RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - A proposed mixed-use development anchored by a 7,500-seat arena could transform Rancho Cordova into a regional hub for sports, entertainment and housing, project leaders said during the city's monthly community luncheon on April 17.

The event, hosted by the Cordova Community Council and the Rancho Cordova Area Chamber of Commerce at City Hall, featured a presentation on Downtown DOVA, also known as the Cordova City Center. The project has been described by organizers as a "once-in-a-generation opportunity" to establish a central gathering place in the city.

"It's a bold vision for Rancho Cordova that brings together entertainment, hospitality, housing, retail, dining and a public gathering place all in one new destination," Chamber President Diann Rogers said in opening remarks.

The proposed development, located on Highway 50 and Sunrise Boulevard, would span approximately 28 acres and include a multiuse arena, residential units, hotels, retail space and parking structures. The arena itself is planned with a base capacity of 7,500 seats and up to 10,000 at full buildout, spread across four levels.

Developers said the arena and surrounding plaza are expected to host more than 200 events annually, ranging from concerts and sporting events to graduations and community gatherings. The broader Downtown DOVA district is projected to draw approximately 7 million visitors each year, with the arena alone accounting for an estimated 3.49 million visitors annually.

Josh Wood, co-founder and CEO of KozPure Development, said the project is rooted in a long-standing need for a centralized community space.

"For those of us who live here, we all know it's an amazing community," Wood said. "But what we're missing and what we've always been missing is that city center, that central gathering place. We're excited to do that."

A Night of Timeless Music

Karla Bonoff Brings a Lifetime of Songs to Fair Oaks

By Ornella Rossi

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Singer-songwriter Karla Bonoff will bring decades of music to Fair Oaks offering audiences an intimate performance shaped by a career that began in one of Southern California's most influential music scenes.

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave., where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog.

"I travel with a great guitar player," Bonoff said, referring to longtime collaborator Nina Gerber. "She plays electric and acoustic, I play piano and acoustic, and I do songs from all the way back from my first album up to stuff that's more current. It's a lot of fun."

The performance reflects a shift from the large-scale touring productions of her early career to a more intimate format. Bonoff said the smaller setting allows for a closer connection with audiences.

"It's more of an unplugged kind of intimate situation," she said. "When I was opening for someone like Jackson Browne, sometimes there'd be 10,000 people. It's just a different thing."

Bonoff emerged from the Los Angeles music scene of the late 1960s and early 1970s, a period centered around the famed "Troubadour." The club became a hub for singer-songwriters who would go on to define an era, though Bonoff said the significance of the moment wasn't clear at the time.

"Those of us that were around in the late '60s, early '70s ... were really lucky to kind of come up in that time," she said. "When you're living in the middle of it,

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave, where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog. Photo courtesy of Karla Bonoff you don't think about how far we would go. But looking back, I realize it was a pretty magical time."

Like many young artists, Bonoff said she was focused less on legacy and more on navigating early adulthood.

"Everyone was just young and kind of trying to learn how to write and sing and perform," she said. "You're just focused on trying to put one foot in front of the other."

Her path into music began in West Los Angeles, where she started playing guitar at age 12 and developed a passion for songwriting. Influenced by artists like Judy Collins, Bonoff said she was drawn to live performances and albums that shaped her early ambitions. "I didn't like school very much, and I would look forward to coming home and playing the guitar," she said. "That's what my passion was."

A turning point in her career came through her association with Linda Ronstadt. Introduced through mutual connections, Bonoff found herself in the right place at the right time as Ronstadt's career was rising.

"She was looking for songs, and all of a sudden she did three of mine on one of her albums," Bonoff said. "That was kind of mind-blowing for me because I'd kind of gone from zero to 60."

Hearing her songs performed by another artist was both disorienting and affirming, she said.

"When those songs come out of your DNA, you feel them a certain way," Bonoff said. "But when you're 22 or 23 and a big artist does your song, you're so excited. It's such a validation."

Bonoff's songwriting process has remained consistent over the years, rooted primarily in melody.

"I've always come at it with the music first," she said. "The music kind of is what gives me that inspiration to write lyrics."

Now in her 70s, Bonoff said her perspective on her work has shifted toward gratitude, both for her career and for the listeners who have connected with her songs across generations.

"To see people who've been following me for 40 or 50 years come back and love those songs ... there's something gratifying about feeling like you made a tiny little notch of meaning in somebody's life," she said.

Her touring schedule has also evolved. Where once she performed multiple nights in a row with full bands and production teams, Bonoff now emphasizes pacing and sustainability.

"I used to be able to do seven nights in a row," she said. "I can't really do that now. So it's about pacing and taking care of yourself."

Despite those changes, she continues to perform regularly, driven by the connection with audiences and the enduring relevance of her music.

When asked what she hopes listeners take away from her shows, Bonoff pointed to a sense of familiarity and shared experience.

"I hope that they feel like they know me better than just from records," she said. "For people who've been coming back over and over, I just hope it brings back good stuff from their life."

Looking back, Bonoff said she views her career with a mix of pride and reflection.

"I'm proud of myself that I made it this far," she said. "If I had it to do over again, I probably would have been more disciplined, but it's easy to say that looking back. I did the best I could, and so I'm patting myself on the back at this point."

For newer artists, her advice is grounded in the fundamentals that shaped her own development.

"You really had to go out and play for people to hear you," she said. "That made us stronger as musicians and singers. Getting out and just playing is probably the best thing you can do." ★

DOVA Aims to Transform

Charanjeet “Charlie” Kaur Tiwana-Purewal, co-founder and president of KozPure Development, said the team aimed to provide more clarity on the project and gather community feedback.

The Rancho Cordova City Council unanimously approved an economic development agreement for the project in September 2025. Plans for the first phase include the arena and a public plaza, while future phases call for approximately 1,000 residential units, about 220,000 square feet of retail and commercial space and hotels totaling roughly 800 rooms.

Developers estimate the project could generate more than $4.5 billion in economic output, including $2.3 billion in labor income and create nearly 37,000 jobs over a 12-year period. Long-term tax revenue is projected to reach about $1.92 billion over 35 years, including federal, state and local contributions.

The site’s location was highlighted as a key advantage. Positioned at the intersection of Highway 50 and Sunrise Boulevard, the area sees more than 200,000 vehicles daily on Highway 50, along with an additional 132,000 on Sunrise Boulevard and 44,500 on Folsom Boulevard. Developers said planned freeway signage and visibility are expected to support the project’s regional draw.

The arena is expected to serve as home to a Major Arena Soccer League franchise, bringing professional arena soccer to Rancho Cordova. League officials earlier this year approved expansion teams for the Sacramento region as part of broader national growth.

During a question-and-answer session, residents raised concerns about comparisons to Sacramento’s Downtown

Commons (DOCO), traffic management and potential uses of the arena.

In response to questions about activity levels in similar developments, Tiwana-Purewal emphasized the role of on-site housing.

“Residents help activate areas,”

Tiwana-Purewal said. “Having over a thousand units means people are coming back home and helping create that activation.”

Wood added that local conditions could also shape the project’s success.

“Our city has a different stance on things like homelessness and cleanliness and safety,” he said. “We have a clean and safe environment. I think that’ll also be a big thing that will help us.”

When asked about accommodating emerging sports, including women’s semi pro tackle football and flag football, developers said they are open to discussions about potential partnerships and future use of the arena.

Traffic concerns were also addressed, with Wood noting that mixed-use design and distributed parking could ease congestion.

“What we want is people to come hours before and stay hours after,” he said. “If everyone’s not coming and leaving at the same time, it makes a massive difference.”

Developers said they are working with nearby businesses on shared parking agreements and transportation strategies as planning continues.

For more information on the project visit <https://dovanow.com/>.

The next Rancho Cordova community luncheon is scheduled for May 15 and will feature Sacramento County District Attorney Thien Ho. For more information and to purchase tickets visit <https://www.cordovacouncil.org/rancho-cordova-luncheon>. ★

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova will host more than 1,200 cyclists and spectators May 1–3 as the Golden State Race Series returns for its 21st year, bringing three days of competitive racing to the region.

Organized by Rio Strada Racing in partnership with Visit Rancho Cordova, the annual event has become a staple of Northern California’s cycling calendar, drawing riders from across the state and beyond. The series includes a Friday time trial, a Saturday criterium and a Sunday circuit race, with courses set throughout Rancho Cordova.

Races are open to a wide range of competitors, from junior riders as young as 10 to master’s and elite athletes. Organizers say the event regularly attracts top-tier talent, including state, national and world champions.

Series represents more than just competition, it is a celebration of community, athletic excellence and the continued growth of cycling in our region,” said Ron Rouse, president of Rio Strada Racing. “We are excited to once again welcome athletes and spectators for an unforgettable weekend of racing. This year, a portion of event proceeds will be donated in support of junior racers participating in the event.”

The event has earned multiple “Best Race in Northern California/Nevada” honors and is the only California stop included in both the USA Cycling Juniors Cup and Masters Cup series. The 2026 races will also be part of the NCNCA Women’s Series.

Competition begins on Friday with a 6-mile time trial on Rod Beaudry Drive. The race follows a Merckx-style format, meaning standard road bikes are required and time trial-specific equipment is not allowed. Registration for the time trial is available by pre-registration only. Saturday’s criterium and Sunday’s circuit race will start and finish near Cobblestone Drive, featuring laps of approximately 0.9 miles for the criterium and 2.3 miles for the circuit course.

Same-day registration for those races opens at 7 a.m. and closes 15 minutes before each event. Registration fees are $55 per race for most categories. Junior riders ages 10–14 pay $25, while those ages 15–18 pay $40. A $15 day-of-race surcharge applies to onsite registration, with a reduced $10 fee for juniors.

A USA Cycling license is required to compete, though one-day licenses will be available for novice riders. Organizers said cash prizes will be awarded in categories that meet minimum participation thresholds. A free kids race for ages 9 and under is also planned, with helmets and parental waivers required.

Rio Strada Racing, founded in 1982, is one of California’s longest-running cycling teams and produces several USA Cycling-sanctioned events. The organization received a proclamation from the city of Rancho Cordova in 2012 recognizing its contributions to competitive cycling and community health.

Spectators can attend the races throughout the weekend.

If you don't have those available, contact your county elections office or the secretary of state via email or phone at 800-345-8683.

If you've changed your name since the last time you voted, or if you moved and didn't notify the Department of Motor Vehicles or U.S. Postal Service, you may have to register again. If you haven't voted in several consecutive general elections, your registration may have been canceled.

How do I register? Visit <https://registertovote.ca.gov/>. You'll need the same information as above.

Where do I vote? Am I registered to vote? Does everyone get a ballot in the mail? Get the answers to your election day questions ahead of California's June 2 primary election. Photo courtesy Freepik

If the DMV has your signature on file, you'll be able to complete the process online. If not, you'll need to print, sign and mail your completed application to your county elections office. You can also pick up a paper application at elections offices, any DMV office and at many post offices, public libraries and government offices. You'll be contacted when your application is approved, or if you need to provide more information.

What happens if I miss the voter registration deadline? The last day to register online for the primary election is May 18. If you are registering or re-registering less than 15 days before May 18, you must complete same-day voter registration and request your ballot in person at your county elections office or polling location.

How do I change my political party if I'm already registered? You'll need to re-register to vote.

What if I need help with voting? What if I need voter information in a language other than English? The secretary of state's office has voter instructions in the following languages: Spanish, Hindi, Chinese, Japanese, Khmer, Korean, Tagalog, Thai and Vietnamese. Your county elections office may offer additional languages.

When will I receive my voter guide? The statewide voter information guide will be available online by April and will be mailed to voters later that month.

What am I voting on? The June primary election is the first opportunity for Californians to choose which candidates will appear on the general election ballot in November. Unlike some other states, California's primaries are nonpartisan, so the top two vote-getters in each race will advance to the November election, regardless of political party.

The ballot is packed with state and federal races, most notably the race to succeed Gov. Gavin Newsom, who is term-limited and cannot run for reelection. In addition to the governor's race, voters will be asked to choose candidates for Congress, the state Legislature and a slate of statewide offices including insurance commissioner and treasurer.

Can I leave work to vote? Yes. California requires time off for voting if employees don't have enough time outside work hours. You can take as much time as you need, but employers are only required to pay for a maximum of two hours. Employers may require advance notice. The time off must be at the beginning or the end of your shift. Employers are required to post a notice about this 10 days before a statewide election.

How can I track my ballot?

Visit california.ballottrax.net/voter/ to register for California's BallotTrax tool, where you can check your ballot status and opt in to receive email or text notifications.

Is my ballot safe? Yes, voting by mail or dropping your ballot in an approved drop box is a safe and efficient way to vote. Fraudulent voting is uncommon and incredibly difficult given California's strict voter verification procedures. Mail-in ballots will only be sent to voters whose address and identity have been verified by county election officials. Their vote will only be counted once those officials verify that the voter's signature on the envelope matches the one on file.

You can find more information about California's election and voting process on the secretary of state's website. The office takes any allegations of election fraud seriously. Anyone can submit a complaint using the following form sos.ca.gov/elections/publications-and-resources/voter-complaint.

What if I have special circumstances? What should I do if I marked my ballot wrong, or otherwise messed it up? If you haven't turned it in yet, you can exchange your mail ballot for a new one at an elections office, ask an election official at the polling place for a new ballot, or vote using a provisional ballot. If you have mailed or turned in your ballot, there's no way to fix it. Contact your county elections office for a new ballot.

What if the signature on my ballot doesn't match the one on file? County election officials check the signatures on the return envelope against signatures on your voter registration card to make sure no one tries to improperly cast your ballot. It still remains confidential; the ballot is separated from the envelope before it is counted.

Voters with ballots with missing signatures or ones that don't match are notified and given an opportunity to correct the problem before the election is certified.

What happens if I don't receive my ballot? Contact your county elections office.

Help! I dropped off my ballot to a drop box in the wrong county. Don't worry – the county will pass it on to the correct elections office.

I forgot to detach the stub from my ballot. Can I open the sealed envelope and reseal it myself? You can, but the secretary of state's office recommends contacting your local county elections office. They'll ultimately be processing your ballot, and they can offer the best guidance on whether you should reopen it or just leave the stub attached. ★

The Ping Pong Balls Are Coming

Yes, the NBA regular season is over, and our hometown ballers are once again watching from the sidelines.

With a grand total of 22 wins the 2025-26 season turned out very different from what the Sactown faithful envisioned.

Within a couple of weeks, the ping pong balls will determine the order of the upcoming draft, and as the Dallas Mavericks can attest, anything is likely to happen.

The Kings franchise and fans collectively will hold their breath, as anything can happen when it comes to the first five picks.

Without a doubt the Kings will get a high draft pick, but the real question is, how high.

Experts and pundits from all corners believe we're looking at one of the deepest drafts in many years, and that bodes well for Sacramento.

But what can we take away from a season bereft with disappointments.

For one thing we can look forward to a starting unit at the start of next season that is 100 percent healthy, and hope that the first-round draft choice in the upcoming draft makes an immediate impact. Something like De'Aaron Fox did when he became one of the best point guards in the history of the Kings franchise.

And what should we make of Keegan Murray after a season of injuries? Will this talented wing man once again return to a consistent 3-point shooter as he was in his rookie year just four short seasons ago?

Keegan had an amazing rookie season followed by one head scratching season after another as his 3-point shooting declined year after year.

Keegan set an NBA rookie record by recording 206 3-pointers, and Sacramento fans thought this was just the beginning.

Sadly, although Keegan shot an amazing 41 percent from beyond the arc, he would not accomplish this again. In the following three seasons Murray shot 35 percent, 34 percent, and in an injury shortened 2026 a dismal 27 percent.

So, will the real Keegan Murray please stand up. The Kings will in all likelihood hold onto Murray and resist trade offers, as his value has slipped just as his percentage has.

The real question is can this talented player return to form and show Kings fans that his rookie year was no fluke.

I believe he can and he will.

Zach Lavine has received considerable criticism for his drop in 3-point shooting this year as well, but the question is can Zach return to normal next season and provide Murray with someone that carry spread the floor.

Once again, I believe that's exactly what Lavine can do, and if he does, and Domantas Sabonis can stay healthy, look out western division, because here comes the Kings.

We don't know what GM Scott Perry is thinking of, and whether he will keep this group together, but we honestly never had a real opportunity to see this group play together.

Let's not forget that DeMar DeRozan is one of the most talented mid-range shooters in the league, and like Zach Lavine, can open the floor for others.

The point guard position is once again the conundrum it has been since the departure of DeAaron Fox, and we must wait and see if the draft will provide front court help or perhaps the point guard the Kings have been looking for.

Devin Carter and Nique Clifford had moments this past season, but neither has made the statement that says the point guard for the future has arrived.

Not to be forgotten is the arrival and surprisingly so of Dylan Cardwell and Precious Achiuwa. Both players acquitted themselves admirably, and Kings fans will be watching to see if one or both can take that next step in their NBA career and become a force to be reckoned with.

A lot to chew on for the Sacramento faithful, and opinions are all over the board, but for my money I hope that Scott Perry looks hard before he leaps.

There is a lot of talent on this team right now, and the real question is whether they can gel.

A winning franchise is much closer than last season's 22 wins would make you think, so say your prayers Kings fans and keep your fingers crossed.

We are one impact player from watching a playoff team so keep your eyes on those ping pong balls and let's all root together! ★

Candidates For Governor Ought to Get Serious About These Pressing Issues

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Eric Swalwell's abrupt departure from the campaign for governor due to revelations about sexual transgressions leaves nine men and women remaining as serious contenders for spots on the November ballot.

So far their campaigns have produced a scattershot of positions and promises that have only occasionally touched on California's real world issues. However, by sheer coincidence, there's been a recent flurry of think tank reports and articles on those issues that should be required reading for would-be governors and moderators of forums to question the candidates.

In no particular order:

Schools

The Public Policy Institute of California delved into the worrisome lack of academic achievement among in California's public schools. It notes that in state tests just 49% of students met or exceeded state standards in English language and 37% in math.

Results of federal tests were even less satisfactory, with only 29% of fourth-graders and 28% of eighth-graders proficient in reading and 35% and 25%, respectively, in math.

Mississippi, long a laggard in academic skills, got serious about raising reading comprehension by adopting phonics. California, after years of political debate, finally semi-adopted phonics, although not completely requiring it. An article in Atlantic magazine reveals that in Mississippi, just adopting phonics was not enough; statewide mandates, coupled with state oversight, were needed to make phonics work — a suggestion maybe California needs to follow suit.

Jobs

Outgoing Gov. Gavin Newsom loves to brag about California's $4 trillion economy but rarely mentions the darker side — several years with virtually no job growth. The Public Policy Institute of California digs into that stagnation and reports, "Job gains have been limited to a few key sectors like health care and local government, while stock market gains have been driven by AI. Unemployment has not increased much in the past two years, though it remains higher than in 2022 and above almost all other states.

"One major challenge for the next governor will be providing expensive services like health care to a growing older adult population while the share of workers shrinks," PPIIC says.

The conservative Pacific Research Institute plows the same economic ground in a report. "The data shows that California's economic challenges are no longer theoretical — they are measurable and worsening," said Wayne Winegarden, one of the report's authors. "The state's weak job growth and shrinking private sector signal that California is at a crossroads. Without meaningful policy reforms, the gap between California and the rest of the country will continue to widen."

One aspect of California's economic sluggishness is an outflow of workers due to its sky-high living costs. Another report from the Public Policy Institute of California says the state has seen a net loss of nearly 1.3 million people since 2020. The outflow, coupled with a record low birth rate, makes California especially reliant on immigration for new workers, which in turn is affected by turmoil in federal immigration policy.

Homes

A study by UC-Berkeley's California Policy Lab delves even further into the state's loss of population to other states, citing high living costs, especially for housing, as the prime factor.

It notes that "in 2012 the state's median household income was roughly sufficient to qualify for a mortgage on a mid-tier home, but it now falls substantially short of the level needed to qualify for even a bottom-tier home."

However, those who abandon California more easily become homeowners due to much lower prices and see improvement in their overall financial wellbeing.

This is not an exhaustive catalogue of California issues that the campaigns for governor should address. Water supply and homelessness also need attention, as well as the insurance crisis and the state's chronic budget deficits. But these reports are a good start for serious debate.

Social Security Matters

Must I Set Up a Social Security Account to Enroll in Medicare?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I turn 65 this November 2026. Someone told me I need to set up a Social Security account at least 3 months ahead of time before applying for Medicare for the first time. I do not intend to take any Social Security benefits until, perhaps, age 67 or later. Please advise and thank you. Signed: Looking Ahead

Dear Looking Ahead: You don't technically need to "set up" an online SSA account to enroll in Medicare, but it would be more efficient to do so. We always recommend creating your online "my Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount well before you are ready to claim your Social Security benefits. That's because you can monitor your projected Social Security benefits to help you decide when to claim, but it also facilitates other things you might need to do at the Social Security Administration (such as claiming your SS retirement benefits online and enrolling in Medicare online).

As for Medicare, you can enroll in Medicare up to 3 months before the month you turn 65, and you can contact the Social Security Administration by phone up to 3 months prior in order to schedule an appointment to enroll over the phone (call 1.800.772.1213 to make the appointment). You can enroll via telephone, even if you don't have your "my Social Security" online account set up. However, an advantage to creating your personal online Social Security account is that you could then enroll in Medicare online as described at this link: www.ssa.gov/medicare/sign-up. And you can, as you wish to do, enroll only in Medicare without also taking your Social Security benefits at this time.

I want to also make you aware that if you are still working and have "creditable" healthcare coverage from your employer ("creditable" is an employer group plan with at least 20 participants), then you can delay enrolling in Medicare until your employer coverage ends (thus saving the usual Medicare Part B monthly premium). When your employer's healthcare coverage ends, you will enter a Special Enrollment Period during which you can enroll in Medicare without incurring a Late Enrollment Penalty.

Finally, please be aware that whenever you claim your Social Security benefits, you will be automatically enrolled in Medicare Part A (inpatient hospitalization coverage) and Part B (coverage for outpatient medical services). Since there is a monthly premium associated with Medicare Part B (but not with Part A), you can choose to decline Part B if you are still working and covered by your employer's creditable healthcare plan, until your employer's healthcare coverage ends.

Trump vs. the Pope

rebuke a president of the United States for threatening to bring a foreign civilization to an end isn't doing his job, yet it's important to understand that the Bible is not an injunction for pacifism, and it doesn't entail a condemnation of the Iran war.

The Bible presents a realistic view of the inevitability of human conflict. As Ecclesiastes says, there is "a time for war, and a time for peace." In the books of Joshua, Judges, Samuel or Kings, it is often a time for war. The key question is whether or not a war is righteous -- the difference between Israel, say, prevailing in the Battle of Deborah, or seeing the Babylonians destroy Jerusalem.

On Palm Sunday, Pope LEO cited Isaiah 1:15 for the proposition that God doesn't listen to the prayers of those who wage war: "Even though you make many prayers, I will not listen: your hands are full of blood." The context of this verse, though, is the injustice and corruption of the people of Judah -- in other words, their self-abasement.

It makes no sense, as a broader matter, to cite Isaiah as an injunction against waging war or evidence that God pays no heed to the prayers of those who fight. Later in the book, King Hezekiah of Judah prays for God's help in stopping an Assyrian army threatening Jerusalem, and 185,000 Assyrian soldiers are struck down.

A pope who doesn't and mercy, of course, but that is not a warrant for pacifism. The great Christian thinkers St. Augustine and St. Thomas Aquinas gave us just war theory, reconciling Christian ethics with the existence of evil in the world and the necessity of warfare. According to this view, which is embraced by the Catholic Church, a war can only be fought for a just cause and has to be waged in keeping with moral standards, minimizing harm to civilians.

Pope LEO has wrongly made it sound as though no war can possibly be just, and regardless, his opposition to the Iran war isn't dispositive or binding on anyone else.

The pontiff might consider that Trump first talked of attacking Iran when the regime was in the midst of slaughtering thousands of protesters in the streets, and if the current government fell and gave way to one with more respect for the rights of its people, it would be a boon to Iranians and a large step toward a safer and more peaceful region.

Trump's wild threats are understandably anathema to Pope LEO, but they don't define the Iran war or change the fact that the Bible portrays warfare as a tragic fact of human existence. Yes, as Isaiah says, they shall beat their swords into plowshares, but not yet.

Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Cue the overture and warm up those imaginary jazz hands – the Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band is bringing the bright lights of Broadway to town with not one, but two toe-tapping, show-stopping performances of “Showstoppers! A Musical Spectacular.” And the best part? No tickets, no tuxedos, no travel to New York required.

This musical romp through Broadway will feature hits from crowd favorites like “Phantom of the Opera,” “Hamilton,” “Chicago,” “The Lion King,” “Wicked,” “Little Shop of Horrors” and more. Vocalist Michelle Pavolva and announcer/narrator Larry Womac will join the band for both performances. The May 16 performance will also feature vocalists from Golden

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE CHANGE OF NAME
#26CV000972

Vernon Gustav Wittkopp has been filed by Mark Wittkopp, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Mark Wittkopp be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

And Another Thing Unfinished Welcome for Veterans

By Bob McGarvey

On occasion I think of a few things that I was going to add to my last column, but they were missed when I was writing it last week. So here are a few things that are added to my column about Mather Veterans Village. There were some people in the newspaper who were in the picture that showed them break ground for Mather Veterans Village. The people who spoke at the ceremony on April 10 thought that Rancho Cordova was an example of what can be done for the Veterans in other areas. The Phase 4 construction is expected to be completed in 2027. I will let you know when the apartments are completed.

I spoke in the past of the Vietnam lapel pin, and the deadline for distribution. That deadline was November 11, 2025 to give them to all of the Vietnam Veterans. Congress still hasn't done anything about extending the time we have to give those lapel pins, that is letting 5 or 6 million Veterans who were never welcomed home be ignored. I am continuing to give those pins to our Vietnam Veterans who served in the military during the Vietnam war. There are some who will never be honored and welcomed home because they have died since they served. I believe that those Veterans families should be thanked as well.

My college degree was Government, and I was able to use some of that information as my life went on, but I have to admit that even though I am still interested in government, I will continue to look at the weather and how it affects our lives. We are all affected by the weather and quite a few people are interested in learning about it. What will happen next isn't something that our government or any other government can control. Think about the tornado which touched down in Tehama County about 8 days ago at about 2:05 p.m. It happened in an unpopulated area, but everyone was very glad that it wasn't like the tornadoes which destroy in some states like Indiana or Kentucky. I guess the weather still can't be controlled by anyone, including the government.

Something which will be interesting in the next few years will be the people who are talking about changing the Folsom Cordova Unified School District to possibly change it to the Cordova Unified School District and the Folsom Unified School District. I was asked by some people recently about the change being looked into. The last time the district split was tried was in 1996. The Folsom voters voted 60% for splitting and 40% against doing that. In Cordova the voters voted 90% against splitting the current district, and 10% for splitting the Folsom Cordova Unified School District. We will have to see if that comes up again seriously.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

The Weekly Whistle

The Schedule Nobody Sees

By Jason Harper

6:00 AM — He's already awake. Not rested. Just... done trying.

8:00 AM — Coffee gone cold. Inbox full. Problems waiting. Solutions expected.

10:00 AM — Meetings. Metrics. "Priorities." He nods like he agrees.

12:00 PM — Lunch. Protein bar. Half eaten. Phone buzzing. "Can we talk about playing time?"

2:00 PM — Work stacks. Pressure builds. Coach brain fighting employee expectations. Both losing.

3:00 PM — He leaves early. Fifteen minutes. Not to escape—to make it.

3:15 PM — Phone rings. Boss. "You left." Silence. Then: "We need commitment." He takes it. Says nothing. Because he's already committed—just not here.

4:00 PM — Parking lot. Deep breath. Switch flips.

4:05 PM — Field. Gym. Wherever the game lives. And there it is.

A parent. Waiting. Arms crossed. "Coach, we need to talk about my kid's playing time."

Of course we do.

Not the 6:00 AM wake-up.

Not the missed meals.

And Yet Still, I Coach

Not the call from the boss. Not the quiet weight carried in two-hour blocks all day long.

Just this moment.

He listens. Because that's what coaches do. He explains. Because that's what leaders do.

And then he turns, steps forward, and blows the whistle.

Because no matter what he carried in—the kids get the best of him. Every time.

Next Week: Part 2 — The Coach at Home

And that, folks, is a first down. ★

December Rancho Cordova Arts gave almost $25,000 in art supplies to 131 teachers in Rancho Cordova. The 2026 show includes 1,005 pieces of art, a big jump from 2025.

"This all correlates to the amount of money Rancho Cordova Arts nonprofit gives in art supplies each year to the teachers of Rancho Cordova," said Cheryl Gleason.

Around 800 people attended the show's April 17 reception this year.

"The student show always has the highest attendance every year," Gleason said. "This is the most labor-intensive show we put on each year at the MACC. It takes two weeks to cut and mat all the kids' work and get it hung. But it is worth seeing the pride and elation on the faces of the students and families when they see the exhibit."

Each artist has his or her own style, even though schools often assign a specific subject. Artist Kavya did her art as part of her class's assignment to make a picture of the four regions in California: the coast, central valley, mountains and desert. Kavya said she likes to draw, and "human beings" are her favorite subject.

Artist Teagan Hall did a drawing of two balloons depicting the number 21.

"I got started because I randomly got put in art class," Teagan said. "My birthday is the 21 of June, so I just chose that (for the number)."

Trish Schleeter teaches at Cordova Recreation and Park District preschool. She said that her students have been participating in the Student Art Show for several years.

"The fact that they're letting my preschoolers in, when it used to be K-12, is very exciting," Schleeter said. "My students get really excited about it and it's a great way to incorporate community in the program."

Schleeter said that some Park District staff used to work at the MACC as well, so there was some overlap.

"I think that creativity is something that's kind of been lost over the years in education and it's really important for kids to be able to express themselves, so having this place for them to be celebrated for their creative endeavors is amazing."

The Student Art Show at the MACC, 10191 Mills Station Road, Rancho Cordova, continues through Saturday, April 25. The MACC is open during exhibit dates only on Thursday and Friday, 2 to 7 p.m., and Saturday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. ★

Lancers' Spring Season Coming to a Close

By James Damell

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Cordova Lancers knew this season would bring on growing pains.

Entering this spring, the Lancers had a much younger team compared to last season with several underclassmen stepping into key roles. Led by head coach Joseph Smith, this year was all about development and trying to be competitive within the Metro League. The Lancers entered the final two games of their schedule this week with a 6-16 overall record, including a 2-6 mark in league play, but there is certainly reason for optimism as they close out the year and look ahead.

The Lancers dropped their season series with Grant following a 3-0 (18-25, 23-25, 25-27) loss at home on Thursday, April 16, but it wasn't for lack of effort. The final two sets came down to the wire, but the Pacers (17-13 overall, 4-4 Metro League) were able to close out and complete the season sweep. The loss dropped Cordova to fifth place within the Metro League, and three games out from the third and final playoff spot in the Sac-Joaquin Section Division II postseason allotted to the top three teams within league.

Despite being eliminated from playoff contention, the season should not be considered a failure. The team has seen several youngsters gain experience and develop, which will bode well for the future of the program. Junior Ethan La has been a bright spot on the year, ranking in the top three statistically in multiple categories for Cordova. La ranks third in hitting percentage (.192), third in digs per set (1.1), second in serving aces (9), third in digs (40) and second in receptions (200). Additionally, sophomore setter Monbi Hobart has played well, ranking third in serving aces (8), second in digs (52) and first in assists (161).

The Lancers wrapped up their spring schedule this week with road games at Antelope and West Park, the top two teams within the Metro League. Final results of those matches were not available at press time. Although their season is ending before they would like, the team is in a good position to return next spring with a more experienced group ready to take the next step. ★

Help the family of a local hero

"Chief Warrant Officer 3 Robert Marzan. A Husband, Father, brother, Son and most importantly Hero. He lost his life while serving and protecting his country he loved. He was a lifelong member of the military, a family man and loving father. His unexpected and unfortunate passing left many of his family, friends and fellow service members at a loss. This heartbreaking loss is not something the people Robert has touched and left his mark on will ever forget. He lost his life far too young and leaves behind his wonderful wife, and two wonderful children.

The hope for this fund is to help relieve some of the travel and housing expenses associated with this unforeseen tragedy. All funds and donations raised will go directly to the Marzan family. Rest in power Robert and may we meet again."
