunrise Village in Citrus Heights is quickly moving towards a March completion date, according to a senior construction superintendent for Tilton Pacific Construction, Inc., of Rocklin which is overseeing the interior and exterior renovations of the former Rite Aid drug store.

The white stucco front façade of the building is now fully refreshed with new paint and marquee signage announcing Grocery Outlet - Bargain Market above the center front retail entrance is in place.

remains in front of the active job site until new asphalt paving is poured.

With the exception of the Grocery Outlet store which is actively under construction, Sunrise Village Plaza is owned entirely by San Francisco-based investment company Merlone-Geier.

Before its closure, the former Rite Aid drug store was the only substantial portion of the 14.8-acre shopping plaza which was not included in a major remodeling project by Merlone-Geier that finished in 2024.

The undisclosed owners of the new Grocery Outlet in Citrus Heights, which will be doing business as Grocery Outlet LLC, previously submitted a design review permit to the city last January for the vacant retail space at 5409 Sunrise Blvd.

Notice of their submission of an application to the state Alcohol Beverage Control (ABC) for a license change was also filed at that time.

Last fall, Jeff Huelsman, a senior superintendent for Tilton Pacific Construction, said work crews were just beginning to remove the existing interior ceiling from the former Rite Aid drug store to its bare structure, which was necessary to meet the higher shelving and storage height which is required by Grocery Outlet in its retail stores.

That period of interior demolition and construction is complete, and the installation of a new heating, ventilation and air conditioning system is now finished.

Once open, the new Grocery Outlet will face competition from an Amazon Fresh at the opposite end of the Sunrise Village shopping plaza and two other retail grocers, including Smart and Final and a Trader Joes located on opposite sides of the corner.

Grocery Outlet typically sells a wide assortment of grocery items including produce, meat, a range of prepared foods and general merchandise items.

According to a project summary description provided to the city of Citrus Heights by Grocery Outlet, alcohol sales are expected to be only four percent of total sales, and its availability will provide the customers a “one-stop shopping experience.”

Within the Sunrise Village, Nothing Bundt Cakes, Pinkberry and Juice Time have also recently opened.

Located between Starbucks and Firehouse Subs on the southern end of Sunrise Village, Juice Time opened to the public on New Year’s Day.

The international juice, ice cream shop and crepe shop which is focused on natural and healthy sweet treat options will officially celebrate its official public grand opening on Saturday, Feb. 7 with a ribbon cutting ceremony hosted by the Citrus Heights Chamber of Commerce. ★

“We understand that people may not realize the risk of mushroom foraging right now, because these mushrooms can closely resemble edible types,” said Dr. Olivia Kasirye, Sacramento County Public Health Officer. “That’s why we’re urging residents to avoid wild mushroom foraging altogether and to seek immediate help if exposure is suspected.”

Sacramento County Public Health is coordinating with the California Department of Public Health and California Poison Control on case investigation, tracking and public outreach.

What Residents Can Do

Avoid picking and eating wild mushrooms during this high-risk season when Death Cap mushrooms are abundant. Death Cap mushrooms are still poisonous even after cooking, boiling, freezing or drying.

Purchase mushrooms from trusted grocery stores and retailers and exercise caution when buying mushrooms from street vendors.

Keep children and pets away from wild mushrooms.

Seek help immediately if you or someone you know has eaten a poisonous mushroom. Contact the CPCS hotline: 1-800-222-1222. Do not wait for symptoms to appear. Treatment is more difficult once symptoms start.

Initial symptoms, such as watery diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain, and dehydration can occur within 6 to 24 hours following ingestion of these toxic mushrooms and usually go away within a day. However, this brief improvement can be deceptive, as patients may still develop serious to fatal liver damage within 48 to 96 hours after eating the mushrooms. ★

Aerospace Museum Awarding Aviation Scholarships

Aerospace Museum of California News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Thanks to the generosity of its major donors, the Aerospace Museum of California is proud to announce the return of its Private Pilot License (PPL) Scholarship Program. In 2026, the Museum will award three scholarships of $12,500 each to exceptional and highly motivated students between the ages of 16 and 22 who aspire to become pilots.

Applications for the scholarship program are now open and will close on Feb. 14 at 11:59 PM Pacific Standard Time. Interested applicants can find full details and submit their application at <https://www.aerospacemuseum.org/ppl-scholarship>.

Unlike traditional financial aid programs, the Aerospace Museum of California’s Private Pilot License Scholarship is designed as a comprehensive pilot development pipeline. In addition to financial support, scholarship recipients benefit from one-on-one mentoring, structured progress tracking, and clear accountability milestones.

Scholars are also actively engaged in museum programs and STEM outreach initiatives, reinforcing the Museum’s commitment to education and community impact. The program is built around a core objective of achieving a 100 percent Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Private Pilot License certification success rate among scholarship recipients.

The ideal candidates for the program are students who demonstrate a strong and sustained desire to pursue a career in aviation. Additional consideration is given to applicants who are already involved in aviation-related organizations or activities, such as Civil Air Patrol, the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA), or flight schools. Applicants with prior flight training or those who have already completed the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Airman Knowledge Test are also strongly encouraged to apply.

To be eligible, applicants must be between the ages of 16 and 22 and able to begin flight training within 30 days of receiving the scholarship award. Recipients must commit to ongoing mentoring, meet structured progress milestones, and complete a minimum of four hours per month of volunteer service with the Aerospace Museum of California.

The Museum’s motto, “Where Dreams Take Flight,” reflects more than inspiration; it represents a proven pathway into aviation careers. Through this scholarship program, the Aerospace Museum of California continues to transform passion for flight into real-world opportunities, helping the next generation of pilots earn their wings.

For questions or additional information, interested parties may contact the Aerospace Museum of California Scholarship Coordinator at Scholarship@AerospaceCA.org.

The Aerospace Museum of California encourages educators, parents, aviation mentors, and community members to share this opportunity with aspiring pilots.

Capitol Talk, Local Impact

before the Assembly since 2020. He said the speech offered insight into the governor's long-term plans but raised questions about claims related to homelessness and crime.

Hoover noted that while the governor cited a statewide decline in homelessness, long-term trends show an increase over the past several years. He praised Citrus Heights officials for their local efforts to address the issue.

"What we've seen over the last six years is an increase in homelessness across the state from about 116,000 individuals six to seven years ago to over 180,000 unsheltered homeless today in California. The city of Citrus Heights has been laser-focused on this issue," Hoover said, crediting the City Council, police leadership and staff for working together on the problem.

Turning to public safety, Hoover said recent reductions in crime are largely due to voters passing Proposition 36, rather than executive action alone.

"We have seen some very fantastic improvements in our crime statistics. We need to continue building on that," said Hoover.

Hoover also addressed the newly proposed $350 billion state budget, $28 billion more than last year's budget, warning of potential deficits ranging from $3 billion to $18 billion, depending on revenue projections.

"The governor's budget builds in a lot of very, I would say, optimistic projections, that AI stocks are going to continue to drive a huge tech boom and stock market boom in the state. His budget has about $42 billion in additional revenues that the legislative analysts, our nonpartisan fiscal office, does not have. We need to be careful with how we budget our state this year," he said, adding that long-term structural deficits could pose serious challenges if not addressed.

Among the accomplishments Newsom highlighted at his address was Hoover's legislation Phone-Free Schools Act, which requires school districts statewide to adopt policies limiting smartphone use during the school day by July.

"I think it's something that is going to be very valuable for our students, and I really did appreciate the shout out from the governor," said Hoover.

Hoover also cautioned against a proposed state wealth tax, saying it could have unintended consequences for California's economy and working families. While supporters argue the tax would primarily affect the state's highest earners, Hoover said early signs suggest it may already be driving wealthy individuals and their assets out of California, reducing overall tax revenue.

"About half of our highest-income earners cover nearly two-thirds of the personal income taxes in this state," Hoover said. "If those taxpayers leave, we're going to feel it in our budget."

He said his focus will remain on eliminating waste, fraud and abuse in state spending to better use existing taxpayer dollars rather than creating new taxes.

At the conclusion of Hoover's remarks, Merrick made several chamber announcements, including recognition of students who participated in the chamber's Kids Commerce program. First-place winner Ashley Guzman and second-place winner Jose Cabano received checks and certificates, presented with congratulations from Hoover.

The luncheon was sponsored by Almond Orchard Dental Care.

Lunch was provided by Taste of Tuscany and included salad, pasta, garlic bread, chicken and cookies.

The next ACCESS Citrus Heights Luncheon is scheduled for Feb. 17 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Citrus Heights Event Center. The keynote speaker will be Sacramento County District Attorney Thien Ho. ★

Thai Restaurant in Citrus Heights Offered for Sale

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - After 14 years of serving flavorful, traditional family recipes, Kongkiat (Ken) Putson, owner of Thai Orchid, a popular Thai restaurant in Citrus Heights has offered his business for sale, looking to move to the Dallas, Texas area where he can be closer to family.

The decision to sell his restaurant wasn't an easy one for him to reach, recognizing the friendships he's developed among regular customers who have come to enjoy their favorite Thai dishes which his mother passed on to him.

"I helped my mother to open a restaurant in Las Vegas, Nevada, before opening here in Citrus Heights," Putson said. "That restaurant was very successful and encouraged me to share her dishes when I opened here in Citrus Heights."

Putson grew up in Bangkok, Thailand and currently lives with his family in Citrus Heights. He said he continues to enjoy introducing his first-time customers to Thai cuisine and welcoming back his regular customers who order their favorite noodle, rice and curry dishes or try new daily specials.

Putson said he is actively looking to sell the restaurant to a potential new buyer who may want to continue the restaurant with its current Thai menu, or with another concept

"It's time," he said. Putson has leased the restaurant through Dec. 4, 2027, which he believes will give him sufficient time to find the right buyer who shares the same passion for good food which he has.

The restaurant menu includes many popular Thai dishes, with an emphasis on soups, curries and classic stir-fry dishes. A gluten-free menu is also available upon request.

A large percentage of Thai Orchid's overall business is takeout, Putson said, but many of his regular customers prefer to dine in, savoring the restaurant's quiet atmosphere and gentle Thai instrumental music playing in the background. Photo by Thomas J. Sullivan

Thai Orchid's menu offers a variety of choices at reasonable prices. Chef specials also vary on a daily basis. Craftsmanship is clearly evident in each and every dish served at the restaurant.

Whether it be the delicate flowery cut of the sliced carrots or the colorful plated presentation of each dish, Putson takes pride in overseeing that every dish is made with care.

The long-established restaurant, located in the Copperwood Square shopping center on Sunrise Boulevard, occupies an approximately 2,000-square-foot space, according to a current listing on commercial real estate site BizBuySell.com for an asking price of $158,000.

The restaurant operates with three employees, including two full-time and one part-time staff member and is owner-operated, Putson said. Training for a new restaurant owner may be provided, he said.

Whether he will open another restaurant in Texas once settling there remains to be seen, Putson said. Time may tell.

"It's been wonderful being a part of the Citrus Heights community through all these years, and I will miss my customers when the time comes," Putson said. "This restaurant has brought me a lot of joy."

The Thai Orchid restaurant is located at 6974 Sunrise Boulevard in the Copperwood Square shopping center. Dining hours are Tuesday through Friday for lunch from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and for dinner, 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Weekend dining hours are Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., reopening for dinner from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. and reopening for dinner from 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The restaurant offers both dine-in or to-go options. The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 6.75% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for repayment period is 7.75%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 15%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $200,000, and a total maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $300,000, have a total maximum Loan to Value (LTV) of 65% and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal or property evaluation, which typically range from $100 to $1,000. This cost will be disclosed in your commitment letter and paid at loan closing. Property insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $525 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $85 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

City to Begin Major Road Improvement Projects

Story and photos by Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Two major city street improvement projects, including a upgrade of a significant segment of Greenback Lane from Mariposa Avenue to Birdcage Lane where damaged portions of a steel mesh pedestrian median have been removed and were not replaced due to past traffic collisions, and a segment of paving of Sylvan Road from Greenback Lane to San Juan Avenue described by motorists as “rough as a washboard” are included in a comprehensive list of project scheduled for completion in the 2025 Street Resurfacing Project which is now underway.

Last November, the city council recently awarded the construction contract for its 2025 Pavement Strategy, which is part of its Three-Year Pavement Preservation Program.

The Pavement Preservation Plan was first adopted in December 2023 and includes a schedule, laying out city streets which will receive some form of treatment during this calendar year.

The Three-Year Pavement Preservation Plan, approved in 2023, originally identified 222 streets that needed resurfacing. Following monitoring and coordination with utility companies, that list has since grown to 254 streets, according to officials.

The full map can be viewed at citrusheights.net/460/Pavement-Maintenance-Program.

In all, the city of Citrus Heights maintains and repairs approximately 237 miles of streets. This annual project goals for 2026 will resurface various residential streets around the city including asphalt and concrete repairs as needed.

The city project map includes multiple major arterial streets, including Greenback Lane, Fair Oaks Boulevard, Auburn Boulevard and Antelope Road.

Street improvements are welcome news for motorists who travel along busy Greenback Lane from Mariposa Lane to Birdcage Lane towards Sunrise Mall, and who make left or right hand turns from the pocket turn-out lanes which have little protection from oncoming traffic due to missing barrier fencing other than a raised concrete median.

At night, the glare of headlights at from oncoming traffic make turns out or into the residential apartment complexes along Greenback Lane a difficult challenge.

Improvements include removing sections of the median fence along Greenback Lane between

A segment of paving of Sylvan Road from Greenback Lane to San Juan Avenue described by motorists as “rough as a washboard” are included in a comprehensive list of projects scheduled for completion in the 2025 Street Resurfacing Project which is now underway.

Mariposa Avenue and Birdcage Street and repairing the concrete median as needed.

Some sections of concrete medians and turn pockets between Birdcage and Mariposa will be reconstructed and the median fencing removed, according to Marisa Brown, city communications officer.

“The City’s planned improvements also include ADA ramp upgrades, traffic signal upgrades, pedestrian enhancements, adding a fourth crosswalk along the western side of the Greenback and Birdcage intersection, and full pavement resurfacing,” she said.

Over 250 identified streets are expected to be resurfaced over the next two years; however, construction work such as damaged curb, gutter, and sidewalk repair; adding nonexistent sidewalk sections where needed; and storm drainage infrastructure updates and repairs need to be completed prior to resurfacing, according to the city.

In addition, traffic signals will be modified at two city intersections: an additional crosswalk will be installed on the west leg of Greenback Lane at Birdcage Street, and another will be added on the east leg of Auburn Boulevard at Carriage Drive.

Before the city’s 2025 Pavement Strategy, which is part of its Three-Year Pavement Preservation Program, the city resurfaced about two miles of roadway each year. The city now intends to improve that total up to 52 miles annually, allowing for more streets in more neighborhoods to be resurfaced, faster than ever before.

“In total, 125 roadways will be resurfaced this Fiscal Year, with updated striping and neighborhood safety improvements included,” according to Ash

Portions of the fencing barrier along Greenback Lane towards Birdcage Lane destroyed in prior traffic accidents have been gone for at least three years.

Feeney, Citrus Heights city manager.

The city is also allocating a portion of its General Fund, typically reserved for core services like public safety and operations, to support much-needed deferred maintenance pavement improvements.

Motorists who prefer to turn right towards San Juan Avenue from Greenback Lane by traveling a shorter portion of Sylvan Road towards where that portion of Sylvan and San Juan merge before Stock Ranch Road, will soon find smoother pavement to travel.

Sylvan Road from Greenback Lane to San Juan Avenue is also on the city’s 2026 Pavement Restoration list. Completion of this road segment is subject to Citrus Heights Water District’s ongoing main line replacement project, Brown said.

Other planned improvements listed by the city include widening the sidewalk on the north side of Auburn Boulevard between Carriage Drive and Sylvan Middle School, adding a raised concrete median on the east leg of Auburn Boulevard at Carriage Drive to replace existing delineators, and upgrading eleven traffic signals with modern detection systems to replace in-pavement loop detectors.

The overall scope (of the future projects) includes several targeted safety and accessibility enhancements throughout the city as part of the Multi-Modal

Transportation Safety Plan (MMSP).

“We have increased a number of streets where we will be doing a multi-layer treatment on, [which] automatically does trigger ADA upgrades, so we’ve had to make adjustments for that,” General Services Director Regina Cave told council members at the Nov. 12 City Council meeting.

The agreement for street improvements during 2026 totals an amount of a little over $1,477,000 and will be funded over multiple fiscal years through the city’s General Fund, and funding has already been allocated through Capital Improvement Program (CIP) funding. ★

Bubba’s 33, Jagers Fundraiser Benefits American Tinnitus Association

Restaurants Donate 100% of Profits to Honor Late Founder Kent Taylor

Texas Roadhouse, Bubba’s 33, Jagers News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On Monday, Feb. 2, all Texas Roadhouse, Bubba’s 33 and Jagers locations invite the public to a fundraiser to support the American Tinnitus Association (ATA). To honor the company’s late founder, Kent Taylor, the restaurants will donate 100% of all profits on Feb. 2 to the organization.

More than 26 million adults in the United States battle tinnitus. While commonly referred to as “ringing in the ears,” tinnitus can manifest many different perceptions of sound, including buzzing, hissing, whistling, swooshing, and clicking. Tinnitus is the perception of sound when no actual external noise is present.

“For many years, Texas Roadhouse and Roadie Nation have been steadfast partners of the American Tinnitus Association, and we are deeply grateful for their continued support,” says CEO Patrick A. Lynch. “This partnership represents the very best of philanthropy, and I am personally thankful for their long-standing commitment to the tinnitus community. Dine-to-Donate, as part of Tinnitus Awareness Week, powerfully amplifies our mission by helping fund research, expanding education, and reminding the millions of people living with tinnitus that they are not alone.”

“Supporting ATA allows the Texas Roadhouse brands to continue the legacy of our founder, Kent Taylor, whose heart was always centered on helping others,” says CEO and President Jerry Morgan. “Our partnership reflects a sincere dedication to shining a light on tinnitus, its prevention, and the meaningful steps individuals can take to manage this debilitating disease.”

The American Tinnitus Association (ATA) is a non-profit organization dedicated to people with tinnitus. The American Tinnitus Association helps individuals and families cope, funds research, advocates for better care, and provides trustworthy information to thousands of people every day. If you or a loved one need information or help managing tinnitus, contact the American Tinnitus Association at (800) 634-8978 or visit ata.org

Based in Louisville, Kentucky, founded by Kent Taylor, Texas Roadhouse opened its doors in 1993 and has more than 721 locations in 49 states and 10 foreign countries. The family-friendly restaurant is famous for Hand-Cut Steaks, Made-From-Scratch Sides, Fresh-Baked Bread, and a lively atmosphere. In 2022, Texas Roadhouse was named one of Fortune

Magazine’s Most Admired Companies. In 2024 Texas Roadhouse was also recognized as America’s Customer Service Champions by USA Today and the Brand Icon Award by Nations Restaurant News. In addition to Texas Roadhouse, the company owns and operates Bubba’s 33 and Jagers, for more information, visit www.texasroadhouse.com.

Bubba’s 33, founded by Kent Taylor, founder of Texas Roadhouse, serves up “Food for All” with options featuring handcrafted pizza, bold burgers, signature pastas, ice-cold beer, and hand-crafted cocktails. The first Bubba’s 33 opened in Fayetteville, North Carolina, in 2013 and has since grown to over 50 locations in 15 states. Bubba’s 33 staff is dedicated to fun and providing the best service in town. On a national level, in 2017, Bubba’s 33 was recognized by Nation’s Restaurant News with the Hot Concept Award. Since, Bubba’s 33 has won a host of local awards including Best Burger, Best Sports Bar, and Best New Business in Texarkana, TX. For more information, visit www.bubbas33.com.

Founded in 2014, by Texas Roadhouse’s founder Kent Taylor, Jagers serves scratch-made food in a fast-casual setting. Menu offerings include double-stacked burgers; hand-breaded chicken tenders and sandwiches; fresh made-to-order salads; and hand-spun milkshakes. Jagers is a growing brand with 14 locations including multiple locations in Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, Texas and 1 international location. In 2020, Jagers was named a “Hot Concept” by Technomic as well as ranked #1 Burger in Indianapolis by Indianapolis Monthly. For more information, visit <https://www.eatjagers.com/>. ★

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

For forty years the city of Sacramento has had a love affair with the Sacramento Kings basketball team, and a 12-35 record halfway through the 2025-26 season is not likely to change that. The fans in Sacramento truly know the definition of loyalty, and although there is much to be concerned about, faithfulness seems to be ubiquitous in River City.

A recent 4-game winning streak left me somewhat amazed at the euphoria it created despite nearly the worst record in the NBA this season.

The checker at the supermarket smiled from ear to ear when he saw my Kings jacket and couldn't stop talking about the multiple wins in a row. The same thing occurred in my local bank, and even the person at the Starbucks drive through had an encouraging word for the hometown club.

Yes, the Kings are a part of the fabric that makes up a smorgasbord of people in the capitol city and win or lose these fans are here to stay.

As the Kings have embarked on a 7-game road trip, the losing ways have once again surfaced, and the 139-116 loss to the Detroit Pistons brought back the grim reminder that there is much to be corrected with the current team.

The Kings were led in scoring by none other than Malik Monk with 19 points and a surprising 3 blocks to lead the team in that category as well. Not long ago demoted to the bench inexplicably for 3 games, coach Christie has been awakened by chants from the hometown fans calling for Monk to play, and many are asking the question, why was he on the bench to start with? Well, that is not the only conundrum, as Domantas Sabonis has been asked to come off the bench in lieu of rookie Maxime Raynaud, ostensibly as they continue to monitor his knee that kept him sidelined for 13 consecutive games.

The question most asked is why are the rotations so frenetic, and is there any method to this madness?

There is plenty of talent on this team to go around but finding the right amount of playing time for each player and having a core group on the court that can find a rhythm has been seemingly absent this entire season.

I believe fans are hungry for some consistency, and quite likely the players are probably there as well.

Without question, anything resembling the playoffs seems to be a pipe dream this season, but when I hear fans talk about the aspect of tanking for the sake of a better draft choice, I draw the line.

If the coaching staff and ownership wants to focus on playing the younger players this year, I'm fine with that, but the idea that moves are intentionally being made to lose games is contrary to anything I believe the city of Sacramento wants to see.

I'm convinced every fan wants to see 100% effort, and it's entirely possible we'll see another winning streak if that's the case.

Not lost in all of this is the question of 2-time all star and rebounding champ Domantas Sabonis. Word out of the Kings camp is that Sabonis is on the trade market, and I have to question the logic in that.

When Sabonis arrived, the Kings had not had a real center since the departure of Demarcus Cousins's, and no one has exemplified the spirit of basketball more than the effervescent Domantas Sabonis. Add to that his production on the court, leading the NBA in both rebounding and double-doubles year over year, and it begs the question, why would you want to trade one of the best centers in basketball.

I have heard the flip side that says, look what we can get for him, but have you looked at the result of trades the Kings have been involved with? Remember just one year ago the Kings sent one of the premier point guards in the NBA to San Antonio so that we could suit up Zach Lavine.

There is a lot to like about Zach Lavine, but losing DeAaron Fox immediately changed the face of the franchise and not in a good way.

So, stay tuned Kings fans because there is still much to root about, and I for one have not lost faith!

All the best!

Newsom Wants to Overhaul State Oversight of California Schools

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Gov. Gavin Newsom dropped a brief and vaguely worded section into his State of the State address earlier this month, suggesting an overhaul of how California's vast public education system is managed.

"It's long overdue that we modernize the management of our educational system," Newsom said, "and so in the budget I'll be submitting tomorrow, I'm proposing that we unify the policymaking by the State Board of Education and the Department of Education, allowing the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to align our education policies from early childhood through college."

The budget's passage on this was longer, but still failed to explicitly say what Newsom had in mind.

The proposal cited two reports that bemoaned the multiple, often overlapping and sometimes competitive, state and local entities that govern the schools. One was California's so-called Master Plan for Education, published in 2002, and the other was from Policy Analysis for California Education, or PACE, a multi-university think tank, that had been issued just weeks earlier.

The budget proposed to "move oversight authority of the management of" the state Department of Education and local districts under the California Board of Education.

Thus, without saying so directly, Newsom would strip the elected state superintendent of schools of managerial authority over the state Department of Education, relegating the officeholder to an ombudsman or advisor. Management would be vested in the Board of Education, which is appointed by the governor, and an appointed executive director.

"These changes will strengthen governance of California's education system to provide coherence and meaningful accountability to address the needs of students, parents, teachers, school staff, and administrators," the budget proposal declared.

The current superintendent, former state legislator Tony Thurmond, complained that he was not consulted about what would be a major overhaul of responsibility for a system that serves nearly 6 million students and is the largest single portion of the state budget.

"This governance proposal doesn't establish any structures proven to move the needle on student outcomes," Thurmond, who is running for governor, said, "and instead shifts authority to implement TK-12 education programs away from the official who California voters have elected to lead our state's public schools."

It's apparent that Newsom's administration had been laying the groundwork for the power shift — or power grab — long before the State of the State address. The PACE report issued in December was part of the process. It called for exactly what Newsom proposes.

"California's education governance system is a complex network of agencies and entities designed to serve the most diverse and expansive TK-12 population in the United States," the PACE report declared. "This system incorporates state, regional, and local levels of authority, each tasked with specific responsibilities and oversight. At its core, the structure seeks to balance statewide education goals with local control and accountability.

"However, its complexity often results in overlapping responsibilities, fragmented authority, and challenges in ensuring streamlined decision-making."

PACE issued a statement backing the change from Michael Kirst, the state's foremost academic authority on education and architect of the school finance overhaul, the Local Control Funding Formula enacted in 2012 under then-Gov. Jerry Brown.

Kirst called it "a new vision and a dramatic overhaul" that would address a 19th century governance structure.

"The lack of fundamental change since then has hindered education progress," he said.

Politics aside, Newsom's proposal would streamline governance that is now opaque and fragmented, and shields the system's many points of authority from accountability. However, by vesting almost total authority in the governor and his or her appointees, it will be more difficult for a governor to escape accountability if educational achievement, which now languishes, doesn't markedly improve.

Social Security Matters

About Claiming Social Security Early and Investing It

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am a 63-year-old single lady, and I have questions regarding Social Security "early retirement," though I will still be working full time.

I know there is a maximum allowable income limit and, if I exceed that, I will need to return probably 2/3 of my received Social Security benefit. I'm thinking about taking those early SS benefits (about $1,400 per month) and putting them in my high yield savings or CD where I can gain the interest on it and have it stay "liquid" so I can return what I need to. My current interest rate is 3.65% on the savings, and over 4.25% on CD, with options for 3,6,9 mos. or longer- but I want to be able to access the money to pay Social Security back at the end of the year. Can you advise me on this? Signed: Still Working but Wondering

Dear Still Working: I commend you, for investigating your options before claiming early Social Security benefits while still working. FYI, the 2026 annual earnings limit for those collecting early SS benefits is $24,480 (changes annually). If your 2026 work earnings exceed the annual limit, Social Security will take away $1 in benefits for every $2 you are over the limit. The annual earnings limit lasts until you reach your full retirement age (FRA), and the limit is about 2.5 times higher during the year you attain FRA.

FYI, when you apply for benefits, Social Security will ask if you are working and, if so, how much you make. Using that info, they will evaluate whether you can take benefits now and, if so, how many months they can actually pay your benefits. For example, if your projected 2026 earnings are, say, $100,000, you would be about $75,000 over the annual limit which means that half of that ($37,500) would need to be paid back to SS. Since your monthly SS benefit at your current age would be about $1,400 per month, Social Security will say that you are temporarily ineligible to collect early benefits because you cannot pay back within one year what you would owe for exceeding the limit. In other words, they won't pay your SS benefits just yet because your earnings are too high and they do not want to overpay benefits which you will only need to return.

For additional perspective, if your expected 2026 earnings are less (say about $50,000) — that means you would be about $25,000 over the limit — about half of that (about $12,500) would need to be paid back to SS. In that event, SSA would tell you they will withhold 9 months of your SS payments in advance and pay your benefits for only 3 months. This because the overpayment, with your current benefit of about $1,400, could be recovered by withholding your SS payments for 9 months. They do not want to intentionally overpay your SS benefits.

So, despite your best repayment intentions, Social Security will not favor intentionally overpaying your benefits. Historically, overpayment of benefits due to exceeding the annual earnings limit has been a notoriously difficult issue for the Social Security Administration. So, to get your early SS benefits while you are working full time, you would likely need to lie about your anticipated 2026 earnings on your application for SS benefits, which we strongly discourage. Keep in mind that this all changes when you reach your FRA (67), because the earning limit goes away entirely when you reach FRA (and the limit goes up by about 2.5 times in the year you attain full retirement age). So, depending on your earnings level, you may wish to either wait until your full retirement age, or until you stop working full time, to claim SS.

Now, as for the general idea of taking early benefits and investing them, many have said they wish to do that, and we understand that logic. Our caution is that it requires religious discipline to put the SS money into a higher yield investment vehicle to accomplish the goal of beating the SS increase realized when you wait to claim. Many who try it succumb to the temptation to use the invested funds for emergency needs (and sometimes non-emergency needs). I offer this only as something to be aware of, as some have shared that they failed in their investment objectives with their Social Security money.

Minnesota Officials Should Call Off The Mob

occupation." This mindset is why the elected leadership in the state has justified and encouraged a low-grade anti-ICE insurgency. It doesn't involve guns or bombs, but other tools of coercion and intimidation meant to make it impossible for the federal government to enforce the nation's immigration laws in the state.

ICE officers are operating among a hostile population, significant elements of which consider them an occupying force and are determined to expel them. This is "Free Palestine" for the anti-ICE crowd.

Apologists for the agitators say, as Ilhan Omar has maintained, that they are only recording ICE officers and holding them accountable. This is nonsense. The activists almost always have cameras, true, but they are obstructing ICE vehicles, yelling at ICE officers and, if the opportunity arises, trying to "de-arrest" people.

The point of all of this is to create an atmosphere of violent intimidation and make every step ICE takes in the city as painful as possible.

If this is the work of "legal observers," as the euphemism has it, the Proud Boys at the Robert E. Lee statue in Charlottesville in 2017 were just "historic preservationists."

Jacob Frey says that the activists are protecting their city and looking out for their neighbors. In no other context, though, would the mayor make this claim.

If, say, the FBI arrests gangbangers in Minneapolis, it's not an assault on the Twin Cities -- in fact, the opposite. As for neighbors, anyone arrested for any crime is someone's neighbor. Just because the guy stealing hub caps or dealing drugs lives in a neighborhood doesn't mean he gets legal immunity, or his neighbors get to try to prevent law enforcement from going after him.

Often, the "neighbors" that the activists are supposedly protecting, by the way, are other activists who have interfered with ICE and been detained.

In Trump's first term, "the resistance" was an over-the-top term that applied to the fervent opposition to Trump, including massive street protests that were obnoxious, but lawful. In Minnesota today, "the resistance" is a more apt phrase.

That's why the Insurrection Act is in play. It is an antiquated law with a vague trigger, allowing the president to use active-duty military forces and federalized National Guard troops to quell "unlawful obstructions, combinations or assemblages."

If Trump goes there, it would be a big deal. It would be better, first, to try to provide more protection for ICE officers with other law-enforcement assets and, better still, if Minnesota could turn off the anti-ICE insurgency.

Jacob Frey famously told ICE to "get the f out of Minneapolis." Now, he should tell the agitators to get the f off the streets.

DWR Finalizes Best Practices to Address Subsidence

Department of Water Resources News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Local groundwater agencies are getting a new resource to add to their water management toolkit – the Best Management Practices for Land Subsidence document newly released by the California Department of Water Resources (DWR). Finalized after months of development and a robust public review process, the document will serve as a guide for groundwater managers on the basics of subsidence, how to best manage it and available technical assistance.

Subsidence, or the sinking of land, is caused by various factors including excessive groundwater pumping. It is a long-standing water challenge in California and has caused permanent damage to canals, pipelines, roads and homes across the state. In 2025, Department of Water Resources released two reports concluding that subsidence has restricted the amount of water delivered to communities through California’s primary water storage and delivery systems – the State Water Project and the federal Central Valley Project.

The reports also cite that the impacts under California’s changing climate are expected to increase if excessive groundwater pumping continues, underlining the need for state and local officials to work together to protect the infrastructure that millions of Californians depend on for a reliable water supply.

“The effects of subsidence are reducing water supply reliability, jeopardizing public safety, and costing Californians hundreds of millions of dollars annually in damage repairs,” said Paul Gosselin, Department of Water Resources Deputy Director of Sustainable Water Management. “History shows that California’s local groundwater agencies have done a great job implementing strategies from previous best management practices released from the Department and we look forward to achieving the same outcome when it comes to subsidence.”

California Department of Water Resources’s Sustainable Groundwater Management Office installs new equipment to enhance the monitoring and understanding of land subsidence in California. The newly installed GPS station and remote sensing calibration equipment will be firmly anchored into the ground to ensure precise positioning and detect vertical movement of the Earth’s surface. Photo by Andrew Nixon / Department of Water Resources

Today’s document helps meet objectives set by the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA) to avoid or minimize current and future impacts of subsidence. Subsidence has been recorded in California for over 100 years, and its impacts vary across the state. The types of infrastructure that have been damaged as a result of subsidence or are at risk include water conveyance, flood control systems, roads, bridges, utilities and groundwater wells.

Despite some successful mitigation in certain areas, subsidence of 1 to 5 feet or more has been recorded in the Sacramento Valley and primarily the San Joaquin Valley over the past decade. If no action is taken to address subsidence, communities and statewide infrastructure will continue to be at risk.

In addition to this recent release, Department of Water Resources is actively exploring other methods to further

A drone view of newly installed equipment from the California Department of Water Resources’ Sustainable Groundwater Management Office to enhance the monitoring and understanding of land subsidence in California. understand and respond to subsidence. These efforts include installing several subsidence monitoring stations throughout the state to track sinking in the San Joaquin Valley and areas of Northern California, as well as expanding California’s data collection through a new satellite launched by NASA and the Indian Space Research Organisation in 2025.

The new data collected, combined with historical data that Department of Water Resources currently uses, will help water managers and decision makers make better-informed decisions by detecting any shifts caused by subsidence that could impact key infrastructure and jeopardize public safety.

Close management of California’s groundwater resources and subsidence is needed more than ever to protect water infrastructure that communities rely on now and in the future as we adapt to the ongoing challenges caused by climate change and extreme weather events. Department of Water Resources will continue to deliver the latest data, tools, and assistance to ensure that local agencies have the knowledge and resources to manage their groundwater basins for long-term sustainability.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On Wednesday, Jan. 21, the Rural County Representatives of California (RCRC) installed its 2026 Officers and presented its Rural Leadership Awards.

During a meeting of the Board of Directors, Assembly Member David Tangipa administered the official Oath of Office for the 2026 Rural County Representatives of California Officers. Mariposa County Supervisor Miles Menetrey was installed as Chair, Santa Barbara County Supervisor Bob Nelson as First Vice Chair, Napa County Supervisor Anne Cottrell as Second Vice Chair, and Modoc County Supervisor Geri Byrne as Immediate Past Chair. The newly installed 2026 Officers will lead the organization in championing policies on behalf of California’s rural counties.

“I am sincerely grateful for the opportunity to lead RCRC as Board Chair in 2026,” said Menetrey. “Building on the solid groundwork laid by past leaders, I am eager to join with fellow board members in advancing policies that strengthen rural communities and expand their opportunities. With collaboration, persistence, and a shared vision, we will continue striving for a prosperous and sustainable future for rural California.”

In the evening, at their annual reception in Sacramento, Rural County Representatives of California celebrated the new officers and presented its annual Rural Leadership Award to two public officials who have demonstrated exemplary leadership in rural issues and the unique challenges that rural communities face.

Assembly Member James Gallagher was honored as one of the two recipients of the Rural Leadership Award. Supervisor Byrne presented the award to the Assembly Member highlighting his steadfast advocacy on issues central to rural communities, including reducing insurance burdens, strengthening wildfire prevention and championing equitable infrastructure investment. His legislative work, such as efforts to support small volunteer fire departments, reflects a consistent commitment to addressing the unique needs and challenges faced by rural Californians.

“I’m truly honored to receive the RCRC Rural Leadership Award,” said Assembly Member James Gallagher. “I’ve been proud to be a voice for rural California in Sacramento, where too often one-size-fits-all policies overlook our unique needs, from dependable water supplies and wildfire resilience to cutting red tape that burdens our farmers and small businesses. I share this honor with the hardworking families of the Third District and look forward to continuing my partnership with RCRC to ensure rural California is heard and represented where it counts.”

Assembly Member Gregg Hart also received the Rural Leadership Award, presented to him at the event by Supervisor Nelson. Assembly Member Hart was recognized for his consistent accessibility to rural counties and his clear understanding of their needs, informed by his experience as a former county supervisor and his work on key legislative committees. He has championed legislation that strengthens local government capabilities, from emergency remote meetings to waste recycling and enforcement tools, demonstrating a strong commitment to supporting rural communities.

“I’m honored to be recognized by the Rural County Representatives of California,” said Assembly Member Gregg Hart. “As a former Santa Barbara County Supervisor, I understand how decisions made in Sacramento directly impact rural counties. From preserving agricultural land to enhancing public safety, I remain committed to working with local leaders to improve quality of life in rural communities.” ★

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond Announces Literacy Moonshot

California Department of Education News Release

CALIFORNIA (MPG) - State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond announced his literacy moonshot, a five-year plan to close the third-grade literacy gap. The plan contains key strategies that are proven to improve literacy and would represent the most significant investment and the first long-term plan for literacy in recent California history. The plan seeks to support all California students to achieve literacy by third grade.

Superintendent Thurmond’s literacy moonshot includes funding for dyslexia screening; high-impact tutoring, which has been shown by recent research from Stanford University to boost both achievement and attendance; family engagement; and specialized training and coaching to support those who teach students to read.

The plan also includes legislation sponsored by Superintendent Thurmond to make attending kindergarten mandatory for all five-year-olds across the state. This effort aligns with Superintendent Thurmond’s call to expand funding for the California Community Schools Partnership Program, which helps schools connect students and families to resources for health, mental health, and social services.

Superintendent Thurmond and the California Department of Education (CDE) are pursuing resources to implement the literacy moonshot with the Governor and the Legislature. For several years, California has made investments to improve literacy and has seen modest, steady growth in literacy rates as a result. California has never funded a comprehensive statewide plan as other states have, many of which have seen dramatic boosts in literacy as the result of a statewide, comprehensive approach.

Superintendent Thurmond and the California Department of Education intend to work with schools, community-based organizations, advocacy groups and parent organizations to carry out and measure impacts of the plan. ★

Single-Family Homes Making an Impact on Homelessness

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- You're a landlord, you need reliable renters. You fear expensive unit damage, late rent payments and turnover, leaving your unit empty and your pocket penniless. You hear about a government back master lease program that guarantees you timely rent, tenant relations and fixes any damage to the unit. Uniquely, this program shelters people experiencing homelessness -- people you see every day while driving around the streets of Sacramento -- people who are shunned, stereotyped and tragically-completely misunderstood.

You ask around the pool of other local landlords -- has anyone joined this unique master lease program? You find a few landlords with units in the Sacramento County Scattered-Site Shelter program. This program is funded through the county, but operated by the non-profit City Net.

City Net has a proven track record of successful street outreach, case management and shelter operations up and down California. The more research you do, the more intrigued you are that this program may be the solution you've been looking for. However, you cannot find this shelter model anywhere else in California or the country.

That's because it's, so far, a progressive and unique model Sacramento County started in 2017. The idea of master leasing single family homes was a solution to the lack of funding and space to build new shelters for people experiencing homelessness.

The scattered site model also allowed homeless outreach workers to provide options they never had before, including: the ability to move several people from a single encampment into a shared space, an interim housing solution that allows pets, partners and possessions to all shelter in one location, a step between living on the street and moving into permanent housing.

Several landlords said they like the program because it's a real solution to addressing homelessness and dependable income for them. A win-win. Photo by Paul Brennan from Pixabay

In 2017 the county didn't have tiny homes to offer as shelter. There were only congregate shelters, all of which were full, and few that were a desirable option for couples or people with adult family members or pets.

A funny thing happened when the county started diversifying shelter notions in ways that accommodated different sets of needs. People started saying "yes" to help. The more people said "yes" to options that met their needs, the more diverse the County's response to homelessness evolved.

The Scattered Site shelter program has seen adversity throughout the years. The previous operator, Sacramento Self Help Housing (SSHH), went bankrupt after a tumultuous year of money issues, including unpaid rent to landlords enrolled in the scattered site program. While the County rapidly hired a replacement operator, it broke yet another box -- direct payment of rent to landlords.

Brothers Karam and Roni have had two homes in the scattered site program since 2022. When Sacramento Self Help Housing stopped paying rent, they went five months without payment. Five months without income to pay their mortgages. With direct promises from the County for back payment and a more seamless operator coming on board, the brothers stayed in the program. Now, several years later, they're happy they did.

"Yes, we're happy to get rent on time every month. But we also like helping people that feel like they're on the bottom and just need help getting up."

said Karam.

The brothers also have one home in the traditional rental market. Roni speculates, "We're fortunate to have a great renter in that house that has been there a long time. Otherwise, we'd consider moving that house over a well."

A dozen landlords sit together at an appreciation event held by City Net; many of these landlords have been with the program for years, a few are recent recruits by fellow landlords. They intently listen to the purpose and mission of the program and of City Net as an organization. Several raise hands and ask about outcomes and services offered to participants.

The Scattered Site program has a 38 percent positive exit rate to permanent housing -- higher than any other sheltering program the County funds.

But City Net shares the successes of the program that are more than just outcomes; participants learn to live with roommates. In the most successful cases, these matches can move into permanent housing together when ready.

Everyone in the household, including the City Net employee placed as a house monitor, is responsible for shopping, cooking and cleaning.

Living in a house, in a neighborhood gives everyone the chance to integrate back into traditional society and learn to be a responsible roommate and a good neighbor.

When asked, several landlords said they like the program because it's a real solution to addressing homelessness and dependable income for them. A win-win.

SCPH Aligns with CDPH Guidance as Influenza Activity Increases

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Following state public health guidance, Sacramento County Public Health is urging residents to take steps now to protect themselves and their families as influenza cases and hospitalizations rise across California. The following information is pulled directly from a California Department of Public Health (CDPH) news release issued Jan. 13.

Flu cases and hospitalizations are rising with a new strain of influenza A, H3N2 subclade K, circulating in California. California Department of Public Health urges vaccination for everyone 6 months and older, rapid testing of patients with flu symptoms and immediate antiviral treatment for high-risk individuals.

The California Department of Public Health (CDPH) is alerting health care providers and the public that influenza (flu) activity and hospital admissions are increasing across the state. A newly emerged influenza A strain, H3N2 subclade K, is circulating globally and has been detected in California.

"Current seasonal flu vaccines remain effective at reducing severe illness and hospitalization, including the currently circulating viruses," said Dr. Erica Pan, California Department of Public Health Director and State Public Health Officer.

"It is important for families to know that flu vaccines, tests, and treatments remain widely available for all Californians and that it is not too late to get a flu vaccine. As a pediatrician, parent, and daughter, I have made sure that my own family is protected with this season's flu vaccine."

California Department of Public Health has also confirmed the second pediatric flu-associated fatality in California this season. Young children and older adults remain at highest risk for severe flu complications, and there are several ways for families to take action to protect their health.

TAKE ACTION

Everyone 6 months and older who has not yet received the 2025–26 influenza vaccine should get vaccinated as soon as possible. Vaccination is the best defense against severe influenza and hospitalization. To schedule your vaccine appointment, contact your health care provider, local pharmacy, or visit myturn.ca.gov.

Individuals with flu symptoms at risk for serious disease should check with their doctor to see if they should be tested in case they may benefit from treatment. At-home combined influenza/COVID-19 tests can be used when available.

High-risk and hospitalized patients with suspected flu should receive antiviral treatment without delay, even before test results are confirmed. Recommended treatments include oseltamivir or single-dose baloxavir, which reduce the risk of serious illness and hospitalization.

COVERAGE AND AVAILABILITY

Despite changes in federal recommendations, California Department of Public Health's recommended vaccines will continue to be covered by health care insurers regulated by the State of California and can be received at your local pharmacy, from your health care provider, or through other authorized vaccine providers at no cost. To schedule your vaccine appointment, contact your health care provider, local pharmacy or visit myturn.ca.gov.

RESOURCES

Visit the California Department of Public Health Respiratory Virus Dashboard for updates on influenza and other respiratory viruses. For healthcare providers, clinical guidance and resources is available at the California Department of Public Health Influenza Update webpage. The California Department of Public Health Flu Vaccine Toolkit is also available online and provides educational resources and downloadable materials about the benefits of the flu vaccine. For more information about flu prevention and vaccine eligibility, visit the California Department of Public Health Influenza webpage. ★

Community Efforts Help Prevent Human Trafficking

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- As part of an effort to make our community a safe place for all residents, Sacramento County is raising awareness about human trafficking. January is National Human Trafficking Awareness Month, and each year, the U.S. Department of State recognizes it as a way to raise awareness about this crime that impacts communities across the country.

Several of Sacramento County's community partners are dedicated to helping victims of human trafficking.

My Sister's House aids Asian and Pacific Islanders and other underserved women and children impacted by domestic violence, sexual assault and human trafficking.

The Family Justice Center helps victims during legal proceedings.

Other helpful resources and information include:

RTI International provides insight into information about sex trafficking by collecting and sharing data about the issue.

The National Human Trafficking Hotline allows people to report tips about suspicious activity they believe is connected to the crime.

We can all do our part to keep community members safe from human trafficking. Here are some ways we can all work to make a difference.

Learn the signs of human trafficking, which can include: multiple employees living with their employer, signs of physical abuse, a child living with someone who is not their parent, a relative or their legal assigned guardian, a person not having control of personal identification such as a driver's license or passport, and a child under the legal working age telling you they are forced to work.

If you are in the United States and believe someone may be a victim of human trafficking, call the 24-hour National Human Trafficking Hotline at 1-888-373-7888. If there is an immediate emergency, always call 911.

Become a mentor to a teen, young adult or someone in need. Traffickers may target children or adults who are going through a difficult time, do not have stable housing, or do not have a support system.

Get involved with a local organization that fights human trafficking, like one of the groups listed above.

Take time to learn more about the warning signs and how to report human trafficking by visiting the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration Website.

Sacramento County is dedicated to addressing human trafficking through awareness, education and action. We can all work together to prevent human trafficking and provide hope to those recovering from this crime. ★

Republic FC Bolsters Frontline with Striker Kyle Edwards

Sacramento Republic FC News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento Republic FC announced Jan. 15 that the Club has acquired forward Kyle Edwards from Hartford Athletic via transfer. Edwards has also signed a new contract with Republic FC and will be added to the team's roster pending league and federation approval.

"Kyle is a proven goalscorer in our league who has shown he can make an impact when he steps on the pitch," said Republic FC Head Coach Neill Collins. "We're looking forward to bringing him on board and introducing him to our incredible fanbase."

Edwards added, "I'm grateful for the opportunity to represent this amazing club and I can't wait to get started."

Edwards comes to the Indomitable City following a three-season stint in Hartford. His breakout came in 2025, when he led Athletic with 12 goals – a new club single-season record – while setting a league record with eight goals as a substitute. His strike rate of 0.95 goals per 90 minutes was the best mark by a player with at least 10 goals since 2020, earning him three Team of the Week selections. He also added three assists to help Hartford win its first trophy in the club's history.

The 28-year-old forward was drafted

86th overall in the 2020 MLS SuperDraft by Houston Dynamo FC and spent his first two seasons with Rio Grande Valley FC, Dynamo's reserve side in USL Championship. With RGV, he recorded six goals and two assists in 25 appearances. In 2022, he joined MLS NEXT Pro side Houston Dynamo 2 and in 13 appearances scored five goals and two assists. He also previously featured for USL League Two side Brazos Valley Cavalry FC in 2019 when he claimed a share of the Golden Boot with 14 goals.

Edwards' college career took him to Ranger College and the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley. Across his four seasons, he amassed 51 goals in 57 appearances.

On the international stage, Edwards has been a regular on the roster for the St. Vincent and the Grenadines National Football Team, making over 30 appearances and adding six goals.

Republic FC's 2026 season officially kicks off on March 7 when the club hosts FC Tulsa at Heart Health Park. Season ticket memberships are on sale now, offering a range of benefits including discounts on merchandise and access to exclusive fan experiences, as well as priority seat selection in the new Republic Stadium at The Railyards. For more information, or to purchase a membership today, visit SacRepublicFC.com/Memberships. ★

Former Aggies Named to Hall of Fame

UC Davis Athletics News Release

IRVING, TX (MPG) - A pair of former Aggies have joined the ranks of some of the best in the history of college football, with Cal Aggie Athletics Hall of Famer Chris Petersen and Gary Patterson both being named to the College Football Hall of Fame as part of its Class of 2026.

"The legacy of coaching and leadership from the UC Davis tree can be seen all over the football world," said current head coach Tim Plough. "When someone refers to you as a 'Davis Guy' you wear that as a badge of honor. You know that it means you're a part of something bigger than you."

"I have always had a great deal of respect and admiration for coach Patterson and coach Petersen has been instrumental in mentoring me in my coaching career. I'm excited to see them both recognized for their incredible careers."

Petersen came to Davis in 1985, spending his final two seasons under center for the Aggies. Once his playing career wrapped up, the eventual multi-Coach of the Year honoree then transitioned to the sideline where he began his coaching career at Davis. From 1987-91, Petersen coached under College Football Hall of Famer Jim Sochor and Cal Aggie Athletics Hall of Famer Bob Foster.

The Aggie quarterback would then go on to have tremendous success at Boise State and Washington, going 147-38 over 14 seasons at those two programs. During that stretch Petersen won 10 games or more ten times in all but four seasons led teams to seven conference titles, 14 bowl appearances and nine final AP Top 25 finishes, including three top five marks.

Patterson came to Davis early in his career, coaching the linebacker corps under coach Sochor in 1986. The lessons learned in Davis would eventually lead Patterson to Fort Worth, Texas and the TCU Horned Frogs where he would spend 22 years going 181-79 with 18 bowl appearances and a perfect 13-0 2010 season.

The Horned Frogs, led by Patterson, capped off their 2010 undefeated season by winning the 2011 Rose Bowl to go along with 11 bowl game victories that also included the 2010 Fiesta Bowl and 2024 Peach Bowl. Patterson also coached 21 First Team All-Americans and won six conference championships across three different conferences.

UC Davis, the No. 2 ranked public university by the Wall Street Journal, is home to 40,000 undergraduate students and 12,000 employees. Baron Championship Rings Named Official Partner of UC Davis Athletics

UC Davis Athletics News Release

DAVIS, CA (MPG) - UC Davis Athletics has elevated its championship experience with the announcement of a new partnership with Baron Championship Rings as the Official Championship Ring Partner of UC Davis Athletics. The three-year agreement establishes Baron as the exclusive provider of championship rings for UC Davis Athletics, granting the company sole rights to use UC Davis Athletics marks on championship rings, Hall of Fame rings and any varsity ring program.

"Partnering with Baron Championship Rings allows us to celebrate Aggie Pride by honoring the achievements of our student-athletes, coaches and Hall of Fame members in a truly meaningful way," said Dr. Heather Hunter, Executive Director, Aggie Varsity Club. "This partnership also gives our letterwinners, past and present, the opportunity to commemorate their UC Davis student-athlete experience with a varsity ring that reflects their commitment and legacy."

As part of the partnership, Baron will collaborate closely with Aggie programs to design and produce custom pieces that reflect the pride and tradition of UC Davis Athletics, while also providing up to five complementary Hall of Fame rings each year to recognize inductees whose achievements have shaped the legacy of Aggie Athletics.

"Baron Championship Rings is incredibly proud to partner with UC Davis Athletics as their Official Championship Ring Provider," said Kevin Kloostr, Baron Championship Rings Senior Account Executive. "The Aggies have a rich tradition of excellence, and we're honored to help commemorate the achievements of their student-athletes with rings that celebrate their hard work, dedication and legacy. We look forward to creating meaningful pieces that will be treasured for years to come."

Baron specializes in producing customized, highly crafted rings for collegiate and professional sports programs, with a process focused on storytelling, precision and the championship journey. Through this partnership, UC Davis student-athletes, coaches and Hall of Fame honorees will have access to a collaborative design experience that highlights the values and history of Aggie Athletics.

The first programs to work with Baron under the new partnership will be men's water polo and women's volleyball, both of which captured Big West titles this fall. The Aggie men's water polo team earned the Big West Tournament Championship, securing the conference crown with a dominant postseason run. At the same time, the women's volleyball program claimed the Big West regular season title behind a historic year on the court. Each team will collaborate with Baron to design custom championship rings that reflect the unique identity of their program and celebrate the student-athletes who helped deliver conference titles to Davis. The ring design process will highlight the journey, achievements and traditions that define both championship seasons, setting the standard for future Aggie programs and earning their place in UC Davis Athletics history.

The agreement reflects UC Davis Athletics' commitment to celebrating student-athlete success and the moments that define the Aggie experience on campus, in competition and throughout the alumni community.

Women's Basketball Wins Third Straight

Sacramento State Athletics News Release

FLAGSTAFF, AZ (MPG) -

Sophomore guard Rubi Gray posted her first career double-double with a career-high tying 26 points and 11 rebounds, while Benthe Versteeg and Natalie Picton also finished in double figures, helping lead Sacramento State to its third-straight victory with a 78-59 win at Northern Arizona on Thursday, Jan. 15 in Flagstaff, Arizona.

The Hornets moved above the .500 mark with their ninth victory of the year, improving to 9-8 overall and 3-1 in Big Sky Conference play. The triumph gave Sacramento State its third, three-game winning streak of the season, while the three-straight wins in Big Sky play is the longest such streak since Feb. 8-15, 2024.

In winning three of their first four league games, the Hornets are off to their best conference start since they began the 2022-23 Big Sky campaign with four straight wins. Meanwhile, Sacramento State snapped a four-game skid in the series with the Lumberjacks, winning for only the ninth time in 31 chances in Flagstaff.

Led by a team-high 17 points from Naomi White, Northern Arizona fell to 6-12 overall and 2-3 in conference.

Gray's 26-point outburst matched her career high set against Cal State Fullerton on Nov. 21, nabbing her fourth 20-point performance of the year while setting new career marks for rebounds and three-pointers made (six). Her 10 field goals for the game fell just one shy of her career high in the category.

She was joined in double figures by Versteeg, who tied her season highs with 18 points and eight field goals while narrowly missing out on her third double-double of the year, finishing with nine rebounds to go with four assists.

Picton completed the double-digit trio, adding 14 points for her 12th double-digit scoring performance of the year — and her third straight — while adding five rebounds, three assists and swiping four balls to log her 14th game this season with multiple steals.

Freshman Jaety Mandaquit added a career-high six assists to go with three points and four rebounds, while junior Elizabeth Abiara added seven rebounds and a pair of blocks.

Following a slow start that saw both teams struggle to find their shooting rhythm, the Hornets erased a four-point deficit with a 6-0 run that gave them their first lead of the night at 11-9 with 1:03 to play. The Lumberjacks drained a three-pointer just before the first quarter buzzer to regain the lead, but the advantage would be short-lived.

Sacramento State opened the second quarter on a 10-0 run over the first 94 seconds of the period, building a nine-point lead that it would not relinquish. Northern Arizona got no closer than six points on its next possession following the run, but another burst — this a 12-3 run by the Hornets over the next four minutes — gave them a 15-point lead with 3:05 remaining and they never looked back.

A 13-point lead at half-time ballooned to as many as 20 points on a couple of occasions late in the third quarter and Sacramento State never allowed Northern Arizona to get closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

The hot-shooting Hornets hit just over 49 percent from the field for the game and finished with a season-high 11 makes from beyond the arc. Meanwhile, the defense was stout, holding the Lumberjacks to just under 35 percent for the game, 27 percent from three-point range overall, and outrebounding the host side by a 49-24 count. ★

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Did you know that Citrus Heights, which was then known as Sylvan, had its own movie theater in 1915, or that it almost had light rail at its doorstep?

Neither did I. Residents are invited to learn more about the history of Citrus Heights you never knew at the upcoming quarterly meeting of the Citrus Heights Historical Society (CHHS) taking place 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 5 at Citrus Heights City Hall, 6360 Fountain Square Drive in a free public presentation. Light refreshments will be served.

The event will uncover the rich history of the historic Florida Inn, the "Ladies in White" of the original Citrus Heights Fire Department and other fascinating topics the details of which recently came to light as a result of recent research conducted by the society, said its president, Larry Fritz.

"It's amazing what comes up when you scratch just a little below the surface," Fritz said.

While the physical site of the Florida Inn may be lost to time, it's still preserved in a series of sepia-tinted photographs which the Citrus Heights Historical Society now has in its archival collection.

The Florida Inn, once the scene of a popular, bustling 1920s restaurant, inn and service station, was located on corner of Auburn Boulevard and Greenback Lane, now the site of several gas stations and convenience stores, just before Interstate 80.

The inn wasn't far from two U.S. Army Air Corps airfields, McClellan and Mather, whose base population grew rapidly with the onset of the second World War.

Owners Henry and Ann Coldani, who opened the inn in 1926, became known in the local area for selling their half-portion fried chicken for just 49 cents.

Henry served as the cook and his wife was the business manager, Fritz said.

Fritz said older residents of Citrus Heights, or their descendants, who lived near the site in the early 1960s before its demolition may still have photographs or keepsakes from the old Florida Inn. If they do, the Society would certainly like to preserve them.

The Citrus Heights Historical Society was first formed in 1991 to preserve and promote the history of Citrus Heights, Fritz said.

Through its partnership with the Sunrise Recreation and Parks District (SRPD), the Society opens the Historic Rusch Home to the public several times a year to showcase local history.

"The CHHS conducted tours of the home last year in conjunction with the Sunrise Recreation and Park District's 75th Anniversary event," Fritz said.

The anniversary event resulted in a break from Sunday Funday, an annual community tradition that previously filled Rusch Park with family-friendly run. The Sunrise Recreation and Park District paused the event last year to instead focus on celebrating their 75th anniversary since the events would fall close together.

"We have not discussed what we might do this year or in the future without the annual Sunday Funday celebration in Rusch Park," Fritz said.

Fritz said tours of the historic Rusch Home were well received when held in conjunction with a larger event.

"I am not sure if the home itself is enough of a draw to cause people alone to come visit it," Fritz said.

Fritz said the Society is seeking feedback from residents such as what historical topics they are interested in, and what ideas they may have for celebrating the history of the Rusch Home.

The following quarterly member presentation of the historical society is set to take place at 6 p.m. May 7 in the Citrus Heights City Hall and will focus on discussing water in Citrus Heights history.

Members of the Citrus Heights Historical Society (CHHS) share a love of local history of and the people, places and experiences which reflect the community we call home.
