Marking Sutter County Where Our History Happened

SUTTER, CA (MPG) - The stories were already there, written into the landscape of Sutter County, waiting to be brought into view. On March 25, Sutter Union High School Future Business Leaders of America gave those stories a voice, anchoring them in the places where they happened.

Garrett Fremd, chapter vice-president, guided visitors through Landmarks of Legacy, a network of permanent historical markers installed at sites across the county.

Each location is identified by a student-designed sign, set in metal frames and anchored in concrete, intended to remain in place for decades and create a self-guided tour for the public.

"This isn't just something we built for a competition," Fremd said. "It's something that's going to stay here. People are going to walk through this and understand what came before them."

At the former Sacramento Northern Railway depot in Sutter, now repurposed in the parking lot of Close Lumber, Fremd introduced the site before turning to the history behind it.

The tracks are gone, but the line once connected Yuba City, Meridian, Colusa and Live Oak, moving people and freight through an electric rail system that predated modern highways. Known originally as the Northern Electric, the railway ran on a three-rail system, with a center "hot rail" supplying power, before converting to diesel in the early 1940s.

Council Reviews Development Progress, Smoking Rules

By Shaunna Boyd

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Marysville City Council received an update on community development efforts and discussed potential changes to the city's smoking ordinance during its March 17 meeting.

Community and Economic Development Director Dan Flores told council members that long-discussed plans are now taking shape, describing a shift from ideas to measurable progress.

"For years, many things that we talked about in Marysville were just ideas, or plans, or concepts," Flores said. "What's different today is that more of those things are becoming visible, they're becoming measurable and they're becoming real."

Flores said recent council actions have helped drive that progress, contributing to increased private investment and a changing perception of the city. Over the past three years, Marysville has seen more than $52 million in private investment, including more than $17 million in the past year.

He said development activity is increasing across multiple sectors, including hospitality, retail, housing, healthcare and commercial improvements. In that same three-year period, the city issued 282 new business licenses.

Flores said the city's strategy has focused on creating conditions that encourage investment by reducing barriers, supporting local businesses, attracting new ones and building strong partnerships.

He also pointed to the completion of the city's General Plan, which he said will guide long-term growth.

"It's growth that's being guided by leadership," Flores said.

Infrastructure improvements to streets and facilities are also part of that effort, signaling that the city is preparing for future development.

The council also reviewed possible updates to Marysville's municipal code regulating smoking and tobacco use. Current regulations were adopted in 1986 and last amended in 1993.

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Hundreds of community members, local officials and business leaders gathered for what the Yuba-Sutter Chamber of Commerce described as its largest ribbon-cutting event to date, celebrating the opening of the Sutter County Office of Education's new Career Training and Conference Center on March 25.

The 38,000-square-foot facility, located at 875 Harter Parkway in Yuba City, brings a wide range of workforce development and education programs under one roof, offering expanded access to career training and support services for both students and adults.

"This is a big day not just for me, but for all of you," Sutter County Superintendent of Schools Tom Reusser said during the ceremony. "This is about community. It's about jobs. It's about programs for students to improve their lives and be productive in this world."

Reusser said the $25 million facility houses multiple programs, including adult education, One Stop, the Tri-County Regional Occupational Program and the county's Career Training Center. Offerings include medical assisting, certified nursing assistant training, phlebotomy and dental assisting, as well as high school

Marking Sutter County

marks sites including the train depot, Butte House Road, the Sutter Buttes, Long Bridge, Sutter Cemetery, the Butte Slough School in Meridian and Sunsweet Growers in Yuba City, each selected for its role in shaping the region.

From the start, Fremd said the goal was to take places people pass every day and make them visible again.

“We wanted people to actually see it, not just read it,” he said. “If you stand here and hear the story, it sticks with you.”

That work was shared across the team. FBLA officers Scarlett Ocheltree and Dominique Madrigal were among those rotating through presentations, speaking at multiple stops and guiding visitors through different parts of the project.

At Sutter Cemetery, the story turned to the people behind the history. One of the oldest and largest cemeteries in the county, it holds generations of residents, including veterans honored each year, Dolly Gray, an early 20th century left-handed Major League Baseball pitcher, and 14 unidentified victims of serial killer Juan Vallejo Corona, placed in a single grave and memorialized so they would not be forgotten.

At Butte House Road, the history focused on movement. Students described how the route once carried Native American tribes and later stagecoaches across one of the few elevated paths through land that flooded each winter.

At the Sutter Buttes, students shifted the focus to the landscape itself, tracing the mountain range from its origins as a dormant volcano to its use by the Maidu people and later periods of settlement and Cold War activity.

The marker at that site was sponsored by Sutter County Supervisor Jeff Boone, who joined the tour and listened as students and Fremd presented.

“What stands out is the ownership,” Boone said. “They’re not just repeating information. They understand it, and they’re passing it on.”

At the Butte Slough School site in Meridian, students described early rural education in Sutter County, when one-room schoolhouses served families spread across farming communities. The site, located on private property, reflects a time when students of different ages learned together and the schoolhouse often served as a gathering place for the surrounding community.

“There was a potbelly stove in the middle for heat, and a single tin cup that all the students shared for water,” Fremd said.

At Long Bridge, the focus turned to connection. The crossing once carried commerce across Butte Slough, linking communities in a region where flooding could isolate entire areas.

Board of Supervisors Chairman Mike Ziegenmeyer spoke at the bridge about restoring the historic crossing for public use.

“I’d love to see this open again someday for people to walk and bike across,” he said. “It would bring Sutter and Colusa back together.”

Ziegenmeyer said efforts like the Landmarks of Legacy project play an important role in preserving local history, ensuring future generations understand how those connections were first built.

The project also includes a marker at a Sunsweet grower site, recognizing the cooperative’s role in shaping the region’s agricultural identity. Though not included in the shortened tour, the site reflects the project’s broader scope, connecting the county’s past to the industry that continues to define it today.

The Landmarks of Legacy project reflects months of work, from research at the Sutter County Museum to writing, design and installation of the markers. Students worked alongside campus programs and community partners to complete each site.

The same day as the tour, students learned their project ranked among the top eight in the state. Next comes a live presentation before judges, where three students will present and answer questions about every part of the work. If successful, the team will advance to national competition in San Antonio.

FFA advisors Laurie Gidel and Katie Zwissig guided the project while allowing students to take the lead. During the tour, Zwissig recognized Fremd’s leadership, presenting him with a plaque.

“This project started with Garrett’s vision,” Zwissig said. “He saw what this could be and stayed with it all the way through.”

The markers now stand across Sutter County, giving people a reason to stop, look and understand the stories that have always been there.

“This is something the community can connect to, because it’s their history,” Fremd said.

The project was supported by a network of community partners, including Yuba City Rotary, Sutter and Peach Bowl Lions and Early Risers Kiwanis, who joined the tour and helped make the effort possible. ★

Sutter County Opens Pediatric Therapy Unit

Story and photos by Shamaya Sutton

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - For the first time, families in Sutter County no longer have to travel outside the county to access specialized pediatric therapy services. Local officials and healthcare providers gathered March 26 to celebrate the opening of a new Medical Therapy Unit through California Children's Services (CCS), marking a significant shift in care for children with chronic and complex medical needs.

"This is the first time Sutter County has had its own medical therapy unit within county borders," said Sarah Ludwick, a nursing supervisor with Sutter County Public Health. "Before, families had to travel to Wheatland, which made it difficult to access services."

Previously, Sutter County shared a therapy unit with Yuba County at Virginia School in Wheatland, relying on shared staffing resources.

"We were sharing a unit with Yuba County and relying on their physical therapist, but that position had been vacant for about 10 years," Ludwick said. "So our children weren't receiving physical or occupational therapy directly through CCS."

Instead, families were often referred to outside providers, creating additional barriers to care.

"Those aren't always pediatric-specific and often have long waitlists," she said. "Children could wait months for services or not receive therapy as frequently as prescribed."

Hosted at Feather River Academy in Yuba City, the new unit was created by renovating former classroom spaces into specialized treatment areas designed to support mobility, development and daily living skills. This also includes the Medical Therapy Program within CCS, which operates out of units like the one opened in Yuba City, providing services prescribed by a physician.

"This is medical therapy. It's not educationally based," said Bob Morgan of the Sutter County Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA). "The idea is to provide services on a school campus so families can access therapy more easily, but the services themselves are medical."

In addition to therapy,

Dawn Kershner, a physical therapy assistant at Sutter County's new Medical Therapy Unit, works with patient Aleena during a therapy session at the newly opened facility in Yuba City on March 26. The unit marks the first time Sutter County families can access these services locally.

the program provides specialized equipment to support children's independence and mobility. This enables families to try things out before making a big purchase or experiment with what works best for their child's specific needs.

"Now that the program is embedded here, we're able to get children in quicker, complete evaluations sooner and provide more consistent care," Ludwick said. "Right now we're seeing about nine children, but that number is steadily increasing. Our total CCS caseload is around 600, and about 55 of those are part of the Medical Therapy Program."

For staff working directly with patients, the new space is already making a noticeable difference.

"I'm so excited about this space," said Dawn

Kershner, a physical therapy assistant at the unit. "When families come in, the children just light up. What child doesn't love a big space? They come in, they play, they make a mess and they're having a great time."

Kershner said the environment not only benefits patients but also improves day-to-day operations for staff.

"It's a fun space, especially for pediatric care," she said. "Everything is easy. The layout, the parking, the setup. It makes it a great place to work and a great place for families to come." ★ completion and continuing education courses.

For Reusser, the completion of this project has been years in the making. Portions of the property were first acquired in 2012 and 2015, but the vision did not begin moving forward until after he took office in 2018. To make the project feasible, the county consolidated resources and shifted away from leasing multiple sites.

"About three years ago, we said, 'We've got to get this done,'" Reusser said. "We were paying about $50,000 a month in rent, so it made more sense to invest in our own building and consolidate everything in one place."

Previously spread across four separate locations, programs are now centralized, allowing staff and administrators to collaborate more efficiently while improving access for participants.

"This really is a one-stop shop," Reusser said. "If someone needs career training, on-the-job training, resume help or interview preparation, they can get it all here."

While the center primarily serves adult learners, it also supports high school students through Regional Occupational Program courses, including cosmetology and healthcare pathways. Looking ahead, Reusser said he hopes to expand programming to meet workforce demands, particularly in healthcare and first responder fields.

"There's a big need in the medical field, so adding something like a paramedic program would be a natural next step," he said.

Yuba City Mayor Marc Boomgaarden said the facility represents a major investment not only for the city, but for the broader region.

"We're proud to have this facility in Yuba City and know it will benefit not just the city, but the entire region," Boomgaarden said. "It's a beautiful building and a testament to everyone who helped make it happen."

As the ceremony concluded, Reusser reflected on the scale of the new space with a touch of humor, noting that the expansive facility would be a great place to play hide-and-seek. ★

Pacific Coast Producers Acquires Del Monte Fruit Assets

By MPG Staff

LODI, CA (MPG) - Pacific Coast Producers has completed its purchase of key Del Monte Foods assets tied to its fruit business, the company announced.

The transaction includes Del Monte's canned fruit and fruit cup assets, along with rights in the United States, Mexico and Puerto Rico to license and use the Del Monte and S&W brands for shelf-stable fruit products.

Company officials said the deal strengthens operations for the Lodi-based agricultural cooperative and its network of growers.

"The completion of this transaction is a significant event for our grower owners and for our company," said Matt Strong, president and CEO of Pacific Coast

Producers. "We will carry on our mission of producing and providing healthy and economically packaged fruit products to the U.S. consumer."

Strong said the company plans to continue producing products under the Del Monte brand while maintaining established quality standards.

Aaron Smith, vice president of field operations, said the company has increased purchases of West Coast fruit to meet demand and support growers.

"We are committed to a viable agricultural community in our state," Smith said. "We have increased our purchases of west coast fruit in order to provide adequate supply to our customers and will maintain the quality consumers expect."

Pacific Coast Producers is a cooperative of about 160 family farmers based in Northern California. The company operates production facilities in California and Oregon and employs more than 4,000 workers.

Founded in 1971, the cooperative focuses on producing packaged fruit products while maintaining grower ownership and control.

Company officials did not disclose financial terms of the transaction. ★

Chico's Beeman Named Woman of the Year

By Shamaya Sutton

CHICO, CA (MPG) - Assemblyman James Gallagher has named Chico resident Jeanie Beeman as the 2026 Woman of the Year for Assembly District 3, recognizing her for a widely shared viral moment and her commitment to civility and community.

Beeman drew national attention in 2025 after a video filmed at her workplace showed her calmly responding to a customer who confronted her over a political T-shirt referencing conservative commentator Charlie Kirk. The video circulated widely online, garnering millions of views and sparking conversations about respectful discourse in public spaces.

Gallagher said Beeman's response stood out as an example of composure and principle.

"We need more Jeanie Beemans in America," Gallagher said. "People who stand for what they believe in and do so with civility and decency still matter, and Jeanie is a great example of that."

Beeman was formally honored March 16 at the State Capitol as part of the California State Assembly's annual Woman of the Year recognition, which highlights women from across the state for their contributions to their communities.

According to Gallagher's office, Beeman is a longtime Chico resident and lifelong Californian who has spent much of her life in the Central Valley. She has worked at Target for 23 years and is a mother of two, grandmother of five and great-grandmother of one.

Beyond the viral moment that brought her national visibility, Beeman has also been active in suicide prevention efforts following the loss of her husband of 40 years, reflecting a continued commitment to supporting others through personal hardship.

Gallagher also emphasized the broader message behind Beeman's recognition.

"She turned a moment that could have gone badly into an example of how we should treat each other," he said. "Even when people are rude or we strongly disagree, we can still choose kindness."

The Woman of the Year designation is awarded annually by members of the State Assembly, with each legislator selecting an honoree from their district. ★

Yuba City Police Release Shooting Footage

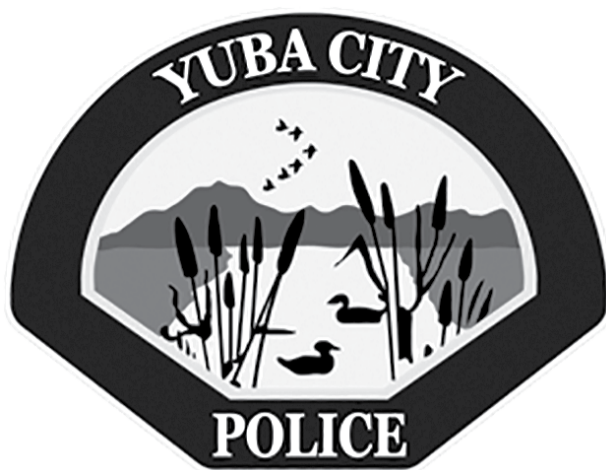

By MPG Staff

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Yuba City police have released body camera and 911 audio footage from a Feb. 26 officer-involved shooting involving a man authorities said was acting erratically and later armed himself with a shovel.

The incident occurred around 9:16 a.m. near Wild River Drive and Rapid Falls Drive, according to a narrated video released by Yuba City Police Chief Jim Runyen.

Police said multiple 911 callers reported a naked man running through the neighborhood near a dog park and behaving erratically. Additional callers reported that the same individual allegedly assaulted a family member and forced entry into a residence by ramming the front door with his head.

Officers identified the man as 31-year-old Guillermo Figueroa. Two officers responded to the area and located him, leading to a brief foot pursuit. Police said Figueroa initially surrendered in the front yard of a nearby home but became combative as officers attempted to take him into custody.

Body camera footage shows officers giving repeated commands for Figueroa to get on the ground while attempting to restrain him. Police said officers used less-lethal options, including a Taser and baton, but were unable to subdue him.

The situation escalated when Figueroa moved into a backyard, where police said he armed himself with a shovel and swung it at officers multiple times.

"As a result, an officer-involved shooting occurred," Runyen said in the video narration.

Police said Figueroa continued to resist after being shot before officers took him into custody. Officers provided emergency medical aid at the scene before he was transported to a Sacramento-area hospital, where he remained in critical but stable condition, according to police.

Runyen said the department released the footage as part of its commitment to transparency. He added that body-worn camera footage provides a limited perspective and may not capture everything officers experienced during the incident.

The video contains graphic images and strong language, and viewer discretion is advised. The investigation remains ongoing and will include a review of evidence and statements from officers and witnesses, police said. ★ areas to include parks and recreational facilities, adding electronic smoking devices and cannabis to the ordinance, prohibiting smoking at city-sponsored events and establishing buffer zones near public areas.

City Manager Jim Schaad said enforcement would focus primarily on education and voluntary compliance, with police involvement used selectively.

Councilmember Stuart Gilchrist suggested enforcement should be complaint-driven or applied in cases involving a nuisance.

Councilmember Brad Hudson raised concerns about personal freedoms and potential impacts on businesses, particularly those that serve alcohol.

Mayor Chris Branscum said he understood both the public health concerns and the potential effects on businesses, adding that reviewing state regulations would help guide future decisions.

During public comment, one speaker urged stronger protections, saying children should not be exposed to secondhand smoke in public spaces.

Staff will return with a revised proposal at a future meeting, with a possible vote expected in April.

Separately, the council voted 4-0, with Vice Mayor Bruce Buttacavoli absent, to move forward with an application for $3.3 million in federal Community Development Block Grant funding. If awarded, the funds would support the East Marysville Streets Rehabilitation Project.

The April 7 council meeting has been recessed. The next regular meeting is scheduled for April 21. ★

Spring is "springing out all over". The red bud is at its peak on the hill, plenty of poppies and lupines along the road and the dogwood is budding. The offerings at the nurseries are so colorful; the drive into town is gorgeous. I am still not planting tomatoes and peppers, yet, though.

Our first Bingo and More afternoon went well. We hope to double the attendance, though. A couple of people wanted to play poker, but there was just not enough interest. The pool balls got stuck somewhere down in the pool table, but the Bingo went well. Several people won more than once. There was a 50/50 raffle, a bake sale and a potato bar. All in all we made it through our first "go" and look forward to our second one: April 18. We plan to continue having them on the 3rd Saturday of the month from 3:00 to 5:00. There are many other activities offered: jigsaw puzzles, games and art ideas. Check your calendar.

The Farmers' Markets will be starting up soon. Dobbins-Oregon House's first day is April 18 from 10:00 - 2:00. We have not heard from the Brownsville Market yet, but I saw them weed eating last week. We look forward to fresh produce as well as some home made items: baked goods, crafts and more.

Is April's Sunday Breakfast on your calendar: April 12? These activities let Next Step help people make their "next step" toward their goal. There are stipends available, so stop by Books & More and check it out.

Look Back in Time - In 1925 construction began at Beever Ranch creating a resort with a 15-room hotel, 50 cottages, a swimming pool and golf course. They even planned a dance hall. (sure no evidence of that now, the meadow is full of wildflowers).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

This Month In Your Garden

by Jeff Rice

BALD MOUNTAIN NURSERY

6195 BALD MOUNTAIN ROAD • BROWNS VALLEY, CA • 530-743-4856

Now is a good time to get your vegetable garden prepped for planting. Watch temperatures closely when getting ready to plant your vegetable garden. April is a good time for it but sometimes early April still brings some very cold nights. Keep in mind that the night time temperatures should be at a consistent 50 degrees to sustain the best growth. Seeds that have been planted should be fine, but small plants can be stunted by cold nights. Many people feel that April is a late start, but that is an opinion, not a fact. Monitor the night time temperatures for a few nights and make your decision. There are lots of microclimates in our area, depending on whether you are up on the hill or in a valley where the cold is more apt to settle - the difference in temperatures can be significant. Traditionally, the consensus was to wait till May because of the almost inevitable late cold spell that is apt to come along and freeze the small plants making it necessary to start all over again. That has changed over the years and now April is usually when most get their vegetable gardens in, but waiting till May is not too late.

If you planted any fruit trees during bare root season or recently purchased any in containers, this is just a reminder that the tree trunk should be painted with white water based paint from the ground up to the first limbs to protect them from sunburn. Dilute the paint with water by 50%. Sunburn can cause the young, still thin bark to crack creating a possible entrance for pests, and failure of the tree do to splitting between the graft and the trunk of the tree. As we get into the hot weather, the young trees will need a good, deep watering one to two times a week, depending on how hot it is. This is very important to help them develop deep roots to become healthy trees. A quick watering every day or so will develop shallow roots that will not be able to sustain them well as they grow larger. This actually applies to any trees you may plant - especially with the hot weather that we know is coming along. Roots seek the water wherever it is.

Be sure to start spraying roses with a rose fungicide. With as wet as it has been this year, it will be a bad year for black spot and powdery mildew on your roses. Spraying with a fungicide before it starts helps to keep it away. If it gets started it's harder to cure than if you can prevent it.

Now is the time to start fertilizing trees and shrubs. An all-purpose fertilizer works for nearly all the plants in the landscape. Citrus trees need a citrus fertilizer. Roses will benefit from a rose food but all-purpose fertilizer works well on them too. Fertilize roses regularly. They are heavy feeders. You can use a systemic rose food to control aphids as well as feeding them.

Citrus trees are available and have been blooming and soon the very small fruit will be seen in their place. They are probably no longer in need of protection from cold weather, but be ready to protect them should some freezing weather be predicted. Citrus trees should be fertilized regularly to keep them nice and green. If they begin to have yellow leaves with green veins they should be given some chelated iron.

Spear Graduates FBI National Academy

MPG Staff

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Yuba County Sheriff's Office is recognizing Capt. Brandon Spear following his graduation from the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Virginia. Spear completed the 297th session of the academy, graduating March 18. The program is considered one of the most prestigious professional development opportunities in law enforcement, with fewer than 1% of officers selected nationwide to attend.

The National Academy provides 10 weeks of advanced training in leadership, communication and physical fitness. Participants are typically experienced officers with established records of service; on average, attendees have more than two decades of law enforcement experience and often go on to serve in executive leadership roles within their agencies.

The 297th session included 253 law enforcement officers representing 48 states, the District of Columbia and 24 countries, as well as members of military and federal civilian organizations. Courses at

Since 1972, participants have also been eligible to earn undergraduate and graduate-level credits through the University of Virginia, which accredits the program.

Since its founding in 1935, more than 56,000 law enforcement professionals have graduated from the FBI National Academy, which is held at the FBI Training Academy in Quantico. ★

Ellis Lake Water Main Project Underway

By MPG Staff

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Residents and commuters in Marysville may have noticed traffic delays along Ellis Lake Drive in recent days as construction gets underway on a water infrastructure upgrade project led by California Water Service (Cal Water).

The project, which began the week of March 23, will install approximately 1,980 feet of new 12-inch water main along Ellis Lake Drive between 14th Street and 1730 Ellis Lake Drive. The improvements are intended to enhance water supply reliability and fire protection in the area.

Construction is taking place Monday through Friday between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. and is expected to last approximately 10 to 12 weeks. Crews are working to minimize traffic disruptions during the project. As part of the work, water lines will be flushed periodically, and water quality samples will be collected to meet safety requirements. Cal Water officials said flushing will be conducted only as long as necessary.

Temporary service interruptions may occur when customer connections are transferred to the new main. Customers will be notified in advance of any planned shutdowns. Following installation, temporary asphalt paving will be applied until permanent paving is completed, which may occur up to 30 days after the project concludes to allow for proper ground compaction.

Three Arrested in Olivehurst Homicide

By MPG Staff

OLIVEHURST, CA (MPG) - A fatal shooting that occurred March 21 in Olivehurst has resulted in the arrests of three suspects as investigators with the Yuba County Sheriff's Office continue to piece together the events surrounding the incident.

Deputies initially responded around 7:10 p.m. to reports of a verbal altercation in the 1700 block of 6th Avenue. Upon arrival, they located a 30-year-old man suffering from gunshot wounds. The victim was transported to Adventist Health and Rideout, where he was later pronounced dead. The victim was subsequently identified as Benito Valle, 30, of Olivehurst.

Detectives immediately began canvassing the area for witnesses and evidence. Through the course of the investigation, authorities identified vehicles associated with the suspects, leading to the arrests of Adrian Vega, 21, of Yuba City, and Namee Najarro, 24, of Marysville. Both were taken into custody and face charges including homicide, assault with a firearm, felon in possession of a firearm, felon in possession of ammunition, and carrying a loaded firearm.

As the investigation continued, a third suspect, Jesus Vega Jr., 30, surrendered to law enforcement at the Yuba County Jail over the weekend. He is suspected of involvement in the shooting and was booked on charges of felon in possession of a firearm, felon in possession of ammunition, carrying a loaded firearm in public, and willful discharge of a firearm.

Authorities have not indicated whether additional suspects are being sought but confirmed the investigation remains active and ongoing. Anyone with information related to the case is encouraged to contact the Yuba County Sheriff's Office at 530-749-7777. Tips may be provided anonymously. ★

Inflation Predicament

I have been saying for months, if not for over a year, that the Federal Reserve (FED) would not be able to solve inflation. A guy at my office said "Ya Marc, you have been saying that but now we have the middle east conflict/war and that's the reason".

True, but calling inflation to continue was based on many factors and some of those factors ring true in the words of Donald Rumsfeld, U.S. Secretary of Defense, in 2002 speaking about weapons of mass destruction: "There are known knowns and there are unknown unknowns....."

Not his exact words, and a weird combination of them, and it had nothing to do with inflation, but his word salad has many applications, and the current inflation is one of them.

True, I did not mention a possible war as a reason for our inflation that would not go away. But much like a forest full of dead wood, no one knows what will start a fire, but in an overgrown forest, something would.

The same holds true with my inflation prognostication. Although I mentioned deficit spending, the egregious Covid bailout money and the interest rate hikes and reductions that would together be an unsolvable combination, a healthy economy that did not possess this combination of contradictory problems would probably not be as affected with the advent of war when it came to starting an inflationary fire.

That said, we will never know just how our inflation would have reacted had we not had these previous economic issues, I am of the opinion that our inflation would have not dissipated even if we had no war. It all centers around the price of oil of course, but like the forest full of dead wood, it wasn't a hard call to say inflation would not go away and likely get worse no matter what happened.

The war has just exasperated an already bad situation.

Oil is used in many of the things we consume, and spiking in price, as it is now, something even more wicked comes our way.

Even if the war ended tomorrow, the proverbial cake is already baked. Oil has spiked, and its effect is in the pipeline.

The problem is now what does the FED do about it?

Inflation abatement requires higher interest rates and tighter credit. A faltering economy where consumers are struggling with already high prices require lower interest rates and looser credit.

So what is the FED to do?

We are right back to the conundrum they were going to have to face eventually, only on a grander scale.

Even higher prices are coming. There is no avoiding it. More consumers will be facing hardship so more calls for government assistance will be heard.

But if Washington steps up with more assistance, the deficit spending will go even higher, and that in turn will further drive-up inflation.

It is said problems have solutions. Predicaments have only outcomes.

I am now wondering just how bad the outcome of all this will be.

For the People

By Kathy Craig Harteis

I have literally waited most of my lifetime to visit Italy. It has been my forever bucket list leading item.

Now that I'm within a couple of weeks of marking it off of the list, our so called leaders can't agree. Not only are travelers being punished, but TSA workers and families are taking the hit for the 'leaders' hissy fits.

I don't know about the rest of the country, but I'm more than annoyed. These people were elected by us to make our lives run smoothly. I feel like a political pawn, instead of a valued American citizen.

This is ridiculous.

There are families suffering more than me. I'm concerned about my plans and the saved up trip money at risk. Meanwhile families are going without paychecks, ruining their credit, and at risk of losing homes.

Shame on the politicians. It's time to put first their constituents and think less about their own political careers.

The phrase "of the people, by the people, for the people" is a famous description of democracy, most notably used by U.S. President Abraham Lincoln in his 1863 Gettysburg Address. It encapsulates the core principles of popular sovereignty: that a legitimate government's power originates from its citizens, is exercised through their representation, and exists to serve their collective welfare.

Isn't it time to recapture that spirit when governing?

Hopefully by the time this is published they will have come to agreement. The government shutdown will have passed, people will be back at work, I'll be packing for Italy, and I can say life is good today.

Farm Bureau Leaders Advocate at Capitol

Farmers who serve on the California Farm Bureau Board of Directors gathered in Sacramento last week to meet with legislators and regulatory officials to advocate on issues that affect agriculture. Among the issues Farm Bureau board members spoke to lawmakers and their staff about were the recent increase in wolf-livestock conflicts, a proposed tax credit to offset the cost to farmers paying overtime wages, a bill that would require any wine labeled as "American" to be completely made from U.S.-grown grapes, and regulation of nitrate contamination in the state's water supply. Roger Everett, a Tulare County beekeeper and citrus farmer, described the Capitol visits as an opportunity for farmers to highlight agricultural issues that legislators from urban areas might not be aware of. "The majority of these people don't engage in agriculture," Everett said. "It's on us to provide them with the information of our operations and what affects us, and how we're going to survive in the world they're trying to create for us."

Mentorship Program Grows Next-Generation Farmers

The California Bountiful Foundation, a nonprofit research and education arm of the California Farm Bureau, created the Expanding Our Roots mentorship program to connect beginning farmers and ranchers with experienced producers who share practical, real-world knowledge. Through the program, mentors and mentees work through topics such as production planning, business management, market access, navigating regulations, managing risk, adopting climate-smart practices, and accessing resources and grants. The program continues to grow. To date, 246 farmers from 46 counties have enrolled. Expanding Our Roots serves a diverse group of producers, including 62 participants who speak a language other than English. Carol Thong of Sonoma County said working with her mentor, Andrew Forchini, a winegrape grower in Sonoma County, helped her better understand vineyard operations and identify ways to reduce costs, helping her make more informed decisions on her operation.

Vision Tech Allows Dairies to Identify Lameness Early

Lameness is one of the main reasons a dairy cow will be culled from the herd due to cost of treatment and impacts on milk production and reproduction. It affects 90% of dairy cows at least once during their lifetime. But methods used to detect lameness did not significantly improve for years. Some dairy farms have begun to use vision technology, which allows them to detect and treat lameness earlier. The trademarked SmartSight system, for example, is an artificial intelligence-driven lameness detection tool that monitors cow locomotion and generates reports on lameness status before it may be visible. Early detection means fewer severe cases, milk production and fertility are preserved, and cow health and welfare are improved. "Lameness has been a huge unknown, but that is changing with vision technology," said Joya McCarthy, technical product manager with Specialty Herd Solutions in Fresno. ★

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. All checks payable to Prestige Default Services, LLC.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (949) 776-4697 or visit this Internet Website https://prestigeopstandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 25-16974. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (949) 776-4697, or visit this internet website https://prestigeopstandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 25-16974 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-916-939-0772 or visit this internet website: <http://www.nationwideposting.com> address for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case 7342927. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website <http://www.nationwideposting.com>. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 1-916-939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://www.nationwideposting.com>, using the file number assigned to this case 7342927 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. The undersigned lender, beneficiary or authorized agent for the lender or beneficiary declares that the mortgagee or beneficiary has satisfied the requirements of California Civil Code 2923.5. Students Perform at Battle of Bands

by Shamaya Sutton

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Student musicians took the stage March 20 at the Tri-Counties Community Center in Marysville for Marysville Charter Academy for the Arts' second annual Battle of the Bands, a growing event that is helping fund the school's advanced guitar program while giving young performers real-world experience.

The event, organized through MCAA's music program, featured four bands and two solo performers competing with both original and cover songs in front of a panel of local judges and a supportive audience of peers, families and community members.

Advanced guitar teacher Yuko McWhorter said the event grew out of a desire to create more opportunities for students while also addressing the program's needs.

"We really needed amplifiers and equipment, so this is a fundraiser event for the advanced guitar program," McWhorter said.

McWhorter, who also launched the school's after-school rock band program, said the number of student bands has grown significantly in recent years.

"I wanted to have something fun for the students, so I started an after-school rock band program where anyone who wanted to play and form a band could practice after school," she said. "At first we only had a couple of bands, but now we have about eight or nine bands in the class."

That growth has translated directly into events like Battle of the Bands, which now serves as both a showcase and a stepping stone for young musicians. One of those groups, Gas Station Chicken, has emerged as a standout. The band, composed of Meric Slack, Evan Dao and Felipe Benites, formed in 2024 through

The student band, formed through the school's after-school music program, took first place for the second consecutive year.

McWhorter's after-school program and returned to defend its title after winning the inaugural competition last year, taking home the top spot again this year. "We're really looking forward to playing 'Love and Animosity.' It's one of our favorites and is an original by Felipe," Slack said.

Since forming, the group has performed more than 25 shows, including appearances at the Yuba-Sutter Fair and the Marysville Taco Festivals. They have also become regular performers at Woodstock's Pizza in Chico and are currently competing in Skip's Music open mic Battle of the Bands, where they have already advanced past the first round. Meredith Slack, a parent of one of the band's members, said the group's success traces back to its beginnings in the classroom.

"They started in the after-school program a couple of years ago, coming together in Yuko McWhorter's classroom," Slack said. "That was really the launching point, and they just took it and ran with it."

The competition itself raised $428, similar to last year's event. Zachary Zumstein, an intro to guitar teacher at MCAA and one of the event's judges, said performances were evaluated on both technical skill and stage presence.

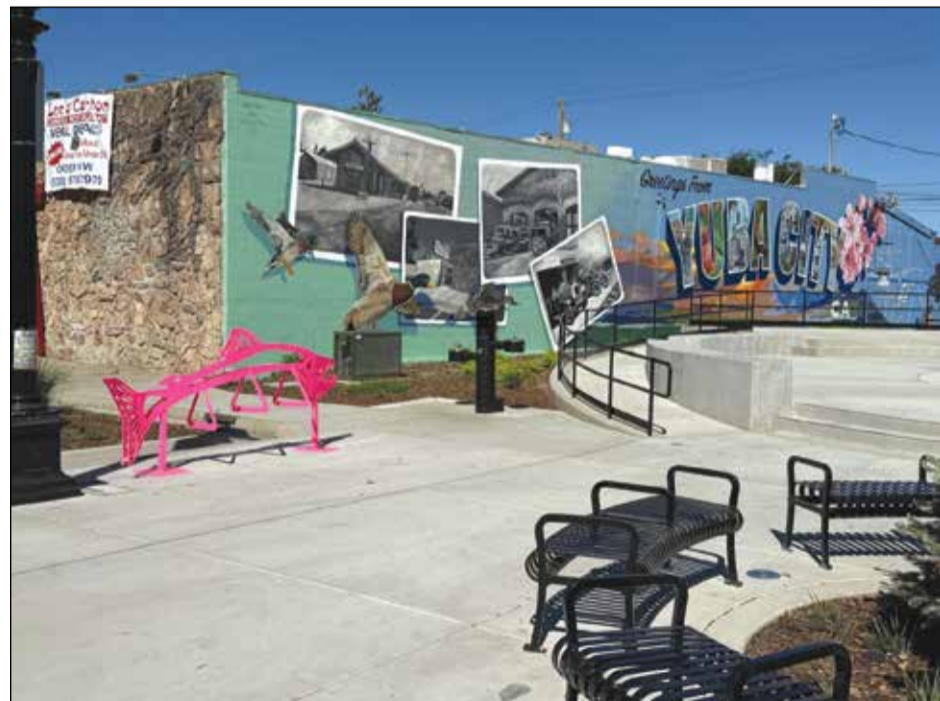

"I'm looking at musicianship, vocal ability and overall playing ability, but also showmanship and stage presence," Zumstein said. "As an arts school, we're looking for more than just students who can play their instruments. It's all those extra details that really make a great performance."

Students also played a role behind the scenes, helping organize and run the event. Rayanna Stoudt, a student organizer who performed in last year's competition, said the smaller, supportive setting helps performers build confidence.

"I like that it gives students a chance to perform in front of people they know, so they can build confidence without feeling overwhelmed," Stoudt said.

As the program continues to grow, McWhorter said she looks forward to more events like Battle of the Bands and helping showcase her students' talents. ★

New Bike Parking Comes Downtown

By MPG Staff

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - What began as a request from a local cyclist has turned into a new downtown feature, with sculptural bike racks now installed along Plumas Street.

The racks were unveiled last week near Plumas and Bridge streets and in front of the Sutter Theater. The additions aim to improve bike access and add a visual element to the corridor.

The project brought together the Yuba-Sutter Rotary Night Club, Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture and the City of Yuba City, with funding secured through a grant from the Feather River Air Quality Management District.

"Thanks to the Yuba-Sutter Rotary Night Club, Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture, and City of Yuba City, we now have beautiful new bike racks along Plumas Street and near Tower Plaza," said Cameo Arrasmith of Yuba City Downtown. "It's thoughtful additions like this that make downtown more welcoming, more functional, and just a little bit more beautiful."

Eric Preston, president of the Yuba-Sutter Rotary Night Club, said the idea began with a need for bike parking downtown.

"One of our members, Jeff Cowan, rides a tandem bicycle with his wife and noted there was nowhere to park their bike when they went to brunch," Preston said. "He suggested it would be a good service project for the club."

Preston said club member David Reed helped write the grant application that secured funding.

The racks include the lettering "R.I.D.E." near the Sutter Theater and a pink salmon installation near the park at the south end of Plumas Street. Metal artist Dan Turner and welding students at Yuba College created the pieces.

Community response has been positive, with residents commenting on the design and color.

Organizers said the installations aim to support downtown activity by making it easier for residents and visitors to bike to local businesses. ★

Marysville Honors Fallen Officer Rodarte

By Lloyd Green Jr.

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Community members, local officials and law enforcement gathered March 26 at Veterans Memorial Park to honor fallen Marysville Police Officer Osmar Rodarte, marking one year since his death in the line of duty with the unveiling and dedication of a memorial bench.

The ceremony, held at 8:30 a.m. at the park on Fifth Street, drew residents who came to pay their respects and reflect on Rodarte's service and sacrifice. A moment of silence was observed at approximately 8:42 a.m.

The memorial bench is part of a broader community effort to create lasting tributes across Marysville, led by local student William Curry as part of his Ridgeline Award project through Trail Life USA Troop 19.

Marysville Mayor Chris Branscum and Police Chief Vance Nabeta were among those who spoke, alongside Curry, who helped bring the project to life. City officials said the effort honors Rodarte's legacy and highlights the role of local youth in preserving it.

"These benches are meant to be places where people can sit, reflect and remember the courage it takes to serve others," Curry said in a statement.

Additional support came from students at Yuba County Career Preparatory Charter School, who worked under the guidance of Yuba County Supervisor Renick House to help construct the bench. House said the students dedicated months of work to the project, calling it an honor.

Following the morning ceremony, the remembrance continued with an evening candlelight vigil at the Marysville Police Department. Dozens attended.

"Thank you to all those who joined us yesterday to honor Officer Rodarte," the department said in a statement. "Our hearts are warmed by the support shown by so many. His spirit lives on through those who remember him."

The memorial bench now stands at Veterans Memorial Park as a permanent tribute to Rodarte's service and sacrifice. ★

Marysville's Goff 1st at Myers Golf Invitational

By Jennifer Corriea

COLUSA, CA (MPG) - It was a beautiful day for golf last Wednesday and an especially good one for Marysville, who saw Colby Goff win the third annual Brady Myers Invitational in Colusa and in the process led the team to a second-place finish.

Goff carded a 73 to finish as the top individual, while the Indians as a team compiled a score of 244, 12 strokes back of Shasta, whose total score was 232. Fifty-five prep golfers from nine different high schools hit the links at the Colusa Golf and Country Club in a tournament held in honor of Myers, a former collegiate All-American golfer in the early 1980s, who passed away in 2023.

The event showcased not only the talent in the North State but also reflected the passion for golf that Myers retained throughout his life. ★

Falcons Edge Out Lions in Win

By YSBC Sports

LIVE OAK, CA (YSBC) - The River Valley Falcons softball team beat the Live Oak Lions in a cross-section matchup on Thursday, March 26 in a 9-5 victory.

River Valley came into the matchup looking to avoid a losing streak as they dropped their two-previous games of Foothill Valley League play against Roseville and Del Campo.

Live Oak sophomore pitcher Melina Jurado was locked in the circle as she retired seven out of the first eight Falcons in the loss.

Lions sophomore Farrah Gomez brought in the first run of the game as she hit a hard ground ball to third that scored junior Olivia Duran in the bottom of the first and took an early 1-0 lead.

River Valley tied the game at the top of the third as senior infielder Kaitlyn Garcia hit a ground ball to third and scored sophomore Hailey Runyen.

Falcons freshman Marissa Widener added a runs-batted-in (RBI) single to left and River Valley had a 3-1 advantage.

Live Oak roared back in the bottom frame of the third and tied the game at three after a couple of Falcons' defensive miscues.

River Valley put up four runs in the fourth after they connected on multiple hits and capitalized on multiple errors by the Lions.

Live Oak ended with eight errors in the loss and head coach Kevin Medeiros told Yuba Sutter Butte Colusa Sports that was the big difference maker in the loss.

Mederios added that he has been happy with the way the Lions are approaching the plate and attacking the ball.

Live Oak senior pitcher Sarah Jupina relieved Jurado in the fourth in the circle and went the final 3 ½ innings of the game.

runs off of two hits and struck out four in the loss. She added two hits from the batters box in the loss.

The Lions cut the deficit 7-4 in the bottom half of the fourth but after the Falcons added a couple more runs in the sixth and seventh, Live Oak didn't have enough.

River Valley head coach Taylor Pack told YSBC that the Falcons are looking to bounce back into FVL play and compete for a league title.

River Valley has been without sophomore pitcher Apple Ward since she was injured on March 17.

The Falcons' ace has been present in the dugout in high spirits and Pack expressed that she hopes to get Ward back when she is healthy.

River Valley junior Khloe Harrison has filled in for Ward.

Harrison pitched six innings of relief in the circle for the Falcons in the win over Live Oak where she gave up four runs off seven hits.

Casa Roble took an early lead in the top of the first as Sutter senior pitcher Aiden Zwissig struggled to find the strike zone within the first couple hitters of the game.

Zwissig recovered and the Rams managed to get one run across the board, but the Huskies answered quickly in the bottom frame of the first as senior infielder Blake Agger grounded out to third and scored junior infielder Cole Callison.

Zwissig pitched 4 2/3 innings during the win and surrendered five runs off eight hits.

everyone is giving their best to them nightly. (4)

Castaneda said it's expected that everyone is gunning and giving their best effort as they ended as the top dogs in Division II last year.

Injuries have been a factor as some key returners from the 2025 championship team have been out on the reserve list but Castaneda expressed that who knows what can happen if everyone runs into a healthy Honkers' club in the postseason.
