Medway resident starts postcard business focusing on humor and history

Collaborates with Medway Historical Commission to feature high school sports from early 1900s

By Theresa Knapp

Vol. 12 No. 12

Have you considered starting the year with sending a postcard to an old friend? Perhaps you've been meaning to drop a quick note to someone who might be feeling lonely, or maybe a note to a childhood friend (with a photo of them from high school)?

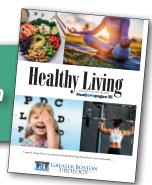

If so, Medway resident Gregory Almont Green has the answer: www.aFunnyPostcard. com - a service aimed at helping people restart the practice of sending and receiving postcards through the mail, especially to seniors living alone or in assisted living facilities.

Green's project was inspired by Dr. Hunter "Patch" Adams, the American physician, comedian, social activist, clown, author, founder of "Gesundheit! Institute," and inspiration for the 1998 movie "Patch Adams" featuring Robin Williams (www. patchadams.org).

Millis Public Schools' Spanish Immersion Program celebrates 26 years

Program started in 1996 continues to benefit entire district

By Theresa Knapp

Nearly 20 percent of the students at Millis High School are part of the Millis Public School district's Spanish Immersion Program, and they began their journey in first grade at the Clyde Brown Elementary School, says MHS principal Mark Awdycki.

Adria Osborne is a first grade teacher at Clyde Brown; she initiated the immersion program in 1996 under then-Superintendent Caroline White, who had experience in a previous district with a French immersion program and wanted to bring a similar program

Osborne said a committee visited local immersion programs

Green says, "It is incredibly therapeutic to receive a funny postcard and laugh. It is therapeutic to share a joke with someone. It is therapeutic to write a short message and mail a funny postcard to someone. The whole process delivers therapeutic doses of laughter that are desperately needed. I've seen it work first hand and I'm doing this simply because it is something that can make a difference."

Green's service includes a set of 12 funny postcards that arrive pre-stamped and ready to be addressed and sent to a friend within minutes. He has compiled over 400 short jokes that appear on cards designed to look like roadside signs with removable letters.

Green says some of the jokes can "elicit a groan but it is still all in good fun" and notes each post-card is unique and "can be used to assess cognitive capability in a friendly and thoughtful manner."

Collaboration with Medway Historical Society

Green is also working with the Medway Historical Society to create postcards that feature historic images in their collection. His first batch features individual players from Medway High School sports in the early 1900s.

Green uses modern technology to zoom in on an individual so their face can be recognized on the front of the postcard, and information about the subject is listed on the back of the card.

Proceeds from the sale of the historical postcards go to the Medway Historical Society and towards research on cognitive impairment.

He is also working with Franklin and Plainville on similar projects.

Seeking local display space

Green says he is hoping to partner with local retail establishments who are willing to feature a rack of the postcards for purchase.

For more information, contact Green at info@aFunnyPostcard. com, or visit www.aFunnyPostcard.com and http://almontgreen.com/mhs2.mp4.

Individual postcards are $2 and $3 each, and each set of 12 funny postcards is $14.99 with free shipping and satisfaction guaranteed.

before deciding to initiate the Spanish program in Millis. She had been interested in starting such a program for many years.

"My mother was from another country and I grew up surrounded by various languages and cultures, inventing my own 'language' as a child," Osborne explained. "When I heard about the first Spanish immersion program in the United States in California many years ago, I made the determination that I would someday start a program that mirrored the features of that program."

Osborne also became interested in English as a Second Language after her grandmother was ridiculed in a supermarket when she stumbled over the English word for 'plastic bag.' After that incident, Osborne decided to become an ESL/ELL teacher with a focus on immersion education. During her career, she has taught and directed ESL/ELL programs, and worked in bilingual education and heritage language programs.

Osborne says her experience with the immersion program in Millis over the past 26 years has been one of supportive families and staff. She says the working relationship the district has with Tanna Jango has been the principal at Clyde Brown Elementary School for two years. She says she applied for the position, in part, because of the immersion program.

Your Money, Your Independence

Resolutions Gone Bad: Rein In Your New Year

Making New Year's resolutions to improve your financial wellness in 2022?

Let's help you start by recognizing questionable resolutions, including three destined for failure plus what should be considered for successful planning outcomes.

Bad Resolution: Need to start buying some "X" to make more money.

Please, tell me more. If due to FOMO (Fear Of Missing Out) or based on this year's performance, give pause.

Yes, momentum, innovation, social & macro themes, niche' and/or value could be part of your investing strategy, but let's back up - do you have a strategy?

Is a core of low-cost, diversified index funds present to allow for explore ideas like X? How does X correlate with what is already owned? Impact on overall risk? Without mentioning performance, can you articulate why you own X and when wouldn't own X?

Better Resolution: Need to save _% and take____ risk with investments to reach _ goal.

To truly build assets, you need to save a specific percentage each year, take opportunistic or measured risks AND invest towards your established goal, not an investment benchmark or The Joneses.

Bad Resolution: Pay down debt. Sounds important, but is it? It depends. Tax deductions, interest rates, duration, fixed or variable, inflation, deflation, and depreciation ensure all debt is not equal.

Better Resolution: Execute a debt reduction plan.

Access all debt, then prioritze on high-interest debt, variable rates, and unsecured. If down to a 3% of lower mortgage, 2% auto loans, and a MassSave at 0%, then maintain required payments, reap benefits of low, fixed rates in an inflationary environment and allocate towards investments outpacing inflation.

An exception, if not at $\sim 40\%$ home equity ownership, can make a case to get there and open a HELOC. Beyond flexibility to access equity built and lower total interest paid, can eliminate the opportunity costs of a large cash position for the "what ifs" in life.

Bad Resolution: Do more for my retirement.

Buy a lottery ticket, as greater chance of success than this vague "lose weight" resolution tossed by January 10th.

Better Resolution: How do I retire at 55 or semi-retire in 5 years.

Now you're analyzing cash flows, balance sheet, contribution rates, investment allocations, taxation, work benefits, college funding, planning for the unexpected and desired lifestyle with expenses in retirement. You'll establish a set of base facts, allowing to then create scenarios, see projections, reverse engineer action steps, and track goals within timelines.

Aggressive timelines creates urgency, leading to actions that bring you closer the ultimate retirement accomplishment choice.

How to ensure resolutions are not misguided, outdated, or simply unrealistic?

Use common sense, socialize with your spouse, and/or leverage an accountability partner (i.e. Certified Financial Planner) to make your 2022 resolutions Immersion Program [in the Medon-Upton school district]. I had the advantage of understanding SI from the parent perspective as well as the educational benefits it affords to students."

Jango says the program enriches the lives of the students involved in the program as well as the culture of the school. "In our morning message video each day, one of our immersion students introduces our school to a word in Spanish and states the corresponding English word." She says the elementary school is also creating a "multicultural display with artifacts from some of the Spanish-speaking countries our families or staff come from."

Millis Public Schools Superintendent Robert Mullaney says the district's three schools - Clyde Brown Elementary School, Millis Middle School, and Millis High School - are all recognized as International Spanish Academies, a network of schools that partner with the Ministry of Education, Social Policy, and Sport of Spain that ensures an "exemplary standard of quality and sharing of best practices and resources.

Mullaney says the district has a firm belief in the benefits of students being bilingual as it "strengthens listening skills, correlates to high academic performance in both high school and college, enhances cultural awareness and respect for diversity, and provides more options for employment. Our immersion seniors are able to document a unique educational experience that sets them apart when competing for scholarships or college admission."

Mullaney says, "The immersion program has also strengthened our traditional Spanish learning program as both Immersion and non-Immersion students are eligible to take Advanced Placement Spanish Language in their senior year. Over the past five years, one out of every three seniors took AP Spanish (last year 36% of our seniors took AP Spanish with a 94% passing rate).

MHS Principal Awdycki says the "assistants' first-hand knowledge of the culture and history of Spain, coupled with their native speaking abilities, provide our students and teachers with authentic learning experiences and interactions. In turn, we are able to give the assistants the teaching and cultural experiences they are looking for in an American public school. We are as excited to learn from them as they are from us. It's become a crucial part of our program at all levels, and our entire school community benefits from this incredible program."

For more information on the program, contact Mullaney at rmullaney@millisschools.org.

Medway fifth grader launches next weather balloon

In 2021, we profiled Max Kendall, now a fifth grader, who started a club at the Medway Public Library to share his passion for weather balloons. To date, he has created and launched three weather balloons, the most recent in October; he is now creating a fourth with the Medway Balloon Society.

For details about the flight, visit https://bit.ly/30MKYHt where you can hear Max's full report on this experiment.

"Overall, WB3 was a huge success," Max tells his viewers on YouTube.

According to his mother Jennifer, key features of WB3 included:

Eight Medway High School Students Accepted to Central District Senior Concert Festival

Principal John Murray is pleased to announce that eight Medway High School chorus and band students have been accepted to attend the Massachusetts Music Educators Association (MMEA) Central District Senior Concert Festival.

Student musicians from across Central Massachusetts were invited to audition for the festival by submitting a video performance.

Medway High School students Matt Bullard, Rebecca Chleboski, Liv Dwyer, Lucas Farlow, Sienna Flotta and Grace Gerard were invited to the Senior Concert Festival for chorus. Abigail Brown, who plays trumpet, and William George, who plays clarinet, were invited to the Festival for band.

Gerard, Dwyer, Farlow, Bullard and George also received scores that qualify them to audition for the MMEA All-State Festival ensembles later this winter.

"Congratulations to this group of student musicians on their successful auditions," Principal Murray said. "It is a valuable experience for our students to participate in the festival and work with instructors and students from around the region, and we look forward to seeing our students perform as part of the Senior Concert Festival each year."

The Central District Senior Concert Festival will be virtual once again in 2022. Though additional details are still being confirmed, students will receive music to participate in a virtual rehearsal. They will then submit a recording of their part following the virtual rehearsal and the recordings will later be combined into a full virtual performance.

Medway Middle School Students Receive Design Thinking Award in Mass STEM Hub Online Industry Challenge

Principal Amanda Luizzi is pleased to announce that three Medway Middle School students were chosen by industry professionals to be recognized in the Mass STEM Hub Online Industry Challenge.

Eighth grade students Claire Mullen, Eva Miranda and Colleen Layton worked together to design products that help people who are paralyzed get both large and small items from their refrigerators with greater ease. Their project submission was selected to receive the Design Thinking

The students were presented with a certificate from Mass STEM Hub by Medway Middle School teachers Cerissa Gatewood and Erin Albertian on Thursday, Dec. 2.

As the challenge winners, Mullen, Layton and Miranda will also each receive a Rocketbook Smart Notebook.

As part of their project, the students identified the challenges they were attempting to address, designed product prototypes, tested their effectiveness and made adjustments as necessary.

This work was submitted to the Mass STEM Hub Student Industry Connects for Massachusetts STEM Week. The project impressed the industry professionals who reviewed student work from across the Commonwealth with one professional noting that the team did a great job working to improve their design through trial and error testing. This is Mullen's and Layton's second time entering a project for Mass STEM week, and Miranda's first.

"We are proud to have such creative, hardworking and talented young designers at our school and this is a terrific achievement for Claire, Eva and Colleen," Principal Luizzi said. "The Mass STEM Hub Student Industry Connects is an excellent opportunity for our students to practice their problem-solving skills and build on what they've learned in the classroom, as well as receive valuable feedback from industry professionals."

In all, nine Medway Middle School students submitted projects to the Mass STEM Hub Student Industry Connects. Each student who submitted a project worked every day after school for an hour and a half during Massachusetts STEM Week to finalize their project.

Tri-County Regional Vocational Technical High School Welcomes Guest Panel to Speak to Freshman

Tri-County Freshman Participated in a Discussion with Inspiring Local Speakers with Non-Traditional Careers

Source: Tri-County Regional Vocational Technical High School.

Tri-County Regional Vocational Technical High School welcomed a panel of eight speakers, four of whom are alum who are in non-traditional careers, on Dec. 1, 2021. A non-traditional career is defined by the U.S. Department of Labor as an occupation in which individuals from one gender comprise less than 25 percent of the individuals employed in such occupation.

The panel included an early educator, firefighter/paramedic, plumber, police officer, cosmetologist, engineer, salon owner, and dental assistant.

Each panelist had the opportunity to speak about what and who inspired them to pursue their careers, what a typical day at work looks like, the positive and negative aspects of having a non-traditional career, and offered advice to students who are interested in pursuing a career in a non-traditional role.

Salon owner Ken Tracy was encouraged by his high school guidance counselor to attend Malden School for Girls in the 1960s and during the visit his passion was ignited. He noted that in his early days as a hair stylist his friends would ask him why. After he became a salon owner and found success in the profession he loved, his friends apologized for the negative comments they had made.

Many of the panelists noted the positives of being in a non-traditional career. For the early childhood educator, he has found that male students flock to him as one of the only male teachers and seem to find it easier to make a connection with him. The mechanical engineer noted that she was frequently the only female on a team and was called upon to work on machines because her smaller hands were able to fit into spaces her male counterparts could not. The female police sergeant noted that her communication skills and compassion has allowed her to defuse tension during calls. After the discussion, students were able to ask questions of the panel and the freshman had thoughtful queries to help them understand if they would like to pursue a non-traditional career.

Medway High School Arts Department Holds Winter Concert and Art Exhibit

Principal John Murray is pleased to share that the Medway High School Fine and Performing Arts Department held its Winter Concert and Art Exhibit this week.

On Wednesday, Dec. 8, the Concert Band and Choral Ensembles performed several pieces for community members. There were 47 student performers in the Concert Band, 26 in the Overtones ensemble and nine in the Undertones ensemble. Student performers from all grades were represented in the ensembles.

Under the direction of Amanda Webster, the Concert Band performed "Among the Clouds," a wind piece that is inspired by lucid dreams. These dreams are said to occur more often in people who are especially creative and imaginative. Some dreamers are even said to be aware that they are dreaming, and are then able to control their actions in the dream.

The band also performed "A Showstoppin' Christmas," a medley of Christmas classics.

Among the pieces performed by the Undertones, under the direction of Ashley Nelson-Oneschuk and with the assistance of pianist Julia Carey, was "Stars I Shall Find." The piece is based off of poetry by Sara Teasdale and was said to be an example of Teasdale's wistful yet sorrowful perspective on life.

The Overtones performed "Al Shlosha D'Varim." The Hebrew lyrics are taken from the text Pirkei Avot (Jewish Moral Code). The words translated mean, "The world is sustained by three things: truth, justice, and peace."

The Overtones also performed a traditional Cherokee piece, called "Morning Song," which is a prayer to the rising of the sun and also includes a melody from the song "Amazing Grace." The song incorporated a hand drum, flute and shaker.

In preparation to perform "Morning Song," Heather Moretz, a Mi'kmaq descendant and member of the United Native American Cultural Center (UNACC), did a virtual workshop with the Overtones on Nov. 30. Moretz leads the UNACC women's hand drum group, The Morningstar Singers, and is a veteran choral educator with the Natick

Public Schools. Moretz spoke with the students about Native American heritage, traditions and music, including the importance of connection to the land and all living creatures; the power of song and how it is a prayer with no composer as the song is "given" to tribe members from a higher power; and the differences in traditions and songs between tribal nations.

The choral ensembles Wednesday evening also performed selections from the standard choral repertoire, including traditional concert pieces, rounds and a sea chanty. The combined choirs sang the traditional carol "Do You Hear What I Hear?" In addition to the vocalists, the piece featured student musicians from the band on the saxophone, drum set and various percussion instruments.

An art walk was also held featuring student pieces that were completed throughout the semester. The exhibit included dozens of pieces by students from all grades.

Pieces that were on display were completed in the Ceramics 1, Foundations of Art, Drawing and Painting, Fine Arts, Ad-

The art walk was arranged in the main lobby of the high school on tables, display boards and bulletin boards for community members to peruse during the event.

"The Winter Concert and Art Exhibit is a wonderful event that showcases all of our students' talents and hard work in the fine and performing arts for their families and peers," Principal Murray said. "Congratulations to our students and teachers Amanda Webster, Ashley Nelson-Oneschuk, Noelle Jackson and Maureen Brodeur on a successful event."

New Year • New You 2022 Giveaway!

By GINA WOELFEL

Different cultures from around the world welcome the change of the calendar with unique traditions all their own.

In Spain, it's customary to eat 12 grapes at midnight, one for each stroke of the clock. Each grape represents a wish of good luck for the coming months of the year.

In Denmark, plates and glasses are thrown at the front doors of close family and friends to banish bad spirits away.

In Scotland, the first person to cross the threshold of a home in the New Year should carry a gift for good luck.

And in Ireland, there's a beautiful tradition of opening the back door to the house just before midnight to "let the Old Year out" and opening the front door to "let the New Year in".

As many of you know, b.LUXE owner Heather Cohen is a true New Year's baby and was the first child born in Boston on January 1st, 1976!

"I love to travel somewhere warm and tranquil for my birthday. I don't go out or do much while I'm there, it's really my time to reflect, reset and look ahead. I love to read on the beach and watch the crystal blue waves crash over the sand. If I'm carrying any tension or stress from the previous year, I let it all go. I give everything I have to my business and love working with my team, but every once in a while, I need to take some personal time to regroup and set new goals. This time away let's me reboot and return filled with inspiration and a renewed sense of excitement for the coming year." - Heather 2021 was a remarkable year for b.LUXE. We achieved so many of our personal goals and worked collaboratively to push the studio to the top of the beauty industry! It's time to celebrate and start our own New Year's tradition with you!

In lieu of throwing plates at your front door, we've come up with a wonderful way to ring in the New Year and usher in a fantastic 2022!

How does a HUGE giveaway valued at $1000 sound? Pretty amazing, right?

Let's celebrate Heather's birthday together!

Glaucoma Treatment: DURYSTA

Commonly Asked Questions

By: Roger M. Kaldawy, M.D. Milford Franklin Eye Center

Glaucoma is a condition that can damage our field of vision. It affects us when the pressure inside the eye is higher than what the eye can tolerate. Glaucoma is treatable with drops targeted at lowering the eye pressure. There are patients who have problems remembering to use the drops and sometimes the preservative in the drop cause irritation, redness and intolerance to the drops. In other instances, one can be traveling and forget to carry the eye drops during the trip. In those instances, a novel treatment using DURYSTA glaucoma implants can help manage the pressure while reducing or eliminating the need for drops.

What is Durysta?

Durysta is a breakthrough in the treatment of open-angle glaucoma and ocular hypertension with FDA approval. Durysta (made by Allergan) will be a game-changer for those patients who have difficulty taking daily medicated eye drops for glaucoma because it frees patients from having to apply drops altogether.

How does Durysta work?

Durysta is the first biodegradable sustained-release implant that continuously delivers Bimatoprost, a prostaglandin analog, within the eye that helps reduce and maintain healthy eye pressure levels. The preservative-free medication is housed within a tiny rod-shaped cartridge that is inserted in the eye's anterior chamber by an ophthalmologist during a safe 5-minute office procedure.

The implant comes preloaded with 10 mcg of Bimatoprost in a single-use applicator that your ophthalmologist uses to inject the implant directly into the front side of your eye. This means that the drug delivery system is a one-time use sterile applicator used on you and you alone.

The bimatoprost implant is biodegradable and breaks down naturally over time, so you do not require another procedure to remove the delivery system. It simply dissolves and is eliminated by your body. In fact, most patients continue to have controlled intraocular pressure levels even after Durysta has broken down.

How long does Durysta

The great news for patients with open-angle glaucoma and ocular hypertension is that the Durysta implant is designed to last up to 6 months. However, most patients continue to have controlled intraocular pressure levels after Durysta has broken down. This means you'll continue to benefit from Durysta for months and sometimes a year or 2 later. Meanwhile, you'll be free from having to deal with inserting eye drops and worrying about whether the correct amount of medication actually got into your eye.

Who is a candidate for Durysta?

Durysta is indicated for people diagnosed with open-angle glaucoma and ocular hypertension. That said, not everyone is an ideal candidate for Durysta and it is contraindicated under the following circumstances:

If you have an infection within or surrounding your eye

If you have undergone a corneal transplant

If you are diagnosed with corneal endothelial cell dystrophy

If your posterior lens capsule is ruptured or absent

If you are allergic to bimatoprost or to the components of the implant

What are the side effects of Durysta?

As with any medication, clinical trials have shown that some people can experience side effects from Durysta. However, the interesting thing about the Durysta trials was that patients who were randomized to receive Durysta actually experienced fewer side effects than the control group patients taking standard glaucoma eye drops.

It's highly unusual for a new medication to exhibit fewer side effects than the standard medicine it's being compared to, but that's exactly what happened with Durysta. The Durysta patients had fewer complaints and tolerated the medication better than the patients using traditional glaucoma eye drops. Fewer side effects and better eye pressure control make for a compelling argument to consider switching to Durysta.

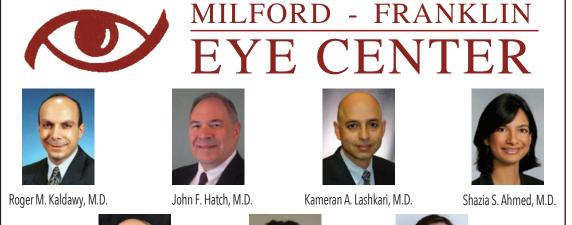

Some adverse events for Durysta patients can include:

- Eye redness
- Eye irritation
- Eye pain
- A foreign body sensation within the eye
- Light sensitivity (photophobia)
- Blurred vision
- Headache
- Conjunctival hemorrhage
- Iritis
- Increased intraocular pressure

This is not a complete list of side effects and others may occur. Also, the safety of taking Durysta during pregnancy has not been studied.

Gary Mirliss Memorial Blood Drive in early January

The 18th Annual Gary Mirliss Memorial Blood Drive will take place at Lake Pearl, 299 Creek Street in Wrentham on Jan. 7 from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Jan. 8 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Mirliss family, in partnership with Brigham and Women's Hospital, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, and Children's Hospital Boston are hosting a Blood Drive, in memory of the late Gary Mirliss.

While blood is always needed and there is generally a lull in donations around the holiday season, this year is especially dire. The American Red Cross recently issued a public call to action due to a plummeting national inventory of blood donations forcing the cancellation of surgeries and other medical procedures.

Spots are filling up fast! Walk-ins will be accommodated on a first come first serve basis so we recommend that you make an appointment. For Jan. 7, visit https://bit.ly/3FnNZgw. For Jan. 8, visit https://bit.ly/3GS8ZMC. For more information, contact GM.Memorial.

MassNAELA Honors State Representative Brian Murray and Other Civic Leaders at Annual Meeting

Awards Legislative and Chapter Leaders For Their Advocacy For Seniors; Presents Representative Murray with the Legislator of the Year Award

At its annual meeting held virtually on December 9, 2021, the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys (MassNAELA) honored several individuals for their advocacy of elder services and their commitment to raising awareness of legal issues affecting seniors. Massachusetts State Representative Brian Murray was named the Legislator of the Year for his support and efforts toward passage of legislation that protects seniors, specifically the Life Estate Value legislation.

Evelyn Patsos, Deputy Legal Counsel at the Administrative Office of the Probate and Family Court Department received the Arthur Stavisky Award, an honor MassNAELA bestows each year to a person who has dedicated themselves to promoting elder causes in the community. Patsos was instrumental in helping the state obtain a federal Elder Justice Innovation grant for $1M.

"Attorney Evelyn Patsos is a valued member of our administrative office legal staff and is passionate about protecting our most vulnerable individuals including the elderly and incapacitated," said John D. Casey, Chief Justice of the Probate and Family Court. "In addition to maintaining her regular workload, Evelyn spent hundreds of hours before and after work and on weekends to ensure that the application was completed and submitted on time. Evelyn's dedication and commitment to the creation of an office of oversight will benefit our elder population and their families for decades to come."

MassNAELA member, Alexis Levitt, Norwell, MA, was presented the Deborah H. Thomson Advocacy Award, which recognizes a MassNAELA member's efforts in advocating for elder issues in state government. Ms. Levitt worked tirelessly on both the state and federal level to advance the Community Care bill, which would allow seniors who are over the income limit for PACE and FEW elder programs to qualify by paying a premium with their excess income.

The John J. Ford Litigation Advocacy Award, which honors a member's efforts to educate the chapter membership relative to litigation strategies, was bestowed to Patrick Curley, Wakefield, MA, for his dedicated efforts with Mass-NAELA's amicus workgroup.

Each year, MassNAELA recognizes chapter members for their commitment of time and energy to the chapter. The award for Outstanding Chapter Member of the Year was presented to Abigail Poole, Dedham, MA, for her commitment of time and energy to chapter events and committees.

The President's Award was bestowed to Karen Johnson, Westford, MA, for her service to and support of the chapter and its president. Pamela Greenfield, Needham, MA, received an award for her service and dedication as the 2021 chapter president. The following were honored as retiring members of the chapter board of directors: Brian Barreira, Plymouth, MA; Patricia Keane Martin, Wellesley, MA; Lisa Neeley, Worcester, MA; Laura Traiger, Worcester, MA; and Denise Yurkofsky, Wayland, MA.

The MassNAELA annual meeting also included the election of chapter officers and directors for the New Year. The 2022 officers include president, Cathleen Summers, Acton, MA; presidentelect, Abigail Poole; vice president, Michael Couture, Somerville, MA; treasurer, Steven Mann, Waltham, MA; clerk, Alexis Levitt; and immediate past president, Pamela Greenfield. Newly elected directors include Ashley Aubuchon, Newton, MA; Patrick Curley; Whitney Gagnon, Newington, NH; E. Spencer Ghazey-Bates, Northampton, MA; and Erin McBee, Harvard, MA.

The meeting also included a keynote address by NAELA president-elect, Roberta "Bobbi" Flowers, from Florida, who provided an overview of the current landscape and 2022 agenda of the national organization, including its upcoming efforts.

DA Morrissey warns not to use gift cards to pay debts

But if you did before reading this, here is how to freeze them

New guidance pushed out by the Federal Trade Commission last week says that telephone scammers are trying to dupe their targets into submitting payments using gift cards more than ever, and that overall losses continue to rise.

"We have seen these reports coming in to local police departments, substantiating what is being seen federally," District Attorney Michael W. Morrissey said. The FTC reported tracking $148 million in fraud in the first 9 months of 2021 – more than the total for all of 2020.

"The scams involve callers targeting unwitting people by pretending to be from the IRS, the Social Security Administration, a judicial official or common bank or business," District Attorney Morrissey said. "They claim that there is some immediate consequence, like an arrest warrant or fine, if payment is not made instantly—then they tell their target that the fastest way to pay is to buy gift cards and read those numbers over the phone."

The catch, according to Morrissey and law enforcement nationwide, is that legitimate companies never, ever do that. "In the moment, if the caller's threats make their adrenaline kick in and that warps their decision process, many have been tricked into complying," he said

Scammers are leaning hard on common brands like Target, Apple, Walmart, Google Play, and eBay gift cards.

While some companies, like eBay and Google Play need to be contacted through their online customer support mechanisms, some of the most commonly misused brands have toll free numbers for immediate help, including: iTunes at 888-275-2273 (say "gift card" to connect to a live person); Target at 1-800-544-2943; and Amazon at 1-888-280-4331.

Even if a consumer only realizes that they have been duped after they have read the gift card number to the person on the other end of the phone, if that consumer reaches the company before the card has been redeemed, the funds can often be frozen and eventually refunded to them. Having the card and the original receipt is important in that process.

Support your favorite charity with life insurance

As Americans, we can take pride in the fact that we are a nation of givers. And as the economy improves, charitable giving is on the rise. In fact, according to the National Philanthropic Trust in 2016 total charitable giving from U.S. individuals, corporations, foundations, and bequests exceeded $390 billion with 72% coming from individuals.¹

While money may be tight for many Americans, it's nice to know that there is a way to support a favorite charity without having to worry about the impact it could have on your budget. How? By giving the gift of life insurance. Here are just a few ways you can use this proven method to contribute money to your favorite causes:

- Donate an existing policy If you already have a policy and no longer need the death benefit, you can gift the policy to your desired charity, which may give you some tax benefits. The charity will receive the full benefit amount when you die.
- List the charity as a beneficiary — As the owner, you remain in control of your policy and can leave money to as many beneficiaries as you like: children, grand-children — even multiple charities. Or, you can name a single charity the sole beneficiary, and it will receive the entire amount.

Purchase a separate policy

 There are times when it makes sense to have separate policies: one for loved ones and one for charitable gifts.
 This technique can prove especially helpful if you would like to retain ownership of one policy, but not the other.

Create a Charitable Remainder Trust — While this planned-giving tool is designed to shelter appreciated assets such as stocks and real estate, you can also incorporate life insurance if it's set up properly. Be sure to consult a trusts and estates advisor before pursuing this approach.

Giving life insurance can be a lasting legacy to support causes dear to you. Depending on the method you choose, it may also offer a variety of tax benefits.

Millis Girls Quintet Aiming for More Success

By KEN HAMWEY Staff Sports Writer

Expectations are always high for the Millis High girls' basketball team, no matter what the talent level is.

Success creates high hopes and the Mohawks' program is no stranger to winning records or tourney prosperity. Millis has won three state championships, finished as state runners-up once, and has qualified for 12 playoff berths during coach Dave Fallon's 14 years on the job.

And, in spite of an abbreviated season last year because of COVID-19, the Mohawks battled all the obstacles, adhered to all the protocols, and posted a 10-2 record. Five seniors graduated from that contingent, and two of them (Abby Miller and Eryn Rice) likely would have been 1,000point scorers if the schedule included 20 games and the tournament has been played. Rice, a wing/forward, finished with 892 points and Miller, a point guard, had 877.

"We'll certainly miss their presence on the court, but more importantly we lost two amazing scholar-athletes and leaders for our school and community," Fallon said. "Abby is playing at Babson College and Eryn is competing at Bridgewater State. On the flipside, I know that many kids learned a lot from them and I look forward to seeing the next generation of leaders emerge."

The 2021-22 edition of the Mohawks is young but they possess enough strengths to achieve the goals Fallon wants to reach. His objectives include improving every day, contending for the Tri Valley League

Small Division title, qualifying for the playoffs and advancing as deep as possible.

"We're athletic, we've got speed and quickness, and our basketball IQ is high," Fallon noted. "I also like our resiliency and mental toughness. Our defensive ability is solid but we lack height and our scoring needs to improve. Our depth is okay and we have some experience, but not as much as I'd prefer."

Two experienced players Fallon can count on are his senior co-captains -- off-guards Julia Grattan and Caroline Mundy.

"Julia is a fine shooter, she's athletic, and plays strong defense," he said. "And, her instincts and court sense are good. Caroline is our fastest player and our best competitor on defense. Her hoop IQ is high and she reads the plays well. Both girls lead by example, are vocal, and very encouraging towards their teammates."

A pair of 5-foot-9 forwards who'll be prime rebounders include junior Mia Molinari and sophomore Hailey Bassett. "Mia averaged 7 points and 7 rebounds last year," Fallon recalled. "She's got a good jump shot and is our best rebounder. She's quick to the hoop and is a strong finisher. Hailey is physical, has good hands and is a great passer. She's a solid rebounder, too."

Fallon labels senior guard Riley Conroy as "an intelligent player and a good shooter," and admires 5-foot-9 senior Sophia Sisto for her skills at power forward and center. "Sophia is physical and very strong on the boards," he said.

"She'll help us in the paint."

Kyra Rice, Eryn's sister, is a promising sophomore guard with lots of potential. "Kyra is very athletic, has quick hands, gets to the rim and is an effective three-point shooter," Fallon said. "Able to drive or shoot, we're looking for her to provide offense."

Millis' success in girls' basketball no doubt is linked to Fallon and his philosophy. His primary emphasis focuses on his players reaching their potential. "If the girls reach their potential, then we're getting maximum effort," he said. "That's why we push them. Winning occurs when potential is reached and when players enjoy their sport and have fun."

Fallon's players have learned valuable life lessons during his 14 years at the helm and it's those lessons that have led the Mohawks to incredible heights. "Athletics help the girls learn to be accountable, good leaders and teammates, and resilient," he emphasized. "Our players all know they have the potential to sharpen their skills."

And, although the Mohawks so often assume the role of David taking on Goliath, they usually go from underdogs to winners and champions.

"It's about focus, preparation and work ethic," Fallon offered. "We can control how hard we work and it's that attribute that fuels our players and fan base to have high expectations."

The 2021-22 campaign for the Millis girls will present some challenges and probably some hurdles. At Local Town Pages deadline, they were 2-1 after defeating Somerville and Dover-Sherborn and losing to Norton.

Winter Bluesfest comes to HCA

The HCA, your regional arts center located at 98 Hayden Rowe Street in Hopkinton, is delighted to announce that they will be hosting four amazing musicians for a Winter Bluesfest on January 22nd. This is just one of the many exciting events coming to the HCA this year.

"We're so pleased to head into 2022 with a full year's line-up of music, dance, theater, gallery and other special events" says Kelly Grill, Executive Director for the HCA. "Some events will have a ticketed price, while others will be free or ask you to pay what you can. We are working towards the goal of having live entertainment happening every weekend. Keep checking our calendar on the website to see what's coming up"

The January 22nd festival-style event will feature Chris Fitz, Racky Thomas, Ken Clark and Sonya Rae. Chris Fitz' music resonates with Woodstock era Baby Boomers all the way to young adults who have never listened to a blues record in their life. His energy and enthusiasm for his profession shines through every performance. The Racky Thomas Band has been a torchbearer for the blues since its formation in 1995, when Racky Thomas collaborated with bassist Todd Carson, guitarist Nick Adams, and drummer Ted Larkin to make a demo cd, and do some gigs around the Boston area. Ken Clark is internationally known as one of the world's greatest jazz organists. Ken's technical ability joined with his natural feel for funk and soul makes for a great experience. Sonya Rae is part of the new breed of blues and soul musicians, always searching for new ways to revitalize the form. A triple threat, her striking musical ability is immediately evident through her soaring vocals, scorching guitar work and savvy song-craft. Often joined by guitar phenom (husband) Ryan Taylor, she and her band are quickly becoming one of the most sought after acts on the scene today.

Tickets for this event can be purchased online at hopartscenter.org

Medway High School's National Honor Society Welcomes a Record 72 Inductees

Principal John Murray is the total from the previous year. pleased to announce that 72 Medway High School students were inducted into the National Honor Society (NHS) at a ceremony on Monday, Nov. 22.

At the ceremony, Superintendent Armand Pires, Principal Murray, NHS Faculty Adviser Andrew Nassiff and NHS President Carter Pomponio delivered speeches. The theme of this year's ceremony, which was chosen by NHS officers, was resurgence and revival.

A video created by the current members was shown, titled "The Resurgence of Opportunity." The new inductees then participated in the candle-lighting cer-

NHS recognizes students who show outstanding qualities in scholarship, character, leadership and community service. Medway High School juniors and seniors with a 5.6, out of 7.0, weighted GPA are eligible for induction.

Candidates write two essays, one detailing their leadership experience and one detailing their dedication to community service, and must acquire three character references from teachers or community leaders. Candidates submit their portfolio to a Faculty Council, which then selects students who meet the standards of character, leadership and service established by the NHS.

Once Medway students are inducted into the society, they are required to perform 18 hours of community service each semes-

Last year, though community service opportunities were limited due to the COVID-19 pandemic, members responded to the challenge by finding new ways to help others. The high school and middle school tutoring programs were expanded to include the use of remote video conferencing technology. The Coats for Kids drive brought in the most coats per capita of any school in Massachusetts for the second year in a row, surpassing

Once it was deemed safe by the state to hold live events, a concert was held that acted not only as a fundraiser for NHS but as a way to provide some semblance of normalcy to the school year for all students.

Medway's NHS chapter also put on its own Clean Sweep event to clean up the roads and trails near the high school, as well as raised money for charities Hope and Comfort, Cradles to Crayons and Pennies for Pa-

"Those inducted into the National Honor Society are recognized for their commitment to academics and community service," Principal Murray said. "I would like to congratulate our latest round of inductees, a record-breaking number for our chapter, and I look forward to watching them grow as leaders and develop new skills as members of the organization."

With the addition of the 2021 inductees, Medway NHS now has a total of 118 members, another record for the chapter.

Medway/Millis Youth Cheer Teams Win Nationals – AGAIN!

Many cheerleaders dream of competing at a national competition and winning the top spot, but can't fathom doing it twice. That is exactly what 30 youth cheerleaders did last month. Not one, but two Medway/Millis Youth cheerleading teams beat out teams from all over the country to earn the top spot as American Youth Cheer National Champions of their divisions, once in 2019 and again on Dec. 12, 2021.

The two youth teams, 12U (5th and 6th graders) and 14U (7th and 8th graders) are students from the towns of Medway and Millis.

Each year, over 200 Cheer, Dance and Step squads, across all American Youth Cheer divisions, compete for a National Aileen Green, Medway/Millis Youth Football & Cheer President shares, "When we kicked off the season this August and t-shirts the athletes wore at Nationals."

Championship Title in Kissimmee, Florida, home to Universal Studios and Disney World.

American Youth Cheer has eight regions, including Desert Pacific, Mountain Northwest, Midwest, Southwest, Big East, Atlantic, New England, and Southeast. Each regional competition is the qualifier for the National Championships. The top three teams in each division advance to compete for a national championship. That is exactly what these two teams did in 2019 and again this year, the Saturday before Thanksgiving. While unable to compete in 2020 during the pandemic lockdown, these athletes continued working on their stunting and tumbling skills.

I saw many of our cheerleaders back with smiles and faces full of determination. I knew the road to Nationals in Florida to defend the 2019 National titles was a very strong possibility, and as the season went on and they honed their skills as a team, it was a no brainer to me. The cheer excitement in our towns hasn't stopped since they came back from the regional competition. The cheerleaders and their parents fundraised to send all 30 of them, and their coaches, to Florida. We are so thankful to all the businesses and individuals that supported them and in turn, we were able to support them as well by signage on two Medway Christmas parade floats and sponsor Coordinator and Coach, Kayla Ober, longtime Medway resident and former Captain of the Medway High School Cheer team. She and our coaches have given these athletes cheerleading skills as well as life skills and confidence that when you believe in yourself and do the hard work that needs to be done, anything is possible.

The Medway/Millis Youth Flag, Tackle Football & Cheer non-profit program serves Medway and Millis youths, which cheer for grades K-8 and the tackle football for grades 2-8. For more information, visit www.medwaycolts.com.

"Highly recommend Linda Dumouchel if you are considering selling your home. We met with Linda in December to talk about the real estate market in Medway. Linda came fully prepared with market background, listing history, and recommendations about timing. We followed Linda's recommendations and got ready to list for the spring.
