YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Standing in the paint aisle at Lowe's in Yuba City today, it's hard to imagine that this very spot was once part of Camp Two, a seasonal agricultural labor camp remembered for its legendary harvest parties.

During the 1970s and 1980s, camps like Camp Two housed farmworkers who helped bring in the region's agricultural harvests. For a generation of young Punjabi Sikh farmworkers navigating cultural expectations, racial discrimination and the challenges of growing up

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Habitat for Humanity of Yuba/Sutter and the city of Yuba City have received a $40.6 million state award to support the development of 138 new affordable homes, including housing specifically designated for veterans experiencing homelessness.

The funding, announced Oct. 26, was awarded through California's Homekey+ program and will support the second phase of Merriment Village Apartments, an affordable housing development located at 428 North Walton Ave. in Yuba City. The latest award of $40,599,999 brings the state's total investment in Merriment Village Apartments to more than $65.2 million, following a previous allocation of $24.6 million for the project's first phase.

Merriment Village Apartments Phase II will consist of 138 homes spread across four buildings, with 70 units reserved for veterans experiencing homelessness who also face behavioral health challenges. In addition to providing affordable housing, the development will offer on-site supportive services and property management intended to help residents maintain long-term housing stability and improve their overall well-being.

"Merriment Village Apartments Phase II represents a meaningful investment in the community's future and a continued commitment to ensuring that veterans and other vulnerable residents have access to safe, stable, and affordable housing," said Habitat for Humanity CEO and Board President Joseph Hale.

The project is a partnership between Habitat for Humanity of Yuba/Sutter and the city of Yuba City, combining local efforts with state funding to address housing insecurity throughout the region. Yuba City Mayor Marc Boomgaarden emphasized the importance of partnerships in addressing the community's housing needs.

"Our partnership with Habitat for Humanity underscores the importance of collaboration among local government, nonprofit organizations, and state agencies in responding to the region's housing needs," Boomgaarden said. "Through the Homekey+ award, Habitat for

Water Solution Sought for Apartment Residents

By Susan Meeker

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Residents of two apartment complexes whose private water systems no longer meet state drinking water quality standards could receive city water through a proposed connection project.

Yuba City is seeking state funding to connect Yuba Apartment Homes at 3863 Highway 20 and Louise Shaver Apartments at 1126 El Margarita Road to its municipal water system.

The City Council approved submitting a grant application as part of its Nov. 3 consent calendar. Additional council action will be needed before construction can proceed.

The private systems serving both properties fail to meet state drinking water quality standards, officials said. Both communities also qualify as disadvantaged under state income surveys, making them eligible for assistance intended to help small water systems address drinking water problems.

The city's report does not identify the specific contaminants or other conditions responsible for the systems falling short of state standards.

Discussions among city representatives, property owners and state water officials began at least as early as 2019. In March 2021, the apartment complexes received funding to design connections to the city system.

Sanbell Engineering has brought the plans to approximately 90% completion. The next step is securing construction money through the State Water Resources Control Board's Expedited Drinking Water Grant program.

As the agency that would absorb the private systems, Yuba City has been asked to submit the funding application. Officials anticipate the state grant would cover the full construction cost, estimated at $3.43 million.

Preparing the application would require approximately $40,000 in city employee time. Those expenses would be

Marysville Man Sentenced for Attempted Murder on Railroad Tracks

By MPG Staff

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - A 37-year-old man who forced another man onto railroad tracks at knifepoint was sentenced Wednesday, Nov. 4, to 25 years to life in prison for attempted murder.

Yuba County Superior Court Judge Julia Scrogin sentenced Kyle Ross McCray under California's three-strikes law after he pleaded no contest to willful, deliberate and premeditated attempted murder.

The case stems from an Oct. 8, 2024, incident in which Marysville police rescued a 43-year-old homeless man from railroad tracks about 20 minutes before a train passed through the area.

According to the Yuba County District Attorney's Office, police received a 911 call at approximately 9:31 a.m. A dispatcher overheard one man pleading, "Please don't hurt me," while another ordered, "Lay right there."

Officer Martinez responded to the west end of 11th Street and found McCray standing on elevated railroad tracks. McCray denied calling 911, but the officer soon heard another man shouting for help.

Officers found the victim lying across the tracks behind McCray. They detained McCray and helped the victim to safety.

The victim told investigators he had been walking toward the Twin Cities Rescue Mission when McCray confronted him with a knife and ordered him to lie across the tracks with his legs over a rail.

Prosecutors said McCray initially admitted forcing the man onto the tracks because he wanted an approaching train to sever his legs. McCray also suggested officers overlook the incident because the victim was a registered sex offender.

According to prosecutors, McCray knew the victim through the Twin Cities Rescue Mission, which had previously banned him for threatening other residents.

McCray's criminal history includes a 2020 assault involving a homeless woman near the Fifth Street Bridge in Marysville.

Prosecutors said McCray persuaded the woman to leave a shelter before assaulting and strangling her while threatening to rape and kill her.

A passing motorist, Kyle Cheney, and his passengers intervened and held McCray until law enforcement arrived. McCray later received a felony criminal threats conviction in connection with the assault.

The district attorney's office said McCray's mental health contributed to delays in the attempted murder case as the court addressed his competency to stand trial and the defense considered an insanity defense.

On Oct. 2, McCray pleaded no contest to attempted murder and admitted two prior strikes, including a 2016 carjacking conviction in Sutter County and the 2020 criminal threats conviction in Yuba County.

Deputy District Attorney Michael Mendonsa prosecuted the case.

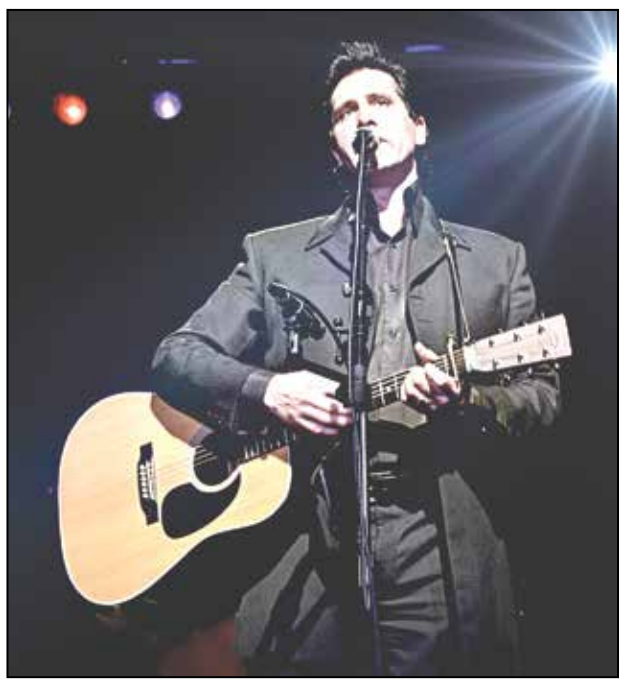

"The three-strikes law was designed for people like Kyle McCray, who need to be locked up for life in order to keep the rest of us safe," Yuba County District Attorney Clint Curry said. "My office will do everything in our power to make sure McCray spends the rest of his life behind bars." ★

James Garner performs a tribute to Johnny Cash, bringing the country music legend's songs to the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts in Yuba City on Nov. 21. Two performances are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Photo courtesy of Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - James Garner will bring his tribute to country music legend Johnny Cash to the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts on Saturday, Nov. 21, with two performances following the postponement of a concert originally scheduled for June.

The performances will begin at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the theater, 754 Plumas St. in Yuba City. Garner postponed his June appearance because of a family emergency.

For 18 years, Garner and his band have performed Cash's music at venues across the country. The tribute has appeared on PBS, and Garner has performed at Folsom and San Quentin prisons, where Cash recorded two of his best-known live albums.

The concert recreates the sound of Cash and his backing band, the Tennessee Three, with performances of songs including "Folsom Prison Blues," "Ring of Fire" and "I Walk the Line."

Garner said his interest in Cash's music began when he was a child.

"I started listening to Cash's music when I was about 12 years old," Garner said. "The first song I heard by him was 'Don't Take Your Guns to Town' and I was hooked."

Garner later attended one of Cash's concerts and had an opportunity to meet the singer backstage.

"Shaking hands with Johnny Cash is still the coolest experience I've ever had," Garner said.

The tribute combines Cash's music with stories about his life and career. Garner and his band perform songs spanning Cash's career, including his early country recordings and later hits.

Tickets cost $30 in advance or $35 at the door. Tickets and additional information are available at yubasutterarts.org or by calling 530-742-ARTS. ★

Under the proposed agreement, the city would oversee construction of the waterline connections. Officials anticipate state consideration of the agreement later this year, followed by a return to the council for authorization to proceed.

Without the grant application, the apartment complexes would have to pursue another source of funding or another way to provide drinking water that meets state standards, officials said. ★

Valencia Baryton Project to Perform Nov. 15

By MPG Staff

GRASS VALLEY, CA (MPG) - An 18th-century string instrument rarely heard in modern concert halls will take center stage Sunday, Nov. 15, when InConcert Sierra presents the Valencia Baryton Project in Grass Valley.

The concert begins at 2 p.m. at the Grass Valley Seventh-day Adventist Church, 12889 Osborne Hill Road. A pre-concert talk will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The Valencia Baryton Project, based in Valencia, Spain, introduces audiences to the baryton, a Baroque string instrument that combines bowed strings with a second set of metal strings that musicians can pluck while playing.

Ensemble founder Matthew Baker is among a small number of musicians worldwide who perform on the instrument. He established the group to preserve and perform music written for the baryton and introduce the instrument to new audiences.

The baryton resembles a viola da gamba, an early relative of the cello. Unlike traditional string instruments, however, it features metal strings behind the fingerboard that resonate as the musician plays. Performers can also pluck those strings with their thumb while bowing the main strings, allowing them to produce two distinct sounds simultaneously.

The instrument gained popularity during the 18th century, particularly at the Austrian court of Prince Nikolaus Esterházy, who played the baryton.

Composer Franz Joseph Haydn, who worked at Esterházy's court, wrote 123 trios for baryton, viola and cello. Those compositions remain an important part of the instrument's musical history.

Despite its popularity among European aristocrats, the baryton eventually fell out of favor. Its complex construction, demanding tuning requirements and challenging playing technique contributed to its decline.

The Valencia Baryton Project has performed more than 100 concerts throughout North, Central and South America and Europe.

The Grass Valley program will feature music spanning more than 300 years, including three baryton trios by Haydn and a trio by Luigi Tomasini.

The ensemble will also perform contemporary compositions by David Gorton, José Zárate and Baker.

Among the selections is Gorton's "How sighs resound," a work commissioned by the Valencia Baryton Project that incorporates music by 17th-century composer John Jenkins.

InConcert Sierra has presented classical music performances and educational programs throughout the Sierra Nevada region since 1946. The organization is also developing Crown Point Venues, a project that will include a concert hall, conference center and black box theater.

Tickets for the Nov. 15 performance cost $50 for general admission and $5 for youth ages 18 and younger.

Tickets are available by calling 530-273-3990, visiting https://www.simpletix.com/e/valencia-baryton-project-tickets-267401 or purchasing them at the venue on concert day. ★

CAL FIRE Warns of Lithium-Ion Battery Fire Risks

By MPG Staff

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As rechargeable batteries become common in household electronics, power tools and electric transportation, CAL FIRE is reminding Californians that improper charging and damaged batteries can pose serious fire risks.

Lithium-ion batteries power everyday devices, including cellphones, tablets, laptops, toys, e-bikes and scooters. Although convenient, these batteries store considerable energy in a small space and can overheat, catch fire or explode if damaged or charged improperly.

CAL FIRE and the National Fire Protection Association highlighted these risks during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10, but officials say safe charging practices remain important year-round.

"The way you charge your lithium-ion battery devices can make a difference in helping prevent home fires," said California State Fire Marshal Daniel Berlant. "By making safe charging a daily habit, we can all help prevent fires and protect our homes, families, and communities."

Fire officials recommend using only the charging cord and equipment supplied with a device or approved by its manufacturer. Incompatible chargers can damage batteries and increase the likelihood of overheating.

Where a device charges also matters. CAL FIRE recommends placing electronics on hard, flat surfaces, such as tables or desks, rather than beds, couches or pillows. Soft materials can trap heat and restrict airflow around batteries and charging equipment.

Consumers should also watch for signs of battery failure, including excessive heat, swelling, smoke or unusual odors. Anyone noticing these warning signs should stop using the affected device.

Officials also recommend unplugging electronics once they reach a full charge rather than leaving them connected longer than necessary.

Larger battery-powered equipment, including e-bikes, scooters and power tools, requires additional precautions. CAL FIRE advises charging these devices outside and away from exits because their larger batteries store more energy and can produce fires that spread rapidly.

Air travelers should keep charging devices within sight and avoid charging electronics inside overhead compartments. Officials also warn against charging electronic cigarettes or vaping devices aboard aircraft so flight crews can respond quickly if a battery overheats.

Beyond public education, the CAL FIRE Office of the State Fire Marshal is working to strengthen battery safety regulations and improve emergency response procedures.

The agency recently established a Battery Energy Storage Systems Workgroup, bringing together specialists to examine emerging hazards, recommend safety practices and improve firefighter training.

The workgroup also aims to address risks associated with battery storage systems in homes, businesses and larger energy storage facilities.

CAL FIRE encourages residents to review their charging habits and inspect battery-powered devices for potential hazards.

Additional information about lithium-ion battery safety is available through the National Fire Protection Association at http://www.fpw.org. ★

MEMORIAL

CLARENCE ROY WECKMAN • 10/23/1943 - 11/01/2026

Clarence Roy Weckman, known as "Buck," passed away on November 1, 2026, in Grangeville, Idaho at the age of 83, with the love of his life by his side and his son Gene.

Born on October 23, 1943, Buck lived a life that many of us can only hope to emulate. He was the lighthouse of our family, a steady presence and guiding light to those who loved him. He was a man defined by hard work, dedication, love for his country, faith, and above all, an unwavering love for his family. His legacy is one that will live on through the countless memories, lessons, and stories cherished by all who knew him.

Buck was born in Sacramento, California, to Clarence and Arvilla Weckman. He shared his childhood with his brother, Frank, and sisters, Sue and Cindy. Following high school, he proudly served his country as a United States Marine. After receiving his honorable discharge, he continued his education at American River Community College.

Buck went on to build a distinguished career in forestry, dedicating 37 years of service to the California Department of Forestry (CDF). He concluded his career as a Battalion Chief in Dobbins, California. Throughout those years, he played a part in protecting thousands of acres of land, homes, and lives. His dedication to serving others and protecting the communities he loved was a reflection of the man he was: committed, courageous, and always willing to do what needed to be done.

On March 17, 1979, Buck married Colene Weckman, beginning a marriage and life together that would become the heart of their family. They built a home in the mountains of Brownsville California where they resided for 39 years. Together, they raised five wonderful children, each carrying a little of their dad's strength and spirit: Scott Paul, Keri Paul, Gene Weckman, Kenny Weckman, and Michelle Reynolds. From those five children grew a family that will continue to expand for generations. Buck leaves behind 23 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren, each carrying a piece of his legacy.

Through his words, his actions, his sometimes unusual sense of humor, and simply being there when someone needed him, Buck made a lasting impact on the lives of those around him. He was a devoted husband, father, grandfather, brother, and friend who took great pride in his family and the life he had built. He may not have always been a man of many words, but when he spoke, his words were valued, respected, and remembered.

Those closest to Buck will remember his love for his country, his interest in politics, his passion for hunting and the outdoors, trips to the ocean and every historical monument he could visit along the way. Time with his dog, and riding around in his buggy. He enjoyed family vacations, hosting larger than life 4th of July parties and get-togethers, and attending his kids and grandkids sporting events. Above all other things, he treasured the time he spent with his wife. Colene was his world, his best friend, and the love of his life. Their life together was something special, and the love they shared was evident to those fortunate enough to witness it.

Buck also enjoyed writing and often shared his thoughts and opinions through letters to the editor. He was never afraid to stand behind what he believed in, and he leaves behind not only the memories of the life he lived but also the words and convictions that reflected who he was.

Buck's life was one of service, strength, loyalty, and love. He was a Marine, a firefighter, a husband, a father, and a grandfather. But to his family, he was something even more: the steady light that helped guide them through life.

Though his absence will leave a space that can never truly be filled, the family he built, the lives he touched, and the memories he leaves behind will carry his spirit forward for generations.

He was deeply loved, greatly respected, and will be missed more than words can express.

'Harvest Party at Camp Two'

between two cultures, the annual harvest parties became something much more than an end-of-season celebration.

"I think the cool thing about this story is it feels very unique to our area," said Rajan Gill, a Yuba College history professor and filmmaker. "I think anyone that's lived here, grown up here, or been here for any extended amount of time can relate to the themes there. But it's also really a story about a community coming together and about young people finding their footing in the United States."

Decades later, these legendary harvest parties took center stage, drawing a nearly full house to the hometown screening of "Harvest Party at Camp Two" at the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts on Friday, Nov. 6. The 16-minute documentary, co-directed by Gill and filmmaker Reaa Puri, tells the story of young Punjabi Sikh farmworkers who, unable to attend local proms and homecoming dances, transformed traditional harvest gatherings into celebrations of music, friendship and community.

The film was inspired in part by the experiences of Gill's father, Kashmir "Kash" Gill, who attended the original harvest parties and later became Yuba City's mayor and the first Sikh elected mayor in the United States.

"I'm a big film fan, and films like this that tell these kinds of stories are just, you know, near and dear to my heart," said David Read, executive director of Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture. "So when Mr. Gill came to us and said, 'Hey, we've got this documentary we made that's never been shown locally,' I went, 'Okay, when do we start?'"

The screening marked the final stop on the documentary's festival tour, which included approximately 12 festivals and screenings across the United States, Canada and India.

"This project is a labor of love, not just for myself, but from the larger community," Gill said. "The people that you're going to see are familiar faces. They're your neighbors, your friends, your family members perhaps."

During a discussion following the screening, Gill explained that he grew up hearing stories about the harvest parties but did not fully investigate their history until the COVID-19 pandemic. Through conversations with former participants, he discovered that the gatherings were an annual tradition that grew increasingly popular with local teenagers during the late 1970s and early 1980s.

"I had no idea it was, like, this crazy rager of an event that these teenagers, like, hijacked the harvest party," Gill said.

For Puri, whose Sikh grandfather immigrated to California and worked in almond orchards near Chico during the 1980s, the documentary provided an opportunity to explore her family's agricultural heritage.

"I had never stepped foot in an orchard," Puri wrote in a LinkedIn post about the film. "Farm labor is an integral part of the lineage of Sikh Punjabi people, and I was totally disconnected from it."

Although the harvest parties brought together young people from different ethnic backgrounds, the film also examines the discrimination and cultural restrictions experienced by Punjabi Sikh families. During the audience discussion, one woman who grew up in the area recalled the challenges of being raised by immigrant parents while navigating American society. She described experiencing racial harassment, including being spat on and insulted because of her background.

"But we did it. We survived, and everyone's doing well," she said, thanking Gill for bringing back memories of that period.

Another audience member recalled knowing about the harvest parties as a young woman but not being permitted to attend. Gill acknowledged that while the gatherings helped break down cultural barriers, young women often faced greater restrictions than their male counterparts. The filmmakers deliberately included perspectives from women who were excluded from the celebrations.

"Although this was, like, one step towards breaking the ice in this community, there was still a lot of divisions in the neighborhood for sure," Gill said.

Despite those challenges, Gill said interviews with former participants consistently revealed deep respect for their immigrant parents, many of whom endured economic hardships while establishing their families in the United States.

Looking ahead, Gill hopes to expand the documentary into a feature-length film, envisioning a coming-of-age comedy similar in spirit to "Dazed and Confused," "Superbad" and "Project X," but set in Yuba City.

For those unable to attend, Gill said the documentary is expected to become available through PBS platforms and YouTube, tentatively around May 2027. Additional information is available at http://harvestpartyfilm.com. ★

New Beginnings

By Kathy Craigo Harteis

It's always a blessing to see young couples marry and begin new lives together.

Yesterday, we attended the wedding of Nick Baird and Gracie Meek, now the newlyweds, the Bairds.

It was a beautiful wedding and a time filled with love.

It's about time for us to head back to North Dakota. Still on an adventure, though, we plan to stop along the coast.

Put me in the mountains or on the coast, and I'm happy. Ironically, I'm perfectly content living on the prairie.

We are blessed with so many beautiful places in our world.

We found one of them in Durham, California. The place we stayed for the wedding was an adorable little farmhouse. It's filled with beautiful antiques and offers lovely walking and sitting areas, including a secret garden.

It's like visiting Grandma's house.

I'm sorry I missed seeing my grandkids on Halloween. I got a few pictures, but I always look forward to seeing them.

But on we go. It's a new day and the first day of November, my birthday month! Let the celebration begin.

Life is good today.

Farm Bureau Equips Deputies to Fight Ag Crime

Yuba-Sutter Farm Bureau President Brian Greathouse presented newly published Ag Crime Resource Books to Sutter County Sheriff Barnes and his command staff Nov. 3. The books provide deputies with information about regional farming operations, seasonal activities and commonly used agricultural equipment. Developed by a Farm Bureau summer intern with assistance from members and directors, the guides aim to help law enforcement distinguish routine agricultural activity from potentially suspicious behavior. The Farm Bureau plans to distribute the books to patrol vehicles in both Sutter and Yuba counties, with a presentation to the Yuba County Sheriff's Office scheduled for the following week. California Farmers Explore Seaweed Crop

Seaweed farming in the United States remains in its infancy but has grown in recent years. In 2015, there were just a handful of kelp farms along the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines, according to a 2026 report by the aquaculture nonprofit GreenWave. There are now around 250 permitted seaweed farms across the U.S. and Canada, amounting to more than 6,000 acres. "Over the past decade, we've come a long way," said Kendall Barbery, GreenWave's director of partnerships and industry engagement. The company worked with Cal Poly, Humboldt, to open the state's first commercial, open-water seaweed farm in 2020. "We're at the point where we have achieved some serious scale and ability to produce and demonstrate viability as a new industry across the U.S.," Barbery said. However, she said the industry faces barriers in California due to the state's environmental regulations and an arduous permitting process.

Soaring Costs and Low Yield Dampen Walnut Prospects

California walnut growers face the prospect of another year in the red as harvest wraps up this month and handlers market the new crop. Despite increased walnut prices, industry experts said growers could struggle to break even due to rising production costs and low yields. On Oct. 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated the state's crop at 680,000 tons, down 16% from last year. Inconsistent chill hours during winter and varying temperatures in the spring caused uneven pollination and a lighter nut set, according to an October report from the California Walnut Board and Commission. Robert Verloop, CEO of the walnut board, said prices for growers were expected to be "significantly higher" this year than the 75 cents a pound they earned on average for last year's crop. However, "they may not go up enough to cover the light crop and higher production cost," Verloop said."

Ventura County's record Crop Values Describe 'Only Half the Story'

Ventura County farmers and ranchers generated a record $2.41 billion in gross production value in 2025, but cost estimates in the county's annual crop report indicate that growers of some major commodities earned little or nothing after production expenses. The report found that production costs consumed an estimated $1.01 for every dollar in strawberry revenue, leaving growers with no return. Lemon growers faced an even larger shortfall, spending an estimated $1.12 for every dollar earned. By including the cost estimates associated with producing a crop and the net return to growers, the 2025 Ventura County crop and livestock report represents a departure from traditional crop reports, which typically provide only the gross revenue of agricultural commodities. "We're always fighting that perception that farmers are rich because the gross (revenue) is so high," said Louise Lampara, CEO of Farm Bureau of Ventura County. "That's only half the story. That's not even the real story." ★

Call Back and Cash In

How fast someone responds to a communication can be directly related to how successful a person is. My opinion of course and not always true.

Obviously, someone like Elon Musk is not going to respond to a message from some average Joe like me. But I am sure he is quick to solve all the questions he might encounter when it concerns things that matter to him and his many businesses.

I have written about this sort of thing before. Responding to communications in a timely manner is no small matter. In fact, it's one of the most important habits you can adopt to position yourself on the upper rungs of the economic ladder.

Not responding in a timely fashion, or not responding at all (even worse), shows me a lot about a person's character, their use of time and their respect for others.

I find that successful people, no matter what their job, respond relatively quickly to communications, both personal and business related.

On the flip side, many people I message fall into the other category, which is to be slow on their responses. I group message a lot of people during the work week and most are slow to respond. Some don't respond at all.

I can hear some of you thinking, "Marc, maybe they don't want to talk to you."

LOL, yea, I get it.

But on a serious note, when I get a call, message or email from someone I know, I reach back quickly. Usually within minutes. That includes when I am on holiday, at home or in the evening. Unless I am out of range, in a meeting or out with family, I respond, and people come to realize that about me fairly quickly.

I am of the opinion, responding quickly shows respect, demonstrates you care and are present in this thing called life.

Not responding on the other hand, at least to me, signifies the person probably doesn't allocate their time efficiently, is organizationally scattered, and lacks some of the usual norms as to what is polite and how people on the other end might perceive things.

I often hear the excuse that they were busy. I own and run five successful and complicated businesses, yet I am quick to respond when called, emailed or messaged.

Most people don't respond very quickly, and I find the percentages of slow or non-responders fall along the same lines as the proportion of people that are very successful and "get it" and the people that just get along.

I have found that responding quickly has a direct correlation to how much money one will make. The faster the response, the faster your bank account grows. Have an indolent habit of doing an MBA (manage by avoidance)? That's probably one of the reasons you can't pay all your bills.

For example, I play pickleball with a big group and needed a new accountant. I knew there were two candidates in my group. Both seemed competent, but one of them had answered me only twice out of about 50 messages that I had sent her over the years. I gave up messaging her knowing I would likely get no response. I also never offered her the opportunity.

This summer, I invited about 60 people to a large BBQ I was having. Only 20 or so bothered to answer. Most were those responding they were coming and saying thank you for the invitation. Many others didn't respond at all, let alone tell me if they were coming nor say thanks for the invitation.

Rude in my world.

Responding quickly does have its downside. Faster response time means people know you will answer so they contact you more often on all sorts of stuff, both wanted and unwanted.

But I would rather be known for being dependable and "present" then thought of as someone who doesn't bother to answer or takes days to do so, if at all.

With five businesses, I am a very busy person. But I would never use that as an excuse to not respond to someone who took the time to contact me. It's not a valid excuse for one who manages their time efficiently but it is an excuse for someone who obviously doesn't.

Not bothering to respond with yes, no or whatever takes a few seconds. And who can't spare a few seconds to politely acknowledge someone's reach out? Someone who doesn't get it and probably never will. What they will do is wonder why they keep losing out to someone else who does.

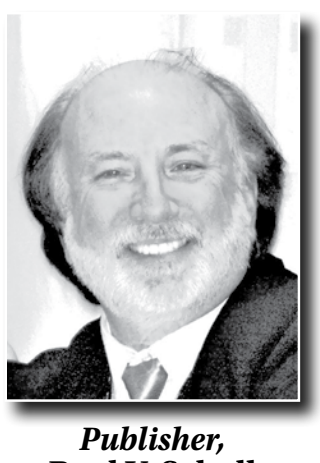

If you want to get farther ahead in just about everything you do, make a point to respond to people who reach out to you whatever the reason.

You will earn more respect, probably have a few more friends, find your life maybe gets a little bit fuller, and probably make a lot more money in the process, no matter what your employment.

The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 901-0998 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website - HTTPS://SALESINFORMATION.PRIME-RECON.COM - for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case: TS#196795. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (844) 901-0998 for information regarding the trustee's sale, or visit this internet website HTTPS://SALESINFORMATION.PRIME-RECON.COM for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case TS#196795 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Yuba City Targets Trash in Local Waterways

By Susan Meeker

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Yuba City is moving forward with an underground collection system designed to catch trash carried through storm drains before it reaches local waterways.

The City Council approved project plans, bidding and an advance equipment purchase as part of its Nov. 3 consent calendar. The device will be installed in a storm drain on Walton Avenue to reduce pollution flowing toward Gilsizer Slough and the Feather River.

The estimated $616,502 cost includes equipment, installation and contingencies. A construction contract is scheduled to return to the council in December, with work anticipated to begin in January and finish in March 2027.

The project originally called for a trash-capture device near Lincoln Road at Gilsizer Slough. However, hydraulic modeling identified potential localized flooding, prompting a move upstream to Walton Avenue and a change in equipment, officials said.

The selected system separates and collects debris from stormwater. Public Works already maintains three similar devices elsewhere in the city, giving the department experience with their operation and upkeep.

Officials evaluated state-certified equipment based on maintenance needs and its ability to handle runoff from large drainage areas before selecting a unit manufactured by Contech Engineered Solutions.

Buying the equipment before awarding the installation contract is intended to keep construction on schedule and avoid contractor markups on the purchase, officials said. Delivery is expected to take six to 10 weeks.

The work is part of a broader effort supported by Proposition 1 funding through the California Department of Water Resources. In 2019, the city received a combined $970,000 grant award for this project and improvements to the Gilsizer North Detention Basin.

Design and permitting have required several revisions since the city hired West Yost in 2021 to prepare the projects.

The final funding breakdown will come back to the council when construction bids are available. At that point, officials will identify how much grant money remains available and whether a local contribution or budget adjustment is needed. ★

Sutter County Receives $168,800 in Traffic Safety Grants

By MPG Staff

SUTTER COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sutter County has received $168,800 in state grants to expand traffic enforcement, pedestrian and bicycle safety education and programs aimed at reducing crashes and injuries on local roads.

The California Office of Traffic Safety awarded $100,000 to the Sutter County Health and Human Services Department's Public Health Branch and $68,800 to the Sutter County Sheriff's Office. Both programs will run through September 2027.

The Public Health Branch will use its funding to promote safer walking and bicycling while emphasizing motorists' responsibility to watch for pedestrians and cyclists.

The program includes community walking audits to identify potential street improvements, bicycle safety courses, helmet distribution and educational presentations at schools and community events.

Other activities include bicycle rodeos, Open Streets events and Safe Routes to Schools programs. The county also plans to support organized groups of students walking to school, commonly called "walking school buses."

Additional outreach will focus on older adults, people experiencing homelessness and others at greater risk of pedestrian and bicycle crashes. Educational workshops will address roadway visibility and safety equipment, including reflective bands and bicycle lights.

The Sheriff's Office will use its $68,800 grant to strengthen traffic enforcement and education efforts targeting dangerous driving behaviors.

Planned activities include DUI checkpoints, patrols targeting suspected impaired drivers and enforcement operations addressing distracted driving and violations of California's hands-free cellphone law.

Deputies will also focus on speeding, failure to yield, running stop signs and red lights, improper turns and unsafe lane changes. Enforcement operations will include violations that endanger pedestrians and bicyclists.

The grant will also support community presentations on impaired driving, distracted driving, speeding and pedestrian and bicycle safety.

Deputies will receive training or recertification in detecting impaired drivers, including standardized field sobriety testing, advanced roadside impaired driving enforcement and drug recognition.

The Sheriff's Office said the combination of enforcement and education aims to reduce dangerous driving behaviors and prevent crashes.

"Traffic safety begins with everyday decisions," said California Office of Traffic Safety Director Stephanie Dougherty. "When we address the risky driving behaviors that put everyone on the road in danger, including speeding, distraction, and impairment, we can prevent crashes and save lives."

Both grants come from the California Office of Traffic Safety through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. ★

Honoring Our Veterans Through Service and Support

By Alexandria Jones, Yuba County Health Education Specialist

Every Veterans Day, our community pauses to recognize the men and women who have worn our nation's uniform. We celebrate their courage, remember their sacrifices and express our gratitude for the freedoms their service has helped protect. But honoring our veterans shouldn't be limited to one day a year. It is also about making sure they and their families have the support, resources and opportunities they deserve long after their military service has ended.

Here at Yuba County Health and Human Services, that commitment continues through the Yuba-Sutter County Veterans Services Office, a partnership between Yuba and Sutter counties dedicated to serving those who have served our country.

Navigating the many benefits available through the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the California Department of Veterans Affairs isn't always easy. From understanding eligibility requirements and gathering military records to filing claims and appealing decisions, the process can be complicated. The Veterans Services Office provides guidance every step of the way, helping individuals and families understand their options and access the assistance available to them.

Services extend across a wide range of needs, including disability compensation, pensions, health care, education assistance, home loan programs, burial benefits and military discharge reviews. Whether helping a veteran secure medical care, assisting a surviving family member with benefits or answering questions about available resources, the team works to make sure those who served know where to turn for support.

But the work goes beyond paperwork. Staff also connect veterans with medical care, visit veterans in nursing and care facilities, assist families with burial-related benefits and collaborate with other county departments to ensure veterans are aware of additional resources available to them.

This work is a reminder that supporting our veterans is a community responsibility. Behind every claim is a person, a family and a story. Making sure those individuals know where to turn and that they don't have to navigate the process alone is one small but meaningful way we can give back. This Veterans Day, as we honor those who have served, we encourage veterans and their families to learn about the resources available right here at home.

The Yuba-Sutter County Veterans Services Office is located at 5730 Packard Ave., Suite 300, Marysville. For assistance or to schedule an appointment, call 530-749-6710. Walk-in assistance is also available Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. The lobby is closed from noon to 1 p.m. daily. Our gratitude for veterans should never be limited to a single day. It should be reflected in how we show up for them, support their families and ensure they receive the benefits and care they have earned. After all, serving those who served us is a promise worth keeping. ★

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Please be advised that the highest bidder ("purchaser") at this trustee's sale may be required to provide information, documentation and/or certification as mandated by applicable federal law, and entity and trust purchaser should be prepared to provide beneficial ownership information as required by federal reporting requirements effective for transfers of residential real property to covered transferees on or after March 1, 2026. If applicable, the required information must be provided to the trustee before a trustee's deed will be issued for covered transfers. Additional information regarding these regulations and the required transferee information and certifications can be found at https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2024/08/29/2024-19198/anti-money-laundering-regulations-for-residential-real-estate-transfers and https://www.fincen.gov/rre-faqs#D_5. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2026-24280-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANTS: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2026-24280-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. 'A Little Princess' Gets New Beginning in Yuba City, Nov. 13

By Shamaya Sutton

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - A musical more than a decade in the making is getting a new beginning in Yuba City, where The Acting Company will present the world premiere of a revised version of "A Little Princess," opening Friday, Nov. 13.

Margaret Rose, the musical's lyricist and co-creator, traveled from Orlando, Florida, to attend rehearsals and opening weekend, offering local performers an opportunity to interact with one of the show's original creators.

"Being trusted with the premiere of the relaunch of A Little Princess is such an honor, and working with Margaret Rose has been like working with a trusted friend," said director Foster Campbell-McManus. "She has been so accessible and supportive in helping us to understand our characters and encouraging our ideas. It has truly been a director's dream."

Based on the novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett, "A Little Princess" features music by Eric Rockwell, lyrics by Rose and a book by the late William J. Brooke. The musical originally premiered at Sacramento Theatre Company in 2013, where its creators identified several changes they hoped to make.

"In watching those performances as writers, you learn how the audience is reacting," Rose said. "That's really an important part of our process…theater doesn't exist until there's an audience, and that's how we learn to improve our craft."

The proposed revisions remained on hold for years as the writers pursued other projects. It wasn't until November 2025 that Rose and Rockwell returned to the musical, revisiting notes they had made during its original Sacramento run.

As the revisions were underway, The Acting Company board contacted Rose about producing the musical, following interest from Campbell-McManus, who had seen the original Sacramento production. Rose offered the theater a choice: Stage the original version or wait until spring for the revised script. The Acting Company chose the latter, becoming the first theater to present the updated musical.

"As soon as we made that decision to go back to the creative process on A Little Princess, the universe just made this contact for us, and here's a company that wants to do it," Rose said. "There may be some further rewrites that we'll do after I've seen this version, but I think it's pretty darn close to what we want."

Among the revisions is the relocation of a song titled "The Real World," performed by Miss Minchin, the story's principal antagonist. Originally appearing late in Act Two, the song provides insight into the character's motivations.

"She's not 100% evil. She has good intentions," Rose explained, adding that moving the song into Act One would allow audiences to better understand the character's perspective.

The writers also expanded the musical's storytelling structure, previously centered around the character Ram Dass, to incorporate the entire cast as storytellers who can step into multiple roles. The change makes the production more accessible to smaller theaters, allowing it to be performed with as few as 14 actors while accommodating larger ensembles. New openings for both acts were also written to support the revised format.

The Acting Company's production features a 19-member cast, led by Ava Sylvia as Sara Crewe, Erika Walsh-Wray as Miss Minchin, Joshua Saunders as Captain Crewe, Samuel Madrid as Tom Carrisford and Barrett Benson as Ram Dass.

During a rehearsal Thursday evening, Nov. 5, Rose had the opportunity to observe the local cast and praised Campbell-McManus' direction, particularly her guidance of the performers. Rose said she particularly enjoys watching young actors discover the fundamentals of theater, from learning blocking to finding new meaning in their characters.

"Nothing beats being in the rehearsal room with actors and seeing those beautiful young actors at the beginning of their theater journey," she said. "I just love that process, the rehearsal process, even before we get an audience. Just the rehearsal process is a delight."

Beyond the revisions, the musical remains faithful to Burnett's original novel, particularly its exploration of grief, hardship and resilience. Unlike some film adaptations, the musical retains the death of Sara Crewe's father rather than offering a miraculous reunion.

"It's okay though, because that's life," Rose said. "People die, and it's how you deal with the difficulties in life that are what we need to look at."

Rose's ties to Northern California extend beyond "A Little Princess." A Modesto native and Sacramento State graduate, she also collaborated with Rockwell on "Meet Your Mountain," a musical about the Donner Party that premiered at Sacramento Theatre Company in 2017.

That story has a particular connection to the Yuba-Sutter region, as Marysville was named after Mary Murphy Covillaud, a survivor of the ill-fated expedition. The writers hope to produce a full studio cast recording of "Meet Your Mountain" to help introduce the production to regional theaters and potentially larger stages.

For now, however, Rose's attention is on Yuba City, where the revised "A Little Princess" will be performed before live audiences for the first time. She and Rockwell may make additional adjustments based on the production before beginning a national effort to introduce the musical to community and regional theaters.

"There's a saying with musical theater writers that a musical is never finished. It just opens," she said.

And for "A Little Princess," that next chapter begins at The Acting Company. The musical runs Nov. 13 through Dec. 6 at The Acting Company, 815 B St., Yuba City, with performances Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m. General admission tickets are $20, with an opening-weekend special of $18 for students, seniors and military members. Tickets and additional information are available at http://actingcompany.org/a-little-princess or by calling the box office at 530-751-1100. ★

Tractor Supply Faces Five-Year Pesticide Probation

By MPG Staff

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Department of Pesticide Regulation has placed Tractor Supply Company on five years of probation following repeated violations of state pesticide sales and licensing laws at stores across California.

The probation, which takes effect Dec. 7, prohibits the retailer from selling restricted pesticide materials and requires quarterly sales reports to state regulators.

According to the department, inspections conducted by county agricultural commissioners in 32 counties between Jan. 1, 2023, and June 30, 2025, identified violations at 65 of the company's 99 California locations.

Violations included purchasing, selling and delivering restricted pesticide products without obtaining required permit, license or certification information. Several locations also sold pesticides without the required dealer license.

"California has strict pesticide regulations on the sale of restricted materials to protect human health and the environment," said DPR Director Karen Morrison. "Tractor Supply Company has repeatedly disregarded these requirements and DPR is holding them accountable for their actions."

The department's disciplinary action stems from violations involving restricted pesticide sales in Placer County and through the company's online store.

A separate review of company sales records from April 2022 through April 2026 identified 123 sales of unregistered pesticide products in California. Those transactions included 75 sales of restricted materials for which the company failed to obtain the purchasers' required permits.

A coalition of district attorneys from several California counties pursued a separate enforcement action that resolved most of the violations identified during county inspections.

"Californians deserve a marketplace where every seller plays by the rules," Morrison said. "When companies cut corners, it puts our communities at risk and undermines businesses that follow the law."

Under the probation agreement, Tractor Supply must comply with all applicable laws, stop selling restricted pesticide materials and submit quarterly sales reports to the department.

If the company violates the agreement, the department may suspend its California pesticide dealer licenses.

The probation period begins Dec. 7 and continues for five years. ★

After the Formula One race in Mexico on Nov. 1, 20-year-old Italian driver Kimi Antonelli became the youngest Formula One world champion, driving a Mercedes. He surpassed Sebastian Vettel, who won his first title at 23 in 2010 and went on to claim three more championships.

With four races remaining, Max Verstappen has 261 points, followed by Lewis Hamilton with 259, George Russell with 250 and Lando Norris with 221. Verstappen won in Mexico, his third victory in four races.

Kyle Larson enters NASCAR's season finale Nov. 7 at Homestead, Florida, with a 67-point lead over Christopher Bell, 70 over Denny Hamlin and 84 over Chase Briscoe. Larson needs just nine points to secure his third Cup Series championship, achievable through stage points or a finish of 28th or better.

William Byron won at Martinsville, leading 362 of 500 laps. Chase Elliott finished second, followed by Ty Gibbs, Josh Berry and Shane van Gisbergen.

Brake-checking incidents also drew attention. Carson Hocevar brake-checked Austin Cindric, while Berry did the same to Ryan Blaney. Hocevar was subsequently suspended by his Spire Motorsports team.

In the NASCAR Truck Series, Chandler Smith defeated teammate Layne Riggs at Martinsville. Riggs enters Homestead 20 points behind championship rival Kaden Honeycutt and likely needs a victory to claim the title.

In the O'Reilly Auto Parts Series, Justin Allgaier took the championship lead after Jesse Love suffered brake trouble and finished 30th. Carson Kvapil won the race. Allgaier leads Love by 22 points, Corey Day by 23 and Sheldon Creed by 42.

The NHRA season concludes this weekend at Pomona, where four professional championships remain undecided.

Pomona offers 50% more points for qualifying and eliminations, making the season finale particularly important.

A few local races remain this year for enthusiastic motorheads. Stay tuned. ★

Huskies Sweep Bruins for First Blue Banner

By YSBC Sports

The Sutter Huskies girls volleyball team celebrates their first Sac-Joaquin Section title on Saturday, Nov. 7 after sweeping Bear River in straight sets. Photo by Steven Bryla

SACRAMENTO, CA (YSBC) - The Sutter Huskies girls volleyball team brought home their first blue banner of Saturday, Nov. 7 after sweeping the Bear River Bruins in straight sets (25-23, 25-21, 25-15).

Sutter clinched their first section title in the program since 2015 and the first since crossing into the Sac-Joaquin Section in 2022.

For the Huskies, there was a lot this group has endured and dug deep on to have the opportunity to celebrate on the campus of Cosumnes River College.

Sutter avenged their 2025 defeat to Bear River on Saturday and won their 19th straight match in a row, 17 coming through sweeps.

Although the Huskies have been successful at the end of the matches, Sutter has faced adversity multiple times throughout the impressive run.

Huskies head coach Elizabeth Bhatti expressed to Yuba Sutter Butte Colusa Sports that multiple practice scenarios have portrayed deficits and it felt natural for the girls to be in that situation.

Bhatti alluded to the deficit Sutter faced in the third set of the SJS semifinals versus Summerville where the Huskies trailed 8-0 and 15-5 before they snagged the momentum back and swept the Bears.

"Our focus in that mind is strictly one point at a time and to have the trust within one another to have the calmness and ability to get out of the situation," Bhatti said.

She added that the 10 seniors have been an intricate part of the team throughout their time together as their chemistry has been built throughout the years in the Sutter program.

"They know each other's tendencies, they know the other's attitude and know when to push each other," Bhatti said.

Huskies senior opposite hitter Alyvia Brown led Sutter with 12 kills and was followed by senior outside hitter Taylor Palmer (11) and junior outside hitter Kenzy Shannon (10).

DeLaCerna told YSBC that the key to the win over Bear River was to keep a positive mindset the entire match.

"We weren't just playing for ourselves individually, we were playing for everyone around us," DeLaCerna said.

Brown added that she felt confident in the entire team and their abilities as a squad.

She added the compassion they have for one another and the tight bond they share as a lot of them have played within the club with one another.

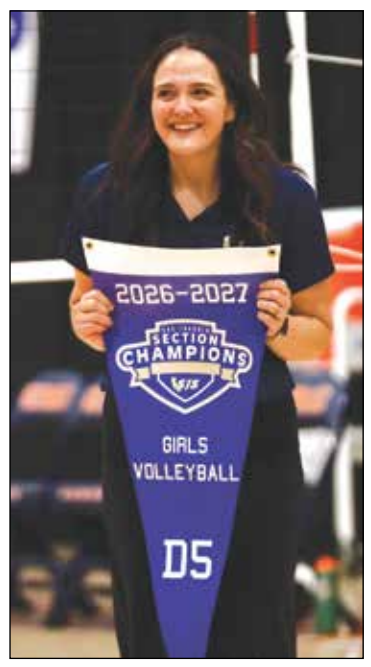

Palmer added that they were all willing to leave it all on the court for one another.

Sutter was given the No. 8 seed in the CIF State Division IV playoffs.

The Huskies made it to the regional semifinals before the Colusa RedHawks defeated them at home for the opportunity to play in the regional finals.

Palmer told YSBC that they just need to focus on point-by-point and just remember what has made them successful throughout the season.

Sutter hosted Foothill (Palo Cedro) on Tuesday and if the Huskies were successful, they would have headed to Reedley on Thursday and taken on Immanuel. ★

By YSBC Sports

YUBA-SUTTER, CA (YSBC) - The CIF Sac-Joaquin Section and Northern Section released their postseason football brackets and we had three teams qualify for the playoffs.

On top of the football brackets, two of our local football teams were slotted into bowl games.

Yuba City - The Yuba City Honkers football program is hosting their first playoff game since 2024, and they grabbed the No. 2 overall seed in the CIF SJS Division IV bracket.

Yuba City deserved to be the No. 2 seed after their two losses consisted of two one-point deficits to No. 1 seeds in Division III and IV.

The Honkers will host East Union (Manteca) on Friday, who finished in the Valley Oak League.

The Lancers are 1-4 against teams throughout the year that were eligible for the postseason.

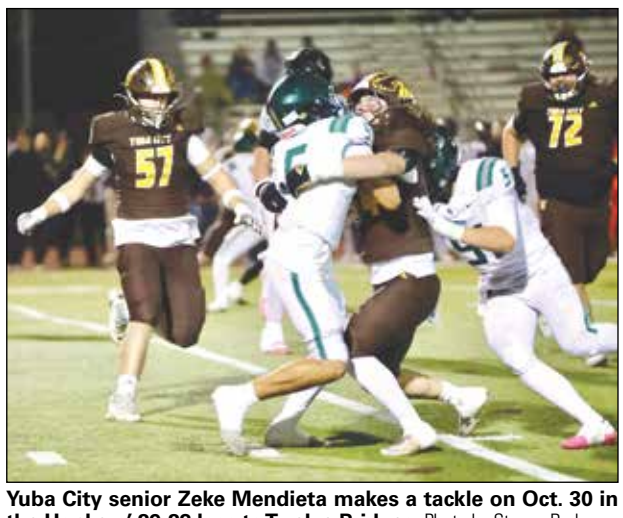

East Union has four-primary ball carriers and multiple assets down field able to catch the ball.

If Yuba City can score in the 40s or above, their probability of winning the game will be high.

Honkers head coach Jonah Lessard said the Honkers have a good mindset going into the playoffs and their health is going to be a major strength as kickoff is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Sutter - The Sutter Huskies landed a top two seed for the fourth time in the five years of being in the SJS.

Sutter was given the No. 2 seed in the Division V bracket and will host the Rosemont Wolverines on Friday at 6 p.m.

The Huskies defeated Lathrop in the final week of the regular season 27-0.

Sutter finished the season 10-0 and it's time to ramp up again. The Huskies primarily sat a lot of their starters in the second half of their contests because they had big leads at the half.

Sutter's defense allowed an average of 8.3 points-per game while the offense averaged over 390 yards-per game.

Wheatland - The Wheatland Pirates will be hosting a bowl game in Sohrakoff Stadium as they finished ranked 12th in the Division VI standings by MaxPreps.

Wheatland lost their final 23-14 to center on Nov. 6 where they had a strong third quarter and the defense played well overall, but they just couldn't move the ball across the goal line.

The Pirates will host Highlands at 6 p.m. on Friday and the Scots finished sixth in the Sierra Delta League standings.

Highlands is a balanced team that has the ability to move the ball quickly downfield.

Lindhurst - The Lindhurst Blazers are heading to a bowl game for the second-straight year after winning six games during the regular season.

Lindhurst is getting better and it's apparent the job that Troy Spangler and Jeff Pierce Jr have changed the culture and the uprise of the Blazers is coming.

Lindhurst has a ton of athletes that will return in 2027 including a plethora of running backs that has racked up over 2,000 rushing yards.

The Blazers will host El Camino on Friday with kickoff scheduled for 6 p.m.

The Eagles primary point of offensive attack is passing and that will be nice for Lindhurst as they have 13 interceptions this season.

Northern Section

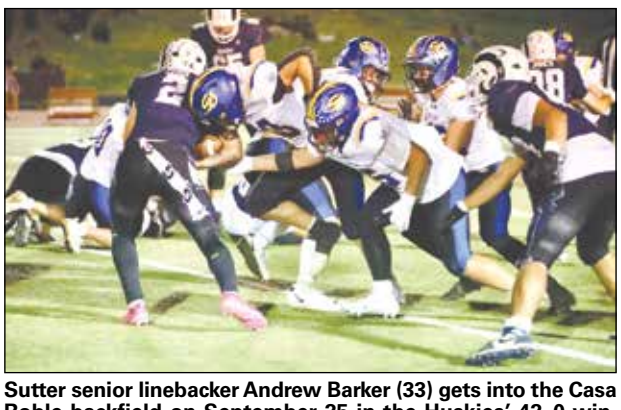

East Nicolaus - The East Nicolaus Spartans were given the No. 1 seed in the Division IV bracket of the NS.

Despite a 27-7 defeat to Paradise in the final week of the season, East Nicolaus' body of work from the regular season couldn't be ignored.

East Nicolaus head coach Josh Appelt told Yuba Sutter Butte Colusa Sports that he is going to use the time for his team to get healthy and regroup.
