Eat Out! Win Prizes! Support Norwood!

By Michele Taranto

As people are eager and confident to socialize once again, the enjoyment of dining out returns. To spur the occasion, and aid local restaurants still financially recovering from the restrictions of Covid-19, the Neponset River Regional Chamber is again partnering with the towns of Canton, Dedham, Norwood, Walpole, and Westwood to sponsor the second annual 'Regional Restaurant Week.' The event will take place Sunday, April 24 through Thursday, April 28.

"Everyone knows that restaurants have suffered greatly during the pandemic. We are eager to encourage everyone to dine out during Restaurant Week and of course to continue doing so afterwards," Chamber President, Tom O'Rourke said.

Norwood restaurants that will be participating in the event are: Lewis', One Bistro, Byblos, Tasos, the Common Café, Cheff'n & Eetin: Artisan Bakery & Eatery and Fuego Burritos & Bowls. Their specialized menus, special offers, and links to their websites can be found on the Chamber's dedicated website at www.nrrchamber.com.

Norwood residents are encouraged to patronize the Norwood restaurants, as well as others from neighboring towns, to show their support and appreciation for the struggles they faced the past two years.

A social media campaign will be executed through Facebook, Twitter and Instagram. Diners will be encouraged to post selfies on the restaurant's social media platforms to mark and celebrate the return to seated dining. Daily winners will be chosen through these platforms and gift cards to local restaurants will be awarded to the winners! Be sure to tag @nrrchamber and use #regionalrestaurantweek, in all the posts.

"We are excited to have the state resources to promote and assist local businesses and look forward to working with our partners Friends of Norwood Center, Dedham Square Circle and Destination Downtown in Walpole," O'Rourke said. "We hope residents from Norwood and surrounding communities come out that week to support our local restaurants and partake in the specials they offer."

Established in 1894, the Neponset River Regional Chamber serves the needs of businesses in a twelve- town region stretching from Route 128 to Route 495 southwest of Boston. The NRRC supports the business community and economic development efforts by providing leadership, advocacy and opportunities for expanded and enhanced relationships among business, government and the community. For information on membership or doing business in the region, please contact the Chamber at 781-769-1126, www.nrrchamber.com or tom@ nrrchamber.com

Social Security Returning to In-Person Appointments

Dear Colleague,

I'm excited that, starting in early April, we will add more in-person appointments and offer in-person service for people without an appointment. As we prepare to help more people in person at local Social Security offices throughout the country, I'm asking for your help to let the public know what to expect.

During the pandemic, millions of people used our secure and convenient online services and received help by phone and in our offices by appointment. For people who can access our services online or by phone, we ask that they continue to do business with us online or by phone and schedule an appointment, when possible, which will better allow us to timely serve people who cannot use those options.

I invite you to visit our webpage How to Get Help from Social Security to learn:

- The best ways to get help from Social Security.
- What you should know before you visit a Social Security office, so we can help you
- Innovative options that could help you have your hearing sooner if you are appealing a decision.

We are committed to helping as many people as possible as safely as possible.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

Kilolo Kijakazi Acting Commissioner Social Security Administration

The Dancers are Ready!

BY BELLA CAGGIANO

After a three-year wait and hours of preparation, the volunteer dancers for the 10th Annual Norwood Dancing with the Norwood Stars will happen on Friday, April 15, 8 p.m., Four Points Sheraton ballroom! Two winners will be crowned: an Overall Winner for the person who raises the most money and the Judges Choice for the best single dance.

According to COH Volunteer Board Member Carolyn Riccardi, a live audience is hopeful, and at press time, spectators were expected to watch in person. There are options, however, for those who cannot make it to the Sheraton. It will be broadcasted live through Norwood Community Media (NCM) at satellite locations where people can cast their vote for their favorite dancer, or on Norwood's local Ducharme, and Tony Mazzucco. programming station. The satellite locations are: Olde Colonial Cafe, Nahatan St.; Colonial House, Savin Ave.; and Lewis,' Central St. Check for your local station at norwoodcommunitymedia.org to view through your cable company.

This year's dancers are Tracy Curran, Brian Glennon, Rachael Webber, Jeff Mahoney, Kathleen

This year's production will also commemorate former board members Kathy St. Cyr and retired Norwood Police Sargent Robert Doccette, who have contributed so much of their time to coordinate fundraisers and facilitate the organization's efforts to help Norwood residents in need.

Norwood Evening Garden Club's

16th Art in Bloom to Usher in Spring

Art in Bloom is a community event that displays artwork generated by Norwood and Walpole High School students coupled with interpretative floral designs created by members of the Norwood Evening Garden Club. This year marks the 16th year of this high school/garden club collaboration.

The Morrill Memorial Library at 33 Walpole Street in Norwood will host Art in Bloom for the first time on Saturday, April 2 from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Sunday April 3 from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. Admission is free and the public is welcome and encouraged to attend to support the student artists. Registration is not required to attend this special Art in Bloom event.

Library Director, Clayton Cheever, said, "We are pleased to be part of the garden club's annual "rite of spring" and look forward to seeing the students' artwork coupled with their expression in flowers. After a tough couple of years with Covid, the event will be a colorful welcome to spring and help to brighten people's spirits."

Lois Walsh, President of the Norwood Evening Garden Club and Co-chair of Art in Bloom, said: "Twenty pieces of art have been distributed to garden club designers via a lottery system. can't wait to see the floral designs that our members create. Some of the interpretations will be challenging, but I expect that the members' arrangements will be as creative as the artwork itself."

Dr. Sheela Venkatesh, Cochair of Art in Bloom and a past participant in Boston's MFA Art in Bloom event said, "We really missed being able to have this event last year and are excited to be able to share it with the public again this year. Many of our members do not consider themselves floral designers, but I believe that each year they put forth increasingly beautiful designs, some of which are worthy of Boston MFA's Art in Bloom after which the exhibit is patterned."

Garden club members who will create floral designs are:

Pellegrini, Sheela Venkatesh, Lois Walsh, Debbie Wells, and Wendy Wilhelm.

Along with their artwork, each student submitted a paragraph about their assignment to help the arranger understand the intent of their piece, how they approached it and the mediums they used to create it.

Students from Norwood High School whose art will be interpreted are: Katelyn Flynne, Katherine McLeish, Samantha Gale, Audrey Habelin, Sarah Hawks, William Morrissey, Barrett Kenny, Davion Harnett, Grace O'Rourke and Natalia Donnelly.

Participating Walpole High School artists include: Elyse D'Amato, Kristyn Dentremont, Colleen Finn, Sophia Kaselis, Morgan Navick, Lily Nguyen, Myah Evora Shelton, Eve

Venkatesh, e Wells, and Roddy, Shivani Mandulapalli and Alison Strickland.

A member of The Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, New England Garden Clubs, and National Garden Clubs, Inc., members of the Norwood Evening Garden Club have been providing education and public beautification in Norwood and its surrounding communities since 1996. The Club, open to novice and expert gardeners, draws its members from Norwood, Walpole, Westwood, Dedham, Medfield and Randolph. Wonderful Women of Norwood: Anna Groote

By: Laurie Kearney, Linda Rau, & Karen DeNapoli (Norwood Historical Society Board Members)

Wonderful Women of Norwood

In celebration of Norwood's 150th Anniversary, the Norwood Historical Society would like to pay homage to the "wonderful women" of our town's history. These women contributed to the building and formation of Norwood in less visible ways than those of their male counterparts; but their contributions were invaluable. They are the "quiet heroes" of our town.

The Norwood Historical Society would like to present Anna Groote as an important woman in Norwood's history.

Anna was born in Germany and married Franz "Frank" Groote in Germany in 1864. Anna and Frank came to the United States from Wehringhausen, Germany in May of 1887 through New York. They came to Norwood sometime after that and on the 1900 census were listed as living at 95-97 Wilson St. and had one child who had died.

The jobs at the Winslow & Smith Tannery most likely brought them to the town and they settled in the Gemantown neighborhood of Norwood. Germantown was made up of Wilson and Walpole Sts. in Norwood and Bullard Street in Walpole.

Anna was active in the Germantown community and helped many other immigrants to the neighborhood. Sometime after her husband Frank died in 1909,

Anna began taking patients into her house to care for them, where language and custom was familiar to those who fell ill. Norwood did not have a hospital, and the only small medical facility was the practice of Dr. Norton a few miles from the Germantown neighborhood. Anna's hospital grew and was overseen and tended by Dr. Thomas O'Toole. It expanded to have patient rooms, a nursery, and an operating theatre. Nurses lived in the small cottage on the property. This provided an important resource for other immigrants in Norwood, especially from the Germantown, and Swedeville neighborhoods.

During this time, the Krueger family was also living at the Wilson St. address. The young Krueger couple had two boys, Charles and Kurt. The Krueger's divorced. Both parents remarried and the father Julius and his new wife moved to Boston. The mother Ottolie, according to the 1910 census, remained and continued to live at 95 Wilson St. and worked as a nurse in the Wilson Street Hospital.

By 1920, the two Krueger boys had been adopted by Anna Groote and used the Groote surname. There is no clear information on why this adoption took place, especially as the mother Ottolie was still living there. Speculation is that it financially helped the divorced mother in the raising of the two boys.

The hospital, with Anna as director and Dr. O'Toole as physician, was active from approximately 1909 until around 1919 after the Spanish Flu pandemic when George Willett consolidated Dr. Norton's practice and the old Corner House to make up the first Norwood Hospital. Anna remained a vital part of the Germantown neighborhood and mother to Charles and Kurt. In her later years, she went to live with Kurt and his family on Fisher St., in Walpole where she died June 10, 1927.

Anna was a great example of how women stepped up to contribute in a positive and vital way to the Town of Norwood.

A New Spring ... A New Beginning

By Donna Lane

When the tomato harvest is lousy or rabbits decimate their plants, gardeners the world over become philosophers saying: "There's always next year." We have to, because gardening is an exercise in hope. And learning.

Last year, the tomato harvests were lousy in most Norwood gardens and the proliferation of rabbits plagued many of us, myself included. The baby bunnies were especially troublesome for me, eating all of the tender dahlia foliage making flowering season very late (or nonexistent for some varieties). Well, next year is here! And there are a lot of things that can be done both to deter the rabbits and to help boost our vegetable and flower harvests.

Many of our problems can be prevented by promoting plant health. It starts with the soil. Yes, you've probably heard it a million times, but it's that important! Cultivating healthy soil is the foundation of growing healthy plants. Roots flourish in healthy soil; they are able to find and use the nutrients they need which helps the plant grow

When grown in poor, compacted soil that's low in nutrients, plants are stressed by nutrient deficiencies making them targets of insects and diseases. If, however, the soil is fertile, well-drained, and teeming with microbes, it greatly enhances the success of whatever it is you are growing.

What are microbes? Microbes are the tiny living things that are found all around us that live in water, soil and in the air.

Healthy soil is an intricate mix of organic matter, water, air, microorganisms, tiny rock particles, insects, bacteria, fungi, and other organisms. The more organic matter you provide to your soil, the more robust it will be and the better able it is to combat plant pathogens (disease-causing agents).

Adding organic matter is the single most important thing you can do for your soil. Over time, it improves soil structure which, in turn, improves its ability to absorb and release water and air - both essential to plant growth. Everyone knows that water is needed for a plant to live. But, too much water can also kill a plant. The roots of a plant are what absorb the nutrients in the soil necessary for plant growth. If there is too much water, the roots will rot and die. Simultaneously, aboveground the plant is susceptible to mold and mildew which can also contribute to its

Some plants are better able to live in a wet environment; others are better adapted to very dry or well-drained conditions. Our local soil conditions play an important role on what plants we can grow in our gardens. Unless you plan to grow aquatic plants or succulents, your best bet is to provide well-drained conditions for your plants.

Soil pH is also important. It affects the availability of nutrients that the roots can pull into a plant, directly affecting the health of the plant. For example, rhododendrons and blueberries do best in a more acidic soil (low pH) while other plants do better in a more neutral or higher pH. In Norwood gardens, most vegetables and flowers will grow well between 6.5 and 6.8 pH. Certain nutrients in the soil become unavailable to the plant if the soil is too acidic (below 5.0) or too alkaline (above 8.0). Neutral pH is 7.0.

You can do simple pH tests yourself, but if you have not had a professional soil test that includes assessment of your soil's nutrient and toxic heavy metals content, I recommend you do so. [Go to http://www.ag.umass. edu/services/soil-plant-nutrient-testing-laboratory for information and instruction on collecting and sending soil samples.] Use the results of the test to guide you to bring your soil into balance.

Adding high quality compost to your soil is a simple way to build soil quality each season. By improving the structure, nutrient content and moisture-holding capacity of the soil, compost encourages healthy, balanced populations of soil organisms.

Making compost is relatively easy and there are numerous videos on the Internet to guide you through the process. For those of us with large gardens, it can be hard to make enough compost for all of our gardening needs, but it's a good idea to make our own compost if we can. However, if you don't have enough area in your backyard to make a compost pile, the Town of Norwood provides free compost to residents at the recycling facility on Winter Street. Compost is also available for sale in bags or bulk at most garden cen-

There are many things that contribute to having a successful garden, but it all begins with the soil. You can also help yourself by selecting plants that are not prone to disease or beacons to insects. And with today's climate problems, you can help the environment by planting more native plants that will feed the bees, butterflies, birds, and other species that enhance our lives.

New Traffic Signals Coming to Norwood

Since 2015, the Massachusetts Department of Transportation, @massdot, has launched a project to upgrade traffic signal technology. Part of that project included introducing a flashing yellow arrow which is an enhanced indicator to drivers. The #FlashingYellowArrow signal aims to replace the circular green indication for left turns at signalized intersections. When the arrow is flashing, drivers are allowed to turn only after YIELDING to all oncoming traffic and to any pedestrians in the crosswalk.

Tiered Monitoring Review Scheduled for Norwood Schools

During the week of April 28, 2022, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education's Office of Public School Monitoring (PSM) will conduct a Tiered Focused Monitoring Review of Norwood Public schools. The Office of Public School Monitoring visits each district and charter school every three years to monitor compliance with federal and state special education and civil rights regulations. Areas of review related to special education include student assessments, determination of eligibility, the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team process, and IEP development and implementation. Areas of review related to civil rights include bullying, student discipline, physical restraint, and equal access to school programs for all students.

In addition to the onsite visit, parent outreach is an important part of the review process. The review chairperson from the Office of Public School Monitoring will send all parents of students with disabilities an online survey that focuses on key areas of their child's special education program.

Survey results will contribute to the development of a report. During the onsite review, the Office of Public School Monitoring will interview the chairperson(s) of the district's Special Education Parent Advisory Council (SEPAC). Other onsite activities may include interviews of district staff and administrators, reviews of student records, and onsite observations

Parents and other individuals may call Marc Oldenburg, Public School Monitoring Chairperson, at 413-314-6703 to request a telephone interview. If an individual requires an accommodation, such as translation, to participate in an interview, the Department will make the necessary arrangements.

Within approximately 60 business days after the onsite visit, the review chairperson will provide the district with a report with information about areas in which the district meets or exceeds regulatory requirements and areas in which the district requires assistance to correct or improve practices. The public will be able to access the report at www.doe. mass.edu/psm/tfm/reports/.

Living Healthy

Seasonal Allergies

SPRING! The birds are chirping, the flowers are blooming, the sun is shining and the scent of cut grass is in the air. What could be better you might ask? For many people, this season boosts energy levels with increased light exposure, warmer temperatures and those familiar fragrances, but those suffering from recurring allergies react to the season very differently. Spring allergies affect 20% of the population who will experience itchy watery eyes, sneezing, runny nose and even rashes. Airborne pollen is the most common cause of seasonal allergies.

There are, however, resources to combat those allergies other than medication. Eighty percent of your immune health is located in your gut, so supporting your digestive health is essential to sustaining a healthy immune system. When your immune system is compromised, symptoms such as allergies emerge.

Tom G suffered for 10 years with seasonal allergies, complaining of congestion, runny nose, sneezing and cough until his colleague at work suggested he visit The Holistic Center at Bristol Square. We identified his specific allergies and started Tom on a program which was geared toward rebuilding his immune system. Removing stressors to the immune system such as processed foods, preservatives, and cleaning products, as well as creating a healthy eating plan, boosted his nervous system function and added supportive supplements. Within several weeks Tom noticed a significant difference. He was less congested, his nose stopped running and the cough was greatly reduced. Tom is not worried the SPRING HAS SPRUNG as he is feeling so much better and is planning on enjoying all the outdoor activities he had to miss out on for so many

Leger Hoping to Return to The Lacrosse Tournament

By Christopher Tremblay

Last season, the Norwood boy's lacrosse team found itself rather thin when it came to players. In fact, the Mustangs had only three bench players on the varsity squad, and instead of being able to develop those players they were instead thrust into the fire and forced to learn on the go. This year, Norwood will co-op with another town that had similar problems on the field, Dedham.

"The athletic directors and principals of both schools got together to put forth a varsity team that will not only have a varsity program, but a junior varsity program as well," Norwood Coach Mark Nardelli said. "Eventually, the idea is to establish a freshman team as well giving the varsity team the ability to have a feeder program with athletes that know the game by the time, they reach the varsity level."

Along with two players from Dedham, Norwood's Kyle Leger will captain the squad through the 2022 season while looking to take the team back to the Division 2 South Lacrosse Tournament. The Mustangs were able to advance into the tournament during Leger's freshman and junior campaigns but both times fell in the first round. In 2019, Norwood lost 11-5 to Sandwich, the number two seed and last spring was defeated 14-5 by Bishop Feehan, the number five seed.

"The co-op with Dedham this year is going to be interesting to see how two past rivals pan out as teammates," Leger said. It'll be a good change for the serious lacrosse players, Together we want to make the tournament as well as a run at the State Tournament. As a captain, I am hoping that I can help bring the team together with both sides playing as one."

Leger began his athletic career at the age of four when he started playing ice hockey, but it was only two years later when he was introduced to lacrosse.

"I had tried baseball, but I didn't like it because it was too boring," Leger said. "Lacrosse was a lot like hockey, so I tried it out and fell in love with it."

The now Norwood senior continued to lace up the skates in the winter but once the hockey season came to an end it was time to pick up his lacrosse stick.

During the sixth grade, Leger joined 128 Lax, a club team out of Needham where he played until he switched over to Gorilla Lax in Newton two years later. Taking part with a club team helped the Norwood native with his skills and competitiveness. Not only did playing for Gorilla help prepare Leger for his high school career, it eventually helped improve his skills enough to earn a position on a college lacrosse team come next year.

"My skills really took off playing for Gorilla and it got me to where I am today," Leger said. "I started talking to schools last summer and then took a tour and did an overnight at Wentworth, where I eventually committed last November. Other schools had contacted me, but none had the program (Engineering) I wanted. They had a good lacrosse program as well as academics."

Entering his freshman year with the Norwood varsity lacrosse team, Leger had no real expectation to see the field all that much, but following two Mustang injuries, he was elevated to play on a regular basis. Despite being thrown into the fire and playing at a much higher pace, the then freshman did all right for himself.

"It took me a couple of games to adjust as I definitely had to work much harder and improve my strength and footwork," Leger said.

Leger was ready for his sophomore season, but never got the & Sports Rehab, Inc.

CALL: 781-769-2040

chance due to Covid shutting things down. Despite having no games to play, Leger kept himself busy with training assignments from his club team until things eventually got up and running again. In addition to his assignment, he also got into running the Norwood stadium stairs routinely.

After being denied a high school lacrosse season, he was more than ready for his junior year.

"Last year's season was definitely a lot different than anything I have ever experienced," Leger said. "Our roster was really short having only three bench players to sub out. It was a test to play four quarters with little to no help. By the end of the game, we were gassed having played a high intensity game with no time to rest."

According to Nardelli, Leger is a sharp kid who is always hustling and puts forth a great work ethic. "Kyle has been a solid foundation piece since he stepped onto the field for Norwood," the Mustang coach said. "After games he'll ask me what he could have done better. He puts a lot of work in studying the game. I give him the tools, but he does all the work. As a player, he commands more from me as a coach to push him."

The Norwood long stick middie began his lacrosse career much like any incoming freshman; didn't understand concepts but he learned, and by his sophomore season he knew what he was doing.

"Kyle came in raw, but you could see that he had the potential," Nardelli said. "He was like any other young freshman. By his second year, he was absorbing things and then applying what he learned. I knew that he was a college bound player."

As Leger gets ready to begin his final season at Norwood, he knows that this year the team will have extra athletes due to the merger with Dedham and is hoping that the squad can make a deep run through the tournament.

"I want to have a really good high school season while getting ready to play lacrosse in college, Leger said. "I've gotten stronger, bigger, and have become more of a leader this year and am hoping to help guide this team into the tournament."

Olbrys Joins the 1,000-point Club at Norwood

By Christopher Tremblay

The wheels were set in motion seven years ago when Megan Olbrys started playing basketball for the first time competitively. Over the next few years, the Norwood Mustang took part in many other sports while growing up, but by the time she reached the seventh grade she decided that it was going to be basketball, and only basketball.

Playing in her final season for the Mustangs, the senior etched her name in Norwood history becoming only the fifth girl and ninth overall high school basketball player to eclipse the 1,000point plateau during her career.

Susanne Maher (1982-85) was the first Mustang to have reached the milestone, while Bill Brigham became the first male athlete to achieve the feat three years later. Other talented Mustangs to have their name in the record books are: Jack Dixon, Dave Rukstalis, and Chris Johnson for the boys and Danielle Chaisson, Ali Dixon, and Megan Reen, who was the last to break the barrier in 2018.

According to the four-year varsity athlete, she really had no idea how close she was to topping the mark as her senior campaign was nearing until Coach Amy Quinn told her she needed about 250 points.

On February 1, in a 57-26 win over Westwood, Olbrys notched her elusive 1,000 point with a little over two minutes left in the fourth quarter when she nailed an off-post shot. It was in Norwood's thirteenth straight win, which was also on the team's charity game (a fundraiser for Helping Hands aiding families in need) and what became a 20-0 campaign.

"It was the most surreal experience of my life," Olbrys said of reaching the milestone. "It was definitely an honor, especially to have my teammates and a huge home crowd around me. I was so glad that we had fans back in the crowd, otherwise I don't think it would have been as memorable."

Olbrys added that the crowd was into the game right from the opening tip and you could feel their energy throughout the gym. Coach Quinn knew that this day was inevitable.

"As a freshman, I believed that she was a special individual and could accomplish this," Coach Quinn said. "I had told her that the sky was the limit with her play. Megan elevated her game each and every year. As a freshman, she averaged 11 points per game; she was at 13 the next year, 15 last year, and 19 this past season."

Through her four years at Norwood thus far, Olbrys has accumulated 1105 points and still has this year's tournament play in hand. As a first-year player, Olbrys scored 255 points for the Mustangs. During her sophomore campaign, she increased those numbers to 341 points scored and added another 152 during the Covid abbreviated year. This past regular season she has already knocked down 357 points.

The amazing thing about Olbrys becoming the ninth Mustang to reach 1,000 points in her career was that her junior season was cut short.

"Last year, she only played in 10 games because of Covid otherwise she probably could have hit 1,000 that year," Coach Quinn said. "In my seven years at Norwood, I have only been part of one other girl to do this (Meghan Reen)."

Looking back on what she has accomplished, Olbrys remembers what it was like when she first ventured onto the court for tryouts as a freshman. She recalls how it was very intimidating but having other freshman beside her for the tryouts made it a lot easier.

"The varsity speed and style of play was nothing like I had ever experienced, but after about five games I felt that I was comfortable and finding my rhythm," Olbrys said.

Throughout her high school career, the senior had played all five positions but prefers power forward as it the one position that she feels she can do the most with her talent. Talent that not only saw her go over 1,000 points but get recruited to play basketball on the collegiate level. Olbrys has committed to play for Villanova University in Pennsylvania.

While she did have a few other schools approach her with offers, the senior felt that Villanova was best fitted for her style of basketball, in addition to the overall atmosphere of the school and the coaching staff.

Heading off to Pennsylvania to play for the Wildcats may be on the horizon for Olbrys, but in the meantime, she still has her final high school season to complete.

"Our goal was to go undefeated and now that we've accomplished that it's off to the tournament," Olbrys said. "Our goal now is to go day-by-day taking it one game at a time and hopefully we can win a State Championship."

After going undefeated during the regular season, Norwood was awarded the number one seed in the Division 2 Tournament.

EMASS Senior Softball League Opens Registration for 2022 Season

Eastern Massachusetts Senior Softball (EMASS) is opening its annual registration campaign for slow-pitch softball players age 50 and over. With over 400 members, the league attracts players from towns across eastern Massachusetts with games played on fields in Wayland, Medfield, and Framingham. The EMASS season opens in early May with 18 weeks of regular season games scheduled through Labor Day, and year-end playoffs completed in early October.

"We are preparing for growth by rebalancing our Saturday divisions and adding a new weekday division to expand from 35 teams to over 40 teams," Walker Royce, Commissioner of EMASS said. "EMASS Senior Softball was a welcome outdoor escape from the lifestyle disruptions of the COVID pandemic over the last two years. We had 70 new players last year and with more seniors looking for a healthy outlet, we feel confident we will see similar growth in 2022."

EMASS Senior Softball Offers Flexible Playing Time "In 2022, we are restructuring our younger Saturday division where the average age across 5 teams will be around 60," Dan Jolly, the new Colonial division coordinator explained. "With 5 teams, we can use shorter rosters so players get more playing time, and more atbats. Our Saturday players prefer an occasional bye week for summer holidays."

"Our most popular weekday division is being split primarily to offer more opportunity for players who want to play multiple times per week," Jeff Allan, the new Monday division coordinator said. "The Atlantic division had grown to 12 teams. To accommodate more growth, we decided to split into a six-team Monday division and an eight-team Thursday division."

"The weekday division scheduling supports a day off between play dates for players who choose to play in multiple divisions," Bill Cerrato, the new Thursday division coordinator said. "It will help us better balance the skills, improve safety and provide more flexibility for those who want to play more than one day a week."

"EMASS shuffles up team rosters in every division each year to enhance connections across our large softball-loving community," Don Gould, the National division coordinator said. "Our members enjoy competing with and against their friends."

Nothing Like a Team Sport to Make You Feel Young Again.

EMASS players cherish their weekly double-headers playing with their softball-loving buddies. EMASS has many younger seniors in their fifties and sixties who can still hit a ball over the 300 foot fences or run down a deep line drive in the outfield. They are also inspired by elder players who can still play ball into their late seventies and eighties. That three-hour escape is a weekly high point of camaraderie, teamwork and healthy outdoor competition. When they are out on the field, players feel and act 20 years younger, and when they get home, those stiff joints and sore muscles are mostly perceived as joyful pain.

EMASS will open the 2022 season with over 40 teams competing in 6 different divisions. The league employs paid umpires and has recently invested in team manager training, umpire clinics/certification, new equipment and a rich website to ensure a safe, well-managed and competitive league.

"Our board members, team managers and division coordinators do a very professional and collaborative job of operating this league. Our players appreciate the fun and camaraderie enabled by our volunteer leadership team." said Royce.

About EMASS nior Softball League EMASS was founded in 1995 and offers active seniors of all skill levels a safe, well-organized opportunity to play competitive slow-pitch softball. EMASS members range in age from 50 to 90. Skill levels range from casual recreational players to those who play on nationally competitive tournament teams. Players of any skill level will find a spot with teams of similar abilities in one or more of EMASS's six divisions. There are two Saturday divisions and four weekday divisions. All divisions play a double-header each week and many members play on different teams in multiple divisions. For more information about EMASS Senior Softball League, visit www.e-mass.org.

Critical Disinformation Studies Discussion Series (Virtual) Morrill Memorial Library

Tuesdays from March 22 to May 17

Facilitated by Adult Services Librarian Heath Umbreit (they/ them), this series will prepare members to critically engage information through a systemic lens and work toward recognizing the ways in which disinforsupremacist structures. The series will examine information systems through the intersectional frameworks of critical race theories, feminism, gender and sexuality, and decolonization. The overarching goal of the course is to critically examine popular narratives about disinformation, define and explore the concept of epistemic supremacy, and interrogate the ways in which information and disinformation intersect with systemic power differentials in our society. The series, "Critical Disinformation Studies," will meet virtually on eight at 7:00pm. The group will not meet on Tuesday, April 19. Participants should please plan to attend every meeting, as each session builds on the last. Likewise, please plan to read or review all assigned texts for the week before a given session. Register O'Donnell Commemorates Women's History Month on QATV

Norfolk County Register of Deeds, William P. O'Donnell, recently appeared on a segment broadcast by Quincy Access Television commemorating Women's History Month and recognizing a number of distinguished women, both past and present, with ties to Norfolk County.

"There are numerous prominent woman with ties to Norfolk County", noted the Register, "ranging from first lady Abigail Adams, the wife and mother of two presidents, who was born in Weymouth and buried in Quincy, to lesser known but important figures such as Katherine Lee Bates, a nineteenth century Wellesley resident, who, inspired by the beauty she observed from the top of Pike's Peak, wrote the lyrics to "America the Beautifu.".

astronaut, Sunita Williams, a 1983 graduate of Needham High School, who has performed the most spacewalks by a woman, National Public Radio's Audie

Abigail Adams

Some of the other women mentioned by Register O'Donnell in the segment include historic figures like Deborah Sampson from Sharon, who fought and was wounded in the American Revolutionary War, Helen Keller and Anne Sullivan, both from Wrentham, whose story has been chronicled in books and in the 1962 movie, "The Miracle Worker," Harriet Hemenway from Canton, who co-founded the Massachusetts Audubon Society in 1896, Dr. Helen Cleary, the first woman to be elected to the Town of Norfolk's Board of Selectmen and the actress Lee Remick from Quincy, an Academy Award nominee in 1962.

Norfolk County is also birthplace of a number of contemporary women, such as the Cornish, Mindy Kaling, the writer and actress best known for the television series "The Office," and of course, Needham's own Aly Raisman, the winner of several Olympic medals in women's gymnastics and the recipient of the Arthur Ashe Courage Award.

"I appreciate Mark Crosby and the folks at Quincy Access Television providing me the opportunity to honor the contributions and accomplishments of women from the communities in Norfolk County that have had a positive impact in our lives," Register O'Donnell stated.

February Real Estate Activity in Norfolk County

Norfolk County Register of Deeds William P. O'Donnell reported that February's numbers relative to Norfolk County real estate activity show a fairly sharp drop as compared to February, 1,940 mortgages were recorded during the month, a 56% decrease compared to a year ago and a decrease of 17% from January.

"It appears that many con-

2021 and January's numbers.

"Our data indicates that the Norfolk County real estate market in February was sluggish when compared not only to February, 2021 but also to January," Register O'Donnell noted. "There were 10,291 documents recorded at the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds in February, a 34% decrease over last year's February document volume and an 11% decrease from January.

The number of deeds for February, 2022, which reflect real estate sales and transfers both commercial and residential, decreased by 19% from February, 2021 and by 32% from January. Sale prices increased significantly compared to last year but now appear to be leveling off. February's average sales price was $1,218,942, an impressive 42% increase compared to February, 2021 but down 15% from January. Total dollar volume of commercial and residential sales also showed gains from one year ago, increasing 14%, but are down 42% from January. It remains to be seen if this trend continues into March."

Overall lending activity showed a decrease again for the month of February. A total of sumers have already refinanced given the past low interest rate environment," Register O'Donnell said.

A continuing cause for concern in Norfolk County, however, is the increase in foreclosures. The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds has been closely watching the foreclosure market. During February, there were 8 foreclosure deeds recorded as a result of mortgage foreclosures taking place in Norfolk County. In addition, there were 27 Notices to Foreclose, the first step in the foreclosure process, recorded in February, up from 18 recorded in January. In February, 2021, there was only 1 Foreclosure Deed and 6 Notices to Foreclosure Mortgages filed.

"The sharp increase in these numbers remind us that even more of our neighbors are now facing financial challenges", Register O'Donnell said. "We will continue to monitor these numbers."

For the past several years, the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds has partnered with Quincy Community Action Programs, 617-479-8181 x376, and NeighborWorks Housing Solutions, 508-587-0950, to help anyone facing challenges paying their mortgage. Another option for homeowners is to contact the Massachusetts Attorney General's Consumer Advocacy and Response Division (CARD), at 617-727-8400.

"If you are having difficulty paying your monthly mortgage, please consider contacting one of these non-profit agencies for help and guidance," Register O'Donnell stated.

Homestead recordings by owners of homes and condominiums decreased this month at the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds. There was a 17% decrease in homestead recordings in February, 2022 compared to February, 2021, and a decrease of 20% from January.

'These figures are not too surprising where the sales of homes has decreased, but all homeowners, not just new purchasers, should keep in mind that a recorded Declaration of Homestead provides limited protection against the forced sale of an individual's primary residence to satisfy unsecured debt up to $500,000," Register O'Donnell noted. "We want to see folks protecting the biggest asset most of us have, our homes. I would urge anyone who has not availed themselves of this important consumer protection tool to consider doing so. The recording fee is only $36.

February real estate activity showed a decline in Norfolk County which is not unusual for this time of year, however, there has been a drop in numbers in 2022 over 2021. We still see available real estate inventory as continuing to be a source of concern in Norfolk County but it does appear that the market is not as hot as last year. "Paul was a pleasure to work with. I was selling my aunt's house from a distance, and his deep knowledge of Norwood was a valuable asset as he coordinated work at the house to prepare it for sale, negotiated the sale price, and worked with the closing attorneys. With his guidance, the process was painless, he anticipated needs, and we closed in a very short period of time at above asking price. I highly recommend Paul Keady!
