CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - It's 8:15 a.m. on Sept. 11 at the Sylvan Cemetery in Citrus Heights. A 25-minute tribute to the fallen of 9/11 and our present first responders begin with none of the usual posting of colors or other tradition. Community members, local veterans, Sacramento County first responders and chaplains gather quietly to honor the victims and heroes of September 11, 2001, marking twenty-five years since the tragedy that reshaped the nation.

At the request of his daughter Cindy who joined him on that day, Galovich sang a moving Battle Hymn of the Republic with the audience joining in. Sacramento County Supervisor Rosario Rodriguez's Chief of Staff Matt Hedges delivered the keynote address, emphasizing the importance of remembering the individual human stories behind the historic tragedy rather than treating the day as a distant statistic. SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Got beanie babies? Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids (SBSK) is asking for donations of new or "almost new" Beanie Babies all year long. Every September, Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids picks as many of the lowest-income elementary schools they can and finds out how many kindergartners they have. Volunteers make double-fleece blankets (about 50 inches by 60 inches) for all of them, and a little fleece pouch with a Beanie Baby in it to go with each blanket. Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids gives these to the children right before Christmas break. Some of these kids live in their cars or in places without heat and this is all they get for Christmas. It is wildly popular with the teachers and the kids! Spread the word, too! This is their 13th year for this project, and they hope to continue doing it, as long as they can get Beanie Babies.

In 2025, Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids gave out over 3,300 blankets and Beanie Babies in their Kindergarten Project, reaching 58 schools! SBSK is always looking for new volunteers to make blankets all year round for children in need. Like to knit, crochet, sew, quilt, make no-sew blankets and have run out of people to make things for? We're looking for you! To learn more about Sacramento Blankets for Sacramento Kids, visit www.sacblankets4kids.com and sign up! No pressure, no timelines, no meetings...just people who enjoy crocheting, knitting, quilting, sewing, making no-sew blankets and helping a whole lot of children at the same time.

SBSK is a nonprofit organization that serves children in need from infants to 18-year-olds. They do this all year long! But the Kindergarten Project is their "special" project of the year. Email claire@sacblankets4kids.com for a list of drop-off places for your Beanie Babies. ★

Welcome to Citrus Heights Mural Painted by Community Volunteers

by Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - More than 50 volunteers including local families, city council members and community members gathered over two days on Saturday, Sept. 12 and Sunday, Sept. 13 to help paint a 50-foot portion of a beige residential block retaining wall along Auburn Boulevard starting at Cobalt Way.

Retired councilmember Jeannie Bruins, and current council member Porsche Middleton and Dr. Jayna Karpinski-Costa each took brushes in hand to lend their creative flourishes to the mural.

Clad in light yellow-green safety vests, volunteers added bright yellow paint to each of the large block stenciled letters, spelling out "Welcome to Citrus Heights."

Passing motorists along Auburn Boulevard frequently honked their horns

Over the two-day period, the Citrus Heights community came together to complete the first phase of the mural, but the overall project is not yet finished, according to Citrus Heights Arts.

in encouragement throughout the day as multiple design elements were artfully added to the mural transforming an unremarkable cinder block retaining wall into a refreshing, colorful artistic statement. Just behind the large block letters a panoramic light blue sky was painted along the full length of the mural. Once dry, brown, gently rolling hills were then painted in between the letters. Over the two-day project, the white cluster outlines of flowers, butterflies and birds surrounding each individual letter of the mural were filled in with splashes of pink and red. Once the mural is fully completed and dry, Citrus Heights Arts director Gigi and police officers and emergency personnel who rushed into danger at all three locations, linking their sacrifice to the daily dedication of the law enforcement and emergency response teams serving Sacramento County today.

“There is something very meaningful about meeting at a cemetery. A cemetery teaches us something important. A life is not a number. It is a name, a family and a story about someone who was loved. And that remembrance matters,” Hedges said.

He pointed out that the those who serve today in any part of their community bring honor those who served and lost their lives. We can all carry on their legacy with our own courage.

“Courage does not always announce itself with sirens. Courage is simply showing up when someone needs it. It is quiet and often unseen. The strength of a community is built on the thousands of small decisions to help others.” He continued, “I see here in our community, firefighters, law enforcement, emergency dispatchers and medical personnel. Also, veterans, volunteers, faith communities, local organizations and our neighbors who give their time without any recognition.”

He emphasized the importance that we teach those who don’t remember this date to learn to live with courage, sacrifice and gratitude. “It is these future generations who will continue to preserve the legacy of that day not just by looking back at the loss.” He concluded with, “God bless the families of the fallen, God bless first responders, God bless those who serve, God bless Sacramento County and God bless the United States of America.”

Adding his own message of hope and community action, Galovich reminisced about his experience of the day of Sept. 11. He was told by a lady, “I didn’t like 9/11. But I liked 9/12 as all stores ran out of American flags.”

He also spoke of how less than 40 percent of our population was born in 2001 and we should be transforming remembrance into daily service. Like Hedges, Galovich encouraged community members to honor the fallen through active kindness, volunteerism and supporting neighborhood programs.

“Thank all first responders you see for what they do. Remembrance isn’t just about standing in silence once a year. It’s found in how we treat our neighbors, how we support our local schools, and how we step up to serve those in need right here in our own backyard.”

Twenty-five minutes after it began, this tribute to the fallen ended as it had begun, with no ritual, just a moment of silence, a recorded Taps and the singing of God Bless of America by all, leaving attendees with a sense of shared purpose and renewed community unity.

As the short service ended, those attending a funeral service in that space began to arrive as a solemn reminder that the rituals of life go on with all that entails, including death. It is how we live that matters. ★

Volunteers Help Paint Auburn Boulevard Community Mural

Once the mural is fully completed and dry, a protective anti-graffiti coating will be applied at a later date.

Rayford said a protective anti-graffiti coating will be applied at a later date.

Painting took place between 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on both days with music, a pizza lunch, water and snacks provided to volunteers.

The original mural artist, Erse, who provided the general outline the volunteer painters followed, will return to the wall to do his final touches in the coming days, Rayford said.

Over the two-day period, the Citrus Heights community has generally completed the first phase of the mural, but the overall project is not yet finished,” Rayford said.

“We’ll return at a later date to complete the second half of the wall,” she said. “Before Phase 2 of the mural project begins, the final design will be presented to the city of Citrus Heights for design and approval,” she said.

The community mural project is being coordinated by Citrus Heights Arts with participating private property owners and the city of Citrus Heights to bring some much-deserved tender loving care to the soundwall.

A previously completed panel near the corner of Auburn Boulevard and Cobalt Way identifies Auburn Boulevard as part of the original U.S. 40 and features a red and white milepost sign with a guidepost marker set against blooming orange poppies that the city of Sacramento is just 14 and a half miles away.

“The new “Welcome to Citrus Heights” themed mural along Auburn Boulevard helps reflect the deep pride its residents have in their city, and in their neighborhoods,” Rayford said.

Rayford especially thanked Ron Ferns, a long-time Citrus Heights resident and jogger, for his multi-year efforts to clean up trash and clutter along the length of his jogging route and then plant flowers from his garden in the bed along the soundwall to help beautify the route.

Last weekend, Ferns was among the early group of volunteers ready to pick up a roller and brush to help paint the community mural.

Volunteers carefully walked around some of the flowers and plants in the flower bed along the soundwall which Ferns had previously placed that are surrounded by a thick layer of fresh bark supplied by the city of Citrus Heights.

Ferns said he’s looking forward to the completion of the two-day mural project and the ongoing nurturing of the flowers which will bloom again next spring.

The non-profit Citrus Heights Arts is dedicated to enriching the cultural fabric of the city by promoting creativity, connection, and accessibility through the arts.

American River College News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - It is the end of an era for American River College baseball and athletics as former player, coach and equipment manager Kurt Mattson has officially retired.

Kurt played for the Beavers in 1978 after having graduated from Del Campo High School in 1977. After ARC, he spent one year at Sac City College then went on to play and graduate from the University of Nevada Las Vegas (UNLV) where he still is in the top 10 in several pitching categories for the Rebels. Kurt then pitched for several years in the San Francisco Giants organization where he had a career Earned Run Average (ERA) under 2.00.

Kurt returned to ARC in the late 1980's as the pitching coach, working with legendary Head Coach Kevin Higgins, where Kurt helped guide many future professional and collegiate pitchers, including Mike Lincoln, who spent several years in the major leagues.

Kurt returned to UNLV as the Rebels pitching coach in 1997 and led the UNLV staff for several seasons.

After his stint at UNLV Kurt stayed in Las Vegas where he worked as an electrician for several years before once again returning to ARC as the men's equipment manager in 2005. He spent 21 years in

The River Cats Hit Big in Vegas

Led by a Three-Homer Game From Will Brennan

Sacramento River Cats News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - After a tough homestand vs. the Salt Lake Bees, Sacramento hit big to begin their final roadtrip of the season at Las Vegas.

Scott Bandura doubled to lead off the game, his fourth leadoff double since stepping into the leadoff position on Aug. 23. Four of his five total leadoff hits have been doubles, with a single on Aug. 25.

Parks Harber drew a walk, then Bo Davidson knocked a 107mph line drive directly at the face of Vegas starter Jamie Arnold, who immediately walked to the dug-out and exited the game.

The Aviators released an update Wednesday afternoon that stated: “Jamie Arnold suffered intra-orbital and maxillary sinus fractures. Dr. Brendan G. Johnson, a dual board-certified oral and maxillofacial surgeon, determined that no surgery is required. There is no timetable for return.”

Hayden Juenger entered in place of Arnold and Will Brennan grounded into a double play that scored Scott Bandura, and Diego Velasquez grounded out.

Joe Whitman was the starter for Sacramento, sending down the Aviators in order to begin the game.

The Cats started off the second with three-straight singles, the third from Aeverson Arteaga scoring Eddys Leonard. That hit from Arteaga extended his hitting streak to nine-straight games, his longest hitting streak since Aug. 24-Sept. 11, 2022, with Single-A San Jose when he hit in 15-straight.

Fernando Gonzalez then grounded into a double play that scored Charlie Szykowny. Bandura swiped second and advanced to third on a throwing error, but Harber lined out to end the inning.

Whitman allowed a single and a walk in the second but escaped without a run.

In the third, Bo Davidson led off with a single and Will Brennan his first home run of the night, putting Sac up 5-0 early.

Vegas went three up and three down, all line outs to Brennan in right field.

Gonzalez walked to lead off the fourth, but Scott Bandura grounded into the third double play of the night, and Harber flied out, marking the first of just two innings in which the Cats would not score.

After ground outs to Johnthan Rodríguez and Joey Meneses, the Aviators made a push with a Brayan Buevas single and Jack Winkler reaching on a fielding error from Arteaga, but Bryan Lavastida ended the inning on a fly out.

Davidson doubled in the fifth, Velasquez drew a walk, and Leonard singled to score Davidson. 6-0 Sacramento.

Whitman allowed a leadoff single the Luke Mann, but sent down all three of the following batters.

Gonzalez tripled in the sixth, his first career three-bagger, and subsequently scored on a sac fly from Bandura.

Whitman allowed a single to Buevas in the sixth but retired all three other batters.

Will Brennan led off the seventh with his second home run of the night, a solo shot to right field.

Whitman allowed another single in the seventh to Lavastida, but Luke Mann grounded into a double play and David Diaz flied out, keeping a goose egg on the board for Vegas.

The eighth was yet again led off with a home run, this time from Scott Bandura, his 10th of the season with Sacramento. It was a 416-foot shot to right field, Bandura’s longest recorded home run of his career.

Harber flied out, and Davidson knocked a triple, his first since Aug. 19, 2025, with Double-A Richmond. It marked the first multi-triple game for Sacramento since July 9, 2025.

Will Brennan then blasted his third home run of the night, a two-run shot to right center field. He became the 17th Triple-A player and fourth PCL player to have three home runs in a game this season.

He also became the 12th River Cat in recorded franchise history (since 2005) to have a three-homer game, and first since Austin Dean did so May 15, 2022. It was the first three-homer game and second multi-homer game of Brennan’s career (2 HR, June 20, 2024, with the Cleveland Guardians).

Brennan totaled five RBI on the night, the third five-plus-RBI game of his career, with the other two occurring in 2022 with Triple-A Columbus.

Velasquez doubled following the homer, extending his hitting streak to 11-straight games, his longest since hitting in 13-straight from April 18-May 2, 2025, with Richmond.

Ryan Walker entered in the eighth in place of Whitman. The Aviators would score their only run that inning, a 359-foot, solo shot to right field from Johnathan Rodríguez.

The ninth was the only other inning the River Cats did not record a run; however, Arteaga did knock another single to lead off the inning.

The Aviators earned one more hit in the bottom of the ninth but went quietly into the night for a final score of 11-1.

Sacramento recorded 18 hits on the night, including a whopping nine extra-base-hits. Both matched their season highs, both done previously on May 20 vs. Sugar Land.

They also had the leadoff batter reached base in all nine innings, with three singles, two doubles, a triple, two home runs and a walk. It was the first time Sacramento has done so in recorded franchise history. It was also the first time a PCL team has had all nine leadoff batters reached base since Oklahoma City did so June 2, 2019, at Memphis.

Whitman earned the win, his fourth with Sacramento and ninth on the season. He threw 7.0 scoreless innings, allowing five hits, one walk and fanning three batters. It marked the second time this season a River Cats pitcher has thrown back-to-back 7.0-plus inning starts. It was also the first time a River Cat has thrown a combined 15.0-plus innings in back-to-back starts since Andrew Suárez did so on Aug. 7 and 12, 2018 (15.1 combined innings).

Davidson went 4-for-5 on the night with a single, double and triple; just a home run shy of the cycle and was on deck before Harber grounded out in the ninth. It marked Davidson’s third four-hit game with Sac, all three coming at Las Vegas. ★

New Preserves Held by Land Trust Protect Open Space

Sacramento Valley Conservancy News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento Valley Conservancy (SVC) added two new open space preserves to the system of protected lands in Sacramento County this summer, one protecting blue oak woodlands and the other open grasslands for Swainson’s Hawk foraging.

Hardwood forests and grasslands are among the least-protected landscapes in California, and these new preserves are a small step toward addressing this gap as the state seeks to reach 30X30 biodiversity goals. Westervelt Ecological Services established the preserves as habitat mitigation for a development project in the City of Folsom.

The Crevis Creek Oak Woodland Preserve connects to the 4,600-acre Deer Creek Hills Preserve and adds 125 acres of protected oak woodland in Eastern Sacramento County, where SVC has a goal of protecting 10,000 acres of blue oak woodlands south of Folsom.

Found only in California, blue oak woodlands are iconic landscapes inhabiting the lower foothills of the Sierra Nevada and Coast Ranges. Blue oak woodland habitat supports exceptional biodiversity, providing food, nesting sites, shelter, and movement corridors for more than 300 vertebrate species and thousands of invertebrates, including birds, mammals, reptiles, pollinators, and amphibians. The preserve remains privately owned and will be grazed for vegetation management and agricultural values.

preserves with Van Vleck Ranch to the northeast and the CDFW Cosumnes and Gill Ranch preserves to the southwest.

Connected protected areas are critical for wildlife corridors to function and wildlife to successfully migrate between different habitat zones. Westervelt will own and manage the property, continuing to manage the grasslands with grazing to manage fire risk and vegetation growth.

Sacramento Valley Conservancy holds permanent conservation easements on the properties, ensuring they remain protected for habitat conservation. Together, Sacramento Valley Conservancy and Westervelt have permanently protected more than 1,500 acres within Sacramento County. The partners remain committed to acquiring additional priority properties to expand protected lands and strengthen the ecological integrity and connectivity of the preserves.

Executive Director of the Sacramento Valley Conservancy Kelly Hopkins said, “These two preserves help expand open space and protect important oak woodland in the Cosumnes River Watershed, and near Deer Creek Hills Preserve. These acquisitions represent another important step in our effort to connect and protect contiguous preserves in Sacramento County, and we’re excited to continue working with Westervelt.”

President of Westervelt Ecological Services Travis Hemmen said, “We value our partnership with the Sacramento Valley Conservancy and share their commitment to connecting important natural landscapes throughout Sacramento County. These preserves help preserve some of the character and natural habitat of the region for future generations to enjoy.” ★

California Small Businesses One Step Closer to Relief from Abusive CIPA Lawsuits

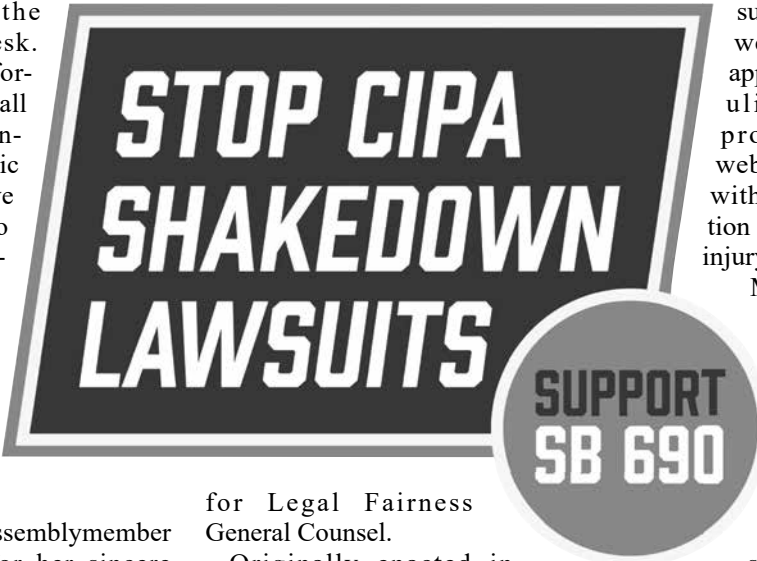

Stop CIPA Shakedown Lawsuits News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Stop CIPA Shakedown Lawsuits coalition has expressed its support for SB 690 following its passage through the California State Legislature and advancement to Governor Gavin Newsom’s desk. Authored by Senator Anna Caballero, SB 690 represents a first step toward addressing the growing wave of abusive lawsuits brought under the California Invasion of Privacy Act (CIPA).

The coalition is encouraged to see lawmakers take action to address CIPA’s pen register and trap and trace provision, providing needed relief to small businesses, nonprofits, and public agencies that have been targeted by lawsuits over common website tools, often without any allegation of actual harm or injury.

“We are pleased to see California lawmakers recognize the urgent need for CIPA reform and advance SB 690 to the Governor’s desk. This is a step forward for the small businesses, nonprofits, and public agencies that have been forced to spend valuable resources defending themselves against abusive lawsuits. We thank Senator Caballero for her leadership and we thank Assemblymember Bauer-Kahan for her sincere engagement in moving this issue through the Legislature. We urge Governor Newsom to sign SB 690 into law and deliver this needed relief to businesses and organizations across California,” said Andrew Kingman, Alliance for Legal Fairness General Counsel.

Originally enacted in 1967, CIPA was intended to protect Californians from unlawful wiretapping and eavesdropping. But the decades-old law, written long before the internet existed, has increasingly been exploited to bring abusive lawsuits over common website tools like appointment scheduling, payment processing, and website chat, often without any allegation of actual harm or injury.

More than 4,000 CIPA lawsuits have been filed in just the last four years, in addition to tens of thousands of demand letters shaking down businesses and organizations across California. Plumbers, solar installers, restaurants, rural healthcare providers, local news outlets, food banks, public schools, and others have been targeted because it is cheaper to settle these claims than to fight them in court – even when no actual harm has been alleged.

Notably, SB 690 does not address Section 631, CIPA’s wiretapping provision. Throughout the legislative process, the coalition advocated for a comprehensive solution addressing both provisions being used to bring lawsuits and demand letters against businesses and organizations over common website tools. Without changes to Section 631, the coalition is concerned that many California small businesses, nonprofits and public agencies will remain vulnerable to these claims.

For more information about SB 690, visit StopCIPAshakedowns.com. ★

The Simmons Factor

By V.G. Harris

Ben Simmons has stolen the preseason show thus far and understandably so. 2018 rookie of the year in the NBA and a three-time all-star, brings with it a lot of optimism and certainly fan excitement.

After sitting out the entirety of the 2025-26 season recovering from back problems, Simmons says he is 100 percent healthy and ready to prove his naysayers wrong.

Many have questioned his toughness, but two back surgeries are nothing to scoff at, and as many people can attest to, back injuries can be hard to overcome.

At 6-foot-10, Simmons represents a skyscraper of a point guard and is even taller than hall-of-famer Magic Johnson.

The apparent plan is for Simmons to back up Darius Acurr Jr., and if so, it could pay dividends.

Without question a point guard of his size represents problems for opposing teams, so what remains to be seen is how he fits in with Scott Perry's new look Kings, and does he have the motor to be a game changer.

The good news as it relates to Ben Simmons is that on a team that is hungry for players with defensive qualities, Simmons has a proven history of being a top flight defender, and although not known for being a big scorer, Simmons can certainly make his mark of the defensive end.

If, as has been expressed, the Kings intend to bring Simmons off the bench and have him back up Darius Acuff, giving him 20-25 minutes per game may be a recipe that will work for a player that has proven to be injury prone.

Meanwhile, aside from Acuff, there are two other draft picks that need attention, and that most notably means on court minutes.

Emanuel Sharpe is another player that comes to the Kings with a history of being a tough defender, and Kings fans got to see his defensive skills on display during the NBA summer league.

Sharpe has a natural knack for the ball and was a division one standout in college on the defensive end of the floor. It makes fans wonder how Simmons and Sharpe would look on the court together, as Sharpe is a natural shooting guard and Simmons plays the point. Just possible that times are changing for the better.

Trade talks continue to swirl as it relates to Domantas Sabonis, and that should not come as welcome news.

I see Sabonis as the anchor of this team, and if anyone comes with a pedigree it is most certainly Domantas.

The Kings need this big man to have a comeback season after being limited to a career low 19 games last year due to injuries. This stalwart has proven himself not just to the Kings organization, but to the league as well, and Sabonis has earned the respect of players throughout.

Alex Karaban, drafted 29th overall, comes to the Kings with four seasons of college ball, and an NCAA title under his belt. Used to winning, Karaban should be a consistent player off the bench, and if coach Christie develops a consistent flow with minutes, Karaban can become a valuable commodity for Sacramento this season.

Much depends on how Christie develops what has now become a young team, and effective use of players like Achiuwa, Cardwell, Karaban and Sharpe will make a big difference in the win/loss record of the Kings this season.

The Kings young players aren't the only ones that need to earn their stripes. It's high time the coaching staff steps up and shows what they can do.

It is hard to measure Doug Christie after a season where his team was largely on the disabled list, but make no mistake about it, this year marks the litmus test in his young coaching career.

If the 20-25 wins that the pundits have expressed are what the Kings have to look forward to is in any way correct, look for a complete shake-up of the coaching staff.

There is way too much talent for this team to be on the south side of 30 wins, and even one more tweak could represent an acceleration of Scott Perry's rebuilding program.

Stay tuned Kings fans, because I believe you're going to see a much healthier team than just a season ago!

All the best!

California's Future Water Supplies Depend on the Outcomes of Four Intertwined Battles

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Since the earliest years of its history, California has been a political battlefield over divvying up the state's water. The intensity of the multisided conflict, like water itself, ebbs and flows.

By happenstance this is one of the more intense and climactic periods in the eternal competition over water. It's driven by uncertainty over the effects of climate change on precipitation and by looming decisions on how to cope with those effects.

What happens on four intertwined fronts in the near future will determine how water will be managed and allocated in the coming decades. In no particular order:

Colorado River

Decades of conflict over allocating Colorado River water, involving not only California but other Western states, are coming to a head. Runoff from snow in the Rocky Mountains has been declining, and the two major reservoirs on the Colorado, Lakes Mead and Powell, have been shrinking and rapidly approaching operational failure. Federal authorities have been pressing the states involved to agree on how the shortages should be managed, but it's been a stalemate.

California is less dependent than Nevada and Arizona, which rely on the Colorado to serve their fast-growing urban centers. When the Bureau of Reclamation imposed some temporary operational rules recently, Nevada sued and Arizona is threatening to follow.

Sites Reservoir Project

An off-stream reservoir on the west side of the Sacramento Valley to capture and store water during years of high precipitation has been proposed for decades. But with projections of decreased snowpacks due to climate change, the project, called Sites, has gained momentum in recent years.

Gov. Gavin Newsom wants to nail down the project before leaving office in four months. Last week, the administration's Water Resources Control Board issued a draft water rights decision for Sites. The project needs permission to draw water from the Sacramento River before it can secure financing for the 1.5-million-acre-foot reservoir.

Delta Tunnel Project

Newsom also wants to pin down another major project — a tunnel that would carry Sacramento River water around the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta to improve deliveries to Southern California via the California Aqueduct. A conveyance of some kind has been proposed for more than 60 years but has never been able to clear political, legal and financial hurdles.

Advocates say the project would take pressure off the Delta, but it faces stiff opposition from environmental groups who contend it would worsen the Delta's environmental problems. Putting together a package of regulatory permission and financing from water agencies that would benefit has been a daunting, and so far elusive, goal.

San Joaquin River Diversions

While proposing the 45-mile-long tunnel to divert some Sacramento River water from flowing through the Delta, state water officials are simultaneously pressuring San Joaquin Valley farmers to reduce San Joaquin River diversions to increase flows into the Delta.

Supposedly reductions would be voluntary, but the state is also working on mandatory cutbacks if not enough water is voluntarily offered. Last week, Westlands, the largest water district in the valley, pulled out of the voluntary negotiations, saying the state was moving toward coercion. If the state issues mandatory cutbacks, it would probably become a legal battle over whether the state can interfere with long-standing water rights.

The conflict is exacerbated by reductions in water farmers can draw from underground aquifers with wells. There are projections that reductions in water supply, could take as many as 900,000 acres of farmland out of production.

That possibility drove major agricultural interests to successfully press the Legislature last week to make it easier to remove farmland from open space preserves, to replace crops with solar power arrays.

Social Security Matters

Must I Enroll in Medicare at Age 65?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I will be turning 65 next month, I am currently retired and I am not on Social Security. My question is; Is there anything I have to do, if I don't want Medicare? I am on my wife's employer plan, and she works for the Postal Service as a Rural Carrier. She doesn't plan on retiring for another 8 yrs. Also, I would like to wait till my full retirement age (FRA) before I draw Social Security at 67. Do I have to draw Medicare at that point? Signed: Retired but Curious

Dear Retired but Curious: As long as you are covered by a "creditable" healthcare plan (such as that from your wife's US Postal Service employer), you can defer enrolling in Medicare until your Postal Service Health Benefit (PSHB) coverage from your wife's employer ends. When that happens, you (and your wife) will enter a Medicare "Special Enrollment Period" (SEP) during which you can enroll in Medicare without incurring a Late Enrollment Penalty. Thus, in your specific circumstances, you don't need to do anything about enrolling in Medicare when you turn 65.

That is still true, regardless of when you claim your Social Security benefits. If you claim Social Security at age 67 and before your wife retires from the USPS, you will be required to take Medicare Part A (coverage for inpatient hospitalization services), but Medicare Part A is premium-free for those also eligible for Social Security.

However, enrollment in Medicare Part B (coverage for outpatient healthcare services) is always optional because there is a premium associated with it, and you can continue to defer enrollment in Medicare Part B as long as you have "creditable" healthcare coverage from your wife's employer (even while you are collecting Social Security).

When you apply for Social Security, you can inform SS that you are declining Medicare Part B because you are still covered by your wife's USPS employer healthcare plan. Then, when your wife retires and you lose your USPS healthcare coverage, you can enroll in Medicare Part B at that time without a late enrollment penalty.

A decade later, Colin Kaepernick is as tiresome as ever. To mark the 10-year anniversary of his kneeling during the National Anthem, the former San Francisco 49ers quarterback is out with a new memoir, "The Perilous Fight." (Get it?)

In an interview with NBC News in advance of the book's release, which he clearly imagines as part of a vindication tour, he proved himself as committed to woke racial politics as ever.

He told NBC that his protests were about fighting "police killing black folks" and "systemic oppression." He added that he was thinking -- not very modestly -- about the Montgomery bus boycotts, Rosa Parks and Martin Luther King while he took a knee.

It's certainly true that Kaepernick sacrificed his career to his protests, although he was a marginal player by the end. In his prime, Kaepernick was a top-notch athlete and electric performer. No one can take his exemplary 2012 and 2013 seasons away from him. In one playoff game in 2012, he ran for 263 yards and passed for 181, a single-game record for rushing by an NFL quarterback.

He couldn't maintain this level of performance, though. In 2015, he lost his starting job to journeyman Blaine Gabbert. He won it back for a time in 2016, although he got benched during one game after throwing for all of 4 yards. The 49ers went 1-10 when he started, and by one metric, he ranked 23rd out of 30 qualifying quarterbacks. So he was hardly the GOAT, instead once-very-good, now-mediocre. Then there was the issue that his style of play didn't necessarily fit in most offensive schemes.

Ten years later, Kaepernick Remains Unpersuasive

Layer on top of this the circus he'd bring to town with his kneeling and it's understandable that teams didn't find him an alluring proposition in 2017 when he was a free agent. There were myriad options available as backup quarterbacks who weren't notorious for disrespecting the national anthem immediately prior to games.

TITLE: None of this would have mattered if Kaepernick had maintained his 2012 level of play; in that hypothetical, teams would have signed him even if he started to do the black power salute during huddles.

Kaepernick has now worked himself into a position where he's compared NFL players to enslaved people (in an absurd Netflix documentary), and he's bitter that he isn't numbered among them as a 38-year-old who hasn't played in 10 years.

Then there's the substance of his advocacy. The high-water mark for Kaepernick's anti-police worldview came in the aftermath of the killing of George Floyd, when the NFL basically apologized for not listening to his supposed wisdom and the police were put on their back foot in many cities around the country.

The result was an increase in violent crime that, of course, disproportionately victimized black people. The country has now recovered from this idiocy -- based on the lie that the police indiscriminately kill black people -- and the country is much safer for the people who Kaepernick purports to care most about. If we ever go anywhere near his preferred policy of abolishing the police and prisons, we'd instantly create the worst crime wave in the country's history.

Kaepernick is sometimes compared to Muhammad Ali. The legendary boxer sacrificed part of his career by claiming conscientious objector status during the Vietnam War. Ali was hated for a time, but his true greatness as a boxer, his incandescent charisma and his outsized place in the culture allowed him to transcend that political controversy and become a beloved American figure.

That is not going to happen to Colin Kaepernick, whose claim to fame is kneeling on the sidelines during some NFL games. He's very dismissive of the enduring change wrought in the NFL by his protests and the tumult after 2020. The league has painted the words "End Racism" in end zones. Kaepernick rightly considers these pointless messages performative, but so was his scorn for the anthem of his own country a decade ago.

Council Approves Building Improvements at FieldHaven Site

Issues Proclamations for the Month of September

By Shaunna Boyd

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - At the Sept. 9 meeting of the Citrus Heights City Council, they issued a proclamation recognizing Sept. 13–19 as National Adult Education and Family Literacy Week.

Mayor MariJane Lopez-Taff read the proclamation, stating that “millions of American adults lack foundational literacy, numeracy, and digital skills, limiting their ability to participate in today’s rapidly evolving economy.” She stressed the importance of programs dedicated to teaching these vital skills in order to “build the tools needed for lifelong success.”

Richard Judge of the San Juan Adult Education Center accepted the proclamation. The center serves approximately 3,000 students per year in English instruction, high school completion for adults, and workforce development programs.

Councilmember Jayna Karpinski-Costa read a proclamation recognizing September as Prostate Cancer Awareness Month, stating that it is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in men, but survival rates are high with early detection and treatment.

Kenneth Isaac with the Greater Sacramento Prostate Cancer Support Group accepted the proclamation. He said early detection can save lives, but many men ignore the symptoms and don’t seek treatment.

Councilmember Tim Schaefer said, “It’s very treatable. There’s really no reason to die from this disease.”

Vice Mayor Porsche Middleton read a proclamation recognizing September as Firefighter Appreciation Month and October 3 as California Firefighters Memorial Day.

Fire District assures the wellbeing of Citrus Heights’ residents and businesses through the tireless work of its staff among four local firehouses,” read Middleton, with the firefighters exemplifying “dedication, commitment, sacrifice, and willingness to put their lives on the line.”

Representatives from Sac Metro Fire accepted the proclamation, and said they are grateful for the continued partnership with the City of Citrus Heights and the Citrus Heights Police Department.

Councilmember Schaefer read a proclamation recognizing September 20–26 as National Forensic Science Week. He said the city’s “Crime Scene/Property Evidence Specialists are trained in physical evidence collection, preservation, and reconstruction of crime scenes to preserve evidence for future prosecution.” Their work is also vital in the “exoneration of innocent individuals falsely accused of crimes,” read Schaefer.

Representatives from the unit accepted the proclamation, and said they are very proud of the work they do.

The council also considered a contract with American River Construction, Inc., to complete improvements at a city-owned building at 7555 Old Auburn Road.

The building is being leased to FieldHaven Feline Center under a pilot program, providing various veterinary services to the Citrus Heights community.

The proposed improvements to the building include replacing doors, windows, ceiling tiles, and the sealed concrete floor; upgrading plumbing, electrical, and lighting features; and constructing an ADA compliant restroom. These improvements will preserve the City’s assets by increasing efficiency and reducing future maintenance and replacement costs in the building.

The funding for the project is already included in the approved two-year budget, and the proposed contract should not exceed $457,000 with an additional 10% budgeted for contingencies.

The council voted 4-0 to approve the contract, with Councilmember Kelsey Nelson absent.

Finally, the council considered whether to support a proposed resolution at the upcoming League of California Cities Annual Conference. The resolution focuses on restoring and strengthening local authority over housing and land use matters, through a state constitutional amendment or legislative, policy, or ballot-based strategies.

Councilmember Karpinski-Costa said Citrus Heights incorporated in order to have local control, but state legislation has been chipping away at that control over the years.

The council consensus was for Vice Mayor Middleton to support the resolution as the city’s delegate at the conference.

The next meeting of the Citrus Heights City Council is scheduled for Sept. 23. ★

Jimboy's Tacos Announces 'Six-Pack with a Purpose' Promotion

Jimboy's Tacos
News Release

FOLSOM, CA (MPG) - Jimboy's Tacos is excited to announce a continuing partnership with Keaton's Child Cancer Alliance for a special "Six-Pack with a Purpose" promotion during Childhood Cancer Awareness Month in September.

Building on the success of the partnership from last year, Jimboy's Tacos will once again offer a "Six-Pack with a Purpose" promotion in all stores starting on Sept. 1 and continuing through the month. One dollar from every six-pack order of their famous Parmesan dusted tacos in September will be donated to the locally based nonprofit organization. The month-long promotion will take place at all Jimboy's Tacos locations in Northern California and Reno/Nevada.

Jimboy's Tacos – birthplace of The Original American Taco – has a 70-plus year history of giving back to the communities it serves and is proud to support Keaton's and their worthwhile mission to provide hope, strength and healing for families facing a child cancer diagnosis.

"We are thrilled to continue partnering with Keaton's Child Cancer Alliance to raise awareness for such a worthwhile cause," said Erik Freeman, CEO of Jimboy's Tacos (and grandson of founder Jim "Jimboy" Knudson).

"We are proud to be able to provide much-needed support for every child, their parents, and family members dealing with a heart-wrenching cancer diagnosis. Our hearts and healthy wishes are with these brave and resilient children and their forever-hopeful families."

The goal of the month-long promotion between Jimboy's Tacos and Keaton's Child Cancer Alliance is to raise much needed funds for Keaton's to support the financial, emotional, and educational impacts of a pediatric cancer diagnosis. Additionally, every guest who visits a Jimboy's Tacos restaurant and purchases a six-pack of tacos or donates to Keaton's will have the opportunity to personalize a "Wall of Hope" donation card that will be placed on a wall in every restaurant.

"This continued partnership with Jimboy's Tacos makes a lasting impact for children battling cancer and their families," said Jessica Alonso, executive director of Keaton's Child Cancer Alliance. "We're deeply grateful to their team and generous guests for believing in our mission and standing alongside our families to ensure no one navigates the childhood cancer journey alone."
