YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - A last taste of summer rolled into downtown Yuba City on Saturday, Oct. 3, as the second annual Cruisin' Plumas Car & Bike Show filled Plumas Street with classic cars, custom rides and plenty of horsepower.

With temperatures climbing into the 90s, the smell of street food and fresh pizza drifted through downtown as families strolled the sidewalks, children enjoyed ice cream cones in the shade and car enthusiasts admired rows of polished chrome, colorful paint jobs and carefully restored engines. From vintage Cadillacs and Corvettes to muscle cars, motorcycles and Volkswagen campers, the event drew 130 registered vehicles, surpassing last year's inaugural show of 117.

Organized with the help of downtown photographer Natalie Syverson, the event welcomed returning participants and newcomers alike, with approximately 40 vehicles returning from the previous year.

"Ever since I had my studio down here on Plumas Street, I really wanted a car show here and I've been working really hard on this event," Syverson told attendees during the awards ceremony.

Syverson, who spent approximately three months organizing the event, thanked the community for its support and said she hopes to continue building on its success. "We broke last year's record," she said. "I so appreciate the love and support from everybody."

The afternoon concluded with an awards ceremony recognizing standout vehicles across a variety of categories, from Best Restoration and Best Engine Bay to the more

Yuba City Considers Borrowing for Road Repairs

By Susan Meeker

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - With deteriorating streets and limited funding, Yuba City is exploring a $12 million to $14 million bond program to tackle major pavement repairs across its 255-mile road network.

The City Council approved a $2.14 million engineering and assessment project Oct. 6 to evaluate street conditions, establish a five-year maintenance plan and prepare construction documents for a citywide rehabilitation effort. The proposed borrowing would require separate approval.

"We can't survive on grants. We need our own money," Vice Mayor Michael Pasquale said following a presentation by Public Works Director Joshua Wolfe on the city's reliance on outside funding.

Yuba City's streets currently have an estimated average pavement condition rating of 47 out of 100, a figure Wolfe acknowledged is based on outdated information. Residential streets were last inspected in 2016, while major thoroughfares were evaluated in 2019.

Wolfe said pavement inspections are generally recommended every two to four years. Without current assessments, the city relies on computer estimates of deterioration rather than actual roadway conditions.

Repairing damaged pavement is expensive, officials said. Major rehabilitation can cost nearly $2 million per mile, while less-intensive surface treatments with localized repairs cost approximately $265,000 per mile.

The city's annual capital improvement budget provides about $3.7 million for roadway-related projects, but that money must also cover sidewalks, drainage, street lighting and safety improvements, according to Wolfe.

Wolfe said preliminary financing estimates indicate the city could borrow between $12 million and $14 million, requiring annual debt payments of approximately $1.5 million to $2 million over 10 years.

City Manager Robert Bendorf pointed to the approximately $2 million Yuba City receives annually in state SB 1 gas tax funding as a potential source for repaying borrowed money.

Bendorf said combining repairs into a large rehabilitation project could reduce costs associated with completing global defense mission.

Among those in attendance were Yuba City Mayor Marc Boomgaarden, Yuba City Councilmember Dave Shaw, Habitat for Humanity Yuba-Sutter Chief Operating Officer John Nicoletti, Yuba-Sutter Food Bank Executive Director Maria Ball, Hilbers Inc. CEO Kurt Hilbers and Sutter Buttes Brewing co-owner Scott Sargent.

The full-day event brought together members of Beale's Honorary Commander Program, which pairs civilian leaders with military commanders to strengthen relationships between the base and surrounding communities.

"The Honorary Commander Program is an invaluable, voluntary initiative designed to build lasting personal and professional bridges between Beale Air Force Base and our surrounding Northern California communities," said U.S. Air Force Col. Kenneth Joseph, 940th Mission Support Group commander. "We pair civic leaders and business

Texas Man Arrested in Missing Teen Investigation

By MPG Staff

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - A 26-year-old Texas man faces allegations of kidnapping, rape and other offenses after a missing Yuba City teenager was rescued from a burning vehicle following a police pursuit that ended when the suspect drove off a cliff in Kern County.

Cameron Childers, 26, was arrested after officers rescued him and a 17-year-old girl from the vehicle near Lake Isabella. Both suffered minor to moderate injuries that were not life-threatening, according to the Yuba City Police Department.

The arrest followed a Sept. 27 investigation that began when Yuba City police responded to a report of a missing teenager in the 400 block of White Rock Drive at approximately 8:35 a.m.

Police considered the girl at risk because of her age, an underlying medical condition and the circumstances surrounding her disappearance.

During the investigation, detectives learned the teenager had been communicating with Childers, a Texas resident who had recently traveled to Yuba City. Investigators also discovered that Childers had pending criminal charges in Texas involving child sexual abuse material.

Detectives used Flock Safety license plate recognition cameras and other investigative resources to identify Childers' vehicle and track its movements from Yuba City toward Southern California.

Authorities eventually located the vehicle in the Bakersfield area, but Childers fled when officers attempted to stop him, leading to a pursuit through Kern River Canyon toward Lake Isabella.

The California Highway Patrol deployed spike strips in an attempt to stop the vehicle. Childers continued fleeing before driving off a cliff, according to police.

Officers responding to the crash rescued Childers and the teenager as the vehicle caught fire.

As the investigation continued, Yuba City detectives obtained a $100,000 Ramey warrant for Childers on suspicion of child abduction, aiding or encouraging suicide, contacting a minor with intent to commit a specified offense, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, kidnapping to commit another specified offense and two rape-related offenses.

Yuba City detectives traveled to Kern County to serve the warrant. Authorities booked Childers into the Kern County Jail on the Yuba City warrant and additional charges stemming from the pursuit and incidents in Kern County.

Because the investigation involved alleged criminal activity in both jurisdictions, Yuba City detectives coordinated with the Bakersfield Police Department and Kern County District Attorney's Office.

Investigators referred the case to Kern County prosecutors for review and possible prosecution. ★ owners with military commanders to exchange ideas, share experiences, and foster mutual understanding. It demystifies the military mission for our civilian neighbors, while giving our military personnel a deep appreciation for the community we call home."

One of the tour's highlights was an up-close look at two of Beale's aircraft: the U-2 Dragon Lady and the T-38 Talon. The U-2 is a high-altitude reconnaissance aircraft capable of flying above 70,000 feet, gathering intelligence through specialized sensors and imaging technology. Pilots must wear full-pressure suits similar to those worn by astronauts to operate in the extreme conditions at those altitudes. The T-38 Talon, a twin-engine supersonic jet trainer, plays an important role in maintaining pilot proficiency. At Beale, the aircraft has been used to support training for U-2 pilots.

Visitors had the opportunity to speak with pilots and technicians about the aircraft, their unique flight characteristics and the specialized equipment required to operate them.

"The two aircraft and the missions they fly are all impressive," said Boomgaarden, who serves as honorary commander of the 9th Intelligence Squadron.

Beyond the flight line, participants witnessed demonstrations of the base's emergency response and defense capabilities. At Fire Station 1, personnel from the 9th Civil Engineer Squadron Fire Department, Explosive Ordnance Disposal Flight and 9th Security Forces Squadron demonstrated coordinated emergency response procedures, bomb disposal robotics and military working dog operations.

Additional stops introduced visitors to Beale's aerial refueling capabilities, combat ammunition operations and intelligence gathering and distribution systems, illustrating the range of military missions conducted at the installation.

Throughout the day, military leadership emphasized the importance of cooperation between active-duty personnel, reserve forces and the civilian communities surrounding Beale. The event concluded with an informal gathering at Moos & Brews, an on-base restaurant, where participants continued conversations about community partnerships and quality-of-life priorities for military families.

U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Chad Raney, 9th Intelligence Squadron commander, emphasized that strong relationships with neighboring communities ultimately support military readiness.

"Being able to relate to the community ensures our neighbors understand what our Airmen are going through, and that support helps them so that when they need to show up for work—at whatever time of the day—they are prepared and ready to focus on the mission."

The annual tour is part of Beale's ongoing efforts to connect Northern California civic leaders with the airmen and military operations based in their region.

This article was adapted from reporting by Senior Airman Victoria Johnson, 9th Reconnaissance Wing Public Affairs, published Sept. 29, 2026. Additional local attendee information was provided to the Territorial Dispatch. ★ smaller projects over several years. He cited previous experience with a similar financing arrangement that produced substantial savings through reduced construction expenses and avoided future deterioration.

The council awarded the engineering contract to R.E.Y. Engineers Inc. of Folsom, which proposed using advanced LiDAR scanning technology to evaluate the entire street network.

Unlike traditional pavement inspections that sample approximately 10% of roadways, the technology collects detailed information across the full network, including surface damage, pavement elevations and surrounding infrastructure. Wolffe said the information would allow engineers to identify necessary repairs more accurately while reducing the amount of field surveying required for future projects.

The $2.14 million project will be financed through existing Transportation Development Act funds, including transfers from road rehabilitation, pavement assessment and striping accounts. Officials said the expenditure will not affect the city's general fund.

Meanwhile, Yuba City continues pursuing outside assistance. Wolffe said the Public Works Department has submitted more than $50 million in grant applications for roadway repair and safety projects this year.

Mayor Marc Boomgaarden praised the city's success in obtaining $2.56 million for three pavement preservation projects through the Sacramento Area Council of Governments. The projects cover portions of Live Oak Boulevard, Queens Avenue, Stabler Lane and Tharp Road.

Wolffe also reported that a $1.5 million resurfacing project has improved approximately 6.5 miles of streets through pavement repairs and protective surface treatments.

While resurfacing projects have traditionally occurred every three to five years, Wolffe said he wants to establish an annual program to prevent streets from deteriorating to the point of requiring expensive reconstruction.

The updated pavement assessment and five-year maintenance plan are expected by early summer 2027, with a major rehabilitation project potentially ready for construction in late 2027 or early 2028, officials said. ★

Downtown Celebrates Classic Cars

playful “Best Ride to Make Out In.” Yuba City Mayor Marc Boomgaarden joined organizers for the presentations, sharing his own enthusiasm for classic cars.

“So many good cars here. I’m a car enthusiast myself, and hopefully we’ll have an entry here next year,” Boomgaarden said. “It’s an awesome day.”

Taking home the coveted Best in Show award was Randy Lovelock, a former Yuba City fire chief, whose customized 1951 Cadillac caught the judges’ attention. The Mayor’s Award went to a 1967 Volkswagen bus, while Sonny Greenal earned Best Truck honors with a 1955 Chevrolet 3100 Second Series pickup. Josh Duggan received Best Bike for his 2002 Suzuki GSX-R 1000.

Among the afternoon’s repeat winners was Chris Stockton, whose 1969 Plymouth Road Runner earned Best Mopar for the second consecutive year. Stockton described the vehicle’s modified Hemi engine and told the crowd that a recent video featuring his car had attracted approximately 2.5 million views in just a day and a half.

Other winners represented years, and sometimes decades, of dedication. Kenn Vess, who received Best Restoration for his 1939 Chrysler DeSoto, told the crowd that the project had taken 20 years to complete. Thad Wilt, representing the San Francisco-based car club Money, Horsepower and Respect, received Outstanding Paint & Finish for his 1970 Pontiac GTO. Wilt said the paintwork alone took approximately eight months. Meanwhile, Mark Hylen took home

Best Engine Bay for his 1969 Pontiac Firebird, an especially memorable achievement as organizers said it was his first time entering a car show.

The awards ceremony also offered plenty of laughs, particularly when Yuba City Downtown representative Sandee Drown introduced her favorite category, Best Ride to Make Out In. Drown joked about the days of waterbeds before presenting the newly introduced award to former downtown board member Angela Butler and her 1964 Volkswagen camper. Another category celebrating the area’s local character, Best Ride to Cruise Around the Buttes, went to Dwayne Taylor for his 1965 Chevrolet Chevelle.

The People’s Choice Award went to John Lester, a retired Yosemite firefighter attending the event for the first time, with his gray 1958 Chevrolet Corvette. Lester described the car as a father-and-son project, while Syverson encouraged attendees to stop by Center Street to admire the vehicle and learn its history.

Additional winners included Gary Storeide for Best Ford with a 1955 Ford Victoria, Gene Barber for Best Chevy with a 1964 Corvette and Ed Clavel for Best Import with a 1987 Porsche 924S.

Beyond the vehicles, visitors enjoyed downtown dining, shopping and refreshments, including beer and cider served by the Happy Viking truck. Live music followed the awards ceremony, keeping the festivities going into the afternoon. Organizers thanked presenting sponsor Clark Pest Control, the city of Yuba City, downtown merchants and the many volunteers who contributed to the event.

Drown also announced that Cruisin’ Plumas will return on the first Saturday of October in 2027, encouraging vehicle owners to register in advance.

For Syverson, the day represented more than another successful car show. It was an opportunity to bring people together and showcase the downtown district she has long envisioned as a gathering place.

“I just hope you guys have fun,” she told the crowd. “Tell your friends, post on social media, come back next year.” ★

New Church Opens in Yuba City

By Shamaya Sutton

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - A new place of worship has opened its doors in Yuba City, welcoming residents seeking faith, fellowship and a sense of community. The Father’s House Yuba City celebrated its grand opening Sunday, Oct. 4, under the leadership of pastors Jake and Rachel Taylor.

The nondenominational Christian church was established as a church plant of The Father’s House in Vacaville, where the couple previously served in ministry for several years. For Jake Taylor, the decision to establish a church in Yuba City represents a return to a community that has held a special place in his heart since his teenage years.

“God broke my heart for this region in high school,” Taylor said.

A 2009 graduate of Wheatland High School, Taylor said he and his wife moved their family to Yuba City with the intention of putting down roots and serving the region for years to come.

“This wasn’t simply about finding a location where we could start another church,” Taylor said. “We fell in love with this community and believe deeply in what God is already doing here.”

Both pastors bring years of ministry experience to the new congregation. Rachel Taylor has served in children’s ministry and pastoral leadership, while Jake Taylor has worked in pastoral and teaching roles, most recently serving as a biblical studies pastor at The Father’s House in Vacaville. The couple hopes to create a welcoming environment for residents of all backgrounds, particularly those who may have never attended church or who have felt disconnected from organized religion.

“We’re also passionate about creating a church where someone who has never attended church—or perhaps hasn’t been in years—can walk through the doors and immediately feel like there is room for them,” Taylor said.

The church emphasizes biblical teaching, worship, generosity, family involvement and opportunities to build meaningful relationships. Its programs include children’s ministry, small groups and opportunities for community involvement. While Yuba-Sutter is already home to numerous established congregations, Taylor stressed that the new church is not intended to compete with existing religious organizations.

“We believe healthy churches make a healthy community, and we’re grateful for the many pastors and churches that have faithfully served Yuba-Sutter long before we arrived,” Taylor said.

He added that building relationships with other churches and community organizations will be an important part of the congregation’s mission.

“We don’t see ourselves as coming to Yuba-Sutter because there aren’t already great churches here. There are,” Taylor said. “We’re simply excited to add another table where people can find a seat.”

The Father’s House Yuba City holds services Sundays at 10 a.m. at 1100 Garden Highway, Suite 400, in Yuba City. For more information, visit <http://www.tfhy.org>. ★

Yuba Sutter Symphony Presents Fall Classics

By MPG Staff

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - The Yuba Sutter Symphony will present Sergei Rachmaninoff’s Piano Concerto No. 3 during its Fall Classics concerts Oct. 17-18 at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Yuba City.

Guest pianist Jürgen Holleck will perform the concerto under the direction of conductor Corey Kersting. The symphony will present concerts Saturday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 18 at 2 p.m. at the church, 1390 Franklin Road.

Rachmaninoff’s third piano concerto ranks among the most technically demanding works in classical music. Pianist Vladimir Horowitz helped popularize the composition through recordings in the 1930s. Pianist Van Cliburn later brought additional attention to the work through his performances.

“We have the rare opportunity to hear this famous and moving piano concerto in our own community played by a very talented pianist,” Kersting said. “This is a treat that I am sure music lovers will not want to miss.”

Holleck, who works as a hospitalist physician at a Veterans Affairs hospital in Connecticut, also teaches medical students at Yale School of Medicine. Despite his career in medicine, he has maintained an interest in music and piano performance.

Performing Rachmaninoff’s third piano concerto with the Yuba Sutter Symphony will fulfill a lifelong ambition for Holleck.

He studied at Oberlin College and Conservatory of Music, where his teachers included A. Ramon Rivera and the late Joseph Schwartz. In 1989, Holleck performed the first movement of Beethoven’s Piano Concerto No. 2 with the Portland Symphony Orchestra in Maine.

In addition to Rachmaninoff’s concerto, the Fall Classics program will feature Edward Elgar’s “Enigma Variations” and “Autumnal Escapade,” a composition by the late Dean Estabrook, a former member of the Yuba Sutter Symphony.

“Elgar’s Enigma Variations is a fun piece filled with personality, humor, beauty, and power,” Kersting said. “Also in the concert it will be an honor for us to perform the Autumnal Escapade composed by our friend and former Symphony member, the late Dean Estabrook.”

The concerts will also include the presentation of the annual Jane Sarah Roberts Award, which recognizes lifetime contributions to music.

The Yuba Sutter Oratorio Society will announce this year’s recipient during the concert.

The award honors Jane Roberts, who helped establish and develop the Yuba Sutter Oratorio Society. Roberts also served as concertmaster of the Yuba Feather Historical Assn. will be holding their quarterly membership meeting on Oct. 28 at 6:00. This will be a potluck dinner at the Masonic Lodge in Forbestown. This group could sure stand some new members! It has been active since the mid-1970s and has put together a great small museum. Now, however, it needs some new members. For more information, please stop by Books & More or call Mike Kehoe, Rosemarie Mossinger or attend the membership meeting.

The bookstore will be closed the first week in November as Joyce and I drive to Arizona to “help” Tania Rameriz get married. On the way home we will stop and visit one of my favorite places: Borrego Springs. If all goes as planned we will reopen the store on Wednesday, Nov. 10.

Soon after we moved the book store from one location to our new one, we had a plant/seed swap. Several people brought things from their garden and traded: seeds, bulbs and more. We would like to try that again. So we picked Halloween, a Saturday, and will invite to people to bring starters from their garden to swap or sell. It is about time to dig and separate iris and other bulbs/rhizomes, many of our summer flowers have gone to seed, or you might want to separate something too crowded. So bring some garden things or a little money. Plans are just being made, so things are flexible. We are suggesting we meet from 10:00 – 2:00. Maybe someone would like to try a lunch or baked goods.

Look Back in Time - In 1898 Bernado and Manuel Burgess each have a new bicycle and were showing them off at New York Flat (before boys got cars).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Yuba City Development Visions Move Closer to Reality

By Susan Meeker

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Plans for new commercial destinations, public gathering spaces and recreational facilities are moving beyond conceptual designs as Yuba City prepares to test whether its development ideas can attract investors.

The Yuba City City Council approved a $75,000 consulting agreement Oct. 6 to advance four potential development sites into the next phase of the city’s economic revitalization effort.

The agreement with Perkins Eastman Architects would shift the focus from identifying possibilities to soliciting interest from developers, evaluating proposals and determining which projects could move forward.

The four locations include a warehouse and storage property on Bridge Street envisioned as a community gathering destination called The Sheds, a proposed Marketplace District along Colusa Avenue, the Sutter County Complex on Second Street and a new sports and recreation complex.

Conceptual drawings of The Sheds illustrate a combination of restaurants, retail businesses, outdoor gathering areas and entertainment venues, including a craft brewery and public market.

The Colusa Avenue proposal envisions a mixed-use commercial district, while the Second Street concept explores redevelopment opportunities near the existing county complex. Renderings of the sports facility feature baseball diamonds, soccer fields and other recreational amenities.

City Manager Robert Bendorf identified the properties as potential opportunities for private investment, job creation and improvements intended to make Yuba City more attractive to residents and visitors.

Two of the four properties belong to Sutter County, which has participated in the planning process since the city’s partnership with Perkins Eastman began in September 2025.

The first phase, completed in March, identified opportunities for new amenities, infrastructure improvements and economic development. A second phase concluded in August following a community presentation of the proposed sites and architectural renderings.

The third phase would involve preparing requests for interest from prospective developers. Those documents would identify property characteristics, existing zoning, potential uses and expectations for development.

The consulting agreement, approved on the council’s consent calendar, also allocates $10,200 toward preparing an application for California’s Statewide Park Development and Community Revitalization Program, which could help finance the proposed recreational complex.

Another $22,000 would support developer outreach and preparation of project information, while $42,800 would cover additional property studies and development assistance.

Bendorf said Sutter County has expressed a willingness to reimburse Yuba City for a portion of the consulting expenses. The agreement would authorize him to negotiate those terms with county officials.

The $75,000 would come from money previously allocated to the city’s General Plan.

Although the conceptual designs illustrate substantial changes to several locations, the projects remain preliminary. No private development commitments are identified in the proposal, and the next phase is intended to determine whether investors are interested in pursuing them.

Seniors Urged to Watch for Scams

BBB urges older adults to watch for common scams involving investments, home improvements, government impostors and requests for immediate payment. Photo courtesy of Better Business Bureau

By Lloyd Green Jr.

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Older adults face scams ranging from fraudulent investments and romance schemes to home improvement fraud and government impostors, prompting the Better Business Bureau to urge consumers to recognize common warning signs.

According to the BBB Scam Tracker Risk Report, investment and cryptocurrency scams remain among the riskiest for consumers 55 and older. Online purchase scams ranked second for those ages 55 to 64, while romance scams ranked second among consumers 65 and older. Home improvement scams ranked third for both groups.

BBB warns consumers to use caution when receiving unsolicited telephone calls, particularly from callers claiming to represent a government agency or financial institution.

Scammers may manipulate caller ID information to make calls appear legitimate. BBB recommends hanging up and contacting an agency, bank or other organization directly using a verified telephone number.

Consumers should also watch for offers that appear too good to be true, demands for immediate action and requests for payment through gift cards, prepaid debit cards or wire transfers.

Home improvement scams present another concern. BBB recommends against hiring contractors who unexpectedly arrive at a home offering repairs or inspections.

Consumers should research contractors, verify required licenses and avoid paying the entire cost of a project upfront.

Emergency scams may involve callers posing as grandchildren or other relatives who claim they have been arrested, injured or stranded and urgently need money. Scammers may gather names, travel plans and other family information from social media to make their stories more convincing.

Government impostor scams use similar tactics. Callers may claim to represent agencies such as the IRS, Social Security Administration or Department of Veterans Affairs and threaten the loss of benefits or other consequences unless the consumer provides personal information or makes an immediate payment.

BBB also warns about unsolicited offers for medical equipment. Scammers may contact Medicare recipients offering supposedly free equipment, such as braces or walkers, and then bill Medicare.

Romance and investment scams can develop over longer periods as scammers work to gain a victim’s trust before requesting money.

BBB recommends that consumers avoid providing personal or financial information to unsolicited callers, regularly review financial statements and discuss questionable offers with someone they trust before sending money.

Consumers can learn more at <http://BBB.org/AvoidScams>. Suspected scams can be reported through BBB Scam Tracker at <http://BBB.org/ScamTracker>. ★

'Wait Until Dark' Sparks Debate Over Representation in Theater

By Shamaya Sutton

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - As Stage 754 prepares to open "Wait Until Dark" on Oct. 16, a debate over disability representation has raised a question extending beyond one local production: When is portraying someone else's experience the essence of acting, and when does casting become exclusionary?

The 1966 Broadway thriller follows Susan, a blind woman who must outwit criminals intent on deceiving and threatening her. Local actress Cassie Fifield plays the lead in the production at the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts, directed by Tanda Phelps. For Phelps, the choice was initially about Halloween entertainment.

"We just wanted something spooky for the holiday season," she said. "We thought it'd be fun to do, like, a suspenseful thriller show."

The debate intensified around Dinner in the Dark, an Oct. 24 fundraising event tied to the production. Although similar dining experiences are held across the country, some critics questioned the appropriateness of connecting the event to a play featuring a blind character. Concerns were further fueled by a promotional video that briefly showed blindfolded performers struggling to feed one another, which critics felt made light of blindness.

Phelps said the event was inspired by the play's climactic use of darkness and was not intended to mock people with visual disabilities.

"I think they felt like we were making fun of them, and that wasn't it at all," she said.

Stage 754 canceled the dinner and announced refunds for ticket buyers. But the online discussion also focused on casting a sighted actress as Susan.

Who Gets to Portray Whom?

The online discussion raised broader questions about representation in theater, with some critics arguing that casting non-disabled performers in disabled roles is inherently ableist, drawing comparisons to casting actors outside a character's racial or gender identity. Others emphasized the importance of actively recruiting disabled performers and consulting with people whose lived experiences are being portrayed.

Similar questions have surfaced in local theater before. Phelps recalled criticism surrounding the casting of Crutchie, a character with a physical disability, in Center Stage Productions' 2024 staging of "Newsies" at the Sutter Theater. Center Stage's recent production of "Aladdin Jr." also arose during the interview as an example of broader questions about cultural representation. In response, Phelps defended actors' ability to portray lives unlike their own.

"They call it acting for a reason," she said, pointing to Audrey Hepburn's portrayal of a blind woman in the 1967 film adaptation of "Wait Until Dark." "I say do the shows, and do them with the care that you would hope to see."

Phelps also emphasized the challenges of casting particular roles from small community theater acting pools.

"Are we always going to have somebody that is blind that auditions? No. Are we always going to have somebody that is deaf that auditions? No. But we can still do those characters justice by approaching them with care and compassion and consideration," she said.

In a separate promotional Facebook video, Fifield, who also serves as co-director, said portraying Susan has challenged her to consider experiences outside her own. She described researching how a blind person might navigate a familiar room, counting steps and attending to sounds.

"One of the things that was really important to me, as well as to our director Tanda, was to make it as authentic as possible," Fifield said.

She also expressed hope that the production would bring greater awareness to the blind community.

"One of the things that we really want to do with this is to bring attention to what that community goes through so that they have the extra support and awareness that they need," she said.

Unexpected Lessons

Although Phelps said disability awareness was not part of the original intention behind selecting "Wait Until Dark," the controversy has prompted conversations about accessibility that she considers valuable. She said several individuals with visual disabilities contacted Stage 754 privately to offer suggestions, while the company also reached out to Sierra Services for the Blind in Nevada City to learn more about community resources.

Since then, Phelps said an accessibility professional advised the theater on making its website and social media more inclusive. She learned that font choices can affect readers with dyslexia, while color combinations can create barriers for people with color vision deficiencies. Stage 754 intends to apply that guidance to future online communications.

"We can't do better unless we learn better," Phelps said. "And, you know, we're all learning."

Phelps hopes audiences will see Susan's resourcefulness at the center of the story rather than only the debate surrounding its casting.

"That's kind of what we've leaned into, this character is strong and resilient and courageous," she said.

"Wait Until Dark," Stage 754's third production, runs Oct. 16 through Nov. 1 at the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts, 754 Plumas St., Yuba City. Evening shows are at 7 p.m. Oct. 16, 17, 23, 24, 30 and 31. Matinees are at 2 p.m. Oct. 18, 25 and Nov. 1. Tickets cost $20 at <http://yubasut-terarts.org>. ★

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - The Yuba City Sizzler raised $1,387.50 for the Yuba-Sutter Foodbank through a monthlong fundraising campaign in September.

The restaurant, located at 872 Onstott Road, participated in Sizzler's National Cheese Toast Month celebration by offering two specialty sandwiches, the Cheese Toast Patty Melt and Cheese Toast Malibu Melt.

Throughout September, all profits from the sale of the two sandwiches were designated for the Yuba-Sutter Foodbank, which was selected as the local beneficiary by restaurant employees.

According to a representative from Sizzler's public relations agency, customers purchased hundreds of the specialty sandwiches during the promotion, generating the $1,387.50 donation to support the local food bank.

The Yuba City restaurant was among participating Sizzler locations nationwide that collectively raised more than $80,000 for local charities and community organizations. ★

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING FOR TPM-25-0005 (Bock) & TPM26-0009 (Khinda) AND ADOPT A MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION FOR TENTATIVE PARCEL MAP TPM-25-0005 (Bock) BEFORE THE YUBA COUNTY DEVELOPMENT REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held before the Yuba County Development Review Committee (DRC) on Thursday November 5th, 2026, at 9 a.m. or soon thereafter, in the Board of Supervisors Chamber, Yuba County Government Center, 915 8th Street, Marysville, CA. The Yuba County DRC will consider the following:

TPM-25-0005 (Bock): The applicant, Gregory Bock is requesting approval of a Tentative Parcel Map (TPM-25-0005) to subdivide an approximately 23.86-acre parcel into four (4) residential parcels. Parcel 1 is proposed to be 5.6 acres, Parcel 2 is proposed to be 5.9 acres, Parcel 3 is proposed to be 6.1 acres, and Parcel 4 is proposed to be 6.3 acres in size. The property is currently developed with a single 18-foot by 50-foot barn constructed in 2005, along with several soil test pit locations identified on the tentative map, and a 10,000-square-foot area identified on the site plan for a future building envelope. Access to the site is via an existing 18.6-foot-wide paved private road (Sandstone Lane) and a driveway/emergency access easement. The Tentative Map establishes the lot configuration and circulation network that would support future development consistent with the existing RR-5 zoning designation. The project site is located south of HWY 20, within the community of Browns Valley (APN 005-570-013). The property is currently zoned Rural Residential with a 5-acre minimum (RR-5) and designated Rural Community (RC) by the Yuba County 2030 General Plan. The Development Review Committee will be considering adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act. This can be found on the State Clearinghouse website under SCH Number 2026091196.

TPM26-0009 (Khinda): The applicant proposes to subdivide an existing ≈ .8-acre parcel into three (3) parcels. Parcel 1 is proposed to be .26 acres; Parcel 2 is proposed to be .23 acres and Parcel 3 is proposed to be .28 acres. The property is located in the community of West Linda and is currently vacant. The 2030 General Plan designates the land use as Valley Neighborhood (VN) and the zoning as Single Family Residential (RS). A determination has been made that the above-mentioned project is categorically exempt from environmental review pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Section 15315 (Minor Land Divisions).

Any person wishing to testify on the above projects may attend the DRC meeting at the prescribed time, or may submit written comments or objections to the Community Development and Services Agency at 915 8th Street, Suite 123, Marysville, CA 95901, prior to the hearing. Copies of the staff recommendations are available for inspection at the same address. If you have any questions, you may contact the Planning Department at (530) 749-5470.

The DRC's action on the project may be appealed by any interested person to the Board of Supervisors by filing a written appeal with the Planning Department within 10 days following the DRC's final action on the project. If the Board of Supervisors is the final Approving Authority, or if the project is appealed to the Board, the Board's action is final.

If you challenge the action of the DRC on this matter in court, pursuant to Government Code section 65009 you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the Public Hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the Planning Department at, or prior to the hearing. Honkers Steamroll Past Tigers in FVL Opener

By YSBC Sports

ROSEVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Yuba City Honkers football team opened Foothill Valley League play with a significant 35-7 win over the Roseville Tigers on Oct. 9.

Records can be easily overlooked as Roseville came into the match up with a 2-3 record as they lost their last three over upper division competition.

Yuba City had a solid opening drive to start the game as it ended with senior Judah Allen tossing an interception on a 50/50 ball in the end zone that was picked off by Tigers junior cornerback Ben Jordan.

The Honkers forced Roseville to turn the ball over on downs on their opening drive.

Yuba City gave the Tigers great field position on the ensuing drive as they attempted a punt, but after trying to catch the low snap, it was determined they kneeled in an attempt to catch the ball and Roseville had the ball at the Honkers’ 18-yard line.

The Tigers scored their lone touchdown on a one-yard touchdown rush by senior running back Jude Navarro.

After that Roseville touchdown, Yuba City dominated on both sides of the ball and owned the remainder of the game.

Yuba City was without Hank Watson Jr. against the Tigers and that just meant more carries for Honkers senior running back Cody Haase.

Haase has been lighting up the stat sheet whether he’s on offense or defense and his magic boosted Yuba City’s confidence to win.

Haase rushed for 205 yards off 22 carries and found the end zone three times on the ground, including a 97-yard touchdown late in the fourth up the gut.

Allen completed nine passes for 160 yards in the air and found senior wide receiver Dante Lepe for a six-yard touchdown pass in the second and threw a long strike to the front-right pylon to junior wide receiver Kyler Banez for a 38-yard touchdown.

Lepe led the receiving department with four catches for 61 yards.

For weeks, Honkers head coach Jonah Lessard has praised the special teams as a big advantage against their opponents and it proved to be the case yet again.

As the Tigers lined up for a 35-yard field goal with just under eight minutes left in the first half, Yuba City blocked the kick and junior linebacker Ean Barraza caught the ball and ran it upfield to give the Honkers great field position that eventually led to the Lepe touchdown.

Barraza and Haase expressed to YSBC that they have all the faith and trust in one another and that has been a huge momentum boost of the success they have shared as a team.

Lessard expressed to Yuba Sutter Butte Colusa Sports that special teams isn’t just a practice item, but they invest time into it.

The linebacking core of Yuba City swallowed up the Tigers on offense as senior Zeke Medienta led the way with 24 tackles and junior linebacker Devaan Khagura had 17 in the win.

The Honkers have a bye week this week before they hit Placer county on Oct. 23 and take on Placer.

Lessard told YSBC that they are going to rest their bodies, but still get a ton of work in as they will be prepared to take on the Hilmen.

He added that the bye week can go how they take it but it is a good time to get focused on their next matchup.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. ★

Girls Volleyball and Girls Flag Football Locks and Hopefuls for SJS Playoffs

By YSBC Sports

YUBA-SUTTER, CA (YSBC) - As the 2026 postseasons between volleyball and flag football are scheduled to commence towards the end of October for the Sac-Joaquin Section, there are multiple teams in our areas who are fighting for the opportunity to bring a blue banner back to hang in their gym.

As our predictions may not be agreed upon by everyone, we will validate that we have seen each program throughout the season so far.

Volleyball

Sutter - The Huskies are en route to their fourth league title in a five year span since joining the SJS and have continued to dominate the Golden Empire League.

Sutter has dropped only one league set to Woodland in the middle of September and are on the cusp of clinching their third-straight GEL title.

The Huskies have a quadruple threat of different attackers that can deliver powerful strikes over the net.

Sutter has proven they are battle tested throughout the year as they won their “Battle of the Buttes” tournament back in the final week of August.

The next weekend, the Huskies took their yearly trip to the High Sierra Invitational in the Reno area and competed against high-caliber competition.

Sutter and Bear River have been neck-and-neck throughout the entire year as the Bruins defeated the Huskies in the 2025 SJS D-V finals.

Sutter beat Bear River in the final of the Battle of the Buttes tournament at the end of August.

Hopefuls

Yuba City - The Honkers dropped their last three Foothill Valley League matches heading into their matchups this week, but Yuba City has a chance to end their 10-year playoff drought still.

The Honkers had a strong showing in the “Battle of the Buttes” tournament at the end of August at Sutter.

Yuba City head coach Heather Harness is in her second year at the helm of the program and there is plenty of depth around the roster to be excited about.

Honkers senior outside hitter Maddison Jackson is leading the way with 3.1 kills per set and Yuba City was successful in beating three of their final four opponents this week

River Valley - The younger Falcons have shown strong sessions of play throughout the year and been able to keep pace towards the third guaranteed playoff position.

River Valley senior outside hitter Parveen Takhar has been the lighting spark for the Falcons as she has proven to be throughout her career.

River Valley had a couple of major road tests this week at Roseville and Yuba City.

The Falcons were ranked 10th in the updated rankings by MaxPreps on Oct. 8, despite having a couple significant victories over teams ranked ahead of them.

Lindhurst - The Blazers are fighting for a postseason berth as they have one of the youngest rosters in the SJS.

Lindhurst has nine freshman on their roster and head coach Alexis Hammett is excited about the future moving forward with the program.

The Blazers entered the week ranked 24th in the SJS D-IV points and three of their final four games of the season are against squads they fell to on the first half of league play.

The chemistry at Lindhurst has been built through multiple seasons already playing together through the club and middle school levels.

Wheatland - The Pirates have put themselves into a favorable position to be in to close out the Pioneer Valley League schedule.

If Wheatland was able to pick up a home-league win against Colfax on Wednesday, that should be enough to lock a tie for third in league at the least.

The trio of hitters that consists of Charley Leonard, Megyn Camacho and Fernanda Bandini have led the way for the Pirates this year.

Freshman setter Alexandra Garcia handling the passing duties has shown growth and maturity that will only benefit every motion moving forward.

The Pirates were ranked 11th in Division IV poll released by MaxPreps released on Oct. 8.

Flag Football

Wheatland - The Pirates are a young group with half of their roster being underclassmen, but they are an explosive group.

Freshman quarterback Caylee Hansen has an arm that is able to connect with receiver on long streaks and has great vision downfield that can stretch out a play for a first-down run.

Defensively, Wheatland is ferocious and puts a ton of pressure on the opposing offensive.

The Pirates had a big matchup with Gridley on Tuesday, that will determine major seeding placement for both squads in the SJS playoffs.

Sutter - The Huskies are another exciting program to watch in the area as they can do it all on both sides of the ball.

Sutter picked up a huge win over Rio Linda last week and remained tied for second in the GEL.

The Huskies are led by senior running back Audrey Horn, who is gaining interests from multiple institutions to play at the next level.

On top of Horn, the receiving core of multiple downfield threats is a blessing for junior quarterback Shae Crosby.

Sutter entered this week ranked fifth in the SJS Division V rankings with four remaining games.

Gridley - The first Northern Section team to have a flag football program is in its second season and continues to beat one SJS after another.

The Bulldogs are third in the PVL standings behind Colfax and Wheatland.

Gridley’s offense is led by Delano Cloyd, Kaydenze Pruitt, Natalie Mariscal and Ava Campos.

The Bulldogs will be competing in the SJS Division IV playoffs if they are selected into the postseason.

Gridley has already surpassed their win total of seven in 2025 and could end up doubling it up if they win out their remaining three games of the regular season. ★
