Empowering Women and Girls

Soroptimist International of Rancho Cordova and Gold River News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The vision of the Soroptimist organization is to help provide to women and girls resources and opportunities to reach their full potential and live their dreams.

During their 2025–26 fiscal year, the club helped enable more than 1,200 women and girls to achieve their dreams and goals through a variety of impactful projects and initiatives.

The club created and donated 500 Comfort Kits, along with bulk children’s items, to the Sacramento Family Justice Center for distribution to domestic violence and trafficking survivors and their children throughout Sacramento County.

In addition, approximately 150 girls were able to remain in school rather than be sent home due to menstrual cramps because they benefited from heating pads donated to all five secondary schools in Rancho Cordova in 2023. The club also provided five women with a total of $3,500 in Live Your Dream cash awards to support their educational and personal advancement goals.

During the holiday season, 150 stockings filled with useful comfort items were distributed to female veterans through the Women’s Health Center at the VA Northern California Healthcare System (NCHCS) in Mather, California. Through the Project 680 committee, the club helped ensure that 380 homeless and at-risk girls had the resources and support needed to comfortably attend FCUSD schools.

Additionally, the club provided Dream It, Achieve It workshops focused on goal-setting and career re-entry or improvement for 16 domestic violence survivors at the Sacramento Regional Family Justice Center from April through June 2026.

The 1,200 women and girls helped during the 2025-26 fiscal year is added to the 6,800 women and girls helped since the club’s founding in 2009 for a total of 8,000 women and girls! We would love for you to become a member of our club to help us help even more women and girls!

Ready for the Call

Metro Fire new training facility opens with a focus on preparedness and partnership

By Ornella Rossi

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - When residents call 911 during a wildfire, medical emergency or major disaster, the response often depends on training completed long before the emergency begins. The firefighters who will protect the Sacramento region for decades to come now have a new place to learn their craft.

Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District officially opened the Zinfandel First Responder Training Facility on June 25 at 3801 Zinfandel Drive, marking a major investment in firefighter training, regional collaboration and public safety for the more than 750,000 residents served throughout Sacramento and Placer counties.

location for the first time, creating a centralized environment where recruits, firefighters, paramedics and specialized teams can train using realistic, hands-on scenarios.

“The opening of the Zinfandel First Responder Training Facility represents far more than a new building,” Metro Fire Chief Adam House said. “It reflects Metro Fire’s long-term commitment to excellence, preparedness and the communities we serve.”

House said the facility will help strengthen regional readiness while ensuring firefighters are prepared to respond to increasingly complex emergencies, including wildfires, technical rescues, hazardous materials incidents and medical emergencies.

first-served basis. Reserved seating costs extra and does not include fair admission.

Metro Fire officials said the facility was also designed with regional partnerships in mind. Agencies from across the area will have opportunities to train together, improving communication and coordination before responding to large-scale emergencies.

Beyond the concerts, visitors can spend the weekend on carnival rides, see livestock in the Big Barn and watch family entertainment such as sea lions, acrobats, racing pigs and dog performances. Indoor exhibits include the King Tut Experience, the Candy Maze and Selfie Experience, fine art and photography displays, a California First Peoples art showcase, lowrider culture and the California Cannabis Exhibit and Experience.

Visitors should prepare for Sacramento's summer heat by bringing sunscreen and sealed plastic water bottles. Outside food is allowed. Bags must follow the fair's clear-bag policy and generally cannot exceed 12 by 12 by 2 inches.

Dave Ramsey

Dear Dave,

My wife and I are on Baby Step 2 of your plan, and we're paying off our debt as quickly as possible. I've even put my motorcycle up for sale for $5,000 to help us get out of debt faster. The other day, a guy offered me $500 cash and a fishing boat for the bike. I've always really wanted a boat, but picking up a toy feels weird when we're trying to get out of debt. Plus, the money portion of the deal would only make a tiny dent in what we owe. What do you think about this?

– Gordon

Dear Gordon,

I'm proud of you two for working to get control of your finances. And I've got to admit, the deal this guy offered is kind of interesting. Odd, but interesting!

At this stage of the game, though, I think you

Dave Ramsey Says

You're Really Just Trading One Expense for Another

and your wife should sit down together and ask yourselves what your real goal is. If the goal is to own a boat, then you could accomplish that easily. If your goal is to get out of debt and get control of your finances, then this deal isn't really the best way to go. It seems like a cool transaction on the surface, especially if you like being on the water. But the upkeep and maintenance on boats can really add up. And that means more hassles and expenses in your lives.

I think you already knew this, Gordon, but in my mind getting out of debt as quickly as possible comes first. There's plenty of time later for you to save up and buy a nice boat after you get control of your money. In this scenario, you're really just trading one recreational vehicle—and the accompanying expenses—for another.

If you're on Baby Step 2, it means you've already got $1,000 in the bank for emergencies, and you've moved on to paying off all your debt, except for your home. This tells me you two are motivated, but the idea of a boat has caused your resolve to get a little shaky.

So, if you're looking for someone to tell you forget the boat, and stay on track with getting control of your lives and money, I'm your guy. Don't do the deal!

Board Elects 2026-27 Officers, Welcomes New Trustees

Newly Elected Trustees, Re-Elected Incumbent to Serve Four-Year Terms

Sacramento County Office of Education News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Board of Education selected its officers for 2026-27 during the July 14 board meeting. Mariana Corona Sabeniano (Area 2 Trustee) will serve another term as board president and Vanessa D. Caigoy, MBA (Area 4 Trustee) will be board vice president.

Prior to selecting its officers, the board welcomed back Mariana Corona Sabeniano (Area 2 Trustee), who was re-elected unopposed and extended a warm welcome to its newest trustees, Dominique Donette, M.Ed. (Area 1 Trustee) and Annie Fischer (Area 3 Trustee). They will each serve four-year terms ending in 2030. Dominique Donette (Duh-nay), M.Ed. (Area 1 Trustee), who was sworn in the week prior, leads government affairs work across California for EdVoice. She earned her undergraduate degree from the University of California, Berkeley, a master’s degree in education policy and management from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and a master’s degree in educational leadership through the Broad Residency in Urban Education. Annie Fischer (Area 3 Trustee), who was sworn in the day before the board meeting, is a California state employee. She earned a bachelor’s degree in anthropology with a minor in U.S. History from California State University, Fullerton. ★

New Rooster Ordinance Supports Animal Welfare and Public Safety

Most residents who keep backyard poultry have a small flock and provide excellent care for their animals. However, Animal Control Officers occasionally respond to properties with unusually large numbers of roosters. Photo courtesy of Sacramento County

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - In July, Sacramento County’s updated Crowing Fowl Ordinance will provide clearer standards for keeping roosters in unincorporated Sacramento County while strengthening protections for both animals and the community. The ordinance is designed to support responsible rooster ownership, improve animal welfare, reduce nuisance conditions and help deter illegal cockfighting. For Sacramento County Animal Care Services, the ordinance is also an opportunity to educate the public about the work Animal Control Officers perform every day.

When residents hear about rooster-related calls, many assume they’re simply responding to complaints about early morning crowing. While noise complaints are one reason officers may be dispatched, Animal Control Officers are trained to assess much more than sound. During an investigation, officers evaluate the overall health and welfare of the animals, including whether they have access to adequate food, clean water, appropriate shelter and safe living conditions. They also look for signs of neglect, overcrowding or injuries that may require intervention.

Most residents who keep backyard poultry have a small flock and provide excellent care for their animals. However, Animal Control Officers occasionally respond to properties with unusually large numbers of roosters. Large concentrations of roosters can present animal welfare concerns, including injuries caused by fighting among birds, inadequate housing, sanitation issues and limited access to food and water. In some situations, these conditions may also warrant further investigation into possible illegal activity.

Cockfighting remains illegal throughout California and is considered a form of animal cruelty. Animal Control Officers work closely with law enforcement partners when investigating suspected cockfighting cases. While no single observation confirms illegal activity, officers are trained to recognize patterns that may indicate birds are being bred, housed or conditioned for fighting. These investigations help protect animals from abuse while supporting safer neighborhoods.

The updated ordinance establishes numerical limits for the incidental, non-commercial keeping of roosters based on parcel size while creating a registration process for qualifying properties that may need additional birds for recognized purposes. It also establishes animal care standards, prohibits tethering and strengthens enforcement tools available to County staff. For many responsible poultry owners, the ordinance simply provides clearer expectations for keeping healthy birds while being considerate of neighbors.

Animal Control Officers do much more than respond to stray dogs and lost pets. Each day they investigate reports of animal neglect and cruelty, educate pet and livestock owners, enforce local animal ordinances and work alongside law enforcement to protect both animals and the public.

The new Crowing Fowl Ordinance provides another tool to help officers address concerns before they become larger animal welfare issues while continuing to support responsible animal ownership throughout Sacramento County. Residents can learn more about the Crowing Fowl Ordinance, including frequently asked questions and registration information, on Sacramento County’s Crowing Fowl webpage.

Residents who have concerns about roosters in their neighborhood are encouraged to report them by calling 311. ★

DPR Releases Final Findings from State-Funded Fumigant Alternatives Study

California Department of Pesticide Regulation News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Department of Pesticide Regulation (DPR) released the fourth and final component of a multi-part study exploring alternatives to fumigant pesticides. The last report focused on the risks and benefits of pre-plant fumigants.

The research conducted by the California Council on Science and Technology (CCST) specifically looked at methyl bromide and three pesticides known as MITC generators – dazomet, metam-sodium and metam-potassium. Similar to the findings from CCST’s previous reports, this report found that, while alternatives exist, there is no single alternative that can be used as a 1:1 substitute for methyl bromide or MITC generators. In particular, the cost and effectiveness of alternatives remain a significant barrier for growers. More crop- and region-specific research is needed to determine the efficacy of alternatives at commercial scale.

“DPR has made a strong commitment to sustainable pest management and finding alternatives to fumigants,” said DPR Director Karen Morrison. “We will continue to prioritize actions to protect human health and the environment through research and innovation.” ★

Sustainable Business Awards and Resource Expo

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Office of Economic Development’s Business Environmental Resource Center will recognize local businesses advancing sustainability and environmental stewardship during the Sustainable Business Awards and Resource Expo on Wednesday, Sept. 6, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mack Powell Event Center in Sacramento.

This sponsor-supported event is offered free of charge to the Sacramento County community. Advanced registration is required as space is limited. Complimentary appetizers will be provided.

“The businesses we’re recognizing are showing that sustainability isn’t just good for the environment, it’s good for business,” said Director of County’s Office of Economic Development, Crystal Bethke. “One of the best parts of this event is seeing businesses share ideas that others can take back to their own operations. We hope this event inspires more businesses to explore what’s possible and connects them with the people and resources to get started.”

Attendees will have the opportunity to connect with local businesses, business support organizations, explore resources available to businesses, network with environmental leaders and discover innovative sustainability efforts taking place throughout the county. The program portion of the event will feature an awards ceremony where businesses certified through County’s Sustainable Business Program are highlighted.

The Sustainable Business Program is supported by County departments and regional partners, including building permits and inspection, airports, environmental management, planning and environmental review, waste management and recycling, water resources, Sacramento Area Sewer District, Sacramento Metropolitan Air Quality Management District and Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD). ★

Kings Korner

The Team is Getting Younger

By V.G. Harris

Does anyone remember four years ago when your own Sacramento Kings led the NBA in scoring? I do, and what a magical season of excitement it was!

So, if we don't lead the league in scoring but become a palindrome that plays defensive like it's our mission in life, how happy would that make you?

Yes, Scott Perry like his coach Doug Christie has sounded like a myna bird as it relates to defense, so as we like to say, "the proof is in the pudding."

Put No. 1 on the Sacramento Kings agenda as PLAY BETTER DEFENSE! Then, expect it.

Coaches, the GM, and ownership need to hold players accountable, including the free throw shooting.

Any NBA team that is a cellar dweller in any category needs to take it seriously and make the necessary changes to remedy the problem. Don't settle for just getting a little better, fix the problem!

When high school teams have a higher percentage of success from the same 15' line as your NBA team does, you have a problem.

On to the positive.

Stop listening to the radio talking heads that seem to believe they're suddenly experts when it comes to the Sacramento Kings and are collectively giving this team no chance at finishing on the north side of 30 wins. What utter nonsense.

Yes, the Kings had a good if not excellent draft and apart from Alex Karaban's sprained ankle that limited his action in summer league, the youngsters that are about to make up this year's team acquitted themselves admirably.

What measures need to be taken to put the Kings in a 30-plus game winning season?

Double down on your decision to make Keegan Murray the first-round draft choice he was just four years ago and help him make season No. 5 one to remember.

If Keegan Murray can shoot 41 percent from three-point land in his first year and set a new NBA rookie record for three-pointers, he surely can remedy a career low 27 percent last season and return to the Keegan Murray that brought us to our feet so many times before.

Work with this young man who is now a veteran player and needs to find his way on a team with former all-star Zach Lavine, and first round draft choice Darius Acuff Jr. Surely the three of them will be starting along with Domantas Sabonis and whoever wins the job as the power forward alongside him.

Player chemistry is all important and this year's preseason will help set the table for what portends to be a very interesting if not highly productive 2026-27 NBA season.

Start with Domantas Sabonis and the consistency he brings to the table. For three seasons in a row Domantas led the NBA in rebounds and has been one of highest-ranking double-double leaders in recent memory. He even led the NBA in double-doubles and triple-doubles the same season!

Start appreciating and celebrating what you have, and I'm talking now to the Kings franchise. Your persistence in trying to get rid of the one true leader you have on this team is demeaning and it needs to stop.

Celebrate what this Stevedore brings to the court every night and use his talents as a veteran and all-star and let him serve the youngsters on this team as the true mentor he is.

Much of what we can expect this season will come with the success of Domantas Sabonis and his teammate Zach Lavine.

If Lavine can stay heathy and return to his standard of excellence that made him an all-star, Darius Acuff Jr. and Keegan Murray will benefit greatly from his prowess.

Players like Precious Achiuwa, Emanuel Sharp, Dylan Cardwell, Marquel Sutton, Alex Karaban, Isaiah Stevens and Jonathan Mogbo are waiting for their chance, and the success of our veterans will only accelerate the schooling of these youngsters.

Pick your favorite Kings fans because whether by chance or by luck, Scott Perry has given you a lot to look at, and what you're looking at are legitimate NBA players.

Can Doug Christie build the team chemistry needed to make winners out of a promising young team and silence the naysayers that are ever present before every season starts?

The talent is here Kings fans, so don't be afraid to get a little excited.

All the best! ★

How Crime and the Politics of Crime Rise and Fall in California

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

For two decades, beginning in the late 1970s, the most powerful issue in California politics was crime.

Sensational crimes such as the 1993 kidnapping and murder of 12-year-old Polly Klaas fueled anti-crime furor and new laws, including the infamous three strikes measure.

By depicting Democrats as soft on criminals, Republicans dominated elections for president, U.S. Senate and the governorship and made strong gains in the Legislature.

Jerry Brown, the Democratic governor who took office in 1975 as the anti-crime movement was gathering steam, felt the backlash, compelling him to sign a string of tough anti-crime bills that Democratic legislators carried to placate voters.

Brown's opposition to the death penalty was a factor in his failed 1982 bid for a U.S. Senate seat. Voters instead opted for Republican Pete Wilson and elected another Republican, capital punishment advocate George Deukmejian, to succeed Brown as governor. Eight years later, Wilson won the governorship.

In 1986, voters not only re-elected Deukmejian as governor, but they ousted three of Brown's state Supreme Court appointees, including Chief Justice Rose Bird. Bird and Justices Cruz Reynoso and Joseph Grodin had made opposition to the death penalty obvious in their rulings.

Although he had signed bills to put more criminals behind bars, Brown was reluctant to build new prisons to house a sharply rising number of felons. That changed when Deukmejian became governor. In the 16 years of his and Pete Wilson's governorships, the state built dozens of new prisons, as the number of inmates climbed from about 24,000 in 1980 to a peak of 173,000 in 2006.

Crime as a powerful political issue was not as irrational as some critics have contended. The latest report on California crime, released by Attorney General Rob Bonta, confirms that in both absolute and relative terms, the state during the 1980s and 1990s saw sharp increases in criminal behavior, particularly violent crimes such as murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault.

In 1980, there were 209,903 such crimes reported, more than twice the 1970 total. Violent crimes hit a high water mark of 345,508 in 1992, and homicides a high of 4,005 in 1993. Relatively, violent crimes reached a high of 1,079.8 incidents per 100,000 Californians in 1991.

Crime as a political issue began to taper off in the late 1990s, as did crime as a demonstrable threat.

In 2025, there were 170,397 violent crimes reported — less than half the 1992 record — and the crime rate declined to 431.1 crimes per 100,000 Californians, well under half of the 1991 mark.

Why crime exploded during the 1980s and early 1990s has never been fully explained, although many possibilities have been advanced.

The more recent decline is also something of a mystery. And it's been accompanied by a reversal in criminal justice politics.

Federal courts in 2011 compelled California to reduce its inmate population due to overcrowding. The current population, about 90,000, is scarcely half the peak. And one-by-one, prisons are being closed.

Jerry Brown, who had signed numerous lock-'em-up bills during his first governorship, returned to the position in 2011 and championed more lenient treatment. He sponsored a 2014 ballot measure, Proposition 47, that made it much easier for inmates serving time for offenses deemed nonviolent to gain parole by redefining "nonviolent" to cover some pretty serious offenses.

Other ballot measures and laws enacted by the Legislature and Gov. Gavin Newsom have continued to soften the treatment of lawbreakers.

However, in 2024, voters passed Proposition 36, which tightened up the loose provisions of Prop. 47 and signaled at least a mild backlash, likely driven by a surge of smash-and-grab robberies.

Whether that backlash gains strength or California continues to ease off on punishment is a question that awaits an answer.

Social Security Matters

Should I Claim Spouse Benefits Now, or my Own SS Benefit?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am writing to get advice on the optimal time to sign up for Social Security benefits. I am a 64-year-old female, and my birthdate is August 1961. My husband is already taking his SS benefits, so I have also wondered if it be advisable to take spousal benefits or full benefits. Signed: Wondering Spouse

Dear Wondering: If you take your Social Security benefits at age 64, they will be permanently reduced. And, for information, you cannot take only your spousal benefit; you must take your own SS retirement benefit whenever you claim and, if you are entitled to more as your husband's spouse, you will also get a "spousal boost" to bring your monthly payment up to what you are entitled to as a spouse. If you claim at any time before your SS full retirement age (FRA) of 67, both your own SS retirement amount and your spousal boost amount will be actuarially reduced for claiming early. All of which means that claiming before your FRA (e.g., at 64) will mean your monthly benefit will be less than 50% of your husband's monthly FRA amount.

Now, for clarity, it's important to know how spouse benefits are calculated: if your FRA entitlement is less than 50% of your husband's FRA entitlement, then you will get a "spousal boost" added to your own SS retirement amount. Note that FRA amounts are always used to calculate spousal amounts, regardless of the age at which benefits are claimed. If your husband waited until age 70 to get a higher monthly benefit, or even if he claimed before his FRA, your spousal amount would still be based on his FRA entitlement. If your FRA benefit is less than half of his FRA entitlement, you will get a spousal boost. If not, you won't.

Assuming you will be entitled to a "spousal boost," the decision you must make is whether to claim early (e.g., now at 64) or wait until you are 67 to get your maximum amount as your husband's spouse. The factors to consider are these:

- Are you still working? If so, claiming before FRA means you will be subject to an annual earnings limit until you reach FRA. The earnings limit for early filers in 2026 is $24,480 and, if that is exceeded, SS will take away benefits of $1 for every $2 you are over the limit (the limit increases a bit yearly). If you substantially exceed the earnings limit by working, you may even be temporarily ineligible for SS benefits until you either reach your FRA or stop working full time.
- Do you expect your husband to predecease you? If so, then your benefit as a widow will be 100% of the larger amount he is collecting when he passes (provided when that occurs you've reached your FRA and your own SS retirement is less). Depending on timing, that may mean that taking a reduced spouse benefit now, which will be replaced by your larger widow benefit later, is a logical choice.

- What is your own life expectancy? If you have health issues or have other reasons to believe you will not achieve "average" life expectancy (average is about 87 for a woman your current age), then claiming your Social Security benefits early is likely a prudent choice.

So, as you can see, you must evaluate your personal circumstances to make this decision. Although we aren't able to say exactly when you should claim your SS benefits, I hope this provides the information you need to make an informed decision.

What did the country ever do to white college graduates to make them feel so disaffected from its economic and political system? The wave of socialist victories in Democratic primaries is being driven by well-educated white voters who are more extreme than the rest of the Democratic coalition.

The latest evidence is a new poll in the closely watched Democratic primary for a Senate seat in Michigan. The AOC-endorsed, Israel-hating insurgent, Abdul El-Sayed, has had momentum, but is now narrowly trailing the establishment candidate, Haley Stevens. According to a Detroit News survey, Stevens is ahead by about seven points, with demographic advantages that are very telling.

Stevens, a goofy white lady, leads El-Sayed by a 3-to-1 margin among black voters. On the other hand, El-Sayed, a person of color or fully vested in the left's Third Worldist agenda, leads among white voters, 51-39%. Stevens, a career apparatchik and politician, leads among non-college-educated voters, 56-34%, whereas El-Sayed, who has been endorsed by the Working Families Party, is ahead with college-educated voters, 48-41.

The respective strengths of the two candidates run against the grain of what you might expect in a race between a conventional Democrat and a radical, yet accord with what we've seen in campaign after campaign.

Socialists may imagine themselves the champions of people of color and of workers, but their movement is, by and large, most attractive to caucasian associate professors of sociology who think they haven't achieved the station in life that they deserve.

Workers of the world aren't uniting behind the DSA

It's less a proletarian phenomenon than a project of frustrated Ph.D. candidates and medium-level professionals. Because many socialist candidates have immigrant backgrounds, it can be tempting to consider the movement as fundamentally a function of immigration, when that's not true.

A 2021 survey of DSA members found that they were disproportionately white, at 85%, and disproportionately had college degrees (80%) or a higher degree (35%). This leaves them in a similar predicament to pioneering communists and socialists in Europe who talked up the prospect of a worker revolution, and then looked around the room and saw no workers, only intellectuals and activists like themselves.

The good news for DSA-aligned candidates is that college-educated white people are very reliable voters who can make a big difference in the kind of low-turnout primaries where anti-establishment, left-wing candidates thrive. A recent analysis in The New York Times noted that Zohran Mamdani-endorsed socialist Darianiza Avila Chevalier defeated Rep. Adriano Espaillat in a marquee New York City congressional primary while winning high-education and higher-income areas; Espaillat, in contrast, won in majority-Hispanic and lower-income areas.

Another Mamdani pick, Brad Lander similarly wiped up in high-income and high-education areas while crushing Rep. Dan Goldman, whose strong performance in low-income parts of the district didn't save him. Socialistic economics may have appeal to working-class voters in theory, but the DSA couples its economics with extreme views on cultural issues that have very little appeal with non-college-educated voters. Tax the rich? Sure. Transcend the gender binary? No, thanks -- whatever that means.

That the average black Democrat is more moderate and pragmatic than the average white Democrat may prove the ultimate check on whether an AOC-type candidate can claim the big prize of the Democratic presidential nomination in 2028. It's one thing to appeal to the so-called Commie Belt in New York City, the young, highly educated, diverse neighborhoods in Queens and Brooklyn that so strongly backed Zohran Mamdani; it's quite another to win over the older, religious African American voters in, say, South Carolina's I-95 Black Belt.

In the 2020 primaries, Bernie Sanders ran a campaign of great verve and ideological energy, while Joe Biden stumbled from one early setback to another -- yet, black Democrats decided that the former vice president was the safer choice, and that was the end of Sanders. In short, the workers of the world may one day unite, but not behind a socialist vessel for the grievances of ideologically exotic, college-educated white people.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF KENNETH W. CAMARA
CASE NO. 26PR001946
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Kenneth W. Camara.
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Daniel R. Camara, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Daniel R. Camara be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows August 20, 2026, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The Ukraine Effect: Cheap High-Tech Weapons and California

By Josh Cook

The California congressional delegation should treat advances in high-tech warfare as both economic development and a national security opportunity.

First, expand and protect flexible contracting authorities so that companies with combat-proven systems can move from prototype and early operational use into sustained production without restarting the full traditional acquisition clock. Second, insist on metrics that reward cost-per-effect and iteration speed, not just unit cost or exquisite performance. Third, ensure that the growing autonomy and unmanned budget lines are structured to favor competition from non-traditional suppliers rather than defaulting to the usual primes. Fourth, use oversight to demand that lessons from Ukraine and similar conflicts are rapidly translated into requirements documents instead of being filtered through legacy assumptions.

This is not about abandoning all high-end platforms. It is about recognizing that the force needs both and cannot afford to shoot down $16,000 drones with $ 6 million missiles.

California's companies are already building the affordable, software-centric half. The procurement system must be made capable of absorbing them at the volume the threat environment requires. Failure means California's innovation advantage is partially wasted, jobs and capital migrate or underperform, and the Department of War continues to buy for the last war.

At the same time, the next one is already being fought with different tools. Acquisition reform language appears regularly in National Defense Authorization Acts, and appropriators have shown willingness to fund autonomy lines more explicitly. California members sit in key positions—Defense Appropriations subcommittee leadership and districts that contain both traditional bases and the new tech companies. That leverage is underused if it is applied only to protecting existing programs rather than forcing structural change that lets cheaper, high-tech systems scale.

The Ukrainians adapted because they had to, because the war was on their doorstep. We should adapt our processes before that happens. ★

This is what award-winning care looks like.

When it comes to caring for residents at Atria El Camino Gardens in Carmichael, very little can stand in Cathyren’s way. Whether she’s helping residents fill their prescriptions on her days off or simply bringing kindness to every interaction, the Resident Services Supervisor treats each resident like family.

With a tenure of 10 years, Cathyren leads a care team that serves 200+ residents. Her excellence in service was recently honored with a California Assisted Living Association (CALA) award, one of only five bestowed across Northern California each year.

“Cathyren pours out her heart every day,” says Eleonor, the community’s Assistant Executive Director. “She speaks to residents with compassion and empathy, all while promoting their independence.”

Atria’s all-inclusive amenities and robust events calendar bring residents together – and passionate staff like Cathyren know how to transform a place to live into a true community.
