COMMUNITY CONNECTION

Informing, Empowering and Engaging Readers with Their Community

Regrowing America's Skills for Success: Literacy Part 2

Hidden In Plain Sight: Adult Literacy and a Call to Community

By Patsy McGavock
JustServe.org

"I'd want that to never happen again," said Heather Brandt, English language arts program specialist for San Juan Unified School District.

She shared her father's story. Over dinner at his veterans' home, a man at the table confided his final wish. Nearing the end of his life, he wanted to learn to read.

"This man, who gave his life to serve his country, can't die not being able to read," Brandt said, as she began calling program directors to find someone to teach him.

Part 1 of this column explored the third-grade tipping point, when students move from learning to read to reading to learn, and the current 43 percent pass rate. For many, that continues into adulthood.

54 percent of U.S. adults live below another tipping point, the sixth-grade level, when reading becomes independent and analytical, a reality reflected in three out of four people receiving public assistance.

Yet, according to ProLiteracy, only 10 percent of those who know literacy programs would benefit them enroll. Stigma and awareness are driving factors.

"People often associate difficulty reading with intelligence," said Casandra Keitges, adult learning and literacy supervisor at Sacramento Public Libraries. "People don't realize reading is a complex skill that must be explicitly learned."

Imagine navigating our text-heavy world through images, symbols and color codes, or through words you can sound out but don't fully understand.

Job applications, forms of all kinds, medical instructions, financial documents and digital interfaces all become barriers. This is life for many around us.

The next tipping point, eighth-grade literacy, is considered the threshold to independent daily life. It is the gateway to economic stability, stronger families, more frequent community engagement, even economic development.

Highly capable individuals can find themselves blocked from opportunity -- limits that often carry into the next generation.

A parent's literacy level is one of the strongest predictors of a child's academic success. When literacy improves for one adult, it often shifts outcomes for an entire family.

But I'm writing to readers. Our role is a sensitive one -- to notice, normalize and connect to resources.

Low literacy is often hidden in plain sight.

Brandt recalled a transaction in which an associate struggled to enter information and asked her to complete it.

"It occurred to me later that the challenge may not have been the typing -- but the words."

Recognizing those moments matters. So does how we respond.

Keitges shares face-saving indicators -- claiming they need glasses, becoming frustrated with forms or asking to take them home and relying on visual cues rather than words. Some adults frame it as wanting to finish high school.

"Technology is often also difficult," she said.

Offering support can become part of your routine. In private conversation, normalize the struggle by shifting focus to the complexity of the task. Offer help in ways that feel natural and focused on the goal, not the skill.

"Forms can be confusing. Want to go through it together?" might open a door. Or "It's hard to keep up with all the reading they expect these days."

Then invite: "I just heard of programs that help with forms, job skills and helping kids with homework. It's free and private."

Keitges emphasizes pointing them to tutoring programs. "Reading aloud with someone is not enough."

It can be as simple as sharing information -- keeping a phone number, flyer or website ready to leave behind when the moment is right. It can mean offering to make a call, attend a first session or sit alongside someone as they take the first step.

Literacy is not just an individual challenge. It is a community one -- shaping workforce readiness, shared health care costs and economic stability.

And like all community challenges, it changes when people choose to see, then engage with each other confidently and compassionately.

"Do what you can, with the capacity you have," Brandt said. "Just one step. One shift."

Because for someone, somewhere nearby, that step could be the one that finally opens the door to everything else.

In Part 3, we'll look at local programs for basic and functional literacy and how to get involved.

The Rusch Skate Park has always been an energetic spot where young people show up, push themselves and build community. Now it is more so.

The Sunrise Recreation and Parks District has partnered with Citrus Heights Arts and has added a new mural which depicts that spirit, spelling out "Rusch" in large letters. Three young silhouettes watch as each of the three figures riding on bright, neon-blue wheels

A Night of Timeless Music

Karla Bonoff Brings a Lifetime of Songs to Fair Oaks

By Ornella Rossi

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Singer-songwriter Karla Bonoff will bring decades of music to Fair Oaks offering audiences an intimate performance shaped by a career that began in one of Southern California's most influential music scenes.

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave., where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog.

"I travel with a great guitar player," Bonoff said, referring to longtime collaborator Nina Gerber. "She plays electric and acoustic, I play piano and acoustic, and I do songs from all the way back from my first album up to stuff that's more current. It's a lot of fun."

The performance reflects a shift from the large-scale touring productions of her early career to a more intimate format. Bonoff said the smaller setting allows for a closer connection with audiences.

"It's more of an unplugged kind of intimate situation," she said. "When I was opening for someone like Jackson Browne, sometimes there'd be 10,000 people. It's just a different thing."

Bonoff emerged from the Los Angeles music scene of the late 1960s and early 1970s, a period centered around the famed "Troubadour." The club became a hub for singer-songwriters who would go on to define an era, though Bonoff said the significance of the moment wasn't clear at the time.

"Those of us that were around in the late '60s, early '70s ... were really lucky to kind of come up in that time," she said. "When you're living in the middle of it,

Bonoff is scheduled to perform at 7 p.m. May 1 at the Fair Oaks Theatre Festival, 7991 California Ave, where she plans to deliver a stripped-down set featuring songs that span her catalog. Photo courtesy of Karla Bonoff you don't think about how far we would go. But looking back, I realize it was a pretty magical time."

Like many young artists, Bonoff said she was focused less on legacy and more on navigating early adulthood.

"Everyone was just young and kind of trying to learn how to write and sing and perform," she said. "You're just focused on trying to put one foot in front of the other."

Her path into music began in West Los Angeles, where she started playing guitar at age 12 and developed a passion for songwriting. Influenced by artists like Judy Collins, Bonoff said she was drawn to live performances and albums that shaped her early ambitions.

"I didn't like school very much, and I would look forward to coming home and playing the guitar," she said. "That's what my passion was."

A turning point in her career came through her association with Linda Ronstadt. Introduced through mutual connections, Bonoff found herself in the right place at the right time as Ronstadt's career was rising.

"She was looking for songs, and all of a sudden she did three of mine on one of her albums," Bonoff said. "That was kind of mind-blowing for me because I'd kind of gone from zero to 60."

Hearing her songs performed by another artist was both disorienting and affirming, she said.

"When those songs come out of your DNA, you feel them a certain way," Bonoff said. "But when you're 22 or 23 and a big artist does your song, you're so excited. It's such a validation."

Bonoff's songwriting process has remained consistent over the years, rooted primarily in melody.

"I've always come at it with the music first," she said. "The music kind of is what gives me that inspiration to write lyrics."

Now in her 70s, Bonoff said her perspective on her work has shifted toward gratitude, both for her career and for the listeners who have connected with her songs across generations.

"To see people who've been following me for 40 or 50 years come back and love those songs ... there's something gratifying about feeling like you made a tiny little notch of meaning in somebody's life," she said.

Her touring schedule has also evolved. Where once she performed multiple nights in a row with full bands and production teams, Bonoff now emphasizes pacing and sustainability.

"I used to be able to do seven nights in a row," she said. "I can't really do that now. So it's about pacing and taking care of yourself."

Despite those changes, she continues to perform regularly, driven by the connection with audiences and the enduring relevance of her music.

When asked what she hopes listeners take away from her shows, Bonoff pointed to a sense of familiarity and shared experience.

"I hope that they feel like they know me better than just from records," she said. "For people who've been coming back over and over, I just hope it brings back good stuff from their life."

Looking back, Bonoff said she views her career with a mix of pride and reflection.

"I'm proud of myself that I made it this far," she said. "If I had it to do over again, I probably would have been more disciplined, but it's easy to say that looking back. I did the best I could, and so I'm patting myself on the back at this point."

For newer artists, her advice is grounded in the fundamentals that shaped her own development.

"You really had to go out and play for people to hear you," she said. "That made us stronger as musicians and singers. Getting out and just playing is probably the best thing you can do." ★ price of freedom we all enjoy.

Veterans and their families enjoyed a hearty BBQ lunch following a presentation and posting of the colors after a brief opening ceremony.

The picnic was held at the Rusch Park Gazebo Pavilion Picnic Area at 7801 Auburn Blvd., not far from the Citrus Heights World War II Memorial in Rusch Community Park.

Veterans and their families came together to enjoy an afternoon of good food and fun with plenty of time for camaraderie and an opportunity to stop by a wide range of booths which featured resources available to them.

In the spring of 2010 Spiker, then president of the Citrus Heights Women's Club and others realized the veterans of their city had no "home of their own" and sought to create an event where they would feel welcomed home.

"It started out very official with a lengthy program of guest speakers including the mayor and city council, but now it's more relaxed and casual," she said.

Spiker said she took the idea of bringing back the Veteran's Picnic to members of the Citrus Heights American Legion, and it wasn't long before members of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) wanted to get involved. The three groups also received support from the city of Citrus Heights and planning for the event soon began.

The three groups agreed to schedule the Veteran's Picnic in April so not conflict with the American Legion Post 637's annual Battle of the Bands and BBQ fundraiser event held on Sept. 12 in Rusch Community Park.

Veterans and their families enjoyed a hearty BBQ lunch following a presentation and posting of the colors after a brief opening ceremony.

In 2010, Spiker said there was no established place in the city of Citrus Heights where they could meet to talk with others who understand their unique concerns connected to their military service.

That soon changed in 2011, when the Veterans Golf Park for Disabled Veterans, dba the Citrus Heights Veterans Center, a self-funded non-profit 501(3) (c) established by the late James and Jeanne Rounsavell opened.

Representatives of the Citrus Heights Veterans Center were on hand to describe the center's amenities and programs. The Center serves up to 150 veterans monthly by providing meals twice a week. In addition, our veterans and their guests are welcome to make use of the center's recreational amenities and educational resources during their open hours.

"The approach is much more casual that the event first started," Spiker remembered.

Games, activities, face painting and children's projects were provided by members of the DAR General John A. Sutter Chapter in Citrus Heights. Representatives of the Citrus Heights Women's Club also handed out children's fun-filled goodie bags to each family.

A BBQ lunch was provided by Wild Wade's BBQ, with all the fixings.

Resource booths included representatives of the Gold Star Moms, Citrus Heights Veterans Center Readjustment Counseling, Citrus Heights HART, Jakes Journey Home Community Assist Center, Stars and Stripes Dog Rescue & Training Center, Learning to Thrive empowerment program, and the San Juan Unified School District Transitional Kindergarten (TK) program.

"I'm very thankful for the partnership which has helped to bring the Veterans Family Picnic back, and I hope that this annual event can continue in the years ahead," Spiker said. ★

You'll be contacted when your application is approved, or if you need to provide more information.

What happens if I miss the voter registration deadline? The last day to register online for the primary election is May 18. If you are registering or re-registering less than 15 days before May 18, you must complete same-day voter registration and request your ballot in person at your county elections office or polling location.

How do I change my political party if I'm already registered? You'll need to re-register to vote.

What if I need help with voting? What if I need voter information in a language other than English? The secretary of state's office has voter instructions in the following languages: Spanish, Hindi, Chinese, Japanese, Khmer, Korean, Tagalog, Thai and Vietnamese. Your county elections office may offer additional languages.

When will I receive my voter guide? The statewide voter information guide will be available online by April and will be mailed to voters later that month.

What am I voting on? The June primary election is the first opportunity for Californians to choose which candidates will appear on the general election ballot in November. Unlike some other states, California's primaries are nonpartisan, so the top two vote-getters in each race will advance to the November election, regardless of political party.

The ballot is packed with state and federal races, most notably the race to succeed Gov. Gavin Newsom, who is term-limited and cannot run for reelection. In addition to the governor's race, voters will be asked to choose candidates for Congress, the state Legislature and a slate of statewide offices including insurance commissioner and treasurer.

Can I leave work to vote? Yes. California requires time off for voting if employees don't have enough time outside work hours. You can take as much time as you need, but employers are only required to pay for a maximum of two hours. Employers may require advance notice. The time off must be at the beginning or the end of your shift. Employers are required to post a notice about this 10 days before a statewide election.

How can I track my ballot?

Visit california.ballottrax.net/voter/ to register for California's BallotTrax tool, where you can check your ballot status and opt in to receive email or text notifications.

Is my ballot safe? Yes, voting by mail or dropping your ballot in an approved drop box is a safe and efficient way to vote. Fraudulent voting is uncommon and incredibly difficult given California's strict voter verification procedures. Mail-in ballots will only be sent to voters whose address and identity have been verified by county election officials. Their vote will only be counted once those officials verify that the voter's signature on the envelope matches the one on file.

You can find more information about California's election and voting process on the secretary of state's website. The office takes any allegations of election fraud seriously. Anyone can submit a complaint using the following form sos.ca.gov/elections/publications-and-resources/voter-complaint.

What if I have special circumstances? What should I do if I marked my ballot wrong, or otherwise messed it up? If you haven't turned it in yet, you can exchange your mail ballot for a new one at an elections office, ask an election official at the polling place for a new ballot, or vote using a provisional ballot. If you have mailed or turned in your ballot, there's no way to fix it. Contact your county elections office for a new ballot.

What if the signature on my ballot doesn't match the one on file? County election officials check the signatures on the return envelope against signatures on your voter registration card to make sure no one tries to improperly cast your ballot. It still remains confidential; the ballot is separated from the envelope before it is counted.

Voters with ballots with missing signatures or ones that don't match are notified and given an opportunity to correct the problem before the election is certified.

What happens if I don't receive my ballot? Contact your county elections office.

Help! I dropped off my ballot to a drop box in the wrong county. Don't worry – the county will pass it on to the correct elections office.

I forgot to detach the stub from my ballot. Can I open the sealed envelope and reseal it myself? You can, but the secretary of state's office recommends contacting your local county elections office. They'll ultimately be processing your ballot, and they can offer the best guidance on whether you should reopen it or just leave the stub attached. ★

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

The Ping Pong Balls Are Coming

Yes, the NBA regular season is over, and our hometown ballers are once again watching from the sidelines.

With a grand total of 22 wins the 2025-26 season turned out very different from what the Sactown faithful envisioned.

Within a couple of weeks, the ping pong balls will determine the order of the upcoming draft, and as the Dallas Mavericks can attest, anything is likely to happen.

The Kings franchise and fans collectively will hold their breath, as anything can happen when it comes to the first five picks.

Without a doubt the Kings will get a high draft pick, but the real question is, how high.

Experts and pundits from all corners believe we're looking at one of the deepest drafts in many years, and that bodes well for Sacramento.

But what can we take away from a season bereft with disappointments.

For one thing we can look forward to a starting unit at the start of next season that is 100 percent healthy, and hope that the first-round draft choice in the upcoming draft makes an immediate impact. Something like De'Aaron Fox did when he became one of the best point guards in the history of the Kings franchise.

And what should we make of Keegan Murray after a season of injuries? Will this talented wing man once again return to a consistent 3-point shooter as he was in his rookie year just four short seasons ago?

Keegan had an amazing rookie season followed by one head scratching season after another as his 3-point shooting declined year after year.

Keegan set an NBA rookie record by recording 206 3-pointers, and Sacramento fans thought this was just the beginning.

Sadly, although Keegan shot an amazing 41 percent from beyond the arc, he would not accomplish this again. In the following three seasons Murray shot 35 percent, 34 percent, and in an injury shortened 2026 a dismal 27 percent.

So, will the real Keegan Murray please stand up. The Kings will in all likelihood hold onto Murray and resist trade offers, as his value has slipped just as his percentage has.

The real question is can this talented player return to form and show Kings fans that his rookie year was no fluke.

I believe he can and he will.

Zach Lavine has received considerable criticism for his drop in 3-point shooting this year as well, but the question is can Zach return to normal next season and provide Murray with someone that carry spread the floor.

Once again, I believe that's exactly what Lavine can do, and if he does, and Domantas Sabonis can stay healthy, look out western division, because here comes the Kings.

We don't know what GM Scott Perry is thinking of, and whether he will keep this group together, but we honestly never had a real opportunity to see this group play together.

Let's not forget that DeMar DeRozan is one of the most talented mid-range shooters in the league, and like Zach Lavine, can open the floor for others.

The point guard position is once again the conundrum it has been since the departure of DeAaron Fox, and we must wait and see if the draft will provide front court help or perhaps the point guard the Kings have been looking for.

Devin Carter and Nique Clifford had moments this past season, but neither has made the statement that says the point guard for the future has arrived.

Not to be forgotten is the arrival and surprisingly so of Dylan Cardwell and Precious Achiuwa. Both players acquitted themselves admirably, and Kings fans will be watching to see if one or both can take that next step in their NBA career and become a force to be reckoned with.

A lot to chew on for the Sacramento faithful, and opinions are all over the board, but for my money I hope that Scott Perry looks hard before he leaps.

There is a lot of talent on this team right now, and the real question is whether they can gel.

A winning franchise is much closer than last season's 22 wins would make you think, so say your prayers Kings fans and keep your fingers crossed.

We are one impact player from watching a playoff team so keep your eyes on those ping pong balls and let's all root together! ★

Candidates For Governor Ought to Get Serious About These Pressing Issues

By Dan Walters,
CALMatters.org

Eric Swalwell's abrupt departure from the campaign for governor due to revelations about sexual transgressions leaves nine men and women remaining as serious contenders for spots on the November ballot.

So far their campaigns have produced a scattershot of positions and promises that have only occasionally touched on California's real world issues. However, by sheer coincidence, there's been a recent flurry of think tank reports and articles on those issues that should be required reading for would-be governors and moderators of forums to question the candidates.

In no particular order:

Schools

The Public Policy Institute of California delved into the worrisome lack of academic achievement among in California's public schools. It notes that in state tests just 49% of students met or exceeded state standards in English language and 37% in math.

Results of federal tests were even less satisfactory, with only 29% of fourth-graders and 28% of eighth-graders proficient in reading and 35% and 25%, respectively, in math.

Mississippi, long a laggard in academic skills, got serious about raising reading comprehension by adopting phonics. California, after years of political debate, finally semi-adopted phonics, although not completely requiring it. An article in Atlantic magazine reveals that in Mississippi, just adopting phonics was not enough; statewide mandates, coupled with state oversight, were needed to make phonics work — a suggestion maybe California needs to follow suit.

Jobs

Outgoing Gov. Gavin Newsom loves to brag about California's $4 trillion economy but rarely mentions the darker side — several years with virtually no job growth. The Public Policy Institute of California digs into that stagnation and reports, "Job gains have been limited to a few key sectors like health care and local government, while stock market gains have been driven by AI. Unemployment has not increased much in the past two years, though it remains higher than in 2022 and above almost all other states.

"One major challenge for the next governor will be providing expensive services like health care to a growing older adult population while the share of workers shrinks," PPIIC says.

The conservative Pacific Research Institute plows the same economic ground in a report. "The data shows that California's economic challenges are no longer theoretical — they are measurable and worsening," said Wayne Winegarden, one of the report's authors. "The state's weak job growth and shrinking private sector signal that California is at a crossroads. Without meaningful policy reforms, the gap between California and the rest of the country will continue to widen."

One aspect of California's economic sluggishness is an outflow of workers due to its sky-high living costs. Another report from the Public Policy Institute of California says the state has seen a net loss of nearly 1.3 million people since 2020. The outflow, coupled with a record low birth rate, makes California especially reliant on immigration for new workers, which in turn is affected by turmoil in federal immigration policy.

Homes

A study by UC-Berkeley's California Policy Lab delves even further into the state's loss of population to other states, citing high living costs, especially for housing, as the prime factor.

It notes that "in 2012 the state's median household income was roughly sufficient to qualify for a mortgage on a mid-tier home, but it now falls substantially short of the level needed to qualify for even a bottom-tier home."

However, those who abandon California more easily become homeowners due to much lower prices and see improvement in their overall financial wellbeing.

This is not an exhaustive catalogue of California issues that the campaigns for governor should address. Water supply and homelessness also need attention, as well as the insurance crisis and the state's chronic budget deficits. But these reports are a good start for serious debate.

Dan Walters is one of the most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state's political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★

Social Security Matters

Must I Set Up a Social Security Account to Enroll in Medicare?

By Russell Gloor,
AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I turn 65 this November 2026. Someone told me I need to set up a Social Security account at least 3 months ahead of time before applying for Medicare for the first time. I do not intend to take any Social Security benefits until, perhaps, age 67 or later. Please advise and thank you. Signed: Looking Ahead

Dear Looking Ahead: You don't technically need to "set up" an online SSA account to enroll in Medicare, but it would be more efficient to do so. We always recommend creating your online "my Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount well before you are ready to claim your Social Security benefits. That's because you can monitor your projected Social Security benefits to help you decide when to claim, but it also facilitates other things you might need to do at the Social Security Administration (such as claiming your SS retirement benefits online and enrolling in Medicare online).

As for Medicare, you can enroll in Medicare up to 3 months before the month you turn 65, and you can contact the Social Security Administration by phone up to 3 months prior in order to schedule an appointment to enroll over the phone (call 1.800.772.1213 to make the appointment). You can enroll via telephone, even if you don't have your "my Social Security" online account set up. However, an advantage to creating your personal online Social Security account is that you could then enroll in Medicare online as described at this link: www.ssa.gov/medicare/sign-up. And you can, as you wish to do, enroll only in Medicare without also taking your Social Security benefits at this time.

I want to also make you aware that if you are still working and have "creditable" healthcare coverage from your employer ("creditable" is an employer group plan with at least 20 participants), then you can delay enrolling in Medicare until your employer coverage ends (thus saving the usual Medicare Part B monthly premium). When your employer's healthcare coverage ends, you will enter a Special Enrollment Period during which you can enroll in Medicare without incurring a Late Enrollment Penalty.

Finally, please be aware that whenever you claim your Social Security benefits, you will be automatically enrolled in Medicare Part A (inpatient hospitalization coverage) and Part B (coverage for outpatient medical services). Since there is a monthly premium associated with Medicare Part B (but not with Part A), you can choose to decline Part B if you are still working and covered by your employer's creditable healthcare plan, until your employer's healthcare coverage ends.

As far as showdowns between popes and secular leaders go, President Trump versus Pope LEO hardly rates.

Pope LEO hasn't forced Trump to come see him and stand for three days in the snow, the way Pope Gregory VII did to Henry IV, the Holy Roman Emperor, in 1077. Nor has he issued an interdict, a tactic favored by Pope Innocent III, against the United States.

On the other hand, Trump hasn't sacked Rome and forced the pope to submit to his will, in a repeat of Emperor Charles V's 16th-century gambit against Pope Clement VII.

It's still been a remarkably testy exchange between Pope LEO and Trump over the Iran war. The president of the United States -- stung by the pontiff's criticisms of his decision to launch the war and his ensuing rhetoric -- has denounced Pope LEO in his characteristic terms, all but saying that His Holiness "doesn't have what it takes."

It's easy, meanwhile, to interpret LEO as taking veiled shots at Trump. "Enough with the idolatry of self and money!" is not an unusual sentiment for a Holy Father, but who can be certain he didn't have our guilt president in mind when he said it in a homily the other day?

A pope who doesn't

rebuke a president of the United States for threatening to bring a foreign civilization to an end isn't doing his job, yet it's important to understand that the Bible is not an injunction for pacifism, and it doesn't entail a condemnation of the Iran war.

The Bible presents a realistic view of the inevitability of human conflict. As Ecclesiastes says, there is "a time for war, and a time for peace." In the books of Joshua, Judges, Samuel or Kings, it is often a time for war. The key question is whether or not a war is righteous -- the difference between Israel, say, prevailing in the Battle of Deborah, or seeing the Babylonians destroy Jerusalem.

On Palm Sunday, Pope LEO cited Isaiah 1:15 for the proposition that God doesn't listen to the prayers of those who wage war: "Even though you make many prayers, I will not listen: your hands are full of blood." The context of this verse, though, is the injustice and corruption of the people of Judah -- in other words, their self-abasement.

It makes no sense, as a broader matter, to cite Isaiah as an injunction against waging war or evidence that God pays no heed to the prayers of those who fight. Later in the book, King Hezekiah of Judah prays for God's help in staying an Assyrian army threatening Jerusalem, and 185,000 Assyrian soldiers are struck down.

Jesus preaches love and mercy, of course, but that is not a warrant for pacifism. The great Christian thinkers St. Augustine and St. Thomas Aquinas gave us just war theory, reconciling Christian ethics with the existence of evil in the world and the necessity of warfare. According to this view, which is embraced by the Catholic Church, a war can only be fought for a just cause and has to be waged in keeping with moral standards, minimizing harm to civilians.

Pope LEO has wrongly made it sound as though no war can possibly be just, and regardless, his opposition to the Iran war isn't dispositive or binding on anyone else.

The pontiff might consider that Trump first talked of attacking Iran when the regime was in the midst of slaughtering thousands of protesters in the streets, and if the current government fell and gave way to one with more respect for the rights of its people, it would be a boon to Iranians and a large step toward a safer and more peaceful region.

Trump's wild threats are understandably anathema to Pope LEO, but they don't define the Iran war or change the fact that the Bible portrays warfare as a tragic fact of human existence. Yes, as Isaiah says, they shall beat their swords into plowshares, but not yet.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF VERNON GUSTAV WITTKOPP
CASE NO. 26PR000972

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Vernon Gustav Wittkopp.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Mark Wittkopp, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Mark Wittkopp be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows May 14, 2026, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Petitioner is: Mark Wittkopp, 10817 Segovia Way, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670; 415-846-3209

Whereas, the beneficial interest in the Deed of Trust is now owned by the Secretary, pursuant to an Assignment of Deed of Trust dated 10/11/2023, recorded on 11/3/2023, as instrument number 202311030386, in the Office of the County Recorder, Sacramento County, California; and Whereas, a default has been made in the covenants and conditions of the Deed of Trust in that the payment due on 3/5/2026, was not made and remains wholly unpaid as of the date of this notice, and no payment has been made sufficient to restore the loan to currency; and Whereas, the entire amount delinquent as of 5/26/2026 is $478,690.71; and Whereas, by virtue of this default, the Secretary has declared the entire amount of the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust to be immediately due and payable; Now Therefore, pursuant to powers vested in me by the Single Family Mortgage Foreclosure Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. 3751 et seq., by 24 CFR part 27, subpart B, and by the Secretary's designation of Total Lender Solutions, Inc., as Foreclosure Commissioner, recorded on 9/12/2018 as instrument number 201809121475, notice is hereby given that on 5/26/2026 at 1:30 PM local time, all real and personal property at or used in connection with the following described property will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder: Legal Description: Lot 62, As Shown On The Official Map Of Vineyard, Recorded In The Office Of The Sacramento County Recorder On October 16, 1979, In Book 135 Of Maps, Map No. 16. Commonly known as: 8156 Chenin Blanc Ln, Fair Oaks Area, CA 95628 The sale will be held at East main entrance to County Courthouse 720 9th Street, Sacramento, CA. The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development will bid an estimate of $478,690.71. There will be no proration of taxes, rents or other income or liabilities, except that the purchaser will pay, at or before closing, his prorata share of any real estate taxes that have been paid by the Secretary to the date of the foreclosure sale. When making their bids, all bidders except the Secretary must submit a deposit totaling $47,869.07 [10% of the Secretary's bid] in the form of a certified check or cashier's check made out to the Secretary of HUD. Each oral bid need not be accompanied by a deposit. If the successful bid is oral, a deposit of $47,869.07 must be presented before the bidding is closed. The deposit is nonrefundable. The remainder of the purchase price must be delivered within 30 days of the sale or at such other time as the Secretary may determine for good cause shown, time being of the essence. This amount, like the bid deposits, must be delivered in the form of a certified or cashier's check. If the Secretary is the high bidder, he need not pay the bid amount in cash. The successful bidder will pay all conveyancing fees, all real estate and other taxes that are due on or after the delivery of the remainder of the payment and all other costs associated with the transfer of title. At the conclusion of the sale, the deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them. The Secretary may grant an extension of time within which to deliver the remainder of the payment. All extensions will be for 15-day increments for a fee of $500.00, paid in advance. The extension fee shall be in the form of a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Secretary of HUD. If the high bidder closes the sale prior to the expiration of any extension period, the unused portion of the extension fee shall be applied toward the amount due. If the high bidder is unable to close the sale within the required period, or within any extensions of time granted by the Secretary, the high bidder may be required to forfeit the cash deposit or, at the election of the foreclosure commissioner after consultation with the HUD Field Office representative, will be liable to HUD for any costs incurred as a result of such failure. The commissioner may, at the direction of the HUD field office Representative, offer the Property to the second highest bidder for an amount equal to the highest price offered by that bidder. There is no right of redemption, or right of possession based upon a right of redemption, in the mortgagor or others subsequent to a foreclosure completed pursuant to the Act. Therefore, the Foreclosure commissioner will issue a Deed to the purchaser(s) upon receipt of the entire purchase price in accordance with the terms of the sale as provided herein. HUD does not guarantee that the property will be vacant. The amount that must be paid if the Mortgage is to be reinstated prior to the scheduled sale is $478,334.98, as of 5/25/2026, plus all other amounts that would be due under the mortgage agreement if payments under the mortgage had not been accelerated, advertising costs and postage expenses incurred in giving notice, mileage by the most reasonable road distance for posting notices and for the Foreclosure Commissioner's attendance at the sale, reasonable and customary costs incurred for title and lien record searches, the necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred by the Foreclosure Commissioner for recording documents, a commission for the Foreclosure Commissioner, and all other costs incurred in connection with the foreclosure prior to reinstatement.
