Draft Vision Zero Action Plan Outlines Path Toward Safer Streets

City of Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - After months of community outreach and engagement, the City of Sacramento is releasing the draft Vision Zero Action Plan Update for public review.

The draft plan reflects feedback from residents across Sacramento and outlines proposed strategies to reduce serious and fatal traffic crashes. Community members will have an opportunity to review the recommendations and provide comments from now through Aug. 17 before the plan is finalized.

Earlier this year, residents participated in workshops, neighborhood conversations, virtual meetings and an online survey to share their experiences and priorities related to transportation safety. The feedback gathered through those efforts helped shape the draft plan and its recommendations for improving safety on Sacramento streets.

"Transportation safety solutions are most effective when they are informed by the people who use our streets every day," said Jennifer Donlon Wyant, Mobility and Sustainability Division manager. "The draft plan reflects what we heard from residents across Sacramento, and we encourage the community to review the recommendations and help us refine the final plan."

The Vision Zero Action Plan serves as the city's roadmap for eliminating traffic-related deaths and serious injuries. Sacramento adopted its first Vision Zero Action Plan in 2018 and is updating the document using the

Preservation Sacramento Announces 50th Annual Home Tour

Preservation Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Preservation Sacramento is proud and excited to announce the 50th Annual Historic Home Tour is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 20 and advance tickets are available now.

With a mission to showcase historically significant architecture of some of Sacramento's most noteworthy historic homes and buildings, the 2026 Historic Home Tour will showcase six historic properties associated with the Old & New Washington School Historic Districts. Located in the heart of Sacramento's central city and bounded by C, H, 12th and 19th streets, this is one of Sacramento's oldest residential neighborhoods. The 2026 tour will highlight the neighborhood's longtime and celebrated history with the Royal Chicano Air Force (RCAF), an internationally recognized collective of artists and activists that originated in Sacramento in the late 1960s.

Four Historic Homes On Tour

The four residential properties on the 50th

Annual Historic Home Tour, three of which are located on F Street, date from the 1890s. The homes offer a sampling of housing types commonly found in Sacramento during this time period, ranging from very modest single-story cottages to large homes of two or three stories.

As demand for affordable housing grew in this neighborhood, many of the single-family homes were divided into two or more apartments, and some became boarding houses, with furnished rooms for rent. These multi-occupant residences provided inexpensive housing for employees of local businesses and industries, such as the canneries and the railroad shops.

One of the homes on the 2026 tour is known as the "F Street Boarding House"

Stage Nine Announces Opening of The Paperworks

'Death by Natural Causes' Exhibition to Debut June 27

Stage Nine News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - After acquiring and renovating the historic Blake, Moffitt & Towne Paper Company building at 1115 Front St. at the Old Sacramento Waterfront, Stage Nine Entertainment is excited to officially announce the newly-renamed The Paperworks building.

An official ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, June 26 to celebrate the opening of the reimagined space plus introduce the debut of its first touring exhibition, "Death by Natural Causes," that opens to the public the following day.

"At Stage Nine, our creative and dedicated exhibits crew is constantly exploring what is possible and looking for incredible and immersive concepts from all over the world to introduce here at the Old Sacramento Waterfront," said Stage Nine Founder Troy Carlson.

"With so much momentum happening here in the district, The Paperworks building filled with local merchants and our new exhibition space add even more energy that elevate the visitor experience to entirely new levels of engagement."

The Paperworks

Located adjacent to Stage Nine family of premier entertainment retail stores, The Paperworks is a 26,000-square-foot, completely renovated building dedicated to craft, culture and hands-on experiences. Rooted in the building's heritage and designed for modern makers, The Paperworks offers visitors opportunities to explore workshops, specialty retail and thoughtfully curated events and traveling exhibitions in an environment that honors the past while building something new.

The Paperworks building is currently home to the following local businesses, many of which are owned by first-time entrepreneurs: Back Door Lounge on the underground level (entrance in Firehouse Alley) and on the street level (entrance on Front Street) includes Big VIP Clothing, Carnal Flora (opens Aug. 2), DearSisa Boutique, EcoPress Sacramento (opens June 27), Panopoly Fine Art (opens June 27), The Paperworks Shop (opens June 22), Wanderland Gift Shop and Wild Sisters Book Co. (opens June 27).

Upper level (via stairs or elevator with wheelchair access from Front Street entrance) will feature an exhibition space that debuts with "Death by Natural Causes" on June 27.

Death by Natural Causes Exhibition

A captivating, family-friendly experience created by Houston Museum of Natural Science and Stage 9 Exhibits, "Death by Natural Causes" takes visitors on a fascinating exploration of the natural world's most unexpected and often misunderstood dangers.

From brightly colored creatures and sweet-smelling plants to everyday materials we encounter without a second thought, this exhibition reveals how nature can be both beautiful and dangerous.

Visitors meet the "malefactors" that quietly do the Grim Reaper's work, disguised in unassuming forms that challenge assumptions and spark curiosity. Through a compelling combination of authentic specimens, immersive graphics and hands-on interactives, guests explore the science behind what can cause harm, directly or indirectly, in the world around them.

Concepts such as poisonous, venomous and toxic are clearly explained, while urban legends and old wives' tales are thoughtfully debunked using real scientific evidence. The experience unfolds across five visually rich thematic zones, featuring surprising specimens and familiar examples, including mushrooms, snakes, spiders and even common foods. These everyday touchpoints create strong emotional engagement and make complex science approachable for a wide range of audiences.

Equal parts intriguing and educational,

"Death by Natural Causes" encourages visitors to confront their fears, question assumptions and look more closely at the natural world beneath their feet, all while supporting institutional goals around STEM learning, natural history interpretation, and family engagement.

Open daily and appropriate for ages 8 and above, advance tickets are recommended; walk-ins are welcome as space allows. "Death by Natural Causes" will remain on display in The Paperworks through Jan. 3, 2027.

"We're excited to bring this project to fruition and it's important to note this is Sacramento's first Class A traveling exhibition space equipped to bring top-tier, large-scale exhibitions to the Capital City such as Titanic, King Tut and Spider-Man, just to name a few," added Carlson.

Washington Neighborhood Center Part of Historic Home Tour

Located at 16th and D streets, the Washington Neighborhood Center is also an important stop on the home tour. Built in 1927, this former tire store was repurposed as a youth center 30 years later and has recently been renovated. Tour participants will have the opportunity to see the impressive mural painted by RCAF artist Esteban Villa and his students, Emergence of the Chicano Social Struggle in a Bi-Cultural Society (or simply, Emergence). Painted between 1969 and 1970, it is the oldest surviving RCAF mural painting in Sacramento. With the inclusion of the Washington Neighborhood Center, the historic home tour also is linked to the ongoing regional celebration of the RCAF called InFormation that has shown a light on the RCAF's legacy of art, activism and community.

"This year's Historic Home Tour highlights how history never stops, even in historic districts," said President of Preservation

Sacramento William Burg. "Historic events including demographic and social changes, cultural and artistic groups, activism and resistance, triumph and tragedy, all shape our city, and our neighborhoods. After more than a half century of celebrating and protecting neighborhoods, Preservation Sacramento is proud to announce its 50th annual tour, highlighting history old and new in the historic districts around Midtown's Washington Elementary School and Washington Neighborhood Center," Burg said.

Additional Tour Details

To add to the home tour experience, eye-catching and period-appropriate vehicles will be parked near the residences and buildings on the tour. The tour is designed to be both walkable and bikeable, and complimentary bicycle parking is available in a monitored bike corral provided by Sacramento Area Bicycle Advocates (SABA).

While touring the prized historic homes is the highlight of the annual event, an always-popular Street Fair will include vendors, food trucks, nonprofits, community organizations, local crafters and artists, live musical entertainment and more. This year, the Street Fair will be located on the Washington Elementary School grounds (1631 F St.) and is the starting point for the tour where attendees pick up wristbands (that serve as tour tickets), tour brochures (for more details about the homes and featured sites), and for day-of ticket sales if still available.

Proudly supported by initial sponsors Paloma Begin, Realtor (DRE01254423) and Michael Triglia, Realtor (LIC#0493778), advance tickets to the 2026 Historic Home Tour are on sale now and cost $30 per person for Preservation Sacramento members, $40 for the general public in advance or day of the event.

Draft Night is Here

By V.G. Harris

While the wild celebrations go on in the city of New York, and Jalen Brunson has been given the key to the city, NBA fans all over America wait like a four-year-old at Christmas for the NBA draft to take place.

The long-awaited draft will finally bring into focus what G.M. Scott Perry is all about. No more inaction and waiting to see what other teams will do, it's time to show up and let the Sacramento Kings fans get a glimpse into who they really have.

Much discussion has taken place with so many mock drafts, and most pundits are reciting names in their sleep.

While sharpshooter Darius Acuff Jr. remains a longshot possibility, a likely candidate that will still be available as the Kings pick at No. 7 is none other than Kingston Flemings, and that is not a bad thing.

For the Houston Cougars last season, Kingston scored 16 points per game with four rebounds and five assists, and while those numbers aren't gawdy, they are certainly respectable.

Listed at six-foot-four with an average wingspan, it's his on-court presence and basketball I.Q. that have teams interested in taking a closer look.

Without a doubt Kingston has competition, and names like Mikel Brown and Braydon Burries top the list that Kingston will have to contend with. Still, Kingston has the intangibles that matter, and among them is a strong family presence that continues to support his journey. Raised in a tight-knit Texas home, Kingston understands the team concept, and although I don't pretend to know the mind of Scott Perry, Kingston Flemings passes the litmus test.

Now is the time for the Sacramento franchise to come home with a sold pick and not something that brings up nightmares from the past. No more Marvin Bagley's or Thomas Robinson's. Now is the time to not get cute or to try and show the league that you know better than they do.

I'm not wanting to see an overseas candidate come out of nowhere. Staring this franchise in the face are solid players that can make a difference on a team that is in rebuilding mode.

Rome wasn't built in a day, and neither will the Sacramento Kings build a team overnight.

The No. 7 pick in this year's draft needs to be a player that will make an impact, but he doesn't have to be a franchise player to make a difference.

No Luka Doncic or Cooper Flagg waiting this time around, but just as Jalen Brunson was selected 33rd overall in the second round, anything can happen if you don't try and get too creative.

I've said before and I'll say again, the foundation of this team is Domantas Sabonis, and there's a reason why so many teams have an interest in trading for him. Domantas is a game changer, a consummate team player that never takes a night off, and a true leader that young players can aspire to.

Tuesday night is finally here, and it needs to be Christmas time for the Sacramento Kings. Make a sensible selection and feel good that you've just made your team better.

Go back to work and help Keegan Murray to find his shot again. In particular, the past two seasons Keegan looks like the player who's lost his confidence, and it's up to Doug Christie and staff to build his confidence back and remind him that he's the guy that led the entire nation in scoring while playing for the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Russell Westbrook, who last season exceeded everyone's expectations, is eager to return for one more season with the Sacramento Kings, and this year with a healthy team he can make an even bigger difference than he did last year.

It's time to celebrate Kings fans because having a top ten pick in the draft is not something to be taken lightly.

If the experts are to be believed, this is one of the deepest drafts in decades, and the Kings enjoy not only a first-round pick, but two second-round picks as well.

Tuesday night will reveal how well Scott Perry and staff have done their homework, but don't be too surprised if you hear the name Kingston Flemings!

All the best Kings fans because a better season is just around the corner! ★

Minimum Wage Hikes to Offset High Living Costs. There's a Downside

By Dan Walters,
CALMatters.org

There are three immutable aspects of economic life in California today.

No. 1, Californians face the nation's highest cost of living. It is 11% higher than the national average, according to the federal Bureau of Economic Analysis, including rents 53% higher than average and utilities 63% higher. It's why California also has the nation's highest poverty rate.

No. 2, the high cost of living, especially for housing, is the most important factor in the out-migration of Californians to other states. It has led to a net loss of 900,000 people since 2015, according to the Public Policy Institute of California.

No. 3, California's unemployment rate, currently 5.3% of its labor force, has been among the highest of any state for the last half-decade, with more than a million jobless workers. It rises to 10.1% when it's broadened to discouraged job seekers and those who work part-time but want full employment. This alternative measure is also the nation's highest.

The response to these economic conditions from the state's mostly Democratic politicians has been an amalgam of high concept policy changes, one-time or short-term allocations of relief money and micro-managing wages.

Gov. Gavin Newsom and the Legislature, for example, have enacted dozens of laws and administrative directives aimed at making it easier to build new housing, especially for low- and moderate-income families and, in theory, tempering housing costs.

However, the actual rate of new housing construction of all kinds has been stuck at about 100,000 units a year. Newsom's latest state budget projects only fractional gains, to about 115,000 units, through 2030.

When the budget's revenues allow — or at least appear to allow — the state has appropriated funds for direct relief to Californians mired in poverty, such as an earned income tax credit or even cash distributions.

Increasingly, state and local officials also have responded to ever-increasing costs of living by increasing minimum wages.

A new report from the Virginia-based Employment Policies Institute reveals that California is the most active state in setting new and higher wages for specific economic sectors. It has 8 of the nation's 10 largest local minimum wage increases taking in effect in July.

When California, after much political angst, decreed a $20 minimum wage for fast food workers three years ago and created an agency to oversee that industry's employment conditions, it ignited a debate over impact that's still raging.

Proponents have ginned up studies that purport to prove that the higher wages had little or no negative effects on employment and consumer prices. Critics have countered with studies saying that $20 wages forced fast food operators to raise prices and reduce their staffs.

Newsom and the Legislature also set higher wages for healthcare industry employees. Local city and county officials have decreed new wage levels for particular economic segments, such as the hotel industry in Los Angeles and amusement parks in San Diego.

The Los Angeles City Council set a $30 minimum wage for hotel and airport workers on the theory that travelers from elsewhere would bear the costs, but last month postponed implementation until after the 2028 Olympics. In return, the business community canceled a ballot measure to eliminate the city's gross receipts tax, a major city revenue source.

The tactic of raising minimum wages to offset rising living costs shows no signs of abating. Currently, for example, the Service Employees International Union is sponsoring legislation, Senate Bill 1203, that would increase the training requirements for private security guards but also empower the state Industrial Welfare Commission to set new and presumably higher minimum wages for such guards.

This may be a circular economic firing squad. Higher wages can lead to higher consumer costs, which increases pressure for higher wages and pushes those caught in the middle, trying to survive, to lower-cost states.

Dan Walters is one of the most decorated and widely syndicated columnists in California history, authoring a column four times a week that offers his view and analysis of the state's political, economic, social and demographic trends. ★

Social Security Matters

Why Don't They Just Create Individual Social Security Accounts?

By Russell Gloor,
AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: Regarding Social Security's financial issues, three people contributing to Social Security for every one beneficiary sounds to me like a surplus. If they had given workers their own accounts, similar to a 401k, where they could manage their own money, it would have worked out more favorably for retirees. President George W Bush suggested these changes, but it was shot down by Congress.

The average worker now pays a 6.2% Social Security tax. If the government had bumped it up to say 7%, I don't believe that me or anyone else would have cried too hard. There are ways of correcting this before the SS reserves are depleted and, hopefully, Congress will address Social Security's financing soon. Signed: Skeptical Senior individual accounts is not really a good idea. For information, most people get back all payroll taxes they contributed to Social Security within about 5 years of receiving SS benefits. Even with decent public market returns, some individual separate accounts would eventually run out of money, causing some to lose Social Security benefits before they die, meaning they would likely live in poverty. People are now collecting benefits (on average) for decades, and the current SS format means that even those who contribute only a small amount will collect benefits no matter how long they live. Remember, the primary purpose of the SS program is to reduce poverty in America.

Dear Skeptical: Believe it or not, putting SS contributions (from payroll taxes) into separate

FYI, President Bush's plan had opposition in the 2005 Congress largely because of the cost to transition to that plan, and the fear that investments in the public markets subjected individual retirement savings to unacceptable risk. In any case, few have since advocated investing Social Security funds in the public financial markets because of the risks and the political backlash. And adding a small amount to the FICA/SECA payroll tax rate only somewhat mitigates the problem - it doesn't completely solve it. I'm afraid that Social Security's financial issues are more complex than that and can't be fully solved by a small increase in SS payroll taxes.

You are right — Congress (and, we are confident, will) address this, and hopefully soon. For its part, AMAC (the Association of Mature American Citizens) and the AMAC Foundation have been evaluating this issue for years and have developed a Social Security reform plan for Congress to consider (see this). And we are actively promoting our reform plan in Washington, D.C. Please know that we share your concerns about the future of Social Security and will continue to work hard to ensure the program is here for many generations.

The spirit of Buchenwald lives on, we are supposed to believe, in the Israeli military operation in Gaza. It's nearly mandatory for progressive Democrats to denounce Israel for its alleged genocide, while Tucker Carlson and Hasan Piker -- radical influencers on the right and left, respectively -- say that the moral offense is the same as the Holocaust, even if the scale is less extensive.

Israel's haters surely enjoy the perversity of accusing the Jewish state of the same enormity that contributed to its creation, of comparing the Jews to heinous murderers of Jews. The charge is a grotesque libel.

If Israel wanted to kill everyone in Gaza, it could do it easily. What we have witnessed in the Hamas-controlled territory is not a genocide -- the deliberate destruction of a people -- but an urban battle.

Warfare in urban environments is almost always highly destructive. When the Iraqi army retook Mosul from ISIS in 2016-2017 with our air support, tens of thousands of buildings were damaged or destroyed and an estimated 80% of the Old City.

Vietnam gave us the famous (perhaps apocryphal) line, "We had to destroy the city in order to save it." The city in question was Ben Tre, infiltrated by the Viet Cong during the Tet Offensive in 1968. We used airstrikes, helicopter gunships, artillery and ground troops to extricate the communist forces, and the Mekong Delta town suffered extensive damage, even though the fighting only lasted days.

The old imperial capital of Hue suffered the same fate, but on a larger scale. Communist forces took most of the city and dug in, requiring street-to-street combat over a period of months to take it back. About half the city was damaged or destroyed.

The lesson is that cities never fare well when they are the locus of combat, whether Seoul or Pyongyang during the Korean War, Manila or Stalingrad during World War II, Vicksburg or Charleston during the Civil War.

Civilians inevitably suffer and die. This is true of even the most honored military operations. The Allied invasion of Normandy killed 20,000 French civilians as cities such as Rouen and Le Havre were pulverized by our bombardment. Why would anyone expect Gaza, one of the most densely populated places on Earth, to be different? Hamas spent years and massive resources tunneling and fortifying, making Gaza into a bristling armed camp difficult to subdue.

Sure enough, it has taken a grinding, years-long campaign to substantially reduce Hamas. Israel's detractors profess to detect "genocidal intent" in harsh things that Israeli officials have said about Gaza, but these statements have typically been aimed at Hamas.

If Israel wanted to commit genocide against the Gazans, Prime Minister

Bibi Netanyahu wouldn't have sought to accommodate Hamas for years, in the hopes that a major war could be avoided. The Oct. 7 attack exposed this as a grievous misjudgment. It's hard to believe that any society, having experienced the unspeakable crimes visited on its people that day, would have concluded, "Well, we can't do anything in response -- even recover our hostages -- because combat in Gaza will be too destructive."

Hamas intertwined its military infrastructure with civilian facilities, and made military use of hospitals, mosques and schools. Its fighters posed as medical personnel and journalists. Everything was geared to making it as difficult as possible to target Hamas without collateral damage, creating the predicate for denouncing Israel for war crimes.

As military expert John Spencer points out, Israel takes steps to avoid civilian harm: "It warns before attacks using text messages, phone calls, leaflets and broadcasts. It opens safe corridors and pauses operations so civilians can leave combat areas. It tracks civilian presence down to the building level."

TITLE: None of this matters, though. The ultimate perversity is that Hamas has genocidal intent against the Jews. Yet, it is the war against this cruel terror group that is being used to associate the Jewish state with one of history's worst crimes.

What Should Future Name of Cesar Chavez Park Be? Take the Survey by July 24

The city has opened a survey available to the public until July 24 for residents to be part of the renaming process for Cesar Chavez Park at 910 I St. Photo courtesy of City of Sacramento

City of Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Community members can now share their thoughts on the future name of Cesar Chavez Park.

A new public survey launched June 12 as part of a community engagement process that will help inform recommendations for the park's future name. Feedback collected through the survey, outreach events and stakeholder engagement will be reviewed by City Council Subcommittee, the Parks and Community Enrichment Commission, and ultimately the Sacramento City Council.

The survey is available online in both English and Spanish through July 24.

Mayor Kevin McCarty appointed a City Council subcommittee to guide the renaming process. The subcommittee includes the mayor along with Vice Mayor Karina Talamantes, Mayor Pro Tem Eric Guerra and Councilmember Phil Pluckebaum.

"This process is about listening to our community and creating meaningful opportunities for neighbors to share their perspectives," Talamantes said. "Our Downtown park is an important public space with deep connections to Sacramento's history and culture, and community input will help shape the recommendations that create its future."

Located in the heart of downtown Sacramento, Cesar Chavez Park is one of the city's oldest public spaces. Originally established as part of Sacramento's 1849 city plan, the park has served generations of residents as a gathering place for civic events, cultural celebrations, performances, demonstrations and everyday recreation.

The renaming effort responds to community interest in reevaluating the current park name and reflects Sacramento's commitment to transparency, public participation and ensuring public spaces continue to reflect community values.

Community members are encouraged to share their thoughts on what values, histories, stories and identities a future park name should represent. The survey also provides an opportunity to suggest potential names and share personal connections to the park.

Following the survey period, staff will review public input and prepare recommendations for consideration by the mayor-appointed Council Subcommittee and the Parks and Community Enrichment Commission. The Sacramento City Council will make the final decision regarding any future park name, which is expected later this year.

No decisions have been made regarding the statue located in the park. Once a new park name is finalized, the city will begin working with the artist to determine the appropriate path forward and will share updates with the public as that process begins.

Mourning the Loss of Joaquin Razo

East Sacramento resident and beloved leader in the nonprofit community Joaquin Razo recently passed away suddenly at age 39. Dr. Dawnté Early, president and chief executive officer of United Way California Capital Region, wrote a tribute in his honor. Courtesy photo

By Dr. Dawnté Early United Way California Capital Region

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - We at United Way California Capital Region and the broader Sacramento community are mourning the sudden loss of Joaquin Razo, a beloved East Sacramento resident, leader, mentor, volunteer and friend who passed away May 18 at age 39.

For more than a decade, Joaquin dedicated his time, leadership and heart to United Way, first as a staff member and later as a volunteer and board leader. Most recently, he served as chair of our Board of Directors, helping to guide our organization through a period of growth, collaboration and community impact.

Beyond United Way, Joaquin was widely respected across the region for his leadership and service. He served as chair of Metro EDGE in 2025 after more than a decade of involvement with the organization and was named Metro EDGE Young Professional of the Year in 2024. He also served on numerous nonprofit and alumni boards and was passionate about mentorship, leadership development and creating opportunities for others to grow.

But to those who knew him, Joaquin was far more than a title or role.

This past year, I had the opportunity to work closely alongside him, and I saw firsthand how deeply he cared about people and community. What I'll remember most about Joaquin is how he made people feel. He was thoughtful, compassionate, funny and generous with his time. He was the kind of person who always made space for others, always making them feel welcomed, valued and heard.

Whether mentoring young professionals, lending his voice and talents to community events, volunteering for one more committee or simply showing up for others when they needed support, Joaquin led with kindness and humility.

I am still struggling to process this loss because someone as special as Joaquin leaves a lasting imprint on the people fortunate enough to know him. We will remember Joaquin not only for his leadership, but his warmth, humor, beautiful voice and generous spirit. His impact on this community, and the many lives he touched, will not be forgotten.

Information regarding services and ways to support Joaquin's family will be shared as details become available.

This submission was a tribute written by Dr. Dawnté Early, president and chief executive officer of Sacramento area nonprofit United Way California Capital Region. ★

Evangeline's Celebrates Grand Reopening

Evangeline's Costume Mansion will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. for the grand reopening weekend on June 27 to 28. Photo courtesy of Evangeline's

"We deeply appreciate everyone who reached out with kind wishes, encouragement and generous offers to help during the renovation. The incredible outpouring of support has meant the world to us," said Evangeline's Owner Deborah Chaussé. "And now, we are finally ready to celebrate and welcome everyone back to our beloved Costume Mansion. So, gather your friends, family, or just bring yourself, to Evangeline's for our Grand Reopening weekend... we cannot wait to see each and every one of you!"

As background, on June 17, 2025, the historic building that houses Evangeline's experienced a fire that caused considerable damage to the first-floor gift shop that remains temporarily closed as restoration continues. A reopening date for the first-floor gift shop will be announced at a future time.

Evangeline's first opened its doors in 1974 on K Street in the historic Howard House by Dorothea Evangeline Chaussé with a vision to sell antiques. Over the years, the store evolved into a destination for offbeat toys, funny cards and other eccentric gifts. Then in 1985, Dorothea retired and handed the shop keys to her daughter Deborah Chaussé, who soon added Halloween costumes to the merchandise mix. After several decades, a series of store expansions and unexpected twists and turns, Deborah is still working hard and welcoming old and new customers.

Located at 113 K St. at the Old Sacramento Waterfront, Evangeline's Costume Mansion will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. for the grand reopening weekend on June 27 to 28.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The City of Sacramento has appointed Katie Dignan as assistant city manager, effective July 13.

In her new role, Dignan will oversee the Community Development Department, Economic Development Department and Convention and Cultural Services. She will also help lead implementation of key initiatives advanced by City Manager Maraskeshia Smith and the City Council focused on organizational improvement and community impact.

Dignan has more than a decade of executive leadership experience in local government, infrastructure projects, finance, economic development and organizational transformation.

"Katie brings a unique combination of public sector leadership, financial expertise and economic development experience that will help advance Sacramento's priorities," Smith said. "She has a strong track record of leading complex organizations, driving innovation and delivering results. I am excited to welcome her to the city's executive leadership team and look forward to the impact she will have on our organization and community."

Most recently, she served as acting assistant general manager of finance and management services and chief financial officer for the East Bay Regional Park District, where she provided executive leadership for accounting, budget, capital finance, procurement, payroll and information technology operations. She also helped to launch the district's Facilities and Infrastructure Division and oversaw capital finance, grants and business services functions.

Prior to that role, Dignan served as assistant director of planning and building for the City of Oakland, where she led financial and administrative operations and helped to streamline development review and permitting processes. She also served as chief of staff to the CEO of Kairos Power, supporting major economic development projects, site selection efforts and federal funding initiatives.

Earlier in her career, Dignan managed large-scale Hurricane Katrina recovery and resilience programs for the City of New Orleans.

Dignan holds a Master of Business Administration from Tulane University and a bachelor's degree from Northern Arizona University. ★

The updated draft plan includes a refined High Injury Network – the small percentage of city streets where a disproportionate number of severe and fatal crashes occur – and recommended actions to improve safety for people walking, biking, rolling, taking transit and driving.

During the public review period, residents will be asked to provide feedback on proposed safety strategies, transportation safety priorities, updates to the High Injury Network and recommendations intended to address Sacramento's most serious transportation safety challenges.

To gather additional input, the city will host four community workshops where residents can learn more about the draft plan, review proposed safety strategies and participate in discussions with project staff.

All workshops will be held from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

In-person workshops are scheduled as follows: July 1 at Robertson Community Center (3525 Norwood Ave.) and July 30 at La Familia's Maple Neighborhood Center (3301 37th Ave.).

A virtual workshop via Zoom is scheduled for June 29; register at bit.ly/4ozmEis.

Registration is required for virtual workshops.

In addition to the workshops, residents can review the draft plan online at sacramento.konveio.com/vision-zero-action-plan-public-draft and submit comments throughout the public review period.

Vision Zero is an international traffic safety approach based on the principle that traffic deaths and serious injuries are preventable.

ABOUT TOWN

Area Museum Experiences

A sampling of must-see and must-do experiences and special activations offered by local museums include:

Aerospace Museum of California – As a proud partner of Blue Star Museums, active military members along with five additional guests can enjoy free admission through Labor Day (Sept. 7). Details at aerospaceca.org.

Sacramento History Museum – “Play Ball! Sacramento in the National Pastime.” The exhibition is filled with historical baseball uniforms, bats, balls, and gloves from different time periods, along with programs, tickets, awards and trophies, an Edmonds field base, home plate and ticket box, along with scrapbooks, news articles, photos and more. Through October.

Details at sachistorymuseum.org.

California Automobile Museum – Sunday Drives: Third Sunday of every month, enjoy a free ride (with paid museum admission) in one of the museum’s many beautiful cars from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There’s no better way to enjoy history than to experience it firsthand down the streets of downtown Sacramento. Details at calautomuseum.org.

California State Railroad Museum – Golden Hour Express Train, Wednesday evenings through Aug. 19. Depart from historic Old Sacramento for a scenic, hour-long round-trip journey along the Sacramento River. Relax in the comfort of our first-class, air-conditioned cars or take in the sunset from an open-air gondola; the choice is yours.

With sweeping riverside views, refreshing beverages (alcoholic and non-alcoholic), and a vibrant social atmosphere, it’s the perfect way to toast the evening. Each ticket includes two drink tokens to enjoy during the ride.

The Chinese Railroad Workers’ Experience offers visitors a view of the Chinese workers who built the western portion of the nation’s first Transcontinental Railroad. Marginalized by history, the Chinese workers were more than a nameless group of laborers. Details at californiarailroad.museum.

Crocker Art Museum – “Rebels with La Causa: Royal Chicano Air Force Art and Activism, 1970-1990,” through June 28, explores the expansive production and creative impact of the Royal Chicano Air Force (RCAF), one of the Chicano Movement’s most prolific and impactful artist collectives.

Beginning in 1970 at Sacramento State, the group produced individual artworks and group murals, as well as posters for educational, cultural, and political activities. The RCAF’s transformation into a broader collective not only initiated an explosion of Chicano art exhibitions, literary events, performances, and community celebrations, but expanded civic and political engagement.

While RCAF posters served as announcements for these wide-ranging activities, their multicultural aesthetics, subject matter, and strategic humor redefined Chicana/o art, as well as the history of art and activism in the United States. Details at crocker-art.org.

SMUD Museum of Science and Curiosity Laser Concert Series – Beastie Boys (18+ event), July 10-11.; Bad Bunny

(18+ event), Aug. 7-8; Grateful Dead, Sept. 18-19. This immersive music experience, paired with spectacular full-dome lasers, is the best way to listen to your favorite artists outside of a live performance. Details at visitmosac.org.

California Capital Airshow News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Capital Airshow (CCA) brought the wonder of flight and the excitement of science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) to hundreds of young people on May 30, through its annual Positive Altitude event at Mather Airport. Families from across the Sacramento region gathered for the half-day program, which introduced youth of all ages to careers and opportunities in aviation and aerospace.

The event opened with a lunchtime conversation and keynote address by Darby Dustman, Director of Strategy & Programs at VELA and a rocket propulsion leader with more than a decade in aerospace and defense. Dustman has worked on hypersonic systems, boosters for NASA's Artemis program and next-generation missile technology and brought that real-world experience to life for a room full of curious kids.

a failure story," said Dustman. "You just usually only see the launch."

Her remarks set the tone for an afternoon of exploration and discovery.

Following the keynote, attendees fanned out across dozens of interactive exhibits showcasing the breadth of aviation and aerospace careers. Young visitors got up close with aircraft and equipment from REACH Air Medical Systems, the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department Air Unit and Drone team, UPS, FedEx, the U.S. Coast Guard and many more, seeing firsthand the wide range of professionals who keep the equipment and technology in the skies running. Interactive science and STEM demonstrations, including exhibits from Mad Science, rounded out an afternoon designed to spark curiosity across every discipline.

"We want every kid who comes through this event to see someone who looks like them, doing a job they never knew existed," said Darcy Brewer, CEO of the California Capital Airshow. "Aviation is air traffic controllers, medics, engineers, package delivery, law enforcement, and so much more. Events like this help inspire the future of our industry, so we want these kids to be exposed to the tremendous opportunities ahead of them."

Aviation events also happening this summer. All are free for participants and designed to reach youth who may not otherwise have access to aviation experiences.

Declaration of Independence

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, —That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our Brittish brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

UC Davis Softball Head Coach Erin Thorpe Announces Retirement

UC Davis Athletics News Release

DAVIS, CA (MPG) - After 12 seasons leading the UC Davis softball program and almost three decades in collegiate coaching, UC Davis Softball Head Coach Erin Thorpe has announced her retirement from coaching.

Thorpe leaves behind one of the most successful eras in program history, during which she guided the Aggies to sustained success while helping countless student-athletes grow, on and off the field.

Thorpe finishes her UC Davis tenure as the second-winningest coach in program history with 273 victories and is just the third coach in school history to surpass the 200-win mark. Across a 23-year head coaching career that included stops at UC Davis, Boise State and Whittier College, Thorpe compiled 496 career victories, including 446 at the Division I level.

"After 23 seasons in coaching, including 12 unforgettable years at UC Davis, retiring is both bittersweet and deeply meaningful," said Thorpe. "I am incredibly grateful for the opportunity to have worked with so many dedicated assistant coaches, remarkable players, and wonderful colleagues throughout my career. We experienced wins, milestones, and accomplishments that I will always be proud of, but the relationships we built, the lessons we shared, and the moments we experienced together are what will always matter to me most. Thank you to everyone who has been part of this journey. It has truly been one of the great honors of my life."

"Erin's career at UC Davis reflects a remarkable commitment to our university, to our student-athletes and to the sport of softball," said Director of Athletics Rocko DeLuca. "She led the program with dedication and helped guide it through significant moments in its history. We appreciate all that she has contributed to UC Davis Athletics and wish Erin and her family the very best as she begins this next chapter in her journey."

Thorpe's final season at UC Davis was one of the most successful in program history as the Aggies set a new standard in the Big West Conference and positioned themselves for continued success heading into the Mountain West Conference.

The Aggies posted 17 conference victories in 2026, the program's most ever in the Big West Conference, and earned the program's first appearance in the Big West Championship Tournament. Along the way, UC Davis recorded a signature victory over Cal State Fullerton, which was ranked No. 4 in the national mid-major poll at the time, and completed a historic road sweep of Long Beach State.

Throughout her tenure, Thorpe coached some of the most accomplished student-athletes in program history. Brooke Yanez became the program's first All-American under her leadership in 2019, while Anna Dethlefsen earned Big West Player of the Year honors in 2023. Thorpe also guided Yanez to Big West Pitcher of the Year recognition in 2019 and helped Ashley Sawai earn Big West Freshman Pitcher of the Year honors in 2024. Since Thorpe took over the program in 2015, Aggies have earned 41 All-Big West selections and seven National Fastpitch Coaches Association All-Region honors.

Several Aggies also etched their names into the record book during Thorpe's tenure. Anna Dethlefsen became the first player in program history to surpass 100 career stolen bases, finishing with 110 and ranking second in Big West Conference history.

Other Aggies established numerous UC Davis Division I-era records, including Alyse Rojas in career and single-season batting average and on-base percentage, Sarah Starks in career and single-season home runs and career RBIs, Alexa Yanez in single-season wins, ERA and strikeouts, and Kenedi Brown in career wins and strikeouts. During Thorpe's final season, the Aggies set Division I-era program records for hits, doubles and walks while posting the second-highest totals in batting average and RBIs.

The Aggies also enjoyed several landmark seasons under Thorpe's leadership, including a 39-win campaign in 2019, which marks the program's highest win total since 2003.

Prior to arriving at UC Davis, Thorpe became the winningest coach in Boise State softball history. A former All-American student-athlete herself, Thorpe coached the Broncos' Tara Glover to the program's first All-America honor, and six players earned all-region recognition and 18 received all-conference accolades during her tenure in Boise. She was the head coach at Whittier College before taking over at Boise State. ★
