CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - With a bundle of new amenities recently provided by Measure G funding, Carmichael Park users can witness their tax dollars at work.

An April 17 ceremony dedicated pickleball courts, restrooms, a shade structure and new toddler play facilities at Carmichael's most central park. These combined projects cost more than $1.6 million.

Carmichael's six courts were carved from a pre-existing tennis area. At courtside, a roofed structure enables seating and shade.

SacRT to Expand Wheelchair Accessible Service

SacRT News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Regional Transit District (SacRT) has been awarded $3.76 million in California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) Access for All (AFA) Program funding to continue and expand its current SacRT Flex Microtransit pilot program, which provides on demand wheelchair accessible transportation for seniors, low-income and individuals with disabilities throughout Sacramento County.

SacRT serves as the CPUC designated Local Access Fund Administrator (LAFA) for Sacramento County and administers the Program locally using CPUC's established guidelines, eligibility criteria and scoring requirements.

The SacRT Flex shared-ride neighborhood service earned the highest score based on its demonstrated ability to improve mobility, reduce wait times, and expand equitable access to on demand wheelchair accessible vehicle (WAV) service in Sacramento County.

Pending Board approval on Monday, May 11, SacRT will continue to operate the service in partnership with Nomad Transit, LLC, a subsidiary of Via Transportation.

The three year award will support WAV operations from July 1 through June 30, 2029, and will help SacRT sustain and grow the existing SacRT Flex WAV pilot program, increase WAV vehicle availability and reduce wait times, explore expanded weekend operating hours and enhance curb to curb, on demand service for individuals with disabilities.

"Ensuring equitable access to transportation is central to SacRT's mission," said Henry Li, SacRT General Manager/CEO. "This funding allows us to expand an already successful pilot and better serve community members who rely on WAV transportation for daily mobility and independence."

CPUC allows transit agencies to serve as both the Local Access Fund Administrator and an Access Provider when they meet Program Guidelines and demonstrate community

Free Music and All That Jazz

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Jazz fans are invited to five free concerts at Tim's Music Store auditorium on Saturday, May 2.

The Jazz Ensemble Festival event is a spin-off from the Sacramento Valley Symphonic Band Festival that annually fills Carmichael Park in summer.

"This year, we had more bands apply for our June 6 and 7 festival than we could accommodate," said organizer Grant Parker. "So, we decided to give jazz groups their own date. We hope to make this festival an annual event."

per band, ensembles will each take 45-minute sets. Audience seating will be provided; admission is free. Parker will host the gathering.

"The room is carpeted, so there's no dancing surface," said Parker. "However, we won't get cross if people are inspired to get up and dance. We want everyone to have a good time."

Sets begin at 11 a.m. and continue with downbeats on the hour until 4 pm.

Sacramento Fine Arts Center Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Sac Arts News Release

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - The idea for an art center started as a small spark four decades ago and grew into an established and integral community cultural center. It was a “cold day in December” when a group of volunteers entered some old high school classrooms to clean up and launch their ideas according to an early newsletter. First President/Executive Director Marj Long also noted the rooms were piled high with junk, covered with paint, dirt and with clay balls sticking to the ceiling.

The Sacramento Fine Arts Center (Sac Arts) was founded in April 1986 when five independent regional art clubs joined together to establish a place where they could meet and display their art. Jan Misuklin (of WASH) and one of the center founders remembered Marj Long saying, “I think I found us a home.” The new home was in the La Sierra Community Center located in Carmichael. Two of the original clubs, Northern California Arts (NCA), and Watercolor Artists of Sacramento Horizons (WASH) continue to be the core active groups at the center. Numerous other artists, groups and organizations meet, teach and practice their skills on a regular basis at the center which is open thirty-two hours a week.

The Sac Arts home, a 1959 building, is owned by Carmichael Recreation and Park District and is part of the La Sierra Community Center that was established after the La Sierra High School closed in 1983. It includes gallery space, along with working studio facilities.

Sac Arts First Chair Margaret Pollan said “In short order, the volunteer artists, spouses and friends reshaped the demolished high school art rooms into inviting spaces for exhibits, classes and club meetings. When the Park District saw what was being accomplished, they added more space from the garage. That gave us Gallery 3.”

Ron Cuppy and Ken DeYoung of the Park District provided cleaning supplies and gallons of paint to prepare the two original rooms. Volunteers worked through the cold months of January, February and March to prepare for the April opening. Operations began with mostly donated funds. The Florin League of Fine Arts (later disbanded) even held an art sale in South Sacramento to help.

There have been a number of additions and improvements over the years. Old garage doors were taken down and glass windows and double doors were installed to create “the studio.” The “meeting room” was created after maintenance installed a firewall. The kitchen, hallway, office and rental gallery were remodeled in 1999-2000 with help from the Sheriff’s Department for a “community work project.” And again, it was the generous donations from members and the community that helped pay for the work.

Sac Arts and its volunteer army continue to look to the future. The Sac Arts Center got a major clean-up/spruce up in the past few months with some serious elbow grease. There are also new art projects along with the return of popular events. This 40th anniversary year includes an Anniversary Show along with special events and classes. ‘Art of the Automobile’ is making a premier in September. Other events throughout the year include the popular Art Trivia Night, Black and White Show, Magnum Opus, Ars Gratia Artis, Animal House, Go with the Flow, and Bold Expressions, along with regularly scheduled events, classes and collaborations.

One of the latest additions making this a “banner” year are twenty-one 10 by 3.5 feet colorful PVC mesh banners now covering the front windows of the building. There were 130 submissions for the banner designs that were funded by a grant from the county Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT), also commonly known as “hotel bed tax.” The funds are awarded to organizations that carry out community-based programs, including arts, culture and community development. Other TOT funded projects from previous years include decks of the very popular playing cards displaying familiar Sacramento Valley locales, and “Savoring Sacramento: An Artists’ Cookbook.” Both are available in the Sac Arts gift shop along with other original and creative gifts.

Sac Arts is entirely self-supported and run by a small staff and local volunteers. It thrives through fees from memberships, contributions, sales, shows, art classes, grants, and fundraisers. Membership in Sac Arts allows artists and art lovers to join art clubs, enter numerous local and national juried art shows, attend classes, workshops and social events. Sac Arts brings heart to community art.

“We are a hidden jewel in Sacramento area,” said original Board member Joan McMurray. “People who live close by are still surprised that there is an art center that is in the Sacramento area, not downtown.”

The Sacramento Fine Arts Center is located at 5330 Gibbons Drive, Suite B, Carmichael. The center is open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. ★

Bandleader Recalled in Mother’s Day Shows

By MPG Staff

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Carmichael singer Susan Skinner has assembled alumni musicians of the John Skinner Band to celebrate Mother’s Day, May 10.

The seven-piece ensemble will recreate Skinner’s 1997 dance CD at Twin Lotus Thai jazz restaurant, Sacramento.

“Mom’s Day is a great theme for the occasion,” said the bandleader’s widow, Susan Skinner. “John absolutely adored his mother. She showed up proudly whenever the band played.”

Widowed school-teacher Pat Skinner raised her trumpeter son in Orland, California. The child prodigy turned professional and began to lead bands from the age of 15. His military – then commercial – pilot career did not limit Skinner’s musicianship.

“After his Air Force service, John was able to schedule his civilian flying around band gigs,” recalled his wife.

Skinner’s ‘Complete Ballroom Dance’ was recorded at Paradise Studios, Sacramento, in 1997.

“The idea was to give dancers a variety of tempos, all on one CD,” said Susan Skinner. “John and I danced, so we knew how couples hated to leave the floor to change recordings. We thought carefully about song lengths and the order of tempos — so dancers would not exhaust themselves. Our album was became a hit all over the USA and sold out several reprints”

For the Mother’s Day recreation, Susan Skinner found three veteran band members (including herself) who were on the original recording.

“Sadly, others had died or moved away” she said. “But everyone in our alumni septet has played with the band. We’re excited to honor John this way. We’ll also have Paradise Studio co-owner Craig Long in the audience, plus dozens of fans who danced to Skinner music over the years. Sadly, there’s no dance floor at the venue. But toe-tapping is definitely encouraged.”

Mothers in attendance will be honored with a free copy of the CD.

“I’ve still got some left,” said Skinner. “I know John would love to see them shared with moms on this special day.”

May 10 performances of the Skinner Alumni Band are at 5 and 7 p.m. Reservations are required. Visit www.twonlotusthai.com to reserve. Twin Lotus Thai is located at 8345 Folsom Blvd., Sacramento. ★

Sacramento Honors its Agriculture at Ag Day

By Khushi Salgia

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA) held its Ag Day convention in front of the Capitol building on April 21 following National Ag Day on March 24. Ag Day, established by the Agriculture Council of America in 1973, is meant to increase public awareness of agriculture's vital role in society as well as honor the contributions of farmers, ranchers and agribusiness in providing safe, abundant food and fiber while highlighting career opportunities in the industry.

California makes up 11 percent of the U.S. population yet contributes to 17 percent of its agriculture. Thus, this year's Ag Day theme was "California Leads," with the intention of acknowledging and celebrating the richness in California's variety and innovation in the agriculture sector.

The event began with a welcome address from CDFA Secretary Karen Ross, who highlighted the vital role of agriculture in California and emphasized the importance of sharing knowledge and collaborating on new innovations.

"Ag education is important," Ross said. Ross also introduced the California Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom scholarship recipients and the Leopold Conservation award winners.

According to Sofia Goss, CDFA representative of the Fairs and Expositions branch, the main purpose of organizing an event such as this one is to "promote agriculture."

"Our state is agriculturally driven," Goss said.

One of these agriculture initiatives is the California Wheat Commission (CWC), which supports research for wheat plants. They partner with the UC Davis wheat breeding program to test qualities like nitrogen or genetic attributes of wheat.

Essentially, the idea is to create "better economics for wheat," according to Alejandra Andrade, the CWC lab manager. One of their projects focuses on making wheat safe for those with celiac disease or gluten intolerances.

Beyond efforts to expand access to wheat products, Ag Day organizers also highlighted milk's nutritional benefits. A representative for the "Got Milk?" campaign, in place since 1993, said the group promotes milk consumption among all age groups, noting its role in bone health.

In addition to promoting calcium intake, the Dairy Council was present as a nutrition education organization. They are funded by Dairy Farmer and one of their initiatives is to conduct research to forecast agricultural trends as well as bring a live cow to elementary schools to teach kids where milk comes from.

"We are so disconnected from our food nowadays," said Amy Delisio, executive director of Dairy Council. "Most kids in urban areas have never really been to a farm."

District One Assemblywoman Heather Hadwick brought three cows in from her own farm, two adults and a baby. As a farmer herself, as well as the assemblywoman for most of Sacramento's rural districts, her mission at Ag Day is "bringing the district to Sacramento" as many in the urban areas are not aware of the issues facing farms today. One of the biggest concerns is wolves, which tend to be the biggest predators for farm animals.

"We're in the middle of a crisis," she said.

According to Hadwick, there have been a hundred kills in the past year alone in district one. Because wolves are an endangered species and therefore protected by the government, there is nothing anyone can do currently to mitigate the killings.

While wolves are the biggest issue facing cattle ranchers specifically, water is the main concern of farmers.

"They never have enough," Hadwick said.

The final top concern in agriculture is inflation. According to Hadwick, costs have increased 55 percent in the past two years. Because district one is a low-income county, they cannot raise prices without it drastically affecting people's livelihoods.

In addition to resources surrounding farming, crops and agriculture, there were also booths sharing technological innovations that can improve efficiency and sustainability. One of these is a company called Sunzaun, a vertical solar company.

"We pride ourselves on our dual life systems," said Tia Hanes, business developer at Sunzaun.

The dual life system called agrivoltaics — the integration of solar panels and agriculture on the same land — allows for simultaneous food and renewable energy production. It increases land-use efficiency, reduces water consumption and provides shade for crops and livestock. It leads to diversified farmer income, reduced electricity costs and potential for increased crop yields, while overcoming land-use competition.

Another ag tech organization, F3i, is a non-profit which acts as a bridge between university research (UC Merced, Fresno State and UC Agriculture and Natural Resources) and practical field applications to strengthen food security, supporting ag-based industries with new technology, workforce development and economic growth.

"Our mission is to build Sacramento into an ag tech system," said Ryan Dinubilo, director of innovation at F3i.

Women-led initiatives such as Miss Rodeo California and California Women for Agriculture (CWA) were also present at the Ag Day event; 2026 was declared the "International Year of the Woman Farmer by the United Nations. The initiative focuses on improving women's access to land, financing and technical training to strengthen global food security.

"Rodeo is part of our history as ranchers," said Rachel Lancaster, Miss California Rodeo Salinas 2025 winner.

Despite rainy weather, Ag Day drew agriculture leaders from across California, underscoring the event's statewide reach and impact. ★

Child Support Helps Local Families Thrive

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County's Department of Child Support Services (DCSS) plays an important role in supporting families and promoting the well-being of children across the community. Through a range of services, DCSS helps parents establish and maintain reliable financial support for their children, creating greater stability for families.

"Our goal is to support families in a way that creates stability for children and helps parents navigate the process with confidence," said DCSS Director Dalen Fredrickson.

What DCSS Does

DCSS provides free services to families, including establishing child support orders, locating parents, collecting and distributing payments, modifying orders when circumstances change and helping ensure accurate tracking of support.

These services are available to both parents receiving and paying support, with a focus on fairness, consistency and child well-being.

Nikole Smith work closely with families to make the process as clear and manageable as possible, so they can focus on what matters most – their children.

"I am a mother. I've had times where I've cried on the phone with the individual as they're crying because I can relate to their circumstance. I approach each situation with being empathetic and meeting people where they're at. And I would want someone to treat me the same way," said Smith.

Local Impact

The impact of child support services in Sacramento County is significant. In 2025, DCSS collected $134,436,544, a 4 percent increase from the previous year. "Every dollar collected represents real support for families, helping cover everyday needs like food, clothing and housing," said Fredrickson.

On a monthly basis, the department distributes more than $11 million in child support payments, providing consistent financial support that many families rely on.

Child support is widely recognized as an important tool in improving outcomes for children and families. Research shows that consistent support is associated with greater financial stability, increased parental involvement, improved educational outcomes and reduced family stress.

A Focus on Access and Support

DCSS is committed to making services accessible and easy to navigate. Participation in child support services is voluntary, and staff work closely with families to provide guidance, answer questions and connect them with available resources.

We understand every family's situation is different, and we're here to provide support in a way that is respectful, safe, and responsive to their needs. "We want you to feel safe through the process and know that your information is confidential," said Smith.

The department also prioritizes safety and confidentiality, with protections in place for families experiencing sensitive situations, including family violence.

Looking Ahead

As conversations continue at the state level about ways to improve access to child support services, Sacramento County remains focused on its mission: helping children and families thrive.

Residents interested in learning more about child support services or enrolling can visit the county website or contact DCSS directly for assistance at 1-866-901-3212. ★

"With the growing demand for our services, investing in a modern EHR system is critical to ensuring we continue to meet the needs of our patients with excellence and efficiency," said Marie Leatherby, executive director of Sacramento Life Center. "We are incredibly grateful to the Jerome and Wanda Hart Foundation for supporting this important step forward in strengthening our care delivery."

In recent years, Sacramento Life Center has seen a significant increase in patient volume due to rising costs of living, increased immigration and expanded outreach efforts. Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

A Top Five Pick?

While it's true that the interest in basketball has dropped a notch with the end of the 2025/2026 season there remains a vibrant group of Sacramento Kings fans that are still very much engaged.

That is perhaps the singular prevailing reason the Kings fought through the potential move of the team to Seattle Washington just a dozen years ago and not only remained in Sacramento but built a state-of-the-art arena to boot.

But exactly where are we today? Are the Kings going through another tepid off season waiting for the inevitable uninspiring beginning of a new season or is something of real substance in the air.

In less than 2 weeks, ping pong balls will once again determine the fate of organizations all over this country, and in truth the Kings stand a better than average chance of grasping one of the top prospects from the college ranks.

From my perspective, with the draft being as deep as has been prognosticated, I believe the Kings will garner one of the top five picks, and if that is the case, there will be players available that can make an immediate impact on this franchise.

At the very least the new arrival will put butts in the seats and provide renewed enthusiasm for what the upcoming season might become.

What the Kings want and what will be actually available are two different things, so be prepared to get a game changer but not necessarily a future all-star.

Assuming A.J. Dybantsa, Cameron Boozer, and Caleb Wilson are already gone, it's quite likely the Kings may have to take a player of smaller stature, and that could be one Darius Acuff Jr.

All that Darius did for the Arkansas Razorback's last season was put up 23.5 points per game, 3.1 rebounds and 6.4 assists with a field goal percentage of 48%.

Unlike experiments of the past, the Kings would be getting what experts and pundits believe is a legitimate blue chipper, a player that by himself can make the needle move in a positive direction.

Playoff teams rarely operate effectively without a true point guard, and since the departure of DeAaron Fox, the Kings have found themselves floundering in that category.

California's Candidates for Governor Must Prioritize Schools' Education Deficits

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

For years, polls about California voter attitudes have found public schools a consistent concern.

In a very recent Public Policy Institute of California poll, responses were mixed about whether the public school system is moving in the right direction, but 89% said it needs to change.

That concern is well founded, given that California's students don't do very well in national tests of academic skills, vis-à-vis those in other states. It's one of California's most vexing — and most important — issues and should be commanding attention from those who hold public office.

Nevertheless, when the six leading candidates for governor responded to questions during a 90-minute televised debate Wednesday night, education came up only once in a question from a viewer, not the debate moderators, and was directed at Republican Steve Hilton.

Asked how he would improve schools, Hilton responded with "learn from what works in other states." It was actually a valid response, because California officials have generally resisted learning about learning from other states that have succeeded in raising test scores — Mississippi on reading, for instance.

Candidates' intentions about the single largest item in the state's budget — $81.3 billion this year — are particularly important because outgoing Gov. Gavin Newsom has proposed to downgrade the state school superintendent's position to that of an advisory role, while vesting primary responsibility for education in whoever succeeds him next January.

Moderators of future debates should make at least an effort to explore the candidates' approaches to education, particularly how they would raise academic achievement that now is mediocre at best.

On the positive side of the public school situation, California has finally embraced phonics as the most effective way of teaching elementary students to read, although it's not yet mandatory. And on Wednesday, a few hours before the televised debate snubbed education, the Senate Education Committee advanced legislation to do something about California's even lower ranking in math skills.

Just 37% of California students perform at grade level in math, and the state ranks 43rd nationally in fourth-grade math proficiency. Moreover, there are distinct gaps between kids from families that struggle to afford living in California and their more privileged classmates.

Senate Bill 1067 would establish a statewide math screening system for kids in kindergarten and 1st and 2nd grades, to identify those who struggle with numbers and need extra help. It's modeled after a similar system to gauge reading skills.

The bill is backed by EdVoice, an education reform advocate, and carried by Sen. Akilah Weber Pierson, a San Diego Democrat and daughter of Secretary of State Shirley Weber, who tirelessly championed educational reform while a state legislator.

"California has already taken an important step forward by identifying and addressing reading challenges early with K-2 universal screening for reading difficulties. SB 1067 applies that same common-sense approach to math," Marshall Tuck, CEO of EdVoice, said in a statement. "Students who struggle with foundational math skills in the early grades continue to fall further behind without timely, targeted intervention. This bill helps prepare students for future success in school, career, and life."

Mastering basic reading and math skills in the early years of school are not only important unto themselves, but they're vital for students to climb the educational ladder as high as their innate intelligences allow and to segue into productive and satisfying careers that support the larger economy.

While California has no shortage of existential issues, none is more vital than doing something about its education deficit. The Legislature at long last seems to be getting the message, but the next governor must get it too.

Social Security Matters

Should I Collect SS Now or Wait Two Years Until Age 70?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am 67 and 9 months old, collecting a modest SS survivor benefit with plans to collect my own much larger benefit at age 70. I was confident that this plan was a good one; but recent turbulent events make me nervous that cuts could come to Social Security at any time without warning. Would it be prudent to file for my own Social Security as soon as possible so that my benefit might be "grandfathered" in before any sudden and drastic cuts occur? I do not generally panic, but these are unprecedented times. I would be quite comfortable with the benefit listed on my 2024 statement for my current age; I was just hoping to maximize the benefit by waiting.

When I go to the Social Security website to view my 2025 annual statement to see the personalized monthly retirement benefit estimates for ages 68, 69, and 70, that section no longer shows. This omission makes me uncomfortable. Can I find out what my current benefit estimate would be for ages 68, 69, and 70? Or should I just rely on the 2024 statement? Signed: Nervous in Portland

Dear Nervous: Please do not be nervous that recent "turbulent events" pose a threat to your future Social Security benefits. Those events do not, in any way, jeopardize your future Social Security benefits, because Social Security is completely separate from all other federal political issues and finances. The primary problem with Social Security became an issue long before the current administration took office.

The Trustees of Social Security have been warning Congress for decades that Social Security's finances require Congressional attention. The fact is that Social Security revenue (as predicted decades ago) became insufficient to pay all benefit obligations in about 2021. Since that time, money from Social Security's reserved funds (Trust Funds) has been used to pay full benefits to all. In 2020, there was nearly $3 trillion in SS reserved funds, but that has now dwindled to about $2.5 trillion as reserves are used to supplement SS payments. And that problem continues. The Trustees of SS now predict that the reserves will be fully depleted in about 2032, at which time — lacking program reform by Congress — Social Security will be forced to pay out only what it receives in revenue. And that would mean an estimated cut of about 23% to everyone's monthly SS benefit. In the unlikely event that happens, wouldn't a 23% reduction to your larger age 70 benefit be better than a 23% cut to your lower age 68 benefit?

No one wants those cuts to happen — least of all politicians — because it would amount to political suicide (seniors are, after all, a very large voting bloc). Thus, we believe that Congress will act to reform Social Security to prevent any general benefit cuts from happening. It will, however, require Congressional bipartisanship because the reforms needed for Social Security are likely unsavory to some. Those reforms may include SS tax increases and changes to the basic structure of the SS program to align it with today's demographic reality. The program needs reform, which Congress has, unfortunately, neglected to provide for many years. And this neglect will likely also continue, at least through the forthcoming mid-term elections. It seems the nature of Congress is to wait until the last possible moment to offer corrective legislation.

Here's what to keep in mind: Congress already knows how to reform Social Security to avoid any future benefit cuts

— they just lack the bipartisanship to accomplish that reform. For our part, the Association of Mature American Citizens (AMAC) has offered to Congress a common-sense reform plan via its "Social Security Guarantee (SSG)." AMAC's proposal has received a positive reception in Congressional circles, and we are optimistic that the proposal will provide financial stability to the program for generations. AMAC continues to advocate for SS reform in Washington, D.C. on a regular basis, even more intensely as the depletion of the SS Trust Funds grows closer.

We do not suggest changing your strategy for claiming Social Security benefits based upon fear the program will cut benefits. That's because it's unlikely that all benefits will be cut because we believe Congress will eventually enact reform. And even in the unlikely event that Congress neglects to reform the program by 2032, the percentage of reduction to a higher monthly SS benefit amount would be better than a similar reduction to a lower benefit amount. In other words, your original plan is still a prudent one.

Regarding your question about your estimated benefits, I expect your most recent SS statement didn't include future benefits because you are already collecting SS survivor benefits. You can contact SSA at 1.800.772.1213 to obtain the future SS retirement estimates you seek.

Yes, of Course, War Settles Things

the first Christian emperor of Rome, won the Battle of Milvian Bridge in 312. Later, Christendom benefited from Ferdinand and Isabella taking back Granada from its Muslim rulers in 1492, and from the Holy Roman Emperor defeating the Ottoman besiegers of Vienna in 1683.

Certainly, it would have been better if all this could have been amiably worked out among the relevant parties, but that's not how the world usually works.

In the early 19th century, Europe had a Napoleon problem -- a world-historical military genius determined to bend the continent to his will through force of arms. After serial failures, the Allies finally solved this problem in the War of the Seventh Coalition. The ensuing diplomatic settlement at the Congress of Vienna forged a peace that lasted nearly a century, but wouldn't have been possible without victory at Waterloo.

In the early 20th century, Europe had a Hitler problem -- a fanatical, race-obsessed militarist who wanted his Third Reich to dominate Europe. This problem, too, was solved by force and led to a lasting peace, although a very tense one during the Cold War. If it's true that war should usually be the last resort, the Allies would have been better off if it had been the first resort against Hitler, checking him when he was relatively weak.

More parochially, the United States wouldn't be what it is today absent two existential wars. When the colonies began agitating for independence, the British weren't simply going to cede what they considered sovereign territories, especially given their economic and strategic value. The American cause -- and all the good that has flowed from it -- depended on prevailing in a grinding eight-year war.

About a hundred years later, it all could have collapsed had the United States not prevailed in the Civil War, an appallingly bloody conflict that extinguished American slavery and preserved the foundation for the nation's gathering greatness.

TITLE: None of this is a warrant for heedless warmongering, or a reason to dismiss, say, the sheer cynical brutishness of the Roman destruction of Carthage in the Third Punic War, or the horrors of Passchendaele. That war is terrible; however, it doesn't mean that it's ineffective.

In our times, Russia invaded Ukraine in 2022 in the erroneous, but not crazy, belief that a sharp, decisive military campaign would topple the Western-oriented government in Kyiv and force the creation of a regime more to the Kremlin's liking. This was a war that never should have been launched, yet Ukraine had no alternative but to fight it.

If Kyiv wants to protect its sovereign territory and eventually get a tolerable diplomatic outcome, war is the answer -- as, sadly, it has been so often throughout human history.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Vernon Gustav Wittkopp.

Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Hoover's Bill to Protect Historic Districts Passes Housing Committee

Josh Hoover

Assemblyman
Josh Hoover
News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On April 22, the Assembly Committee on Housing and Community Development approved Assembly Bill 2415 authored by Assemblyman Josh Hoover (R-Folsom), which would provide flexibility under state housing law and protect locally designated historic districts like Historic Folsom. It passed unanimously with a 12-0 vote. "Many new laws have been passed in recent years to address California's housing crisis by increasing supply and bringing down costs," Assemblyman Hoover said. "While these are important efforts, it is also critical that we promote responsible growth and respect the history and culture of our state's diverse communities. AB 2415 strikes this balance by allowing local governments like the City of Folsom to preserve the character of their historic districts." Historic districts like Historic Folsom are compact, irreplaceable community assets with architectural, cultural and economic significance. They contribute to local identity, tourism and small business vitality. "Folsom is fully committed to meeting our share of California's housing needs. We have a long record of approving and building housing at all income levels and strongly support higher density development in areas near jobs, services, and transit. At the same time, we have a responsibility to protect our nearly 180-year-old Folsom Historic District – our cities cultural heart and one of the most significant historic assets in the Sacramento region," stated Folsom City Councilmember Mike Kozlowski in support of the bill. The bill will now move to the Assembly Local Government Committee for consideration before heading to a vote by the full State Assembly. Assemblyman Josh Hoover represents the 7th Assembly District, which includes the cities of Citrus Heights, Folsom, and Rancho Cordova and the unincorporated communities of Carmichael, Fair Oaks, Foothill Farms, Gold River, Mather, McClellan Park, North Highlands, Orangevale, and Rosemont. ★
