Les Lehr Takes a Final Bow

By Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Father, grandfather and godfather of Sacramento community bands, Les Lehr died on April 10 after a long battle with Parkinson's disease. The Carmichael resident was 88 years old.

Born in South Dakota, he arrived in California as a musically gifted child who excelled at baritone and trombone. His talents were nurtured at Sacramento High School, where he strode as a marching band drum major.

After graduation, he earned his bachelor's degree in music from Sacramento State University and completed his master's at Eastman School of Music in New York. His doctorate was conferred at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

During the long career that followed, Dr. Lehr would educate thousands of Californian musicians. He also coached clinics all over the United States and, while touring with a symphonic group in Australia, the visitor lengthened his stay to mentor musicians down under.

After classes, he climbed into Music Circus pits and swung with the trombones at big band dances.

"His preference was for classical music," recalled his wife of 42 years, clarinetist Margie Lehr. "I tried to get him into pop material, but he barely tolerated playing or listening to it. Modern music was just too simple for his educated taste."

'Inside Carmichael' Highlights Projects, Policy Updates

By Omella Rossi

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Community leaders and government representatives gathered April 16 at Carmichael Park to share updates on local projects, policy efforts and upcoming events during a monthly roundtable hosted by the Carmichael Chamber of Commerce.

The event, "Inside Carmichael: Policy, Projects, and People," brought together officials and residents for a wide-ranging discussion on development, public safety, infrastructure and community engagement.

Samantha Beck of the Carmichael Improvement District highlighted the district's upcoming annual State of the PBID Dinner on May 6, where the Carmichael Recreation and Park District will receive the Visionary Award. A Panda Express location at Crestview Plaza will be recognized with the Bright Star Award for contributing to commercial growth and beautification.

"We get together, invite stakeholders and business owners to learn more about what we were able to accomplish in 2025, and some of the goals in 2026," said Beck.

She also noted new business activity, including the opening of the Sacramento Sports Center, a baseball training facility that has already drawn significant community use.

Public safety concerns were also discussed, particularly increased activity along Marconi Avenue. Beck said the district is working with law enforcement and training businesses on when to report incidents.

"Sometimes they don't know when to call so we're trying to train them that the minute something starts happening, you call our security team," she said.

Residents voiced both appreciation and frustration over development challenges. Carmichael resident Burnie Lenau pointed to tensions between community concerns and economic growth.

"It gets frustrating when we get these developments set up ... and the community complains," Lenau said, referencing projects like Dutch Bros and Quick Quack Car Wash proposals.

Beck responded that community input remains central to development

Nature Center Marks 50 Years

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Effie Yeaw lived on Palm Drive, Carmichael. She kept a pet raccoon and taught Sunday school at her Presbyterian church.

After a long life of conservation advocacy, the teacher died in 1970. Six years later, her name distinguished what would become one of Sacramento County's most treasured nature resources. The Effie Yeaw Nature Center is located in Ancil Hoffman Park and welcomes almost 100 thousand visitors annually.

Many are greater Sacramento school children, experiencing rare opportunities to interact with nature and learn about the area's original Maidu population.

The center's educational programs are subsidized with unrelenting fundraising by the American River Natural History Association. Community donations -- and helpful dispensations from Sacramento County -- keep the center and its park open.

On this former American River flood plain, centuries-old oaks intertwine with trees established by recent planting programs.

Deer, coyote, marsupials, reptiles and scores of bird species live under American River Parkway

"This is a protected nature study area," reads a sign at the preserve entrance. "Take only memories. Leave only footprints."

Below the sign, a mounted foot brush encourages visitors to scrub outside world contamination from their soles.

"It's a place of wonder in our community," ARNHA President Greg Dewey told supporters at the center's recent Bird and Breakfast fundraiser. "And with the community's support, we'll have many more years of wonder ahead."

In preferred sophisticated style, Lehr graced the Sacramento Symphony for 14 years. His day job was professor of music for American River College; a passion for volunteer bands started when he inherited leadership of Ed La Franchi's Sacramento Concert Band in 1983. Under Lehr's aegis, the ensemble grew so large that it split into two bands. In time, these two bands divided and spawned again.

"There are now many community bands that could claim ancestry with the Sacramento Concert Band," said Margie Lehr. "My husband inspired other directors. His kindness to musicians of all ages set a tone in band leadership."

Retiring after 32 years from ARC, the conductor created his trademark ensemble. Much revered for classical repertoire, Sacramento Symphonic Winds was born under Lehr's baton. Its 65 players present regular concerts at the CSUS music theater.

"Les was always a master programmer," said his wife. "He was proud of his musicians. He loved to plan concerts that showcased the variety of talent among them."

Marches were an inevitable focus.

"They were simpler than the symphonies he preferred," noted Margie Lehr. "But Les knew people expected a march or two at band concerts," said Margie Lehr. "He wasn't going to disappoint them."

In 2004, the legend of John Philip Sousa marched irrevocably into Lehr's life.

"Oh Mr. Sousa!" is a biographical review that pays tribute to America's historic March King. The San Francisco co-producer Ken Malucelli charged Lehr to play the part of Sousa and take the show on the road.

"Les arranged most of the 27 pieces in the performance and got himself a Sousa-style uniform," recalled his wife. "He toured America, staging the show with many professional bands. It was a huge hit and Les loved doing it. He told me about veterans who cried at these concerts — they were so moved by the patriotism of the music."

The conductor marched on with Sousa until 2010, when he retired his uniform and focused on his beloved Sacramento Symphonic Winds. Though diagnosed with Parkinson's in 2014, he bolstered his band's trombone section for as long as his chops allowed. He then sold his horns and moved to the percussion section.

"Les didn't care what instrument he played," his wife said. "He just wanted to keep playing."

Lehr relinquished leadership to conductor Timothy Smith during a Carmichael Park concert in 2016.

"He was sad to give up this important part of his life," said Margie Lehr. "But he was relieved to see his band in good hands."

The Symphonic Winds is now led by Dr Matthew Morse.

The ensemble will join a dozen other community bands for the annual Sacramento Valley Symphonic Bands Association Festival in Carmichael Park on June 6 and 7. The entire event will be dedicated to the late maestro.

"Les was one of the association founders," his wife explained. "It's fitting that its festival will be dedicated to Les Lehr. His legacy is respected by so many musicians."

Dr Les Lehr's celebration of life will be held at Christ Community Church in Carmichael at 2 p.m. June 26. In lieu of flowers, donations to the nonprofit Sacramento Symphonic Winds are requested. ★

Park Concerts Kick Off May 2

Wasted Space band's rockers will entertain in Carmichael Park on June 20. The free concert is part of a May/June music series hosted by Carmichael Recreation and Park District.

A Night of Timeless Music

Karla Bonoff Brings a Lifetime of Songs to Fair Oaks

By Ornella Rossi

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Singer-songwriter Karla Bonoff will bring decades of music to Fair Oaks offering audiences an intimate performance shaped by a career that began in one of Southern California's most influential music scenes.

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave., where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog.

"I travel with a great guitar player," Bonoff said, referring to longtime collaborator Nina Gerber. "She plays electric and acoustic, I play piano and acoustic, and I do songs from all the way back from my first album up to stuff that's more current. It's a lot of fun."

The performance reflects a shift from the large-scale touring productions of her early career to a more intimate format. Bonoff said the smaller setting allows for a closer connection with audiences.

"It's more of an unplugged kind of intimate situation," she said. "When I was opening for someone like Jackson Browne, sometimes there'd be 10,000 people. It's just a different thing."

Bonoff emerged from the Los Angeles music scene of the late 1960s and early 1970s, a period centered around the famed "Troubadour." The club became a hub for singer-songwriters who would go on to define an era, though Bonoff said the significance of the moment wasn't clear at the time.

"Those of us that were around in the late '60s, early '70s ... were really lucky to kind of come up in that time," she said. "When you're living in the middle of it,

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave, where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog. Photo courtesy of Karla Bonoff you don't think about how far we would go. But looking back, I realize it was a pretty magical time."

Like many young artists, Bonoff said she was focused less on legacy and more on navigating early adulthood.

"Everyone was just young and kind of trying to learn how to write and sing and perform," she said. "You're just focused on trying to put one foot in front of the other."

Her path into music began in West Los Angeles, where she started playing guitar at age 12 and developed a passion for songwriting. Influenced by artists like Judy Collins, Bonoff said she was drawn to live performances and albums that shaped her early ambitions.

"I didn't like school very much, and I would look forward to coming home and playing the guitar," she said. "That's what my passion was."

A turning point in her career came through her association with Linda Ronstadt. Introduced through mutual connections, Bonoff found herself in the right place at the right time as Ronstadt's career was rising.

"She was looking for songs, and all of a sudden she did three of mine on one of her albums," Bonoff said. "That was kind of mind-blowing for me because I'd kind of gone from zero to 60."

Hearing her songs performed by another artist was both disorienting and affirming, she said.

"When those songs come out of your DNA, you feel them a certain way," Bonoff said. "But when you're 22 or 23 and a big artist does your song, you're so excited. It's such a validation."

Bonoff's songwriting process has remained consistent over the years, rooted primarily in melody.

"I've always come at it with the music first," she said. "The music kind of is what gives me that inspiration to write lyrics."

Now in her 70s, Bonoff said her perspective on her work has shifted toward gratitude, both for her career and for the listeners who have connected with her songs across generations.

"To see people who've been following me for 40 or 50 years come back and love those songs ... there's something gratifying about feeling like you made a tiny little notch of meaning in somebody's life," she said.

Her touring schedule has also evolved. Where once she performed multiple nights in a row with full bands and production teams, Bonoff now emphasizes pacing and sustainability.

"I used to be able to do seven nights in a row," she said. "I can't really do that now. So it's about pacing and taking care of yourself."

Despite those changes, she continues to perform regularly, driven by the connection with audiences and the enduring relevance of her music.

When asked what she hopes listeners take away from her shows, Bonoff pointed to a sense of familiarity and shared experience.

"I hope that they feel like they know me better than just from records," she said. "For people who've been coming back over and over, I just hope it brings back good stuff from their life."

Looking back, Bonoff said she views her career with a mix of pride and reflection.

"I'm proud of myself that I made it this far," she said. "If I had it to do over again, I probably would have been more disciplined, but it's easy to say that looking back. I did the best I could, and so I'm patting myself on the back at this point."

For newer artists, her advice is grounded in the fundamentals that shaped her own development.

"You really had to go out and play for people to hear you," she said. "That made us stronger as musicians and singers. Getting out and just playing is probably the best thing you can do." ★ decisions. "If you ever wonder if your voice matters, it does," she said.

Legislative updates were provided by Rob Olmstead, representing state Sen. Roger Niello. Olmstead discussed Senate Bill 1197, which aims to establish permanent standard time in California, citing health experts who favor alignment with natural sleep cycles.

He also addressed efforts to strengthen DUI laws and concerns about the state budget.

"We are looking at an $18 to $22 billion deficit," Olmstead said. "Our expenditures are higher than that revenue and that trend continues exponentially."

Lane Gonick, representing Assemblymember Josh Hoover, highlighted Assembly Bill 2508, which would shift certain energy program costs away from ratepayers in an effort to lower utility bills.

Local water officials emphasized conservation programs and regional cooperation. Representatives from the Carmichael Water District announced a free mulch giveaway on May 16 and promoted turf replacement incentives.

They also previewed a "Water Forum 2050" agreement signing, described as a "landmark event" outlining long-term use of the American River.

County-level updates came from Kendra Johnson, representing Supervisor Rich Desmond. Johnson said the county is preparing for budget discussions amid state-level financial uncertainty.

She also addressed a delayed proposal for a Quick Quack Car Wash at Fair Oaks Boulevard and Angelina Avenue following neighborhood opposition.

"You want to bring in businesses, but is it the right business?" Johnson said. "We're trying to hear from both sides."

Community organizations shared upcoming events and initiatives. Judy of the Kiwanis Club of Carmichael announced the 21st annual Taste of Carmichael on May 29 and ongoing grant opportunities for local nonprofits.

Meanwhile, Stacey Yankee outlined progress on park improvements funded by Measure G, including new pickleball courts, a restroom facility and ongoing construction at community fields.

Yankee also said the district is studying the feasibility of adding a public pool, though funding remains a major obstacle.

"We don't make decisions as park district employees we want to hear from the community," Yankee said.

Chamber President Rosie Buck mentioned updates on recent and upcoming events, including an American River Block Party and ongoing membership outreach efforts.

The monthly roundtable takes place on the third Thursday of each month from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Carmichael Park Clubhouse, 5750 Grant Ave. The next meeting is scheduled for May 21. ★

By Senator Roger Niello

Many people know actor Bruce Willis from the movies on big screens, but behind the screens in his personal life, he has lived with frontotemporal degeneration, commonly referred to as FTD, since 2022. Bruce Willis' wife, Emma Heming Willis, shares the early stages of the diagnosis on her website where she describes, "I struggled with a sense of powerlessness, feeling as if I had no control over what was happening to my family." Emma Heming Willis acknowledged, "This journey – our unexpected journey – doesn't have to feel unrelenting or hopeless. In fact, you may discover, just as I have, that even in the hardest moments, there are unexpected treasures to be found along the way."

FTD doesn't announce itself with forgotten names or misplaced keys. It barges in by rewriting who a person is. For many, FTD is a slowly progressing disease that leads to gradual changes in behavior and speech. It targets the brain's frontal and temporal regions (the centers of judgment, empathy, communication) and as those nerve cells deteriorate, the changes can be as bewildering as they are devastating. Unlike Alzheimer's disease, FTD often strikes people in their 40s to 60s, leading to profound changes in relationships, work and independence. There is currently no treatment or cure, and increased awareness and research funding are crucial.

At Maidu Regional Park in Roseville on a rainy and cold Saturday this month, 240 people showed up with great spirit and high energy to participate in the very first FTD Walk for Hope. This independently organized event was spearheaded by Lisa Ferro and Terry Walter, whose FTD stories were shared with the walkers and supporters in attendance. I was grateful to be part of this emotional, poignant, and inspirational event and to recognize the people who made it a success. This walk raised over $37,000 and after expenses, will be donating roughly $31,500 in support of the Association for Frontotemporal Degeneration.

In the legislature, I am working on legislation to expand the California

Neurodegenerative Disease Registry to include data collection on frontotemporal degeneration diagnoses in the state. If passed into law, Senate Bill 1047 would require healthcare providers to report FTD diagnoses to the California Department of Public Health to strengthen the state's ability to track the disease's impact, improve care pathways, and accelerate research.

The effort to raise awareness never stops! The next event by Terry Walter, Association for Frontotemporal Degeneration Ambassador, is "Food for Thought," which will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 18 at the Woman's Club of Lincoln. ★

Get Ready for California's 2026 Primary

Your Questions About Voting, Answered

By CalMatters Staff
CalMatters.org

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Where do I vote? Am I registered to vote? Does everyone get a ballot in the mail? Get the answers to your election day questions ahead of California's June 2 primary election.

How do I vote? Does everyone get a ballot in the mail? Yes. Under state law, vote-by-mail ballots are sent to every active registered voter.

When will I receive my mail-in-ballot? Counties will begin mailing ballots May 4.

How do I return my mail-in ballot? Mail it to your county elections office; to be counted, ballots have to be postmarked on or before June 2 and received by election offices by June 9. Drop it off at a ballot drop box, vote center or polling location anywhere in the state. Ask someone you trust to do it for you, but that person can't receive payment for doing it.

Can I vote in person? Where is my polling place or vote center? Yes, although mailing your ballot as soon as possible is the best way to get your vote counted fast. You can find out where to vote in the following ways. Visit <https://voterstatus.sos.ca.gov/>, text "VOTE" to GOVOTE (468-8683), call the secretary of state's hotline at (800) 345-VOTE, check your county Voter Information Guide or contact your county elections office.

If you live in one of 30 counties, you'll have increased options, including as many as 10 days of in-person early voting.

How do I register to vote? Am I registered to vote? You can check the secretary of state's website (<https://voterstatus.sos.ca.gov/>). You'll need to enter your name, date of birth and either your California driver license, identification card number or the last four digits of your Social Security number. If you don't have those available, contact your county elections office or the secretary of state via email or phone at 800-345-8683.

If you've changed your name since the last time you voted, or if you moved and didn't notify the Department of Motor Vehicles or U.S. Postal Service, you may have to register again. If you haven't voted in several consecutive general elections, your registration may have been canceled.

How do I register? Visit <https://registertovote.ca.gov/>. You'll need the same information as above.

If the DMV has your signature on file, you'll be able to complete the process online. If not, you'll need to print, sign and mail your completed application to your county elections office. You can also pick up a paper application at elections offices, any DMV office and at many post offices, public libraries and government offices. You'll be contacted when your application is approved, or if you need to provide more information.

What happens if I miss the voter registration deadline? The last day to register online for the primary election is May 18. If you are registering or re-registering less than 15 days before May 18, you must complete same-day voter registration and request your ballot in person at your county elections office or polling location.

How do I change my political party if I'm already registered? You'll need to re-register to vote.

What if I need help with voting? What if I need voter information in a language other than English? The secretary of state's office has voter instructions in the following languages: Spanish, Hindi, Chinese, Japanese, Khmer, Korean, Tagalog, Thai and Vietnamese. Your county elections office may offer additional languages.

When will I receive my voter guide? The statewide voter information guide will be available online by April and will be mailed to voters later that month.

What am I voting on? The June primary election is the first opportunity for Californians to choose which candidates will appear on the general election ballot in November. Unlike some other states, California's primaries are nonpartisan, so the top two vote-getters in each race will advance to the November election, regardless of political party.

The ballot is packed with state and federal races, most notably the race to succeed Gov. Gavin Newsom, who is term-limited and cannot run for reelection. In addition to the governor's race, voters will be asked to choose candidates for Congress, the state Legislature and a slate of statewide offices including insurance commissioner and treasurer.

Can I leave work to vote? Yes. California requires time off for voting if employees don't have enough time outside work hours. You can take as much time as you need, but employers are only required to pay for a maximum of two hours. Employers may require advance notice. The time off must be at the beginning or the end of your shift. Employers are required to post a notice about this 10 days before a statewide election.

How can I track my ballot?

Visit california.ballottrax.net/voter/ to register for California's BallotTrax tool, where you can check your ballot status and opt in to receive email or text notifications.

Is my ballot safe? Yes, voting by mail or dropping your ballot in an approved drop box is a safe and efficient way to vote. Fraudulent voting is uncommon and incredibly difficult given California's strict voter verification procedures. Mail-in ballots will only be sent to voters whose address and identity have been verified by county election officials. Their vote will only be counted once those officials verify that the voter's signature on the envelope matches the one on file.

You can find more information about California's election and voting process on the secretary of state's website. The office takes any allegations of election fraud seriously. Anyone can submit a complaint using the following form sos.ca.gov/elections/publications-and-resources/voter-complaint.

What if I have special circumstances? What should I do if I marked my ballot wrong, or otherwise messed it up? If you haven't turned it in yet, you can exchange your mail ballot for a new one at an elections office, ask an election official at the polling place for a new ballot, or vote using a provisional ballot. If you have mailed or turned in your ballot, there's no way to fix it. Contact your county elections office for a new ballot.

What if the signature on my ballot doesn't match the one on file? County election officials check the signatures on the return envelope against signatures on your voter registration card to make sure no one tries to improperly cast your ballot. It still remains confidential; the ballot is separated from the envelope before it is counted.

Voters with ballots with missing signatures or ones that don't match are notified and given an opportunity to correct the problem before the election is certified.

What happens if I don't receive my ballot? Contact your county elections office.

Help! I dropped off my ballot to a drop box in the wrong county. Don't worry – the county will pass it on to the correct elections office.

I forgot to detach the stub from my ballot. Can I open the sealed envelope and reseal it myself? You can, but the secretary of state's office recommends contacting your local county elections office. They'll ultimately be processing your ballot, and they can offer the best guidance on whether you should reopen it or just leave the stub attached. ★

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

The Ping Pong Balls Are Coming

Yes, the NBA regular season is over, and our hometown ballers are once again watching from the sidelines.

With a grand total of 22 wins the 2025-26 season turned out very different from what the Sactown faithful envisioned.

Within a couple of weeks, the ping pong balls will determine the order of the upcoming draft, and as the Dallas Mavericks can attest, anything is likely to happen.

The Kings franchise and fans collectively will hold their breath, as anything can happen when it comes to the first five picks.

Without a doubt the Kings will get a high draft pick, but the real question is, how high.

Experts and pundits from all corners believe we're looking at one of the deepest drafts in many years, and that bodes well for Sacramento.

But what can we take away from a season bereft with disappointments.

For one thing we can look forward to a starting unit at the start of next season that is 100 percent healthy, and hope that the first-round draft choice in the upcoming draft makes an immediate impact. Something like De'Aaron Fox did when he became one of the best point guards in the history of the Kings franchise.

And what should we make of Keegan Murray after a season of injuries? Will this talented wing man once again return to a consistent 3-point shooter as he was in his rookie year just four short seasons ago?

Keegan had an amazing rookie season followed by one head scratching season after another as his 3-point shooting declined year after year.

Keegan set an NBA rookie record by recording 206 3-pointers, and Sacramento fans thought this was just the beginning.

Sadly, although Keegan shot an amazing 41 percent from beyond the arc, he would not accomplish this again. In the following three seasons Murray shot 35 percent, 34 percent, and in an injury shortened 2026 a dismal 27 percent.

So, will the real Keegan Murray please stand up. The Kings will in all likelihood hold onto Murray and resist trade offers, as his value has slipped just as his percentage has.

The real question is can this talented player return to form and show Kings fans that his rookie year was no fluke.

I believe he can and he will.

Zach Lavine has received considerable criticism for his drop in 3-point shooting this year as well, but the question is can Zach return to normal next season and provide Murray with someone that carry spread the floor.

Once again, I believe that's exactly what Lavine can do, and if he does, and Domantas Sabonis can stay healthy, look out western division, because here comes the Kings.

We don't know what GM Scott Perry is thinking of, and whether he will keep this group together, but we honestly never had a real opportunity to see this group play together.

Let's not forget that DeMar DeRozan is one of the most talented mid-range shooters in the league, and like Zach Lavine, can open the floor for others.

The point guard position is once again the conundrum it has been since the departure of DeAaron Fox, and we must wait and see if the draft will provide front court help or perhaps the point guard the Kings have been looking for.

Devin Carter and Nique Clifford had moments this past season, but neither has made the statement that says the point guard for the future has arrived.

Not to be forgotten is the arrival and surprisingly so of Dylan Cardwell and Precious Achiuwa. Both players acquitted themselves admirably, and Kings fans will be watching to see if one or both can take that next step in their NBA career and become a force to be reckoned with.

A lot to chew on for the Sacramento faithful, and opinions are all over the board, but for my money I hope that Scott Perry looks hard before he leaps.

There is a lot of talent on this team right now, and the real question is whether they can gel.

A winning franchise is much closer than last season's 22 wins would make you think, so say your prayers Kings fans and keep your fingers crossed.

We are one impact player from watching a playoff team so keep your eyes on those ping pong balls and let's all root together! ★

Candidates For Governor Ought to Get Serious About These Pressing Issues

By Dan Walters,
CALMatters.org

Eric Swalwell's abrupt departure from the campaign for governor due to revelations about sexual transgressions leaves nine men and women remaining as serious contenders for spots on the November ballot.

So far their campaigns have produced a scattershot of positions and promises that have only occasionally touched on California's real world issues. However, by sheer coincidence, there's been a recent flurry of think tank reports and articles on those issues that should be required reading for would-be governors and moderators of forums to question the candidates.

In no particular order:

Schools

The Public Policy Institute of California delved into the worrisome lack of academic achievement among in California's public schools. It notes that in state tests just 49% of students met or exceeded state standards in English language and 37% in math.

Results of federal tests were even less satisfactory, with only 29% of fourth-graders and 28% of eighth-graders proficient in reading and 35% and 25%, respectively, in math.

Mississippi, long a laggard in academic skills, got serious about raising reading comprehension by adopting phonics. California, after years of political debate, finally semi-adopted phonics, although not completely requiring it. An article in Atlantic magazine reveals that in Mississippi, just adopting phonics was not enough; statewide mandates, coupled with state oversight, were needed to make phonics work — a suggestion maybe California needs to follow suit.

Jobs

Outgoing Gov. Gavin Newsom loves to brag about California's $4 trillion economy but rarely mentions the darker side — several years with virtually no job growth. The Public Policy Institute of California digs into that stagnation and reports, "Job gains have been limited to a few key sectors like health care and local government, while stock market gains have been driven by AI. Unemployment has not increased much in the past two years, though it remains higher than in 2022 and above almost all other states.

"One major challenge for the next governor will be providing expensive services like health care to a growing older adult population while the share of workers shrinks," PPIC says.

The conservative Pacific Research Institute plows the same economic ground in a report. "The data shows that California's economic challenges are no longer theoretical — they are measurable and worsening," said Wayne Winegarden, one of the report's authors. "The state's weak job growth and shrinking private sector signal that California is at a crossroads. Without meaningful policy reforms, the gap between California and the rest of the country will continue to widen."

One aspect of California's economic sluggishness is an outflow of workers due to its sky-high living costs. Another report from the Public Policy Institute of California says the state has seen a net loss of nearly 1.3 million people since 2020. The outflow, coupled with a record low birth rate, makes California especially reliant on immigration for new workers, which in turn is affected by turmoil in federal immigration policy.

Homes

A study by UC-Berkeley's California Policy Lab delves even further into the state's loss of population to other states, citing high living costs, especially for housing, as the prime factor.

It notes that "in 2012 the state's median household income was roughly sufficient to qualify for a mortgage on a mid-tier home, but it now falls substantially short of the level needed to qualify for even a bottom-tier home."

However, those who abandon California more easily become homeowners due to much lower prices and see improvement in their overall financial wellbeing.

This is not an exhaustive catalogue of California issues that the campaigns for governor should address. Water supply and homelessness also need attention, as well as the insurance crisis and the state's chronic budget deficits. But these reports are a good start for serious debate.

Dan Walters is one of the most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state's political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★

Social Security Matters

Must I Set Up a Social Security Account to Enroll in Medicare?

By Russell Gloor,
AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I turn 65 this November 2026. Someone told me I need to set up a Social Security account at least 3 months ahead of time before applying for Medicare for the first time. I do not intend to take any Social Security benefits until, perhaps, age 67 or later. Please advise and thank you. Signed: Looking Ahead

Dear Looking Ahead: You don't technically need to "set up" an online SSA account to enroll in Medicare, but it would be more efficient to do so. We always recommend creating your online "my Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount well before you are ready to claim your Social Security benefits. That's because you can monitor your projected Social Security benefits to help you decide when to claim, but it also facilitates other things you might need to do at the Social Security Administration (such as claiming your SS retirement benefits online and enrolling in Medicare online).

As for Medicare, you can enroll in Medicare up to 3 months before the month you turn 65, and you can contact the Social Security Administration by phone up to 3 months prior in order to schedule an appointment to enroll over the phone (call 1.800.772.1213 to make the appointment). You can enroll via telephone, even if you don't have your "my Social Security" online account set up. However, an advantage to creating your personal online Social Security account is that you could then enroll in Medicare online as described at this link: www.ssa.gov/medicare/sign-up. And you can, as you wish to do, enroll only in Medicare without also taking your Social Security benefits at this time.

I want to also make you aware that if you are still working and have "creditable" healthcare coverage from your employer ("creditable" is an employer group plan with at least 20 participants), then you can delay enrolling in Medicare until your employer coverage ends (thus saving the usual Medicare Part B monthly premium). When your employer's healthcare coverage ends, you will enter a Special Enrollment Period during which you can enroll in Medicare without incurring a Late Enrollment Penalty.

Finally, please be aware that whenever you claim your Social Security benefits, you will be automatically enrolled in Medicare Part A (inpatient hospitalization coverage) and Part B (coverage for outpatient medical services). Since there is a monthly premium associated with Medicare Part B (but not with Part A), you can choose to decline Part B if you are still working and covered by your employer's creditable healthcare plan, until your employer's healthcare coverage ends.

Trump vs. the Pope

rebuke a president of the United States for threatening to bring a foreign civilization to an end isn't doing his job, yet it's important to understand that the Bible is not an injunction for pacifism, and it doesn't entail a condemnation of the Iran war.

The Bible presents a realistic view of the inevitability of human conflict. As Ecclesiastes says, there is "a time for war, and a time for peace." In the books of Joshua, Judges, Samuel or Kings, it is often a time for war. The key question is whether or not a war is righteous -- the difference between Israel, say, prevailing in the Battle of Deborah, or seeing the Babylonians destroy Jerusalem.

On Palm Sunday, Pope LEO cited Isaiah 1:15 for the proposition that God doesn't listen to the prayers of those who wage war: "Even though you make many prayers, I will not listen: your hands are full of blood." The context of this verse, though, is the injustice and corruption of the people of Judah -- in other words, their self-abasement.

It makes no sense, as a broader matter, to cite Isaiah as an injunction against waging war or evidence that God pays no heed to the prayers of those who fight. Later in the book, King Hezekiah of Judah prays for God's help in stopping an Assyrian army threatening Jerusalem, and 185,000 Assyrian soldiers are struck down.

A pope who doesn't and mercy, of course, but that is not a warrant for pacifism. The great Christian thinkers St. Augustine and St. Thomas Aquinas gave us just war theory, reconciling Christian ethics with the existence of evil in the world and the necessity of warfare. According to this view, which is embraced by the Catholic Church, a war can only be fought for a just cause and has to be waged in keeping with moral standards, minimizing harm to civilians.

Pope LEO has wrongly made it sound as though no war can possibly be just, and regardless, his opposition to the Iran war isn't dispositive or binding on anyone else.

The pontiff might consider that Trump first talked of attacking Iran when the regime was in the midst of slaughtering thousands of protesters in the streets, and if the current government fell and gave way to one with more respect for the rights of its people, it would be a boon to Iranians and a large step toward a safer and more peaceful region.

Trump's wild threats are understandably anathema to Pope LEO, but they don't define the Iran war or change the fact that the Bible portrays warfare as a tragic fact of human existence. Yes, as Isaiah says, they shall beat their swords into plowshares, but not yet.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF VERNON GUSTAV WITTKOPP
CASE NO. 26PR000972

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Vernon Gustav Wittkopp.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Mark Wittkopp, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Mark Wittkopp be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows May 14, 2026, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826 your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Petitioner is: Mark Wittkopp, 10817 Segovia Way, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670; 415-846-3209
