A CHANCE TO PLAY

Local organization provides adaptive sports opportunities for children with physical disabilities

A chance to play. Most families won't think twice about the phrase. Youth sports is a multi-billion dollar industry, thus most children are provided with ample opportunities to play. Of course, there are still barriers to entry, but what if your child had no access to sports at all? Without adaptive sports, that would be the reality for children who have physical disabilities that prevent them from participating in able-bodied sports.

Adaptive Sports Ohio provides those adaptive sport opportunities for children and adults with physical disabilities through community-based and interscholastic sports programs, and are now excited to expand those offerings to the Cleveland area.

Headquartered in Wooster, Ohio, Adaptive Sports Ohio now offers programming for athletes in Wayne, Mahoning, Stark, Lucas, and Cuyahoga counties. The newly opened Cleveland office offers an extensive list of programs for veterans, adults, and youth with disabilities that includes wheelchair basketball, power wheelchair soccer, sled hockey, track & field, hand cycling, wheelchair tennis, wheelchair softball, and more. Athletes have the option to play recreationally or compete on one of the many competitive travel teams offered.

Inclusion in school athletics is important for students with disabilities, thus Adaptive Sports Ohio has launched school-based wheelchair basketball programs in six Ohio school districts with plans to scale the program, adding new programs each year. ASO also assists schools with integrating wheelchair track athletes into their high school and middle school track programs by providing adaptive track training for athletes and coaches across the state and by providing racing chairs for students. The goal is to soon bring these interscholastic programs to schools in Cuyahoga County.

Maintaining an active lifestyle is important for the health and well-being of anyone, but it's especially critical for individuals with disabilities. Individuals living with disabilities are more likely to be inactive, socially isolated, and have a greater risk of poor health than their able-bodied peers.

Sports play an important role in the academic success of children. According to the National Federation of High Schools, studies have proven that students who participate in high school athletic programs have higher grade-point averages than those who do not participate. Yet, our most academically vulnerable population, students with disabilities, have a 68% Ohio graduation rate and don't have access to the academic benefit that school sports provide. Adaptive Sports Ohio is working to change that by getting kids with physical disabilities off the sideline and into the game, providing them a path for a more active and healthy life.

If you have a child with a physical disability, or know someone that would benefit from adaptive sports, you can learn more about getting involved by contacting Lizzie Goldsmith, program manager for Cuyahoga County, at lizzie.goldsmith@adaptivesportsohio.org or call (216) 410-6627. You can also find them on Facebook @AdaptiveSportsOhio, or visit adaptivesportsohio.org for more info.

Trick-or-Treat Fest at the Zoo

Halloween festival takes over Cleveland Metroparks Zoo's Australian Adventure this October

Cleveland Metroparks Zoo today announced Trick-or-Treat Fest presented by Citizens. This year's safe, family-friendly Halloween event will occur at the Zoo on weekends from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. beginning October 9 through October 31.

This year's event includes spectacular live performances in the Zoo's amphitheater, access to Trick-or-Treat Way featuring more than a dozen candy stations located around the Zoo's Halloween-themed Australian Adventure, meet-and-greets with costume characters as well as unlimited rides on the Circle of Wildlife Carousel and entry to the Dinosaurs Around the World exhibit. Guests are encouraged to wear fun (not scary) costumes.

To allow for proper social distancing, attendance to the Zoo and Trick-or-Treat Fest will remain limited and guests are strongly encouraged to purchase their tickets in advance. The Zoo has implemented several additional safety measures including handwashing stations and frequent sanitation of Zoo grounds. Guests are required to wear facial coverings during their visit, unless under 6 years of age, or because of an existing condition.

Due to the operational impacts of COVID-19, the Zoo's traditional after-hours Halloween event Boo at the Zoo will not occur in 2020.

General admission for Trick-or-Treat Fest which includes Zoo general admission is $16 for non-members and $8 for members. Children under 2 enter free. Tickets are available now at FutureForWildlife.org/TrickorTreatFest.

Check out the stunning fall colors at Geauga Park District parks

Families looking for something to do this fall can find a wide variety of fun outdoor ideas in Geauga Park District, featuring fresh air, exercise, adventure, exploration and safe social distance aplenty!

Twenty-five open parks offer more than 70 miles of trails to check out, lined by some of Geauga County's most stunning landscapes now decked in their autumn colors.

Maybe your family knows what it likes, or maybe it's game for a new adventure. Whatever the case, it's extremely easy to plan a park visit using www.geaugaparkdistrict.org.

Click "parks" to search the parks for your favorite activities, click "activities" to find which parks feature them, peruse fall programs and events, reserve a facility or campsite, or read about what's new, like the fall scavenger hunt and Big Creek Park's new mountain biking and "tree house" camping.

Given the year we've all had, Geauga Park District has also introduced some virtual programs to its lineup, which can be found by clicking "programs & events" and using the program type filter function. Neat videos featuring native flora and fauna are consistently uploaded to its YouTube page, too.

Most programs and events this year require registration, online or by phone, due to group size restrictions, enabling us all to stay safe while enjoying our parks together. Face coverings are always required indoors, and are required outdoors whenever six-foot distance cannot be maintained. But park visitation remains available at your leisure and absolutely free. We hope to see you in the parks this fall!

Pumpkins & Piranhas SEAsonal Fun Days at Greater Cleveland Aquarium

The Greater Cleveland Aquarium is adding new Pumpkins & Piranhas SEAsonal Fun Days on Thursdays & Fridays, October 22, 23, 29 & 30 from 10 am – 7 pm (last admission at 6pm). The Halloween celebration includes added evening hours, underwater pumpkin decorations, costumed staffers and divers and pop-up SEAsonally themed enrichment in the Tropical Forest aviary, as well as “I Spy” and not-so spooky animal fact activities and a take-home bag for children containing a pumpkin craft, stickers, a temporary tattoo, a Captain NEO activity book, a treat and coloring contest.

“This year will be different, but we’re excited to still be able to give guests of all ages the opportunity to get in costume—without a coat or an umbrella—and enjoy a warm, indoor and socially distanced Aquarium experience,” says GM Stephanie White. “Hauntaquarium is absolutely one of our favorite events and we look forward to its return in future years, but we’re simply unable to execute a large-scale trick-or-treat party at this point in time.”

The Aquarium’s daily clean committed protocols will remain in place during Pumpkins & Piranhas, including one-way traffic, additional sanitization stations, timed entry and masks for everyone over the age of 2. The Aquarium asks that guests purchase advance tickets. “We’d hate to disappoint anyone who came out in costume on a sold-out day,” says White. “We’ve dramatically reduced our daily capacity to give you the opportunity to get up-close views of piranhas, moray eels, flashlight fish, poison dart frogs, pufferfish, Surinam toads, sea lampreys and other creepy cool creatures without getting close to other guests.”

Pumpkins & Piranhas SEAsonal Fun Days are included with regular Aquarium admission ($19.95 ages 13+, $13.95 ages 2-12, under 2 and annual passholders free). Tickets go on sale Monday, October 12, 2020.

Limited attendance, a clean and safe protocol, and mandatory mask wearing for guests over the age of 2 makes for a safe experience. Tickets required!

The event will be held Saturday,

Please note: Face masks covering the nose and mouth are required for all guests over the age of 2 during this event to ensure everyone's safety. # Local Girl Scout receives national life-saving award

Girl Scout Cadette Natalie Bair, 12, of northeast Ohio, was awarded the Girl Scouts of the USA (GSUSA) medal of honor for saving the life of her younger brother during a car ride. The medal of honor is given only to those Girl Scouts who display heroic acts beyond their degree of maturity and training.

Natalie was awarded the medal of honor along with a congratulatory letter from GSUSA's CEO, Sylvia Acevedo. She is being recognized for saving her half-brother, Milo, from choking in the car. Milo was only 17 months old when Natalie saved him.

While driving south on 1-71, Natalie and her family were headed toward Mansfield. Milo started to choke on a cracker while Natalie's mom, Joyce, was driving. Natalie was in the back seat of the van, noticed her brother was choking, and immediately notified her mom who was unable to pull over immediately. Natalie took matters into her own hands by undoing the car seat Milo was in, taking him out, turning him over, and hitting his back until the cracker came out.

"I tried to find a place to pull over, but it happened so fast. She took care of the situation [so quickly] that I didn't have to stop," said Joyce, in a letter to GSUSA.

Natalie remained calm and quick-thinking to save her brother from choking on the cracker.

"It takes courage to do what she did without hesitation," said GSNEO Chief Executive Officer Jane Christyson. "Natalie's actions saved her brother's life and for that, we are happy to present her with this national award."

Girl Scouts have been honored since 1913 for meritorious deeds that helped save lives. Training in health and safety is a part of the Girl Scout program. A Girl Scout, because of the Promise, Law, motto, and slogan to which she has subscribed, is expected to be resourceful, skilled, and competent – to have presence of mind and to be of service to others. Each situation has many unique factors, and many things are taken into consideration for determining if an act is of unusual bravery beyond that which is expected of a Girl Scout.

For more information on how to join a Girl Scout troop or volunteer, visit gsneo.org.

Just For Laughs!

Two grandmothers were bragging about their precious darlings. One of them says to the other, "Mine are so good at social distancing, they won't even call me."

Whose idea was it to sing "Happy Birthday" while washing your hands? Now every time I go to the bathroom, my kids expect me to walk out with a cake.

My husband purchased a world map and then gave me a dart and said, "Throw this and wherever it lands—that's where I'm taking you when this pandemic ends." Turns out, we're spending two weeks behind the fridge.

My mom always told me I wouldn't accomplish anything by lying in bed all day. But look at me now, ma! I'm saving the world!

Since we're all in quarantine I guess we'll be making only inside jokes from now on.

I'm not talking to myself, I'm having a parent-teacher conference.

Day 121 at home and the dog is looking at me like, "See? This is why I chew the furniture!"

PRIVATE SCHOOL guide

Finding the right private school for your family

By Jan Pierce

You want a top-notch education for your children and choosing the perfect school is probably one of the biggest decisions you'll ever make. Depending on your location, you may find your public schools offer everything you want. If not, you'll need to embark on a search for the right private school.

In general, private schools exist to provide smaller class sizes with greater individual attention to each student and a safe, focused environment free of discipline problems. They tend to set a higher bar than public schools in academics, and build a culture of shared values. They offer a strong sense of community and may tailor lessons to the needs of the student.

In reality, each private school is a world unto itself. It may or may not hold accreditation with a national education association, or hire credentialed teachers. It may have many extracurricular offerings or just a few. It may charge a very large tuition plus additional fees, or may be more affordable, offering scholarships and sliding scales. It may have a long history in your community or be a brand new charter school.

To find the right private school for you, you'll need to consider the following:

1. What are your educational priorities?

Some private schools are faith-based and some are not. You'll want to decide as a family your basic priorities. Is it most important to find high academic standards, or more important to support your family's faith? Do you expect accelerated programs such as advanced placement classes or extensive access to STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) programs? How important are extracurricular activities? Are you comfortable with homework policies and school rules?

2. What is the culture of the school?

In a faith-based setting the culture of the school will place religion at the forefront. There will be religious studies as part of the curriculum. The school may be all boys or all girls. Does this suit your goals? What is the relationship of staff to students? Is it casual and friendly, formal and strict? How are parents involved? What is the balance of academics to sports, the arts, clubs and other activities? Does the culture "feel right" for your children?

3. What role do parents play in the school?

Some private schools make great use of parent volunteer time and emphasize whole family participation in their programs. Others minimize parent involvement to occasional visits or conferences to report progress. Which best suits your family's needs?

4. What are the costs? Are there scholarships available?

It's a sacrifice to pay for your child's education when public schools are free. And there are huge variations in the expenses involved. When researching possible schools, be sure to check not only the tuitions, but also book fees, sports or other extracurricular expenses and possible transportation fees. Check on scholarships available and the possibility of a sliding scale based on family income.

5. Is the staff credentialed and the school accredited?

Some faith-based schools and newer charter schools don't require their teachers to be credentialed. How important is this to your family? In addition there are many different education associations nationwide offering accreditation. If a prospective school has received accreditation, they've shown the initiative to meet high standards.

6. Is the curriculum up to date?

In this technological age, you'll want to be sure your private school has kept up with the times. Do they offer appropriate college preparation standards in science, math, languages, writing and more? Do they offer a well-rounded education in art, drama and music? Are textbooks current and in good condition? Are computer labs or individual screens available to students?

7. How well do students transition into or out of the school?

If a particular school offers classes such as K-6 or K-8, do they work closely with a sister high school? What provisions are made to make a smooth transition from one school to another? If students transfer into the school either at the beginning of a year or mid-year, what provisions are made to welcome them? How do children fare when they need to move from this school to another?

Finding a private school from page 9

8. Does the school provide transportation?

Do buses transport students to school? Are they available for after-school activities? Does the school coordinate carpools? Are there extra expenses charged for transportation?

9. What is the school's reputation?

Most private schools have a reputation to uphold. Are they the best in college prep? Are they known for a friendly, family community spirit? Who do you know with firsthand information and experience with the school?

What recommendations can you find amongst friends and acquaintances?

10. Is the school open to visits and drop-in observations?

All schools need to make sure their campus is secure and will have procedures to follow when visiting. But as a parent, you want to feel comfortable visiting the building to observe or take care of business. You'll want to find a school that makes parents welcome and is proud to show them around.

When you've narrowed your search, be sure to take the time for a personal visit. Talk with an administrator, take the tour and gather any written information they've prepared for prospective students. Discuss pertinent questions and voice any concerns you may have about your child's specific needs. Above all, gauge your "feel" of the school. Is it the right place for you and your family?

Youth group mission trip takes a new track

The Lake County Board of Developmental Disabilities (LCBDD)/Deepwood partnered with St. Gabriel's Catholic Church when their local youth group needed to change tracks for their annual mission trip.

"When the coronavirus pandemic ended the kids' opportunity to go out of state to participate in a mission program, they were upset to say the least," said St. Gabriel's Youth Group Advisor Veronica Huber. "The staff at the LCBDD/Deepwood were so kind to give us the opportunity to spend the day sprucing up their recreation site."

Huber arrived alongside nine youth at the LCBDD/Deepwood recreation site in Mentor this summer, donned with protective face masks, gloves and sanitizer prepared to clean windows and traverse the walking trails to clear debris and weeds.

"Our desire is to ensure that volunteers leave with heightened awareness about individuals who have disabilities and an understanding regarding the value and benefit of their volunteer efforts," said Lynnmarie Landwei-Phillips, LCBDD public relations director.

"Everyone seemed to enjoy giving back to their community and it was uplifting to observe their laughter and happiness as they worked," added Landwei-Phillips. "Mr. Parsons even had his backpack leaf blower and was thrilled that he got to put it to good use!"

"It's nice to know that I'm a small piece of helping the big community while having lots of fun doing it," said youth group member Cameryn Brandestas.

Those interested in learning more about the LCBDD/Deepwood's programs and services can visit them online at www.lakebdd.org.

Mentor children can get free books from Dolly Parton's Imagination Library

Families with young children in Mentor, Mentor-on-the-Lake and Concord Township can now get picture books mailed to their house for free thanks to United Way of Lake County, its Emerging Leaders affinity group, The Literacy Cooperative, Mentor Public Library and Dolly Parton.

Children younger than five in those communities can now receive free high-quality, brand-new, age-appropriate books from Dolly Parton's Imagination Library. Once the kids are signed up, they'll have one book mailed to their home each month until they turn 5 years old.

And those free books can make a big difference for children as they prepare for kindergarten and life.

"Evidence shows that participation in Dolly Parton's Imagination Library increases family reading and children's interest in books leading to improved preparation for kindergarten," said Robert Paponetti, president & CEO of The Literacy Cooperative.

And, in Lake County, 52 percent of children enter kindergarten without sufficient skills, knowledge and abilities to engage in kindergarten-level instruction.

Families can register to receive books at www.ohioimaginationlibrary.org or in person at one of Mentor Public Library's branches.

Dolly Parton began the Imagination Library in her hometown of Sevier County, Tennessee, in 1995. It was her way of encouraging reading and childhood literacy. In the past 25 years, the program has spread across the country and even to United Kingdom and more.

Touch deprivation: the why behind your unexplained sadness

By Judy Gaman

The skin is the largest organ in the body. It has millions of touch receptors that send signals to the brain each time you touch something or somebody or they touch you. This exchange of information, especially when it involves another human, is accompanied by a neurochemical reaction within the body.

Unfortunately, there is also a different neurochemical reaction that takes place in the absence of touch. It's an understatement to say that we like human connection, the truth is that we need it.

As much as we need human touch, it's the one thing we all seem to be lacking. Between the initial stay-at-home orders and now the social distancing, most people are feeling the effects of touch deprivation. Some people have even expressed a sense of jealousy when seeing people touch in movies or on television shows.

That's because touch is so vital to our ability to thrive.

The scientific argument for the necessity for touch has been proven in multiple research studies, including one where premature babies were massaged for 15 minutes a day, a practice that seemed foreign to the rules of neonatal ICU. This study found that the infants that had regular human contact with massage gained weight 47% faster with no change in nutritional supplementation.

These babies also had more advanced motor skills months later. This is in keeping with the studies that followed WWII where orphaned children, although clothed and fed, failed to thrive. Human touch is a basic necessity to growth and life.

For those that have lived alone during the pandemic, their risk for depression and even suicide is significantly increased. But, you don't have to be living alone to be feeling as if something significant is missing in your life.

Research on adults shows that touch actually calms the body and brain, making us more compassionate. In a time where compassion is lacking and emotions are high, it could be said that the lack of touch is fueling the fire. Oxytocin, the feel good hormone that comes with touch, normally acts as a fire extinguisher when tempers flare.

While nothing can replace the need for human contact, whether it be a hug from a friend, a pat on the back from a coworker, or a simple handshake, these tips may help keep your touch receptors busy while we all await the green light to normalcy.

- Take a warm bubble bath. The sensation of the bubbles will activate touch receptors all over the body.
- Place a blanket or towel in the dryer and then wrap yourself in it until it reaches room temperature again.
- Pet your cat or dog. If you don't have one, consider getting a pet.
- Go out of your way to give those in your household some extra love taps. Giving a hug is beneficial to both the one giving it and the one receiving it
- Pick a night of the week and make it massage night. The massage will increase oxytocin levels, which in turn will improve mood and your relationship.

November is National Adoption Awareness Month

Each year, November is recognized as National Adoption Awareness Month. While all adoption-related issues are important, the public child welfare system focuses on children who are in foster care and in need of "forever families."

Adoption services have grown in scope over the years and have helped children grow up in safe and loving homes, providing them with a solid foundation in life.

The first major effort to promote awareness of the need for adoptive families for children in the foster care system occurred in Massachusetts. In 1976, then-Governor Mike Dukakis proclaimed Adoption Week and the idea grew in popularity and spread throughout the nation. President Gerald Ford made the first National Adoption Week proclamation, and in 1990, the week was expanded to a month due to the number of states participating in the week celebration.

During November, states, communities, public and private organizations, businesses, families and individuals celebrate adoption as a positive way to build families.

Many people in Lake County are becoming adoptive parents yearly. Over the last 3½ years, Lake County Department of Job and Family Services found forever families for 41 children.

This November, please take a moment to recognize and celebrate the families who have come together through adoption!

For more information about adoption please call the Lake County Department of Job and Family Service at (440) 350-4218 or visit them online at www.lakecountyohio.gov/lcojfs. You can change a child's life, as well as your own!

Common HVAC & plumbing bad habits

Six tips to help you save money

By Benjamin Franklin Plumbing & DeBord's One Hour HVAC

Taking proper care of your HVAC and plumbing is essential to maintaining high efficiency and avoiding future costly maintenance. There are a variety of bad habits that homeowners can unintentionally have regarding their HVAC system and plumbing. These common mistakes can add up over time if you are not careful.

Not changing your filter: There are a variety of issues that stem from not changing your filter including inefficiency and rising energy bills. Most homeowners are unaware that the air filter for the HVAC system should be replaced around once every other month, depending on usage. If your filter is not replaced, it can become clogged with dirt, dust, and debris. A clogged air filter can even damage essential parts of your HVAC unit, which can result in costly fixes.

No regular maintenance: Forgoing regular maintenance on your HVAC system may seem like an easy way to cut costs, but the damage of doing so can quickly add up over time. Catching any issues with your unit early can help prevent long-lasting damage, as well as ensure that your unit is running at maximum efficiency.

Blocking airflow: Proper airflow is one of the most important things that your HVAC system requires to function efficiently. If this airflow is blocked, multiple issues can arise. Many homeowners are tempted to hide their outdoor HVAC units with plants and shrubs to boost curb appeal. However, placing plants too near the unit can disrupt the ventilation. Plants could also become a home for pests and rodents, which can damage the unit as well. Air flow can also be blocked by furniture, not just foliage, so be sure to keep any lawn chairs or other items away from your system.

Actively look for drips: Drips add up over time—and can also signal a larger problem at hand. Loose valves, cracked pipes, or even flooding are all issues that a few small drips can warn homeowners about. These issues, if left untreated, are far more costly than a simple leak. Dripping water can slowly add up in your energy bill. The water can also cause harmful mold to grow if not handled quickly.

Upgrade your water heater: Heating water requires a lot of energy. By upgrading to a more effective, energy-efficient model, you can save a lot of money over time. Water heater models that are over 10 years old might be due for a replacement soon. A good model to consider is an on-demand water heater, which quickly heats water when necessary, rather than continuously heating water throughout the day.

Check your water meter: Take a quick look over your water meter to be sure that your water flow is running normally. Located somewhere accessible outside of your home, your water meter indicates water usage. If water is not running to your home but the meter indicates water is still flowing, that can often be a sign of a major water leak somewhere in your pipes.
